One Firm That Doesn't Deserve to Come Out of the Depression!

PETROLEUM AND ITS RAMIFICATIONS
According to the Hondo Farmer 558,000 persons in Texas depend on the payrolls incident to the oil industry, adding that in one year royalty paid Texas landowners and their assignees were $45,000,000, lease bonuses to landowners $25,000,000 more and leases and rentals $8,750,000. Moreover, the Farmer says the oil industry accounts for more than one-third of the entire manufacturing production of the state, its dominance being proved by the fact that the second largest industry produces values of $98,361,198. The oil total is $519,005,126. Place this in the record:
Ross Sterling as governor of Texas battling for justice for all concerned and the conservation of all interests concerned declared martial law in the East Texas fields for the protection of life and property and the stabilization of the industry. He won the battle. He stabilized the petroleum industry in the Southwest. His action courageous and justice-loving, sent the price of oil from 9 cents a barrel to a dollar a barrel, and also placed millions of dollars in the general revenue fund of the state.

It is said that republicans are ungrateful. It should not be said that men who claim to be Jeffersonian democrats fail to appreciate the splendid work of an honest and upright governor in defense of their rights as well as their pockets. He is for the conservation of the natural resource wealth which was the heritage of the Texas people. Now get this:
Texas is sending to Chicago each year the equivalent of 2000 tons of bituminous coal—not that it is shipping so much coal but that the natural gas from Texas fields piped to the Western metropolis equals in energy value that amount of coal. Elmer H. Johnson of the university bureau of business research, who is responsible for that calculation, declares that in 1931 Texas furnished 25 per cent of all natural gas produced in this country—and that it wasted by dissipation into the air, more than it sold. Also, that Texas has proved reserves of 4,000,000,000 cubic feet of gas lying under 300,000 acres of land and there are other fields to be developed.
Now why should Texans stand or vote for proxy government that would be without responsibility? Why shouldn't Texans place men on guard who will safeguard in the future this noble heritage of natural wealth reserve that was passed on to them by the fathers of the commonwealth.
Texas first. Place in the lookout chair clothed with constitutional power or authority men who will make Texas first.

COTTONSEED MEN FORM A NATIONAL INSTITUTE
Texas is the banner cotton state. Hence, the banner cottonseed state. Organization of an institute of cottonseed oil foods was perfected at Chicago and R. F. Crow of Houston was elected president. Manufacturers of cottonseed oil and producers of cottonseed oil foods with plans throughout the South were announced to institute members. Providing a market for the billion and a half pounds of cottonseed oil produced annually is the object of the organization. Memphis was selected as executive headquarters. Erl H. Haines of that city was named as executive secretary.
One purpose of the new organization is to promote a larger use by food manufacturers of cottonseed oil, of which there is at present a surplus. A reminder that cottonseed oil represents half the market value of cottonseed, which in most of the Southern states is the farmer's second most important cash crop. A second reminder: Market price of seed is now only half the pre-war level.
A resolution was adopted which advocated a federal tax of 10 cents a pound on foreign oils and fats used in butter substitutes. Another in which the manufacturers voted to unite their efforts with the cattleraisers of the West urging butter substitute producers to substitute beef fat and cottonseed oil for cocoanut oil now used in making the substitute. Why not a union of the cottonseed oil manufacturers and the leaders of the livestock associations of the country?
Why not beef fat and cotton fat for butter substitutes instead of the oil from foreign countries and the islands of the Pacific? If the tariff is a good thing distribute its blessings alike on all and if it is a rotten system, kick down the walls and challenge the world for a rich slice of the commerce of the world.

ANOTHER WILL ROGERS IN HIGH PLACE
Will Rogers, the sage of Claremore, Okla., and Beverly Hills and the world, has a running mate in the picture. William Cornelius Rogers, unknown schoolteacher and never before a candidate for high office on the democratic primary ballot, is democratic nominee for congressman-at-large in his native state of Oklahoma. He won by a huge majority, and he defeated Mrs. Mabel Bassett, who has held many offices in Oklahoma and is admittedly one of the ablest and best qualified women who has ever been in the public service in that commonwealth where Alfalfa William is the ruler. Governor Murray backed the schoolteacher. Mrs. Bassett has been the chief political thorn in his side. Now she is down and out and William Cornelius of the Rogers tribe is the victor. His election in November is conceded even by the republican politicians of the state. His name was on the official ballot as Will Rogers. He ran like a deer in the first primary. He ran like a scared wolf in the second and now he is topnotcher in the politics of Oklahoma. Fame and fortune and a job came to him in less than 50 days after the first filing of his candidacy as plain Will Rogers but he never mentioned Claremore or Beverly Hills. A wise hombre, this Oklahoma school teacher who put the feminine leader of the Oklahoma democrats under the political sod.

It is getting near the time now that a lot of our politicians will feel a fluttering of the heart and experience a feeling that they will win if they can catch the eye and enlist the sympathy of enough of the voters. Watch them try to get the sympathy. November will decide.

