HOUSE RUNS RIOT OVER TAX MEASURE

GRIPINGS

This column is published as a daily feature and may not be construed as representing the editorial views of this paper. What follows is merely what a man thought at the time it was written, and the writer reserves the right to change his mind concerning any subject, without notice, explanation or apology.

Just had a quarrel with my nager. Here I am trying to write a column and he's too dumb to offer a suggestion as to what I should write about. He said his job is to manage and not to think that if he had to be both my nager and write the column he would be no use in being lordly. Well, he gave me one of those withering looks and shore off he did walk out. And shore off... oh, oh... here he comes back.

After he'd gone I could think of a dozen dirty tricks I could make on his behalf. Some you may know him. His name is Driskill. He has taken on the job of making me famous and well. Well, he gave me one of those withering looks and shore off he did walk out. And shore off... oh, oh... here he comes back.

DATES OF OIL BELT MATCHES ARE ARRANGED

The official schedule for the Oil Belt Golf association, as worked out by the committee in charge of arranging playing dates for 1932, has been printed and distributed among the members of the various clubs in the association.

Due to the fact that Albany dropped out of the association for this year, the 11-club schedule makes it necessary for one club to remain idle each playing date. Eastland was the first club to draw a blank on the schedule and all other clubs begin play today. Ranger will play at the Phil-Pe-Co course, Breckenridge will play at Cisco and Mineral Wells will play at Thurber.

The complete schedule follows: March 20—Breckenridge at Cisco; Ranger at Phil-Pe-Co; Mineral Wells at Thurber. Eastland at Breckenridge; Phil-Pe-Co at Mineral Wells; Thurber at Ranger. April 3—Cisco at Eastland; Mineral Wells at Ranger; Phil-Pe-Co at Thurber. April 10—Eastland at Mineral Wells; Breckenridge at Phil-Pe-Co; Cisco at Thurber. May 1—Thurber at Breckenridge; Mineral Wells at Cisco; Ranger at Eastland. May 8—Breckenridge at Mineral Wells; Cisco at Ranger; Eastland at Phil-Pe-Co. May 22—Ranger at Breckenridge; Phil-Pe-Co at Cisco; Thurber at Eastland. June 5—Cisco at Breckenridge; Phil-Pe-Co at Ranger; Thurber at Mineral Wells. June 19—Breckenridge at Eastland; Mineral Wells at Phil-Pe-Co; Ranger at Thurber. July 10—Eastland at Cisco; Ranger at Mineral Wells; Thurber at Phil-Pe-Co. July 17—Mineral Wells at Eastland; Phil-Pe-Co at Breckenridge; Thurber at Cisco. July 24—Breckenridge at Thurber; Cisco at Mineral Wells; Eastland at Ranger. Aug. 7—Mineral Wells at Breckenridge; Ranger at Cisco; Phil-Pe-Co at Eastland. Aug. 21—Breckenridge at Ranger; Cisco at Phil-Pe-Co; Eastland at Thurber. Tournament dates have been announced as follows: Mineral Wells Invitation tournament, April 14, 15, 16 and 17. Ranger Invitation tournament, May 28, 29 and 30. Green Belt, Electric, June 13, 14, 15 and 16. Eastland county, Eastland, July 2, 3, and 4. Thurber invitation tournament, Sept. 3, 4 and 5.

Faces Grill In Kidnaping

Police are reported closing in on Martin Depew, also known as Marshall Depew, hunted since last December in connection with the kidnaping of Mrs. Nell Q. Donnelly, wealthy Kansas City garment manufacturer, who was released before a ransom was collected. If Kansas City police capture Depew he will be questioned on the Lindbergh baby kidnaping, authorities state.

McADOO URGES HIGH TARIFF ON PRODUCTS

By United Press.

HOUSTON, March 19.—William Gibbs McAdoo, war-time secretary of the treasury, tonight urged a 12-cent per pound tariff on short staple cotton and a 65 cents per bushel on wheat as a means of returning the American farmer and the nation to prosperity.

He spoke at a meeting sponsored by the local salesmanship club. W. O. Huggins, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, also spoke. State Senator Walter Woodward presided. Upon his arrival by airplane from San Antonio, McAdoo was greeted by T. W. Gregory, Houston, former attorney general, and A. S. Burleson, Austin, both colleagues of McAdoo in the Wilson cabinet.

