

"IF THAT'S TOO BIG FOR YOU TO HANDLE, JUST HOLLER" ...Mrs. Shirley Frost, Administrator of Valley View Nursing Home lends a hand in serving residents of Eastland Manor at annual party.

TIDBITS

By HVO

GOOD NEWS for the week: RAIN. After what appeared to be downright discrimination (everybody was getting rain but Eastland County) it finally let loose, maybe not enough, but good. And it appeared general throughout the county with all points receiving the needed moisture. More than once you hear: It saved the dry - land peanut crop.

Officially, Eastland topped out through Saturday at nearly three inches. When it clouded up and started Wednesday evening about 7, the gauge caught 1.48 through the following morning. Weather Observer James Dabney reports. Another 1.12 was marked Friday morning at 7, and some .06 fell through Saturday morning. And it continued cloudy with chances and hopes high for more of the same.

AREN'T WE all proud of the wonderful way the Maverick Grid Team, the Maverick Band, the Pep Squad and all the fans represented Eastland in Haskell Friday night.

NOT SO GOOD news: A local family is quite disturbed, and well they should be, that every time they place flowers on a loved one's grave at Eastland Cemetery, someone is removing them. These things you can't understand, and certainly a bereaved family doesn't deserve this.

LETTERS WE like to get dept.:

Editor:
While traveling through Eastland on Labor Day we stopped at the Jaycee Coffee Station where we were generously served coffee, cold drinks and cookies, free of charge.

One of your fine citizens, Mrs. Don Baird welcomed us to the City and visited with us. She gave us the history of "Old Rip" and this intrigued our seven - year - old so that Mrs. Baird agreed to send him a picture of the horned toad.

A packet containing the picture and other information about Eastland came in yesterday's mail. Mrs. Baird's letter included an invitation to visit Eastland again for a visit to the courthouse. That we plan to do.

As Derek took the picture of "Old Rip" to school this morning, you can believe that second graders in Waco will know about Eastland. Your city can be proud of the Jaycee Goodwill Ambassadors, especially Mrs. Wanda Baird.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Franklin Cossey

(ED. NOTE: Thanks Mrs. Baird. We all need to tell the good Eastland story constantly.)

THE LONGEST prime time television broadcast in history will take place on September 15th, as the National Democratic Party sponsors Democratic Telethon II.

With the theme of "America Goes Public", the fund raising event will be broadcast nationally over NBC affiliate stations from 6 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Numerous celebrities will appear during the Telethon, including Paul Anka, Ed Asner, Jim Backus, David Jansen, Rich Little, Bill Macy, Shirley McLaine, Jane Meadows, Barry Sullivan, Dick Van Dyke and Andy Williams.

Texas will have five, five minute segments during the telecast featuring Democrats from throughout the State. These will be broadcast to stations in Texas over a special network.

At the present time some of the Democrats set to appear on the Texas portions include Governor Dolph Briscoe, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Attorney General John Hill, Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong, Agricultural Commissioner John White, and State Senators Bill Braecklein, Oscar Mauzy and Ron Clower of Dallas, Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells, Lloyd Doggett of Austin, Jack Hightower of Vernon, Bill Meier of Euless, Peyton McKnight of Tyler, and Tati Santiesteban of El Paso.

The purpose of the Telethon, according to Gordon Wynne, Jr. of Wills P Point, Co - Chairman of the Texas Telethon Committee, is to reform political fund raising procedures by offering Americans a real chance to take government out of the hands of special interests, to prove that Americans will finance the political system if given the opportunity, to interest and involve Americans in a political system they feel left out of, to help restore faith in the two party system by demonstrating that it works, and to build a sound base for upcoming campaigns.

Wynne also noted that the Democratic Party of Texas will receive half the funds raised in Texas in connection with the Telethon. "These contributions will help provide us with the funds we need to insure that the Democratic Party remains a viable force in the state," he said.

Governor Dolph Briscoe recently called the Telethon "a great step forward in bringing our political process back to the people. In the past too few Americans have had the opportunity to shoulder the financial burden of political campaigns", he noted.

Commission Approves 1.5 Mile Farm Road

The Texas Highway Commission has approved the development of a 1.5 mile Farm to Market Road in Eastland County which will extend from State 36, East to FM 569 at Pioneer, as a part of the 1973 Texas Farm to Market Road Program.

District Engineer E.M. Pritchard of Brownwood said this action authorized funds for widening and resurfacing the section of abandoned road at Pioneer at a cost of $50,000. Pritchard also said the Highway Commission approved a 0.9 mile section of new Farm to Market Road in Eastland County which will connect FM 569 about five miles west of Nimrod.

Work authorized for this county is part of the 559.4 miles of paved secondary roads statewide which will be developed in this program.

A total of 261.6 miles will be newly designated roads. The remainder of the $22.2 million program will develop Farm and Ranch to Market Roads and recreational roads which previously have been designated as part of the state - maintained highway network.

The additional mileage brings total mileage of the FM - RM system to almost 41 thousand miles. Much of this mileage represents former county road routes which have been transferred to the state system. FM and RM projects are selected cooperatively by the Texas High Department and local county commissioners courts.

