A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE LORD HEARETH: The righteous cry, and the Lord heareth, and delivereth them out of all their troubles.—Psalm 34: 17.

CHANGE IN PEOPLE'S THOUGHT GREATEST CHANGE OF ALL

Back of all the concrete developments of the new program at Washington there exists a profound change in the outlook of the American people—a change which, in the long run, may well prove the most important single development of the whole "new deal."

This changed outlook finds its reflection in the various legislative and administrative acts by which the administration is seeking to implement recovery. But it is a deeper thing than any mere change in the machinery of government or political theory; it is not born of any party and it does not owe its existence to the presence or absence of any particular group on Capitol Hill.

Briefly, this change can be described by saying that we have at last got entirely away from the psychology and the odd kind of idealism that characterized us during nearly all of the '20s.

We have outgrown, that is to say, a stage in our history during which we were perhaps the most purely materialistic people on earth. In that stage we worshiped material success in a way that was almost devout. With a very few exceptions, our heroes were the men who knew how to make money fast—and we weren't very particular about how they made it. The go-getter and the high-pressure lad were in the limelight and most of us envied them and tried to copy them.

That this was an extremely unhealthy period is, by this time, pretty clear. The machine age was beginning to dump its greatest problems in our laps, and we blithely ignored them because the machine age was making some people very rich. The seeds of all our present misfortunes took root in those days, and we were too self-satisfied to try to dig them out.

We are wiser, now; and in our attainment of wisdom we have had something very like a spiritual rebirth.

For in giving up our slavish admiration of money and the money-makers, we have made possible a return to the traditional American idealism. We have stopped defining progress as a steady increase in the number of millionaires, and because of that fact we have opened the way for progress of the only kind that is worth making—the progress that represents a fuller and wider life for the ordinary man.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

GOVERNOR-GENERAL FRANK MURPHY OF THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS, SAYS:

"Enlightened and progressive government will be concerned with the economic and social conditions under which the millions of humble citizens live and toil for their daily bread. It will be anxious to know the reasons for gross inequalities and social injustices, wherever they may be found, and study and apply proper and effective measures to correct them. It will constantly aim to prevent and suppress practices and institutions whereby men, when so disposed, are able to take unfair advantage of their fellows, rob them of a just share of the fruits of their labors, and deprive them of the means and opportunity of self advancement.

"With every agency and instrumentality available to it, with all the right and power at its command, with a resolute and unflinching determination that will not be balked by stagnant tradition or narrow prejudice or selfish indifference, it will seek to help the underprivileged, to protect the weak and untutored against the strong and unscrupulous; and it will seek to make education, healthful living conditions, fair and impartial justice, steady employment at a fair wage, adequate care of the sick and indigent, and all the other benefits of civilized society, available to every man, woman, and child.

"In short, it will be the business of government, while keeping its own house in order, to wage relentless and unceasing war on human exploitation, ignorance, disease, dishonesty and injustice in every form, whether it be economic, or social, political or moral, in order that every man among us may enjoy for himself and his family the full blessings of true liberty and enlightened democracy.

"THERE IS URGENT NEED IN GOVERNMENT FOR ADMINISTRATIVE ABILITY, BUT THERE IS ALSO URGENT NEED OF HUMAN UNDERSTANDING AND SYMPATHY. TO LOOK UPON GOVERNMENT AS A MERE BUSINESS PROBLEM IS TO SEE IT ONLY IN PART."

Veteran Rangers Locate In East Texas Survey Shows

By United Press
LONVIEW, Texas.—"Old soldiers never die, simply fade away", from an old barracks ballad.
But what becomes of old time Texas Rangers?
The answer is found in the East Texas oil fields where recent inventories establish more of the famous two gun, big hatted, high-booted keepers of Texas' law and order than any other spot in the world.
Through the biannual turnover in the Texas Ranger force occasioned by political upheavals during the last three gubernatorial elections, numbers of men whose names were stanchions in the foundation of the pioneer state police force have been turned loose, badly-kept. Most of them drifted by natural inclination to the spot where trouble loomed—the East Texas oil fields. Oil operators, fearful lest their vast valuable properties be pillaged, were happy to employ these men.