"The salvation of the wheat and cotton farmer revolves around a tariff on these commodities, suitably high to preserve for the producer the home market against outside competition," said McAdoo. "This must be accompanied by federal regulation which will enable the farmer to get the full benefit of the tariff protection awarded to them on that part of their crop consumed in the United States.

"Congress should enact a law empowering the secretary of agriculture with the approval of the president to determine that certain dates each year what percentage of the cotton and wheat crop shall be for export and domestic consumption and to fix annually, semi-annually or quarterly the minimum prices at which wheat and cotton may be lawfully bought and sold in the United States.

"These prices should be so fixed as to represent as nearly as possible the prevailing world price, plus the flexible tariff then in effect on wheat and cotton."

McAdoo said that he was confident that such a federal law would be constitutional and that if violations were made punishable by fine and imprisonment it would be obeyed.

Inspiration for Student Band

At Texas Christian University the boys are sitting up nights taking music lessons. Everybody wants to make the band. The reason is shown above. She is Miss Rowena Doss of Weatherford, Texas, a senior, chosen as "Sweetheart of the Band" by students.

MURRAY RALLY ON SATURDAY AT EASTLAND

By United Press.

A bold, though diplomatic bid for support of the Texas delegation was made here this afternoon by Governor W. H. Murray, "Alfalfa Bill" Murray of Oklahoma, speaking through a son of Texas.

The first pronouncement of a Murray speaker that Governor Roosevelt defeated "Alfalfa Bill" in the North Dakota election, was made by Hugh A. Jones, vice chairman of the Oklahoma state board of affairs. Like Governor Murray, Jones was born in Grayson county, Texas.

"Republican votes defeated Murray in North Dakota because that party knew no republican candidate could beat the Oklahoma nominee if he leads the party ticket in November," was Jones' explanation of the almost 2 to 1 majority polled by the New Yorker.

Jones' address in the interest of Murray's presidential candidacy featured a state-wide rally.

The meeting was opened by a band concert by the Eastland band under the direction of A. J. Campbell.

R. N. Grisham introduced R. B. Hood of Weatherford, candidate for congressman-at-large, who spoke briefly in the interest of his candidacy.

Mrs. I. Herring of Eastland, a cousin of "Alfalfa Bill," was introduced to the crowd of about 1,000 that gathered for the rally. She told the crowd how proud she was that she was a cousin of Bill Murray.

Hugh Jones of Oklahoma City, principal speaker of the evening, was introduced by Dr. McCracken of Mineral Wells.

A report of the resolutions committee endorsing Murray for president and urging that the Texas delegation be instructed to vote for him was read by Judge J. C. Roland of Ranger.

She Shocked 'Em

A very fresh freshman indeed is Marion E. Shepard, 18, of University of Michigan, who — just to prove that she could do it — donned men's clothes and slipped past the guard at the door of the exclusive Michigan Union Club, where no woman is ever allowed. Caught, Marion promised she would never do it again. Her home is in Cleveland, Ohio, and she is shown above as she was dressed for the exploit.

IS ADJOURNED UNTIL MONDAY "TO COOL OFF"

Rank and File Still In Possession of Bill At Adjournment.

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—The house ran riot with the billion-dollar tax bill again today in one of the most unruly sessions in the history of the American congress.

Passionate words and gestures in the movement to tax wealth created such excitement on the floor that the leaders halted the session in mid-afternoon and adjourned over the week-end to let the members "cool off."

The turbulent end of the session found the rank and file still in possession of the bill, despite the resounding admonitions of Democratic Floor Leader Rainey that "there is only one more step you can take and that is the step they took in Russia to eliminate all wealth."

Rainey and the other leaders were aroused by a third blow delivered to their bill. They fought vigorously but futilely to prevent adoption of an amendment which will prevent Henry Ford and other large bankers and industrialists with branches abroad from deducting their foreign taxes from the tax they owe here.

Those who sponsored the amendment urged that the house make the treasury deficit by taxing those best able to pay. They contended the proposed sales tax would steal bread from the mouths of the poor to run the government and they wanted the money raised from war-time surtaxes they adopted yesterday and through similar measures.