The Farm to Market Road program originally was conceived to "get the farmer out of the mud". On that score it has been successful by opening new economic, social and education opportunities to the millions of Texans who live in rural areas.

For example, of the newly designated roads, 183.1 miles or 70 percent are school bus routes and 168.3 miles or 64.3 percent are rural mail delivery routes.

But FM and RM roads have benefited more than just those Texans who live in the country. Thousands of miles of FM and RM roads provide primary access to the great outdoor recreational resources in the state.

The FM system also provides access to new industrial enterprise located in smaller Texas cities. Many employees at some plants enjoy both a good paying industrial job and the benefits of country living because of easy access afforded by the FM system.

Farm to Market Roads also serve as the framework for distribution of finished goods and supplies moving from commercial and industrial centers. In that sense, the Farm to Market system also could be called the "Market to Farm" network.

Indians Surprise Mavs

By Steve Haines

The Eastland Mavericks in their season opener, fell to the Raging Indians of Haskell 31 - 12.

Field conditions were wet at Haskell but this did not seem to bother the Indians or the Mavericks.

The Mavericks won the toss and elected to receive. With B.W. Robertson and Tom Morren deep for Eastland, Haskell kicked to the Eastland 20 yard line and there it was 1st and 10 for the Mavs. For the first seven minutes of the game the Mavericks retained possession of the ball, until a pass by Terry Ensor was pitched off by Haskell at the Indians 20 yard line.

On the Indians first play of the game they fumbled and the Mavs took on the Indian 20 yard line.

After several running plays by Tom Morren and Tony Thomas the Mavericks decided to try for the field goal from the Indian 20 yard line. Morren kicked.

Morren kicked, but it was blocked by Haskell and recovered at their 34 yard line. From there it was first and 10 for the Indians.

On the second down of the Indians possessing, No. 11 for Haskell, quarterback Tim Pringle, landed off to no. 40, Charles Alexander of the Indians for a 30 yard run down to the Eastland 10 yard line. After three downs and one five yard the fourth down proved to be charmed, for no. 11, Pringle handed off to Chris Love for the Indians for their first touchdown, putting the score 6 - 0 in favor of the Indians.

The kick was high from the Indians and went down beautifully into the arms of B.W. Robertson who ran the ball to the 21 yard line of Eastland followed by a ten yard penalty which sent them back down the Mavs own 11 yard line.

On the first down Terry Ensor fumbled and the Indians recovered in the Mavericks 11 yard line. From there it took one play for the Indians to send Randy Ivy in for their second touchdown. The extra point was good making the score 13 - 0 in favor of the Indians.

At the start of the second quarter the Mavericks had possession at their own 20 yard line in a first and 10 situation. Ensor took the snap and fumbles on the Maverick 20 yard line and Indians recovered.

On the Indians first play Pringle hands off to Ivy for the Indians third touchdown. Score reads Haskell 19, Eastland 0.

On Haskell's kick Morren receives for Eastland and ran to the Mavs 26 yard line.

On the Indians first down Pringle handed off to Ivy for an Indian touchdown. With the extra no good, the score stood at Indians 25, Mavericks 0 at the end of the first half.

At the opening of the second half the Mavericks kick by Morren and went to Haskell's Ivy at their 25 from there. Ivy runs for a seventy yard touchdown, this making the longest touchdown run of the night. The score now read Haskell 31 - Eastland 0 with the extra point no good.

On the second play of the second half Haskell kicked to Robertson and ran to the Eastland 25 yard line. After three first downs and one 10 yard penalty the Mavericks managed to take the ball down to the Indian 8 yard line. From there Ensor took the ball and ran in a deeper play in for the continued inside.

Recent rains have sure changed the outlook around the county. Farmers and ranchers are smiling again. Home owners who have been paying large water bills and trying to keep lawns alive are happy also.

Most peanut growers said this rain sure helped, but would have been much better two weeks ago. Some peanuts had gone too far under a drought stress. If we have a warm Fall a lot of peanuts will be made yet.

The 1973 Peanut Field Day

Residential and commercial roofs "All New Work Guaranteed" Estimates made. Tri-cities Roofing Co. Call Noble Squires 629-2370 or 629-1237 t-f will be held at the Texas A&M - Tarleton Experiment Station at Stephenville next Thursday, Sept. 13th. Tours and farm implement displays will commence at 1 p.m. and run until 5 p.m.

New peanut variety research and insect control work will highlight the field day this year.

Topics for discussion at various tour stops will include peanut diseases, new peanut varieties, peanut fertility, peanut trickle irrigation, insects, herbicides and nematodes. A trailer load of visitors will be taken from the headquarters to the research sites every 15 minutes. The Texas A&M - Tarleton Station is located two miles north of Stephenville on U.S. Highway 281.

Interest is really building for the Eastland County Hay Show. Monday is the deadline to get your bale of hay entered. Just leave it at one of the farm stores in your town. Be sure to tag the bale with your name.

Winter pastures can provide high-quality nutrients for the beef and dairy herd, and this is especially important this year when feed costs are at an alltime high. However, top management is needed for full benefit from winter forages.

Three key elements for top winter forage production are early planting, proper fertilization and use of high quality seed.