Dean of the historic ranger force now in East Texas is Captain B. C. Baldwin of San Antonio. Instead of commanding a company of state officers, he now commands a battalion of patrolmen, investigators and protectors of the Humble Oil company interests in several states. Baldwin achieved unheralded but recognized fame when he captured the first German spy interned in the United States during the World War. At this time Baldwin was in charge of department of justice agents on the Mexican border.

This spy, an experienced engineer, helped lay out Camp Travis. At night, according to Captain Baldwin, the man posed as a priest. It was in the vestments of a cleric ators code and the little embarrassing situation of waiting on Mr. Ford. Some other strikes are pending but the Administrator has asked those who have a strike in the offing to put it off a few days.

It is only natural with such a big undertaking by the government to have these situations arise. It's new, and an overnight working basis for smooth sailing was a physical impossibility. That makes us all the more sold on the idea that the thing will eventually work and that in spite of these setbacks that the people as a whole are behind the president. It will take a little time to sandpaper the rough edges, but there is no question in our minds but what it will be done, a little patience is all that is needed, and not criticism. It must be remembered it took 2,000 years to get as far as we are today in the manner of scientific discoveries . . . and we haven't started yet . . . It won't take NRA that long . . . not even six months . . . but it will take several years to bring us back to where we were in 1929. People with common sense don't expect otherwise. It's the bringing back and the makings that happiness is going to be found. Even the pioneer who settled upon a desolate wilderness, with enemies natural and otherwise all around him, went about his work in preparing his permanent future home, singing. In spite of it all he found happiness in the work of building.

Let's reach up on our shoulders and brush off the chips . . . and overcome all hazards . . . by working for Eastland . . . the glory will be ours . . . and the nation will be proud of us for our determination and loyalty.

EVERY DAY, pretty assistant to EARLE BARNES, advertising manager of Bibby's department store, snarled DICK RADER, a construction superintendent. Dick snarled Eve to stop working by the stairs.

Unknown to Dick, Eve plays the stock market on borrowed money. ARLENE SMITH, a stenographer at Bibby's, buys stock on Eve's advice but loses all her money. SAM HOLMELIDGE, an advertising man employed by another store, is infuriated with Arlene.

MONA ALLEN, copy writer, dislikes Eve and is responsible for several errors at the office for which Eve is blamed. The building on which Dick has been working is completed and his employers tell him they will have no more work for him. He makes the best of this situation but Eve is discontented.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY. CHAPTER XXXI. JUNE'S roses had faded and the Brooks' garden took a slight slouch and neglected look. The Brooks boys were away for the summer, working in the kitchen of a lakeside camp. Hence the entire care of the place fell on Mrs. Brooks, who seemed in need of a rest.

Dick noticed this and made it a habit to sprinkle the lawn once a day, either at sunrise or after sunset. He never awakened Eve until he had prepared breakfast and he insisted upon relieving her of all details of the housekeeping.

"Why not?" he asked. "It's bad enough to have you cooped up all day in an office. You need all the time out-of-doors we can possibly manage. Besides, I haven't anything else to do."

He took her to the office in the yellow roadster and Eve found him waiting at the side entrance of Bibby's at the close of each day. Dick never seemed to mind the mileage and usually took her home the longest way, driving along the lake until they were forced to cut across town. That cool drive was a blessing during the July heat which settled in sultry monotony over the city.

Eve looked forward eagerly to her vacation but found she must wait until August for it. Despite all Dick did to make things easier for her she could not suppress a feeling of vexation when he put his golf clubs in the car and drove on to the links after leaving her at Bibby's. Earle Barnes usually left the store early two afternoons each week for a foursome of golf with some advertising men but Eve, who had enjoyed playing in other years, found herself unable to leave the office during the day and too tired for such exertion after business hours. More and more responsibility fell to her lot as Barnes found her trustworthy and thus relieved himself of additional burden.