"Bos" were shouted when Representative Rankin, democrat, Mississippi, member of the opposition, tried to ask Rainey, whom he was calling a communist, Speaker John Garner did not participate. He remained on the floor and read newspapers.

Barrett Is Pleased Over Anti-Hoarding Campaign in Texas

The anti-hoarding program of the citizens reconstruction organization is already accomplishing its purpose in all sections of Texas, as today announced by A. P. Barrett, Texas chairman from state headquarters in the Aviation building at Fort Worth.

The appointment of Barrett was approved by President Hoover to direct in Texas this most far-reaching campaign against the hoarding of goods. Barrett is a well-known business leader and has been in charge of the anti-hoarding campaign in Texas for several months. He has been successful in securing the withdrawal of actual cash from circulation. According to statistics of the United States treasury department over $1,500,000,000 has been taken by its owners from banks and investment funds in the last six months. CONNALLY'S MOTHER DIES NEAR WACO

By United Press.

WACO, March 19.—Senator Tom Connally, speeding through the middle west, lost a race with death today to the bedside of his mother, Mrs. Mary E. Connally, 87.

She died at her home near Eddy, 20 miles southeast of here, early today while the train carrying the Texas legislator, her only son, was crossing Indiana.

The senator will arrive tomorrow afternoon in time for the funeral.

Mrs. Connally had been ill for two years following injuries in two falls.

Besides the one son, she is survived by six married daughters.

Wes Marchbanks Home Burned Friday

The home of Wes Marchbanks, Country Club road, was completely destroyed by fire which broke out Friday night at 1:30.

The Marchbanks family was not at home at the time of the fire, which was of unknown origin, but were visiting away from the city.

The Ranger fire department made a run to the scene of the fire but were unable to save the building on account of a lack of water. The fire was kept from spreading to other houses by pumping water from a cellar and wetting the nearby houses.

STERLING IS NOT IMPRESSED WITH "Ma's" Platform

By United Press.

AUSTIN, March 19.—Governor Sterling said here today he is not much impressed with Mrs. Ferguson's platform for governor.

"I think we have a practical moratorium now," said the governor, smiling, when her suggestion for a two-year let-up on tax debts was cited particularly.

The governor also expressed the view that her proposed division of gasoline tax is not desirable. He indicated the belief the schools now get a fair share of the gasoline and other taxes.

The governor, back in Austin today after a trip to El Paso, said he will not be able to go to Houston to attend the banquet there tonight for William G. McAdoo.

RANGER RIFLE RANGE TO BE OPENED TODAY

The American Legion Rifle club of Ranger will officially open their range for the 1932 season this morning with an all-day shoot. Visitors to the range are cordially invited to attend the shoot and look over the range.

Arrangements have been made for each visitor who desires to do so to shoot five rounds over the rifle range. Any visitor who wishes to fire over the pistol or skeet ranges may do so if they will furnish a gun and ammunition. Rifles will be furnished by the club to all who want to shoot, however.

Plenty of ice water has been promised by the officials of the club, and many other conveniences will be part of the facilities offered the shooters.

A new .22 calibre rifle range has been installed in order that the small bore fans may shoot over the 50 and 100 yard distances. New dumps have been provided for the pistol range and the small bore range, so that there will be no danger of flying bullets.

A pistol match between the Ranger and Breckenridge teams has been arranged and another match has been scheduled between the Eastland and Ranger rifle teams. These two matches are expected to attract considerable attention.

Two Are Quizzed About Car Found Near Lindbergh Home

By United Press.

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 19.—An automobile found buried beneath a pile of hay near the estate of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh led state police today on a new trail in the search for the kidnapers of the famous flier's 20-month-old son.

Sam Cucchiara, known as Sam the Barber, was credited with having furnished information which led to discovery of the hidden car. He was taken to the Lindbergh home for questioning.

An inspector of the state motor vehicle bureau posed as an auto thief and managed to gain the confidence of Sam the Barber, who gave him information about the car. The farm where the car was found is a few miles from the Lindbergh estate.

Sometime after Sam the Barber was taken to the Lindbergh residence, police found Caspar Oliver, whose farm the car was found. He and a negro, said to have been riding with Sam the Barber on the night of the kidnaping was being questioned.

Motor vehicle inspectors said the engine had been removed from the car and that it is extremely unlikely it is connected in any way with the kidnaping.