Small grains for winter pastures in central and northern sections of the state should be planted around the first of September. In southern areas, planting from September 15 to October 1 is recommended.

Early plantings can take full advantage of fall rainfall and other favorable growing conditions. Growth is faster while days are still fairly long and more sunlight is available.

Early plantings also offer a target for some insect pests, but the advantages of getting the crop established early far outweigh any insect problems that may develop.

A soil test should be made well ahead of planting to determine the proper rate of fertilization. An adequate amount of a balanced fertilizer at planting tends to promote deep root systems, early growth and high-quality forage. One or more side dressings of nitrogen will generally be needed during the grazing season for continued forage production.

Planting high-quality seed in a well-prepared seedbed further boosts production and high-quality forage.

Sod seeding or over seeding of cool season grasses or grains into permanent warm season grass sods with little or no tillage has limitations compared to seeding in a prepared seedbed. Forage growth is slower and production is reduced. However, this practice may be justified where acreage is limited or where prepared seedbeds tend to Eastland County Junior College?

Any chance?
Who knows?
It would appear to be a logical development. The county presently boasts two of the finest junior colleges in the state of Texas - - and is the only county with more than one.
Some have, over the years, suggested that these two colleges could be joined into one mighty force for higher education. Not that they'd individually be any greater by being combined, but that resources would open to them which are not now available.
Some envision that the two existing physical facilities, which are second to none in plants, faculty and administration could be planned into a super-efficient operation that would see the expansion and continued growth of both units. Visionaries see sciences on one campus, vocationals at another, etc., with housing and other auxiliary facilities at each.
The athletic - minded see a super team and the musically - inclined invision bands and orchestras of unexcelled scope from such an undertaking.)
Most agree that the benefits could be great, and if handled properly, would not in any way be detrimental to either institution. Everyone recognizes the value of the colleges and wouldn't for one minute propose anything that could possibly hinder the fine programs already in motion.
In talking with others about the idea, you get the impression first that the people in the Eastland school district might be the key. Right now, both Ranger and Cisco have junior college taxing districts. To combine all efforts, it would be necessary for Eastland (and of course Rising Star, Carbon, Gorman and Desdemona) to approve a junior college taxing situation.
Heaven knows, there's never a good time to talk about more taxes; and this certainly is not one of them, but, as our format indicates, there is no reason why there can't be intelligent consideration given to such matters.

Eastlanders might ask, "What would we gain?" Good question. Answer? Everyone has to decide their own. It's a fact that Eastlanders and their youngsters have for a good number of years, been enjoying the benefits of having the two fine colleges "right next door".

What would Ranger and - or - Cisco gain and - or - lose? First look indicates they might lose their respective identification from the college name. Eastland County Junior College could have its Ranger Branch and Cisco Branch. (The University of Texas does.)

Some in the education field guess that state funding in the future may take a dim view of two colleges so close together, and ask that some effort be made toward joining forces. It could come. Let's face it. What if we were prepared with advanced thinking already on the subject. (More locally - raised tax money brings more state and federal support.)

Oh, let it be known, that this isn't an original idea here. It's been quietly discussed for years. There have even been unpublicized meetings held in the past. But so far as is known, here's the first "out - in - the - open, everybody's welcome to a view" expression.
A wild-eyed dreamer (and thank God for America's track record in that department) could see a County Junior College, growing, growing, growing, and becoming someday a senior college.

Who's better prepared than we?
(One definition of dialogue is the free interchange of different points of view. Yours are welcome. Address: DIALOGUE: Care of this newspaper.

JUDGE THE HEART

By
Rev. George Simms

"But you don't understand...I'm like Samson...Take away this long hair, man, and I'm nothing!"
Recently, in conversation with two older friends we took a backward look. One man commented on everyone having long hair in his high school and just to be different he got his cut short; the other friend said he had long sideburns that were items of ridicule when he played basketball.

Two weeks ago I visited in a high school in our area and was able to talk with many young people and listen to their views. One boy, who had collar length hair which was neat and clean, asked me the question: "Do you think it is a sin against God for boys to have shoulder length hair?" In considering this question we could take a backward look and examine ourselves last week, yesterday, or within the last hour. Instead of "boys to have shoulder length hair" we could substitute: girls and ladies to wear miniskirts; men to drive a new car every year; a lady to wear a new hat; one to have hate in their heart for another person; one to be prejudiced because of race, color, political party, or mode of living.

Is it a sin before God? In John the fourth chapter Jesus stops at a water well and talks to a lady. She is alone because society has turned its back on her. She has had five husbands and is now living with a man. Jesus asked her for a drink. What would you do if you met a woman like this on the square, who was under public scrutiny because of the life she leads. You could always cross the street and walk on the other side; or you could look the other way; or you could snub her by looking right through her as if she were not there; or you could befriend her and invite her to coffee. You can probably imagine what people would say. Do not be alarmed; people thought the same thing about Jesus. The Bible would say go ahead and show some concern for her life without condoning her actions. See if there is anything you can do practically for her, and then share the victorious life found in Christ, the transforming life one may lead with the Creator of this world.