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE with BILL MAYES

Well, well, well, just look what you have in store for you tonight. A couple of water polo teams from the Lions club is to play a couple of other water polo teams from the Rotary club at the Willows tonight, starting at 8 o'clock, provided all the members of the two teams can get the moths out of their bathing suits in time.
That should be something worth writing home about. Just imagine a pickled team composed of such notables as L. R. Pearson, E. L. Fontaine, Edwin George, Jr., F. D. Hicks, Dr. Kuykendall and John Thurman playing water polo with Hal Hunter, J. A. Thrower, Bill Dorsey, H. D. Reese, D. W. Nichol and Dr. Walter Jackson.
Personally we don't believe it, but we are going to be on hand to see if they really play water polo. The reason we don't believe it is that we doubt if some of them can swim. Anyway, that is the lineup.
The first teams of the two clubs are composed of Roy Gilbreath, Rip Galloway, Clyde Davis, Al Larson, Martin Walker and C. G. King for the Lions and Andy Anderson, S. P. Boone, C. B. Pruet, H. S. Von Roeder, Bill McDonald and Ben Whitehouse. We don't know for sure whether or not the first teams can swim, either, but that is the lineup, anyway. Roy Gilbreath, when he was picked as a member of the team, said that he couldn't swim, but that he was tall enough to wade, so he was included.
We are not so sure that all have even seen a water polo game, and if they did whether they observed the fine points of the game enough to be accomplished players. One thing that can be said about it, though, is that the game should be as fair for one side as it is for the other.
And that reminds us that Jake Sandefer, president of the Breckenridge Lions club, has issued, or has threatened to issue, a challenge to the Ranger Lions club to a bowling tourney to be held sometime in the near future.
Today when he was picked as a member of the Ranger Lions were going to accept and he said they were. He said that he didn't know if five men on the Lions club had ever been in a bowling alley or not, but that they were going to accept the challenge when he and as issued, or words to that effect, went to him.
Al said that he had bowled a few games some two or three years ago, but that since his operation he had not been able to roll the big balls without causing some pain, so he probably would not be on the team.
Which reminds us of a Rotary-Lions baseball game we saw several years ago. We were rushed in as a member of the Rotary club under some excuse or another and were placed on second base. Things went fine until a high fly went between second and short. It was so high both had time to get under it and then argue about who would take it. Neither wanted it. But it landed in the short stops glove as he argued and it went for an out. Believe that and we will tell you other some time. Now that we think about it we believe each team was allowed two recruits who had not played baseball for more than two years. But we did see a baseball knocked into a base-runner's hip pocket once upon a time.

People who want to keep comfortable during the hot weather should not watch the thermometer, Dr. Joseph L. Cline, weather observer at Dallas claims.
"Ninety-eight per cent of the worrying and suffering over the hot weather is mental or psycho-logical," Dr. Cline says. "We actually have almost ideal climate, even in the hottest months, with few heat prostrations and weather that is the finest possible for health."
Dr. Cline, for 30 years weather watcher at Dallas, works in an office that is not cooled by fans and drinks uncooled tap water from a faucet, even in hot weather. He believes only weather observers and persons in the cotton market or ice business should watch the temperature. For the rest of us "don't read the thermometer and think of cool places and refreshing breezes!" he advises.
As we see it, Dr. Cline's argument is that it is not the weather that is hot, but the people, which, to our way of thinking, amounts to the same thing and gets the same results.

The TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY. THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)
"OH my Oh my My cow's gone flat" Wee Scouty cried. "Just think of that. There must have been a puncture in his head right by a horn."
"I felt the air come out of it and on the ground the poor cow lit. Just gaze on him you 'Tnymites! He surely looks forlorn!"
"Aw that was your fault," Duncy cried. "And now you've spoiled a dandy ride. Perhaps you'd better wait here while the rest of us ride 'round."
"You jerked your cow's horn much too fast and naturally it wouldn't last. We'll leave you now, although we do not know where we are bound."
THE rubber man then cried "Hey! Wait! You surely won't desert a mate. I'll fix it up so Scouty can go right along with you. I'll have a mule and you shall see that it's as frisky as can be. You'll laugh when you find out what crazy things a mule can do."
"OH, I am not afraid of him," said Scouty. "I feel right in trim to ride most any animal."
"Bring him out to me."
"I'll blow him way up high and air and shortly prove that there." The mule was blown shortly and the Tinies shouted "Whee!"
"Careworn fr child! That animal looks racy and wild. When you climb on hang real tight, or you'll land in a heap."
"We'll all be ready for you and try and catch you if you As soon as Scouty was all set mule began to leap.
His hind feet went up very high and Scouty shouted "Me oh me I'm being jarred to pieces, but I am in my place."
The mule grew mad How could kick! Wee Scouty thought managed to stick! No wonder felt smart and had a smile on his face.
(All of the animals fall in the next story.)

PARIS STYLES

By MARY KNIGHT, United Press Staff Correspondent. PARIS.—One of the most successful hat fabrics now being used here is called bamboula. It is a crepe, excessively wrinkled in vertical lines and woven with a cotton thread which gives it a better chance to stay in good form.

As far as the material goes it can be used for dresses and coat ensembles but, to our way of thinking, it is a little heavy for strictly mid-summer things. In the darker shades we believe it will be used by many of the couturiers for fall outfits.

Lavin and Patou both have a fondness for the sailor type of hat and Lavin varies these in her offerings with tiny skull-caps while Patou shows very plain berets as an alternative. Mainbocher divides his hat attention between "a sort of a sailor and the round toque, and Goupy leans toward rolled brims and shallow crowns for both small and large hats. Masculine felts are the choice of Bruyere for sportwear and these are almost always trimmed very simply with nothing more than a band of matching or contrasting ribbon.

Riddled Shirt Is Constant Reminder

By United Press. BENTON, Ill.—J. W. Devilbliss, a former mine guard at the Middle Fork mines has placed his bullet-riddled shirt in its box for another year. Devilbliss was shot and seriously wounded by bandits who took the $40,000 payroll of the United States Fuel company 13 years ago. Every year, on the anniversary of the holdup, Devilbliss takes the blood-stained, bullet-punctured shirt and wears it.