TWO HELD IN BRECKENRIDGE IN LEXINGTON

By United Press.

AUSTIN, March 19.—W. H. Bybee, 26, of Pampa, and Harry Roberts, 30, of Throckmorton, today were linked with the $2,500 robbery of the Lexington State bank at Lexington.

The two men have been identified by bank employees, Ranger Captain Frank Hamer said today. The bank loot, however, has not been found and a third man still is sought.

Officers were seeking the Lexington bank bandits when Bybee and Roberts resisted arrest at Breckenridge. In the gun fight that followed, Parks was fatally wounded, Roberts shot in the leg and Bybee had a finger shot off.

The pair will not be returned to Lexington in connection with the bank robbery until they have faced charges of murder in Parks' death, Captain Hamer said.

Murray Says He Will Name Next President of U. S.

By United Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 19.—Governor W. H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray wrapped a brown scarf around his throat and left tonight on a campaign speaking tour of the Old South.

The democratic opponents for the presidential nomination sounded a defiant challenge.

"They will find when it is over, by God, I will name the next president and write the platform," he said, while pausing 11 hours at the Oklahoma capitol between campaign trips.

"I haven't any ambition to hold the damned office. I would rather have a man in the place who would do right than be president myself. They may lock the convention on me but I will get a majority of votes before they get through and I will be the controlling factor. They don't know yet that I am making a fight for the public interests."

Receivers May Waive Mortgages For Seed Loans

By United Press.

DALLAS, March 19.—Receivers of closed national banks in Texas have been given authority to give waivers on crop mortgages in favor of federal seed loans where necessary. Owen W. Sherrill, regional manager of the seed loan office was informed today.

Sherrill said the comptroller of the currency gave such authority. This co-operation is similar to that given by the federal land bank of Houston, which agreed to waive for a year its priority on crop mortgages.

WHERE HOPES OF MILLIONS ARE CENTERED. Bascom N. Timmons is a noted Washington correspondent.

Speaking of the federal government's $2,000,000,000 loan agency which is said to be operating at full speed, he says: "Actions of the corporation carry with them the hopes of millions of Americans who are able to secure loans from usual sources when credit and relief are most needed."

Holiday in Road Building Is Seen For Next Year

By RAYMOND BROOKS. AUSTIN, March 1.—A year's holiday in highway building, it may now exclusively be announced, will be the next major proposal as a Texas taxpayers' relief move.

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE with BILL MAYES

Police Chief Jim Ingram of Ranger and Deputy Sheriff John Barnes have been doing some wonderful work for the past week, but have been able to get in very little sleep in the meantime.

Beginning about two weeks ago a series of robberies and burglaries were started in and around Ranger that kept the two officers so busy that they had little time for anything but work, and lots of it.

The Waples-Plattler Grocery company was broken into and a large truck load of merchandise was stolen. Then the Mathema Milling company safe was robbed.

Two robbers held up four men in a home in Olden and took something like $23 in cash from them at the point of a gun.

All this happened in such quick order that it was almost impossible for the officers to get a start on one robbery before another was committed.

One or two arrests were made and statements were obtained from them. These statements involved other people and they were picked up and questioned.

When the clerk reaches one of the few absentees he reads the name twice to make sure. Beck almost forgets to vote when his turn comes and emits his "Aye" in oblivious breathless haste.

JUNIOR WELTER MAT TITLE TO BE AT STAKE

Word has been received by Matchmaker Hester, for the Elks athletic shows, from Sergeant Benny Wilson, welterweight champion of the Thirty-sixth division, Texas national guard, that he will arrive in Ranger about noon Monday and be ready to weigh in, and tip the scales at 122 pounds at 3 p. m.

Wilson is working out with a string of wrestlers at the Recreation building at Fort Worth in preparation for his match with Robby Novack, who now holds the junior welter title, having won it in Chicago two years ago and has succeeded in defending it and beating all comers to hold it.

Bobby Novack is working out daily and will be in the best physical condition possible for the fight, which he is going against one of the toughest boys in the game, and does not underestimate Wilson's ability as a wrestler.

Early mornings Novack has been running around in the football park and evenings he works out in the Elks gymnasium, Sunday evening at 3 p. m. he will work out in the Elks gym on Main street and the public is invited to come and see how a wrestler exercises in preparation for a match. This is the first time.