We are not to judge people unjustly. If there were no judging at all, we would have no way to choose the right from the wrong. We would have no way to say this is the right course of action. This leaves the question how should a person judge. I am not emphasizing the negative, but you do not judge by outward appearance. Jesus said: It is not those things that enter a man that defiles him, but those things which come out from the heart. A man will be known and remembered for the actions coming from his heart. Ray Stephens sings "Everything is Beautiful" and says, "it doesn't matter about the length of your hair or the color of your skin." Long hair has come and gone through the years. Let's be a little more Christ-like: "Fix your thoughts on what is true and good and right. Think about things that are pure and lovely, dwell on the fine, good things in others. Think about all you can praise God for and be glad about."

NOW WHAT HAVE WE DONE?

We've just signed a Statement of Support for the Guard and Reserve ensuring that those of you who are involved will receive the necessary time for training in your military assignments without loss or reduction in company opportunities. Since this concerns everyone, directly or indirectly, we want you to know about it.

All of us benefit from this decision since a fully manned, trained and ready Guard and Reserve ensures the security and freedoms that we enjoy.

The Guard and Reserve, an integral part of our national defense forces, are trained to respond in the event of national disasters and civil disturbances.

The Guard and Reserve supplies about 30 percent of our military manpower requirements for less than 5 percent of the defense budget.

With facts like these, it makes good sense to provide a little extra effort to support those of you who are important both to us and to the defense of our nation as well.

It's not favoritism, it's just recognition and we thought we'd make it official.

Statement of Support for the Guard and Reserve

We recognize the National Guard and Reserve as essential to the strength of our nation and the maintenance of world peace. They require and deserve the interest and support of the American business community, as well as every segment of our society.

In the highest American tradition, these Guard and Reserve forces are manned by civilians. Their voluntary service takes them from their homes, their families and their occupations. On weekends, and at other times, they train to prepare themselves to answer their country's call to active service in the United States Armed Forces.

If these volunteer forces are to continue to serve our nation, a broader public understanding is required of the total force concept of national security - and the essential role of the Guard and Reserve within it.

The Guard and Reserve need the patriotic cooperation of American employers in facilitating the participation of their eligible employees in Guard and Reserve programs, without impediment or penalty.

We therefore join other members of the American business community in agreement that:

1. Our employees' job and career opportunities will not be limited or reduced because of their service in the Guard or Reserve.
2. Our employees will be granted leaves of absence for military training in the Guard or Reserve without sacrifice of vacation time, and
3. The agreement and the resultant company policies will be made known throughout the organization and announced in company publications and through other existing means of communication.

677 More County Families Enjoy Pure Water

WASHINGTON - - The Department of Agriculture reported today on a record $429 million year in fiscal 1973 for the rural water and sewer programs, citing examples of progress on the rural development scene:
Nearly 1,000 householders are enjoying pure water as a result of the FHA programs.
At Carbon, 120 families enjoy the benefits of the City of Carbon Water Supply District. There are 117 connected to the

TREMENDOUS TRIFLES

THE CHANCE CHICLE THAT STARTED CHEWING GUM
The exiled Mexican Dictator-General, Santa Anna, left behind a hunk of chicle that innocently led to the beginning of the multi-million dollar chewing gum industry of today.
The general had been defeated ignominiously at San Jacinto in reverse for the massacre six weeks before of the defenders of the Alamo. Texas was independent and Santa Anna exiled.

He retired to a little stone house in Staten Island's Sailors Snug Harbor where, in June 1866, he made the acquaintance of a photographer, Thomas Adams, Jr. and his son. In the course of the conversation, Santa Anna produced a piece of something resembling overshoeing, cut off a piece, and with evident relish began to chew it, at the same time offering a piece to his guests. In explanation, the general said it was the gum of the zapote tree, known to his friends as "chicle", and ascribed to it the flashing white teeth of the native Aztecs and Mexicans. With this Santa Anna sailed out on this account to resume his tumultuous career in Mexico.

The ingenious elder Adams experimented with this hunk of gummy stuff - about the size of a man's fist. First, to see whether it could be vulcanized. Then as a setting for false teeth. No success. Finally, recalling how avidly Santa Anna had chewed this chicle, he tried once again chewing it. He enjoyed the process and, before long, he was experimenting with sweetening and flavoring. When he finally arrived at a candy-like taste that suited him, he rolled it into pieces and sent it to a candy store in Jersey City. The store offered it for sale and was pleasantly surprised to find that the public liked it.

The popularity of chewing gum spread rapidly. Soon the entire Adams family had to devote all its time to producing more and more of the product. In 1871, the Adamses got a patent on their first gum-making machine.
The chewing gum industry is now an enterprise with annual sales exceeding $150,000,000. And it all started with the curiosity of an ingenious Yankee who wondered whether this strange chunk of "chicle" left by an exiled Dictator didn't have some practical possibilities.

Morton Valley System and 140 appreciate the Olden Supply District.

The Staff water system is now under construction and about half finished. Upon completion, a total of 300 will be served, all around Lake Leon, at Staff, Kokomo, La Casa and down to Desdemona.

- - In a four - county area of southern Iowa, modern water service will come to 7,500 households in 17 small towns and the surrounding countryside through a network of five new central water systems. Their water will come through a new treatment plant from Rathbun Reservoir on the Chariton River. Ten Million dollars in loans for the project will be repaid from what the people pay for water service.

