moisture. A downpour washes them away. "Drowsy drivers should stop and rest. If you must keep going and have no one to talk with, dial a radio program. You'll be too irritated to sleep. "If your choice in an emergency is between hitting a moving vehicle or a stationary object, pick the latter. If the object is small enough, steer over it rather than swerving quickly to avoid it. "When an emergency forces you onto the shoulder of the road, resist the impulse to lock the brakes. Pumping them gives you better control and prevents the build-up of dirt ahead of the wheels that might cause the car to overturn. "Similarly, if a tire blows, ease up on the gas gradually not abruptly. Wait until the car slows naturally before braking gently. "If a heavily-loaded car seems easier to steer than usual, you've got too much weight in back of the rear axle and less actual steering control. Redistribute the weight by putting some of the heavy items further forward. "On expressways, match your speed with that of the prevailing traffic. When exiting, don't reduce speed until you're in the deceleration lane. When entering, don't join the mainstream of traffic until you have gotten up to speed in the acceleration lane. "Make stops on a turnpike only when absolutely necessary. Even if it means ruining a tire, keep going until you're safely far over on the shoulder or come to an emergency pull out area. If you must stop for repairs get passengers far enough away from the car so they won't be hurt if it is "Always give cars with only one headlight plenty of room. You don't know which side of the car the good light is on. "Don't speed. Don't take chances."

...you'll be glad you have an ELECTRIC DISHWASHER

Summer is the time you'll especially appreciate having an automatic electric dishwasher. The countless glasses that would ordinarily accumulate on the drainboard go out of sight into your dishwasher. Then, when you have a full load, you press a button and your glasses and other dishes are washed and dried automatically. An electric dishwasher not only keeps your kitchen tidier and saves you hours of drudgery each week, it gets your dishes hygienically clean, using water hotter than hands can stand. Why not get an electric dishwasher soon and put an end to the tiresome chore of hand dishwashing?