The main match will take place in the Elks gymnasium Monday night at 8 o'clock, March 21. In addition to this match there will be several good boxing matches among some very fast boys with plenty of action.

Soon the baseball season will be opened and teams from towns in this section of the country will begin warming up and getting ready for the games to be played this season.

For those who prefer neck twisting and lusty socks to the jaw the Elks Athletic show this week should offer many inducements.

Bobby Novack, national junior welterweight champion, will defend his title against Benny Wilson in the main match on the card. One of the features of the boxing division will be a bout between a 150 pound girl and a boy of her own weight.

Neff Accepts Presidency of Baylor College. WACO, March 19.—Pat M. Neff, former governor and a member of the railroad commission, has accepted the presidency of Baylor University, to which he was unanimously elected Feb. 23.

Neff's acceptance was announced in a letter to Judge W. H. Jenkins, secretary of the Baylor trustees. It said: "Mindful of its responsibilities, conscious of its obligations, and appreciative of its ever widening opportunities, I expect to assume work at a later date as president of Baylor, my mother of learning."

Neff has been chairman of the Baylor trustees since 1904. He was a roommate of the late Dr. Samuel Palmer Brooks, Baylor president, who died last May after more than a quarter of a century as president.

Neff has not decided when he will tender his resignation to Governor Steen as a member of the railroad commission. If he resigns before June 6, his successor must be a candidate in the July primary.

knows of her presence in the house that night. Then Ellen learns Larry Harrowgate is Barclay's nephew.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XL

Ellen sat stunned and quiet for a long time after the two men left her. Larry Harrowgate was Steven's nephew! Over and over again she prayed that Larry should never know she was slipping like a dismissed servant from the great house where only last night she had been mistress. Over and over she prayed he would never learn of her shame and humiliation.

Larry—to think that it should have been Larry!

She stared blindly out at green, shady lawns dappled with autumn sunshine and breathed air sweet with the tang of fall and brush fires. Far away a lawn sprinkler was whirling and a man raked leaves. Beyond the tennis courts there was the sparkle of blue water. The cars that had stood in the driveway were gone.

There was in that peaceful scene no hint of the tragedy that had befallen Myra Barclay. Ellen wondered why she could not cry again and had only the exhausted conviction that she should be weeping for him who had loved her.

"It's all over," she said half aloud. "I'm going home."

Ah, to escape from this luxurious, hideous place! The thought of Molly, of Myra running into the familiar kitchen and chattering, of Mike looking up at her so confidently, was like a dream. Ellen's eyes ached for the familiar sights, for the marble-topped bureau with the stain from spilled perfume.

Here in this hateful room she stood waiting for them to smuggle her away as though she were a criminal. She knew that Snymes pitied her and she did not want pity. The doctors had been surprised at her presence, had regarded her, she felt, with contempt. She did not want that, either.

When Fergus came in to pack the newly initiated bags that she would never use Ellen wanted to cry out that she would leave her clothes here. She wished never to see the pretty frock again. She wanted to explain to the silent, impersonal servant why she was here—what had happened. But that she could not do. She was sworn to silence and to deceit. Snymes had warned her to say nothing. How Ellen hated it all!

Fergus glanced at her from time to time as he packed her clothes. It did not matter what he was thinking, Ellen told herself. Resolutely she pulled on a little felt hat and tucked in the strands of brilliant hair.

It did matter, of course. She remembered again and with a sinking heart that she had given Fergus Clancy's telephone number to Fergus. How she wished that she hadn't. But all this was—what! How could such a tiny circumstance be important?

What was Fergus thinking? "Mr. Snymes is waiting for you in the hall, miss," he said, as he strapped the last heavy bag.

Again that strange, oblique glance. It had been "madame" the night before. Ellen's cheeks burned.

"I want to see Steven—Mr. Barclay before I go," she said, her throat dry.

"I'm afraid, miss, that's impossible," the butler told her smoothly. "He's been taken to the hospital. It was thought best."

Ellen followed him down the stairs into the dark, cool hall. Snymes took her arm and Fergus carried the bags to the car. The butler watched as the limousine rushed down the winding driveway.