- - In Montana and Illinois, groups of farmers have built "self - help" water systems, each serving about three dozen ranches and farms. People will enjoy the deep well water that will flow through pipelines the farmers themselves have put into the ground to save construction cost. The farmers and ranchers can stop hauling water for themselves and their livestock, for an expenditure of $45,000 in Illinois and $85,000 in Montana.

- - In Reidsville, Georgia, a rural county seat 60 miles west of Savannah, the installation of water and sewer systems for about $700,000 has ended a stoppage of home and commercial building that gripped the town. Fifty new building permits are now outstanding in Reidsville.

- - Walnut Ridge, Arkansas, will extend sewer service to an industrial park, a $271,000 investment that will mean 300 to 500 new jobs in the community. - - In upstate New York, sewer systems to be built for a total of $2.6 million by the Delaware County villages of Stamford and Delhi will improve local conditions and prevent the villages from discharging raw sewage into the Delaware River Basin, a primary source of water for the City of New York.

These projects typify the range of project size and benefits in the rural water and sewer program financed with loans through the Farmers Home Administration, a Department of Agriculture rural credit service.

The Department reported two new milestones for the program during fiscal 1973:

- - It achieved a record rate of progress for the year when 1,629 initial or expanded water and sewer projects were approved with FHA loans and grants that exceeded $400 million. Projects which received a total of $399,994,800 in loans and $29,360,000 in grants included 967 water systems and 662 sewer systems, ranging in coverage from small rural neighborhoods to large intercommunity areas such as the four - county complex in Iowa.

- - More than 7,500 new or improved systems have been produced by the program since the late 1950s when FHA - financed farm water systems began to reach into nonfarm rural communities. The total (7,561) includes 5,480 water systems and 2,081 sewer systems. They have brought nearly 2 1/2 million families out of the era of bad wells, water shortage and substandard sanitary conditions in rural areas. Financing through FHA has totaled $2,071,885,465, of which $1,830,785,414 represents repayable loans.

More than $700 million of the funds, accounting for about 2,500 of the projects, have been provided since the program was accelerated two years ago. With grant funds now directed through state revenue - sharing channels and environmental agencies, FHA concentrates on insured loan financing, drawing loan funds from private lenders and investors.

Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Swartz characterized the program as "one of the bedrock necessities for building a sound, prosperous, fully acceptable standard of life in the great open spaces of America." "There is still far to go with this program," the Secretary said. "When it began, 30,000 communities in the rural

United States still needed modern water service, and the need was just as great for sewer systems to help clean up the national problem of water pollution.

"We are only part of the way toward the ultimate goal of safe, central water and sanitation service for every home and community in the rural United States. But we are gratified to know that at this point in the program's progress, many counties in many states have reached their goal of border - to - border water service; and that rural community sewer systems are cutting down on the discharge of waste into the nation's rivers and lakes."

The Department's report shows that Texas leads in the number of water systems developed, with 729 built or approved through the rural program. Iowa leads in the sewer program with systems now completed or approved in 142 communities.

The following table gives a state - by - state listing of totals for the program to date.

Wrong Toys Are No Fun

Giving children access to such common - place "toys" as darts and dart guns, bows and arrows, slingshots, pellet and BB guns, blowguns, and air rifles, is tantamount to giving them the use of amateur weapons, warns the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness. Clearly, the usual reasons for condemning a product, such as mislabeling, or defective design or construction, skirt the issue. The projectiles are inherently dangerous: the potential to inflict serious and blinding eye injuries is built right into the function of these so - called toys.

The Federal Food and Drug Administration and its Bureau of Product Safety, under the Child Protection and Toy Safety Act of November, 1969, is empowered to ban toys which present "an electrical, mechanical or thermal hazard." To date, concern has been focused almost exclusively on banning items which contain a "hidden" hazard (i.e. easily removable squeakers in squeeze toys for infants, easily exposed pins or spikes in dolls and stuffed toys, sharp points and edges in easily dismantled or easily broken toys. "Ironically," says Boston attorney Edward M. Swartz, board member of the NSPB affiliate Massachusetts Society, "the FDA chooses to ignore the obvious ability of the projectiles to injure, maim, and even blind the unsuspecting children who are merely playing with such items.

Attorney Swartz, author of the controversial 1971 book, Toys That Don't Care, maintains, as does NSPB, that the projectile "toys" are not toys by definition or function; and they should not be sold as such - - particularly in view of the fact that, according to the Toy Manufacturers of America's own estimates, one - third of all toys (accounting for about $1 billion in sales annually) are bought or selected by children themselves.

"If parents want their children to learn the skills of amateur weaponry," says Mrs. Virginia Boyce, executive director of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, "then they should at least be forced to acknowledge that this is their intent. Such items should be available only in sporting goods stores and only to children above a certain age.

"The statistical evidence on the number of eye injuries caused by projectile 'toys' is compelling - - and frightening. To ignore it is gross negligence."

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER

By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

The atheist asserts there is no God. The agnostic admits he cannot tell whether there is a God or not. The materialist boasts that he does not need a God. The worldly fool wishes there were no God. But the Christian testifies that he cannot live without God, and he asks in the words of Psalm 113:5, "Who is like unto the Lord our God?"