"How is Dick?" Arlene asked one morning. "Eve answered bitterly. "Oh, he's busy! Busy playing golf and selling his rare and reading technical stuff." "Why, Eve, don't you love him any more?" asked Arlene in mock horror. "Of course," Eve replied, "but EVE was glad that Dorothy McElhinney was spending the summer with her parents out of town. At least Dick would be free from her persistent wiles. Miss Leeds was on a European tour and Eve missed her. The cards which she sent from Switzerland and Italy awakened in Eve a strong desire for such a trip.

"I suppose we'll never be able to go to Europe together," Eve murmured discontentedly. "Why not?" asked Dick. "Look at all the money we are losing!" she pointed out. "The salary you might have earned this summer would have covered such a trip for us."

"Yes and it might have made a down payment on the Empire State Building," Dick answered. "But I'm not sure that is just what I would have done with it." Thus he answered each of Eve's gibes concerning his lack of employment.

According to the policy of Bibby's store, Mona Allen and Mrs. Penney did not receive vacations because they had worked there less than a year. Arlene departed for two weeks at a Y. W. C. A. camp. "I'll have some fun even if I don't meet any eligible admirers," she said good-boredly when she left the office. "If it hadn't been for my little financial fiasco I'd be starting out on a vacation that would warrant a couple of inches' notice in the Sunday Times."

THE following week Eve received a letter from Arlene. She read excerpts from it to Dick that evening. "Sam brought me here in his roadster," Arlene had written. "I didn't want him to at first because—well, you know. But he insists he stopped drinking the night he met me at Freda's party and hasn't touched liquor since. He says I am more inspiration to him than the best gin on the market. Anyhow he brought me a huge box of chocolates too, and there's always a letter in the morning mail.

"I love it here! I lead the stair case' chair every morning after breakfast and now I'm working up an act for Stunt Night. "Thanks for the books you sent. For the first time in my life I have enough time to read. I'm leaving in a moment for my morning swim. Give my love to Mona. . . . "Sam won't be glad Arlene is where she won't meet anyone to give him competition. "You old romanticist!" Dick challenged. "Well, it's a neat little triangle just the same. Sam likes Arlene and Arlene likes George Bliss. I'm not sure who Bliss cares for."

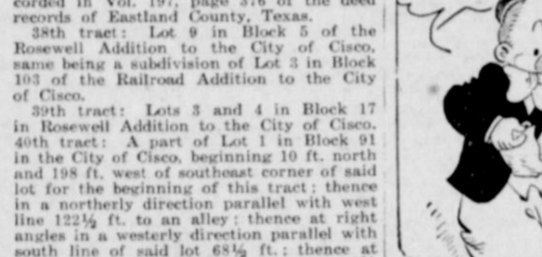

"And I like you and you'll have to pay for looking as sweet as you do!" Dick told her, gathering her into his arms. But their life together was not always so peaceful. There was the evening when Eve, looking up from a magazine, exclaimed, "Dick, I don't know why you have to keep puffing at that old pipe all the time! That's the fifth time you've filled it since I came home."

"Wrong! It's the sixth," he told her cheerfully, knocking the ash into a low brass bowl. "I think you smoke too much." Eve went on in a petulant voice. "Worried about my health, dear?" "No, I'm thinking how much it costs!" she blurted out. "Smoking is an expensive habit. You aren't working and yet you smoke just as much as ever."