"I've had more years to consider right and wrong than you've had," Snymes told her in a matter of fact way. "And it seems to me the right thing is the kind thing. You're being kind. You're saving Steven's honor when he can't save it himself."

"But you don't understand," Ellen persisted in a low voice. "I'm not being unselfish—I'm not thinking really of Steven. I'm thinking of myself and my own reputation. That's why I wanted to run away, the real reason. That's why it's wrong. It's not

How Nation's "Average Man" Is Meeting the Depression

MAKING MONEY, BUT NOT AS MUCH—EXPECTS U. S. WILL ELECT DEMOCRAT.

FORT MADISON, Iowa.—The average man is still making money in these days of depression, but not as much as he used to. He thinks business is improving—everything considered—and believes that we are merely going through a period of reconstruction which, in the end, will mean the return of prosperity, but on a different level.

He doesn't think Hoover can be re-elected this year, because he sees the people in the mood for a change at Washington. He thinks the Democratic nominee who will likely be our next president will be some "dark horse" who has not yet been mentioned, preferably a man of the Theodore Roosevelt type.

Such are the present views of Roy L. Gray, proprietor of a Fort Madison clothing and furnishing store, who four years ago became nationally famous when he was chosen by a leading magazine as the United States' most typical "average man." Out of all the 120,000,000 persons who make up this nation from New York to San Francisco, he was selected as the nearest human approach to that mythical figure to whom politicians look for their votes, to whom business looks for customers and for whom editors plan their newspapers.

Seeking the answer to the question of what the average man in this country is thinking about today, I came to Fort Madison to interview Mr. Gray. I found him behind the counter of his clothing store on the town's main business street, getting ready for the day's trade.

"How's business?" I asked the average man. "My business is good, considering this so-called depression," Mr. Gray replied. "I have never figured this period exactly a depression—as I see it, we are going through a period of reconstruction, getting back to finding a level where we will stay. But I don't believe this bunk about prosperity being right around the corner; I think improvement will be gradual. But it is coming now, gradually."

"What do you think of Hoover's chances for re-election?" I asked. "Well," he replied, "I'm registered as a Republican, but I believe the election will see a change in party. I'm not criticizing Mr. Hoover, but when times are bad people just naturally will want a change. I think Mr. Hoover has done as much as any man could do under similar conditions, but conditions are against him."

"Who's going to be the Democratic nominee?" was the next question. "I think the Democratic nominee will be some man who has not yet been mentioned," Mr. Gray replied. "I don't think it will be Franklin D. Roosevelt, 'Alfalfa Bill' Murray or anybody like that, but some 'dark horse' who will sweep the Chicago convention. He should be a type of man like Theodore Roosevelt; that's what this country needs today, a real leader."

"What do you think of the Japanese aggression in Shanghai?" "I think the Japanese are going too far. They are trying to sell their goods to China with a gayety. They are overdoing it. They will lose by it in the end." "What about the proposal to cancel the war debts?" "In my personal view, these debts should be paid, but there are other things that may enter into it. For instance, there is the question as to whether they can be collected. It is beyond my knowledge of conditions for me to attempt to answer just how things would work out if an attempt was made to force collection."

"To what extent does an average man read the newspapers?" "I first read the headlines to find things I am interested in. Then when I find a story I am interested in, I read it all the way through," he replied. "On the average, though, I would say that of 20 stories I read only three or four, getting my information on the rest from the headlines."

Mr. Gray, the "average man," seems average in all respects. He lives in what is about the average town, his clothing store is about the average clothing store to be found in a town of this size, his mode of living is about the average, his family is of the average size. It consists of his wife and two children: Dick, 13, and Sue, 8.

I asked him what he planned to make of his son, Dick, now in the eighth grade at an average school. "I'm not going to try to make anything of him, but let him do that for himself. He is greatly en-

"Only now that everything's arranged—I'm afraid."

"Nothing to be afraid of," he assured her. "You'll be home soon now."

"It's Fergus I'm afraid of," Ellen said in a small voice. "A servant?" he demanded, amazed. "He can't harm you."

Ellen was not to be reassured. The deadly weight in her heart persisted. She could not shake off her feeling of desolation and her rising doubts.