Who is like Him in power? He is the All Powerful One. The word "impossible" is not in His vocabulary. While He cannot lie, sin or act contrary to His nature, He is so powerful that He is able to do anything.

Who is like Him in knowledge? He is the All Knowing

One. God has intuitive, infallible, simultaneous knowledge of Himself, and all other beings and events. Past, present and future are as an open book to Him. He sees and knows everything.

Who is like Him in presence? He is the Ever Present One. It has been reported that the Turks built their temples open at the top. That was to show that God cannot be confined in them, but is in all places by His presence.

Two please God: the one who loves Him because He knows Him, and the one who seeks Him because He wants to know Him. Do you please Him?

The Light Touch
By Clint Bray

40 is a wonderful age. Especially if you're over 50.

If you think old soldiers just fade away, try getting into your old army uniform.

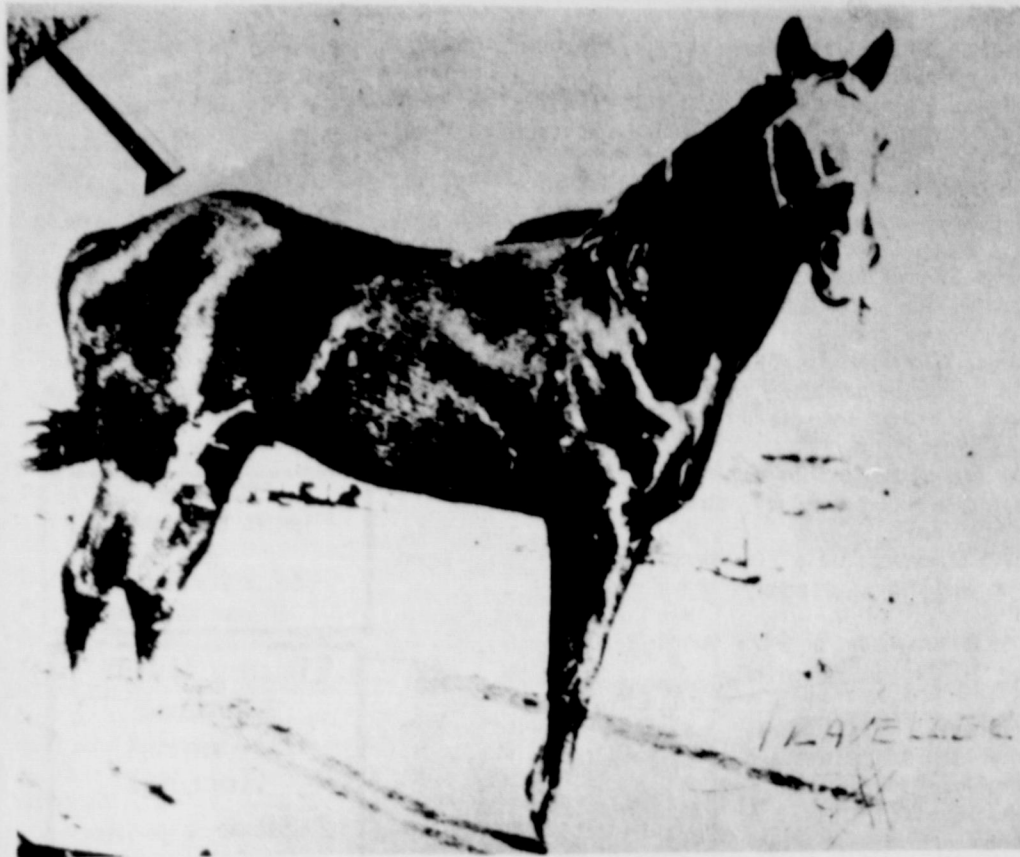

We can all profit by mistakes, particularly if our competitors make enough of them.

Heard about the elevator operator who got fired? He couldn't remember the route.

Most folks count something - dollars, worries, accomplishments or calories. We count you as one of our blessings at BRAY'S in Eastland and Ranger. See us for a smart looking wardrobe.

Wonderful World of Books

Me? Horses, I know very little about. Beyond the knowledge that they have long necks, swishy tail and are usually associated with John Wayne. Books? Yes. We can tell a good one, and pretty ones are prizes. A new one to our desk meets every test. It's about horses - quarterhorses - and even though our knowledge on that subject is limited, we immediately recognize that here's a book that every man, woman and child who's ever fancied horse flesh, should own for their very own.

And especially for Eastland Countians, it's a must. There's a biography on Traveler. You know the story: he started out as a work horse and turned into a champion. If you don't know the story, better get the book.

SPEED AND THE QUARTER HORSE. A Payload of Sprinters, by Nelson C. Nye, published by the Caxton Printers, Ltd. of Caldwell, Idaho, 83605. Tagged at $17.95, it's not high for the content. It's a beautiful book full of good quarterhorse racing pictures; statistics; biographies of the famous, the near-famous and the unique in horsemadom.