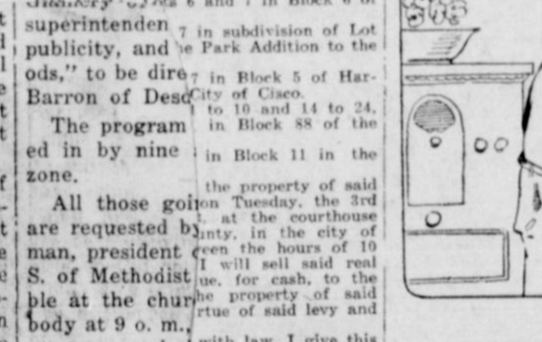

"When a man isn't working he needs recreation more than ever. And I take my exercise smoking," he teased. "Oh, you're impossible!" Eve cried as she flung herself into a lounging chair. "See here, Eve!" Dick said firmly. "When I'm working I stow away all the sheets I can spare and when hard times come around I guess I can still afford to smoke if I feel like it!" He arose abruptly and a moment later the outer door slammed. (To Be Continued)

Texas Is Promised 12 Rehabilitation Colony Projects

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN.—Texas has been promised 12 rehabilitation farm colonies under the federal-state public works program, officials of the state relief service here said.

A federal official of Secretary Ickes' public works administration is now in Texas checking on prospective sites for the farm colonies, it was said.

Austin and the lower Rio Grande valley are said to be among prospective locations.

Complete model farm center communities are to be built for each of the colonies, under tentative plans.

Areas will be from 600 to 1,200 acres each, with much of the land to be capable of irrigation. Model farm houses will be grouped together, with streets, a community dairy, community school, water, sanitary and lighting facilities to be provided.

From 240 to 500 families will be selected from among the jobless whose heads of families are classified for rehabilitation and not available for gainful employment in skilled trades. Each family will be assigned two and one-half acres of irrigated land, or slightly more non-irrigated land. They will execute a contract with the government providing they may occupy this house and land so long as they will, their only cost to be nominal rent to be paid out of produce from the land.

These colony farmers will be under supervision of a government farm expert, and will be required to grow foodstuffs and feed, and to make provision for their food requirements so far as they can grow vegetables, corn, poultry, hogs and other food materials.

Whenever such a family leaves the house and land assigned it, the facilities will be given others, and

Held in Murder of Jeweler

After giving herself up, Mrs. Milie Prince arrives at Long Island City court for arraignment on a charge of murdering Charles J. Wolfert, 56-year-old jeweler whom she admitted stabbing to death in a lonely spot in Queens, New York, because, she said, he forced his attentions on her.

The original family will be ineligible to get a relief rolls again.

Such colonies, it was pointed out, will be large enough to sustain a good school. Each family will average two pupils of public school age.

Churches, an auditorium and other community advantages will be provided. Irrigation facilities will be installed by the government when the colony farms are laid out.

Objective of this rehabilitation plan will be to test the capacity of unemployed heads of families to return to a self-supporting basis on the land, where conditions are under such control that they will not follow the methods of tenant farmers in rowing cotton exclusively, and where they are helped to overcome the initial handicap of getting adequate quarters and land without money on which to start.

Legislature Will Take Up Recovery Plans at Session

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN.—The legislature, scheduled to convene Sept. 11, will take up recovery and relief measures of many aspects in work that will require one full 30-day session, and possibly a second.

The governor's office indicated the special session will be called probably Monday, Sept. 11. That is the day on which the official canvass of returns in the state relief bond, beer and other elections will be made and the four constitutional amendments promulgated.

One of the first acts will be the issuance of part of the authorized $20,000,000 public works and relief bond issue. Many members of the legislature have indicated their belief that the first issue will be restricted to from six to 10 million dollars.

Legislation regulating the expenditure of the money, even to the extent possibly of expanding or changing the organization of the state relief and rehabilitation commission, will accompany the enabling act. Along with this will be tax legislation to provide paying off of the bonds that will be issued.

The entire subject of taxation will be opened up. Governor Ferguson has announced she believes beer should pay more tax than the $1.50 per barrel rate fixed in the pre-enabling beer act of the regular session, which legalizes the sale of beer in Texas Sept. 15. Advocates of a retail sales tax, and of several plans of shaping this revenue bill, will be active in the session.