She stared blindly at fields burned and dry, stared at the cars they passed. She had never felt such wretchedness, such loneliness of spirit. To be running away like a thief—

"I'm glad for you, Snymes," he penetrated her misery. "Glad you decided as you did. It's the best way out of the regrettable affair."

Ellen twisted a fold of her frock. "I don't know what's right and what's wrong," she said. "It seems wrong to desert Steven, to hide something he thought was right."

"I've had more years to consider right and wrong than you've had," Snymes told her in a matter of fact way. "And it seems to me the right thing is the kind thing. You're being kind. You're saving Steven's honor when he can't save it himself."

"But you don't understand," Ellen persisted in a low voice. "I'm not being unselfish—I'm not thinking really of Steven. I'm thinking of myself and my own reputation. That's why I wanted to run away, the real reason. That's why it's wrong. It's not

Flowering Shrubs Are Beautiful in the Garden

Flowering shrubs play an important part in the garden. Many of them are conspicuously beautiful when in blossom, and fit into planned effects in combination with flowers while before and after flowering season they serve as a green background, against which the annual and perennial flowering plants are displayed.

Such shrubs should be selected and placed in relation to other plants in the garden with as much care as needs to be used in placing a group of perennials for their conspicuous appearance may easily spoil a picture into which they do not fit. In general they should not be used in the public areas of home grounds except sparingly and with careful consideration of their effect. Indiscriminate planting of such shrubs as bridal wreath, hydrangeas, etc., in front yards is commonplace. It prevents the working out of a dignified and harmonious planting, and belittles the importance of the flowering shrubs which are individually beautiful and deserve to be placed where their beauty will be properly set off.

There are shrubs which produce exquisite flowers, too beautiful to be placed anywhere except in the foreground where all may admire them when in flower. Bechtel's double flowering crab is one and pinnus triloba, or double flowering plum, is another. The new French lilacs are of this nature and anyone fortunate enough to possess them should make the most of them.

Several beautiful new varieties of the old-fashioned syringa, or philadelphus, have been developed by the French house of Lemoine. Bouquet Blanche, Virginal and White Lady are among the finest. All have white flowers, larger than the old-fashioned type, and in some cases most fragrant. The old-fashioned rugosa roses are being supplemented by several improved types. These roses are very hardy. They grow into great bushes, with dark green, glossy leaves, and belong in the shrubbery border in locations where their flowers will be effective.

Rose F. J. Grootendorst is a hybrid produced by crossing the rugosa and baby rambler roses. It produces double red flowers all summer. Rosa Hugonis grows into a huge bush covered in May with single yellow flowers.

thused over aviation and wants to be a pilot. "Would you have any objection to your son becoming an airplane pilot?" "Not if he is properly trained for the job. I think aviation offers a big future to boys. He's been up in a plane several times already and is wild about it. As for myself, I have never been aloft."

"What about your little girl?" "Oh, she's just an average 8-year-old girl. Takes a lot of interest in curls. That's about all I can say."

Reverting to business, Mr. Gray said he has reduced his prices, just the same as other clothing merchants. On the average, the reduction in his suits during the past two years has been from about $33 to about $26. Other merchandise in his store has been reduced proportionately.

Mr. Gray is not buying a new car this year. He is now driving a two-year-old Buick. He says he figures that will do him for another year.

He owns his home, so he doesn't have to worry about asking the landlord to reduce his rent.

Many honors have come to Lewis in the last 33 years. His poems and children's stories have been serialized and syndicated throughout the country. He has been toasted by the Knife and Fork club, ultimate accolade for Houstonians. In 1929, he was selected to accompany a representative group of American newspaper men to the Orient under auspices of the Carnegie Foundation for the Promotion of Universal Peace.

In 1920, Baylor University conferred the honorary degree of doctor of literature on Lewis. He is perpetual vice president of the Texas Folklore Society; past president and life member of the Texas Press Association. Under his sponsorship, the Houston Post Birthday club was created and gained a membership of 26,000 children in all parts of Texas.

Among Lewis' published volumes are "Lits of Love," "Sing the South," "Christmas Days," and "Toddle Town Trails." His poem, "The Old Wash Place," is printed in the sixth grade readers of many schools throughout the United States. His most popular work, "Jubilee's Partner," has been serialized and published in book form.