Horses, our chief pressman Ted Rogers does know. He raises fine horses, knows good ones when he sees 'em, and when he saw this book, his eyes lit up. It's a gift to him and except to read, he may keep it in a safe deposit box. It's that kind of book.

But what's that story about Traveler? Well, we'd heard it here in part from Tip Arther, and author Nye, a world-recognized authority, sets it down in detail.

A couple of Traveler quotes from the chapter on "Breeding for Speed!"

"Jumping into the present century, two stallions dominated the southwest breeding picture in much the same fashion; more than a half-century later their influence still is rather impressively apparent in Peter McCue and the 'mystery' horse, Traveler. "First discovered was the latter, on the Texas & Pacific railroad dump in Eastland County, Texas, hitched to a dirt-moving slip. He proved an unbeatable racehorse and, though rather lightly bred - - and to just about anything - - so superior a sire that even today some infusion of his blood and characteristics are diligently sought."

Nye is the most widely read and most quoted author of literature about the Quarter Horse, and we like the way he describes the sport of Quarter Racing - "...it is the sport of

EVIDENCE FOR GOD

By Edmund Flood
That God is personally among us is the whole point of Christianity. The evidence is rooted deeply in our own personal search for the meaning as human beings. In this exciting, brief book Edmund Flood would have us search out our experience of God in living, in the daily contact with family, friends, associates...our community. He aids the reader in clarifying this outlook. This book is not so much an argument as it is a witness to what is going on in the world, inside and outside the churches. "The point of Christianity", says the author, "is to offer evidence, through the lives of people that God is personally among us. Edmund Flood is an English Benedictine priest. Paperback: $7.75.

IN THE KINGDOM OF THE LONELY GOD

By Robert Griffin
With each review copy sent out by Paulist Press we try to provide reviewers with some background to each book and what makes it special in this age when publishers have a special responsibility to publish only worthwhile books. Following is the actual correspondence from James Carroll (NCR columnist) to Mr. Donald Brophy, our trade book editor, - - and Jim Carroll says it all! It's a superb statement as to why we believe "In the Kingdom of the Lonely God" promises to be a most important book for more profound reasons than a publisher would normally advance. "After a particularly bad day this week I went home, had dinner, took a hot shower and climbed into bed. I reached for the galleys of Robert Griffin's In the Kingdom of the Lonely God to scan them briefly. Two hours later, I finished my first reading. I was changed by it. "Robert Griffin reminds me of Boo Radley, a fat, faintly ghostly fellow who invites you to look at the world through his eyes. When you do, the world is different because he sees with more warmth, depth and humor than most of us. It's amazing how easy it is to love the dirtiest streets and the most disparate characters when you look at them with this man. One might even say it's easier to love oneself (one might). "Griffin's honest perceptions break down the categories we usually use to keep away from each other. He is priestly, but not clerical; funny but not mocking; holy but not pious; though he avoids radical rhetoric, he is a man of the people. He remembers, one might even say, the forgotten people. When I forget or am forgotten myself, I hope a Robert Griffin is there. "I think a lot of people are waiting to meet this man. His words woke me up when I needed waking. And when I needed sleep this week, they sent me off to sleep, smiling. "Thanks for asking my opinion. I'm honored." Paperback $2.95

the people, and it has been this way from its beginning several centuries ago."

MY BROTHER MY SISTER

By Sue Mosteller
Photographs by Donna Moysesuk
Background - several years ago Paulist Press placed its Canadian distribution with Griffin House in Toronto. Since then Griffin House has started to emerge as a notable Canadian - North American publisher. MY BROTHER MY SISTER is the second of recent books Paulist Press has published in the United States simultaneously with its Canadian source, Griffin House. (The other book was Jean Vanier's ERUPTION TO HOPE. The book is the story of the Mother Teresa Foundations in India and the Jean Vanier Houses for retarded adults. It was felt that there was a great deal of interest in the work of both of these people and we placed the emphasis on their work and workers rather than on Jean and Mother Teresa themselves. There is also some information about both of these people.

Griffin House sent Sister Sue Mosteller, who is a Sister of St. Joseph in Toronto, and Donna Moysesuk, a young Canadian photographer, to India to get first-hand knowledge so that they could write the book and take photographs. The result is moving and inspiring. Sister Sue has been working with retarded people at 'Daybreak' in Toronto, which is a house set up by the community of Jean Vanier. She has done a great deal of work in the area of religious education and has been a Consultant with the Toronto Metropolitan Separate School Board for a number of years. She also acts as Jean Vanier's secretary when he comes to Canada. Paperback $3.95

BEGINNER'S GUIDE TO ARCHAEOLOGY
By Louis A. Brennan ($9.95)
A citizen-digger himself, Brennan makes archaeology a realistic activity for outdoor people, students, history buffs - everyone with an investigative mind. His step-by-step instructions, fully illustrated, show beginners how to survey, excavate, identify, record...all the techniques of the pros to create a dig, not a disaster!

This uniquely thorough book, welcomed by leading professional archaeologists, goes beyond "how to dig" to show citizen-diggers how to make meaningful contributions to our knowledge of man and save the shreds of early history from the bulldozers (and the "pretty-pot" collectors who destroy more than they save.) Here's your chance to do something for those who have been gone these thousands of years - and their descendants who haven't been born yet!

