A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE BURDEN BEARER: Cast thy burden upon the Lord, and he shall sustain thee; he shall never suffer the righteous to be moved.—Psalm 55: 22.

DEMANDS MADE BY NEBRASKA MARCHERS

Nebraska farmers to the number of 4000 marched with flying banners to Lincoln, the capital of the state. Banners attacking the banking system, demanding cessation of farm foreclosures and evictions and for tax and wage relief were carried into the legislative halls by the tillers of the soil. Their leaders presented a request for prompt enactment of a law similar to the Iowa mortgage moratorium law.

Gov. Charles W. Bryan favors the proposal. Well, the chief spokesman of the marchers, facing the lawmakers, read a long list of demands of the relief conference, including federal greenbacks to repay all losses due to bank failures and farm debts in recent years; immediate 25 to 50 per cent government salary reduction and federal financing of all farm debts at 3 per cent interest on long term loans.

Bernard Baruch favors a government bond issue of $300,000,000 for the financing of all farm debts at 3 per cent interest on long term loans, and he insists that the bonds should be tax-exempt. All this aroused the ire of Col. Arthur Brisbane, who in bygone years advised against selling America short.

Col. Brisbane has turned his typewriter against all tax-exempt bonds, federal or state or municipal. How would it be possible to float a 3 per cent government bond issue without tax exemption of the same? Practical politicians are of the same brand or type the country over. Nebraska has a lieutenant-governor, Walter Jurgenson. In closing the joint session of the legislature, facing the marchers, he predicted "when this legislature has adjourned the members of this conference will not be disappointed." He never said a word about the sanctity of contract. Perhaps the lieutenant-governor of Nebraska has evolved a plan for suspending the constitution of the United States.

TEXAS BANKERS AND TEXAS BANK ROBBERS

Texas bankers offer $5000 reward for all dead bank robbers brought in by the big game hunters. They will not pay a cent for a live bank robber. They believe in quick extermination of the tribe. Yes, the executive committee of the Texas Bankers' association has advised all bankers to provide their employees with improved weapons in order to make the robbing game interesting and let the American world know that law is law under the blue skies of the Lone Star state.

In the good old days of Texas horse thieves were exterminated; cattle thieves were exterminated; professional murders and hi-jackers were exterminated. Where the rop failed the Winchester proved effective.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

E. G. BURKAM, Publisher of the Dayton (Ohio) Journal and Herald, says:

"In times like these when we are all facing very grave difficulties, the spirit of tolerance, helpfulness and fellowship is more than ever the great keystone of moral stability.

"It is the time for a neighborly spirit and courage. To do anything in any way to injure business or hurt any individual who is struggling under adverse conditions is almost criminal and unthinkable. When men and women are doing the very best they can, no matter how grave their difficulties, they should and must be sustained in every possible way.