He was selected poet laureate from 100 candidates by a legislative committee of which Rep. Paul Finn, Sunset, was chairman. The position is an honorary one without salary.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

At the end of winter nearly everyone experiences a loss of appetite. During the cold months, the body has craved foods that would supply heat, and consequently a diet rich in fats and carbohydrates has been maintained. Even if fruits and vegetables have been included in the family diet, the tendency is to over-eat of the richer foods that eventually clog the system.

Tomorrow's Menu

Foods That Are Tonics
Fruits and vegetables must be relied upon to furnish the necessary iron grams and keep the body 'fit.' Bulky foods that will give the digestive tract its much needed exercise are essential. Nearly all fruits and vegetables are mineral-rich and have a decidedly tonic-like effect.

Easter Breakfast and How to Cook It
As important as the bunny, as important as the new spring bonnet itself, is Easter morning breakfast! No matter how skimpy, how meagre, how gulp-it-and-run your breakfast (let us hope not) may be on other days, Sunday's first meal is different. And Easter Sunday breakfast is the ne plus ultra of them all!

The custom of serving Easter breakfast at noon, after the church service and the fashion parade are over, is slowly returning. Some hostesses are even having Easter breakfast parties this year, and that makes it even more necessary that the food be plentiful and appetizing. At any rate, to quote the words of the Commodore Vanderbilt, "the family be pleased!"

Menu for Easter Breakfast
Easter Flower (Fruit Cup)
Eggs-in-a-Nest or Bacon Curds
Poached Eggs in Baskets
Coconut Corn Bread or Date Coffee Cake

The Recipes—Easter Flower.
Slice pineapple, 1 No. 2 can grapefruit, 2 seedless oranges, 6 strawberries.
Place slice of pineapple on glass serving dish. Cover round with alternate whole segments of grapefruit and orange. Fill the cavity in the center with a serving of powdered sugar and top with a whole strawberry. The pineapple may be omitted.

Eggs-in-a-Nest.
Line buttered timbale moulds or muffin tins with canned mince-tosses; break an egg into each mould, and poach in oven until the egg is set. Turn from moulds onto rounds of buttered toast and serve with cream or Hollandaise sauce.

Eggs in Baskets.
Bake corned beef hash in oiled muffin pans, leaving a hollowed-out space in the center of each "hash cake." When done, place on individual serving plates. Place an egg for each person, and drop into the indentation in each serving of hash. Lay wide strips of canned mince-tosses across egg, to represent handle of basket. Sprinkle egg with paprika and serve hot, with buttered toast.

Date Coffee Cake.
2 cup flour, 1/2 tsp. salt, 4 asps. baking powder, 2 tbsps. sugar, 2 tbsps. melted shortening, 1/2 cup pasteurized dates, 1/2 cup nut meats, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 3 tbsps. flour, 1/2 tsp. cinnamon, 1/4 cup butter, 1/4 to 1 cup milk.
Mix and sift the flour, salt, baking powder and sugar. Stir in melted shortening and milk to make a stiff batter. Spread the mixture about 1/2 inch thick in a shallow pan. Press the sliced dates and nuts into the surface of the cake. Bake in fairly hot oven (400° F.) for 20 minutes. Then spread with remaining ingredients which have been rubbed together. Return to oven and bake 10 minutes longer. Cuts 12 squares.

Cocoanut Corn Bread.
1 cup cornmeal, 1/2 cup flour, 1/4 cup sugar, 5 tbsps. baking powder, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/2 cup shredded cocoanut, 1/2 cup milk, 1 egg, 2 tbsps. fat.
Sift the flour and measure. Add other dry ingredients and sift. Beat egg, adding the milk and melted fat. Stir this mixture into dry ingredients. Add the cocoanut, bake in a shallow pan for 20-30 minutes in a moderate oven (375° F. to 400° F.). Make 12 small muffins.

Candy Easter Eggs.
2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup water, 1/4 cup light corn syrup, red fruit coloring, 1 tsp. vanilla, 1/2 pkg. shredded cocoanut.
Boil the sugar, water and syrup to the soft ball stage (238° F.). Remove from fire and let it stand until luke-warm (110° F.). Add fruit coloring to make delicate pink. Add vanilla and stir until nearly stiff. Add cocoanut and shape like Easter eggs. Place on waxed paper to harden. Make 12 to 18 eggs.