WASHINGTON
"As it looks from here"
OMAR BURLESON
Congressman
17th District

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Congressman Omar Burleson announced today that the United States Coast Guard Academy is now accepting and processing applications for appointment as Cadet, U.S. Coast Guard, Class of 1978. Burleson stressed that appointments to the Coast Guard Academy are tendered solely on the basis of an annual nationwide competition with no congressional appointments or geographical quotas involved.

Applications for appointment must be submitted to the Director of Admissions, U.S. Coast Guard Academy, prior to December 15, 1973, and candidates must arrange to participate in the College Entrance Examination Board Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) by the December 1, 1973, test date. Competition is based on the candidate's rank in high school, his performance on the CEEB Scholastic Aptitude Test, and his leadership potential as demonstrated by his participation in high school extracurricular activities, community affairs or part-time employment.

To qualify for the competition, an applicant must not be married, and must have reached his 17th but not his 22nd birthday by July 1, 1974. The minimum educational requirement is a high school diploma; however, high school seniors assured of graduation by June 30, 1974, are eligible to compete provided they have at least fifteen credits.

Burleson emphasized that Cadets obtain an excellent undergraduate education at no personal cost and, in addition, receive pay and allowances fully adequate to cover living expenses. The Academy curriculum is constantly updated, and ranges from liberal arts and engineering to professional subjects with 13 academic options.

The Coast Guard establishes and coordinates search and rescue operations by ship and plane, maintains advanced electronic equipment and other aids to navigation scattered around the globe, operates the icebreakers which clear the way for all polar expeditions, and enforces marine law and all aspects of merchant marine safety. Furthermore the Coast Guard has recently been given added responsibilities in the rapidly growing fields of boating safety and marine environmental protection.

Applications and additional information may be obtained by writing the Director of Admissions, United States Coast Guard Academy, New London, Connecticut 06320.

BAKKER FUNERAL HOME

Dear friends,

One thing a family should not expect the funeral director to do is to suggest the cost of the funeral to be selected. His advice may be invited, but the decision rests with the family. The financial aspects must of necessity be candidly discussed, to avoid hardship and to have complete understanding by all concerned.

Respectfully,
Dale C. Bakker

Mavericks first touchdown. The score then read Eastland - 6; Haskell, 31.
After the kick from Eastland to Haskell the Indians worked the ball up field to their own 33 yard line where they punted to Eastland.
The ball was kept very much evenly between the two teams throughout the third quarter and early fourth quarter.
About halfway through the fourth quarter Eastland received possession of the ball from a fumble by the Indians.
On the 45 yard line it was 18 and 10 for the Mavs.
From the 45 of Haskell the Mavericks moved the ball for four first downs to the Indians 6 yard line by several plays by Tony Thomas and John Marshall.

At first and 10 at the Haskell 6 yard line Ensor took the snap and ran on a Keeper Play for the Mavericks second touchdown and the final touchdown of the game.

Key players for Eastland were Tom Morren, Tony Thomas, Brent Parker, John Marshall, Terry Ensor, Doug Allmond, David Baze and B.W. Robertson.

A lighting specialist tells what to look for when you're buying light bulbs.

Here are some suggestions that may help you in the wise selection of light bulbs for your home.

1. All general service incandescent bulbs now have three ratings on their packaging. (A) Lumens tell you about the light output or performance of the bulb. (B) Watts tell you how much electricity is needed to produce that light. (C) Bulb life is stated as an average, and is an indication of the hours of use you may expect before the bulb burns out.

2. When the amount of light is more important than bulb life — for reading, studying or working — choose a standard bulb that provides the most lumens for its wattage.

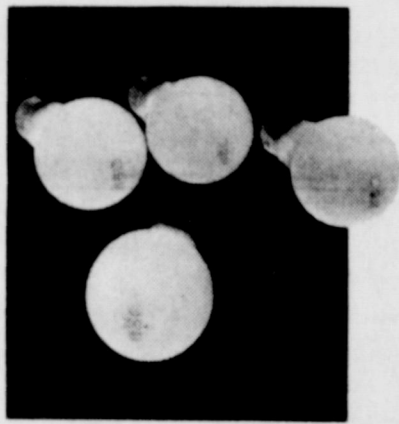

3. Where bulbs are difficult to change and when the amount of light needed is not so important, choose an extended life bulb. You'll get longer bulb life, but you'll give up some light. Considering two bulbs of the same wattage, longer life means less light. You give up one for the other.

4. In some cases you can take advantage of the fact that one large bulb may give more light at lower cost than a group of smaller bulbs. For instance, one 100-watt bulb gives more light than three 40-watt bulbs; it uses less energy and costs less to buy, too. Be sure to check the fixture for its maximum bulb wattage rating.

5. Use fluorescent lamps where you can. They give more lumens per watt and have longer life. They can also produce a color of light comparable to incandescent bulbs.

If you're building or remodeling, we'll be glad to help with your plans and show you how to get efficient use of electricity for lighting. There is no charge for this help, and you can arrange it by calling our office. It's our job at Texas Electric to help you get the most value from your electric service.

Ask for our free booklet, "Tips to help you use electricity more efficiently throughout your home."