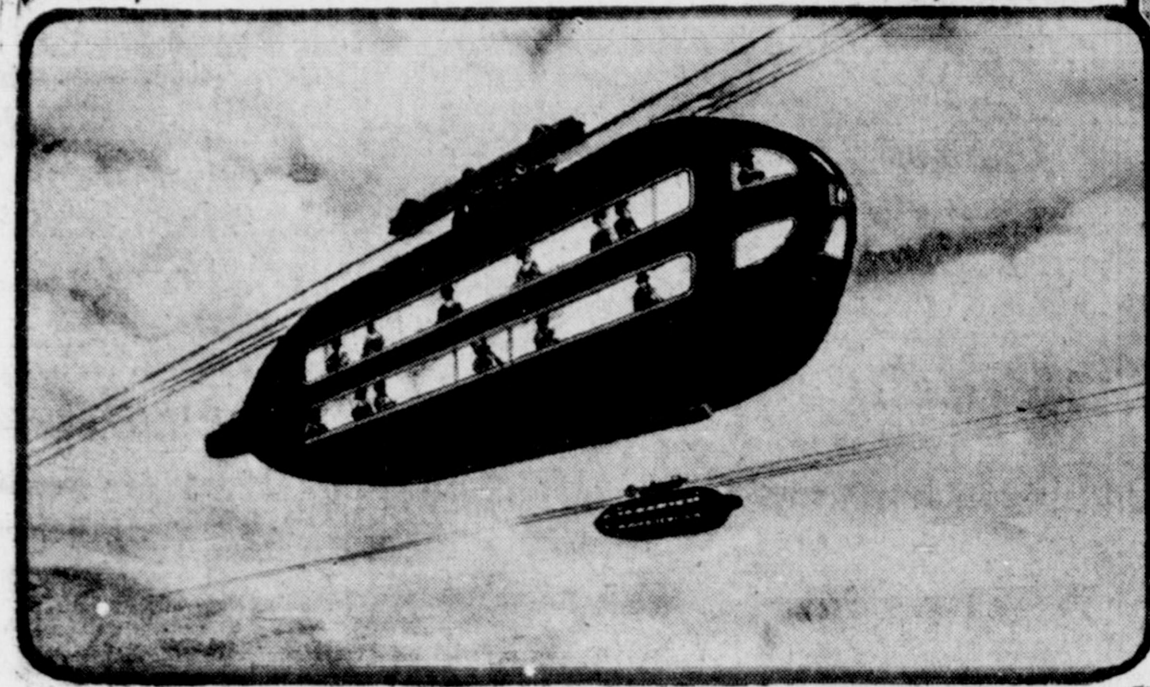

"If we adhere more than ever to sentiments both in business and in our personal relations, we add to the cohesion and achievement not only of our community. Times like these call for the finest cooperation and even, cheerful temperament and all the human elements that make for real friendship. We must forget the short-comings and weaknesses which are inherent in human nature and spread the spirit of confidence and faith in our country every hour of the day.

"If we put aside ill temper, self pity and impatience and join with those that we may help, who in turn will naturally help us, we establish an atmosphere that will unquestionably be the foundation and cornerstone for an ultimate triumph over the economic condition that tests the manhood and courage of us all.

"If we keep these things in mind and keep our feet on the ground and preserve our mental balance and our outlook on life and have faith in our fellow man and faith in our country, we shall triumph over all adversities and emerge again into the brilliant sunlight of re-established prosperity, happiness and contentment."

World Fair Points to Path of Tomorrow

At right—The graceful east tower of the "Sky-Ride," now rearing its head 628 feet into the clouds. Its twin is being built across the lagoons 2,000 feet away. Below—The ultra modern rocket cars are double decked and will hang suspended in mid-air, affording a bird's eye view of the exposition. They were designed and built by the Goodyear Zeppelin Corp.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Pointing the way to the more economical bridge of tomorrow, the twin towers of the giant $1,000,000 Sky-Ride, are rearing their heads 628 feet into the clouds to provide the supreme thrill of Chicago's World Fair.

As an amusement, the Sky-Ride will be the most breathtaking experience at the exposition, but its deeper significance will have a tremendously important effect on American industrial life.

Sky-Ride, in the opinion of leading engineers and bridge designers, is the most important development to date in the design of suspension bridges. This design, they say, after its successful demonstration at the Exposition, will be employed in the future to carry heavy vehicular traffic and passenger cars across the rivers and ravines.

Higher than any Chicago building, the Sky-Ride will consist of twin towers placed 2,000 feet apart. Elevators are being installed to whisk passengers 60 stories aloft, from which height it will be possible to see four states—Indiana, Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin.

At the 200 foot level, the towers will be connected by stout steel cables from which fascinating rocket cars will be suspended traveling back and forth across the World's Fair lagoons. The span between the towers will be second in size only to that of the Hudson river bridge at New York, and 4,400 passengers an hour can be handled in the rocket cars.

The undertaking requires the efforts of a large corps of engineers, bridge builders, steel producers and the manufacturers of elevators.

Five great Companies, all of them key units in America's industrial life, are pooling their efforts and money in the enterprise of Steel Construction, said, "This structure will mark the opening of a new era in bridge designing. It is much cheaper to erect, it can be built faster, it will enable us to build longer spans and it will be just as practical as the standard type bridge now generally used.

"To make it usable as an inexpensive means of transporting heavy vehicular traffic across the rivers and ravines, we would merely have to change the size of the cables and substitute the rocket cars for large platforms which could be swung through the air with ease. In effect, it would be an aerial ferry."

His opinion has been confirmed by the engineering staff of the firm of E. A. Hoelzer & Co., of Trenton, N. J., builders of the Brooklyn Bridge and most of the famous suspension bridges of the world.

It is also shared by Joshua D'Esposito, famous Chicago engineer and designer, who, pointing to the Sky-Ride is pointing the way to the bridge of tomorrow.

He said, "We are entering a new field in the designing of bridges and the towers of the Sky-Ride will remain forever in the minds of engineers as a monument to a few principles."

Piggly Wiggly Store Of Ranger Makes National Honor Roll

The Weekly Turnstile, house organ for the Piggly Wiggly store over the nation, this week lists the stores that made the honor roll by showing an increase in business for December, 1932, over December, 1931.

Listed prominently in this honor roll was the Ranger store, owned and operated by Pipkin Brothers, and under the management of Eddie Sargent.

Sargent had been manager of the Ranger store but a few months when it reached the position on the honor roll and he feels justly proud of the record that was made by the store in December.

Mechanical bridge players will never be a success unless they respond to a kick on the shins.

Southwest Cattle Raisers to Meet In Fort Worth

Members of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association will meet in their 57th annual convention at Fort Worth on March 14, 15 and 16. This will be the first convention of the association to be held in Fort Worth since 1926, but the 24th in the history of the organization, which dates back to Feb. 15, 1877. Headquarters were moved to Fort Worth in 1893. In the seven-year interval since 1926, meetings have been held twice in El Paso, and once each in Amarillo, Houston, San Angelo and Corpus Christi.

The 1933 convention will be held during the annual Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show, dates of which are March 11 to 19 inclusive.

The association is the largest and one of the oldest livestock organizations in the country. Its conventions bring together more people than any other held in this state.

While economic conditions for the past two or three years have tended to decrease attendance at conventions of trade associations, a larger attendance than usual is anticipated at the coming Fort Worth meeting on account of the joint attraction of convention and show.

Many perplexing problems which have been created or agitated by the depressed condition of the livestock industry, as well as all business in general, have necessitated increased activity on the part of the association. The business programs, held only in the forenoon, will be devoted largely to a discussion of the various matters which confront the industry. It has been arranged to include speakers of state and national renown who are thoroughly familiar with the general business situation, and conversant with steps which have been or will be taken to bring about improvements.

President Ralph Briscoe of Uvalde is urging all cattle operators to be at Fort Worth as he feels that only by the combined thought and ideas of all those engaged in the industry can a program be worked out for the betterment of this major industry.

Stephenville Paper Is 63 Years Old

STEPHENVILLE, Texas.—The Stephenville Empire-Tribune, weekly newspaper, celebrated its 63rd birthday this month.

Nearly 4,000 persons read its anniversary number, as compared to a handful of settlers who read the first edition at a crossroads postoffice in 1870.

Better Homes Display To Be In Dallas

DALLAS.—A Better Homes exposition and a home modernization campaign will begin here Feb. 24 and continue through March 6, with restoration of purchasing power through revival of activity in the construction business the ultimate aim.

The Better Homes display will be in the State Fair of Texas' automobile building. Both exposition and modernization campaign are sponsored by the Dallas Construction congress. Nathan Adams, banker, is honorary chairman, and E. B. La Roche chairman of the executive committee.

"Purchasing power means payroll," said E. A. Baugh, general manager of the Texas branch, Associated General Contractors of America, in a public address explaining objects of the joint project. "Payroll, through productive work, means more business for everyone, which again is translated into more payroll and increased purchasing power."

Baugh said purchasing power can be restored in large measure through modernization and repair expenditures are increasing at the rate of $40,000 a month, he estimated. This means, he said, a loss of $63,000,000 in payroll money, or a total loss in the last three years of $1,750,000 in local purchasing power.

"On the basis of a ten-to-one turnover of the purchase dollar in the channels of trade, this means Dallas has lost a trade volume of approximately $17,000,000 during the past three years," he summarized.

High score in game, handsome silk hose, was awarded Mrs. Carl Garner, and similar favors, went to Mrs. John Collins; and Mrs. E. R. Buchanan, sister of the hostess, and a club guest, presented the honoree favor.
These gifts were prettily tied in patriotic wrappings, bound with red, white and blue ribbons.

Birthdays
Parent-Teacher Association
The West Ward school Parent-Teacher association observed the 36th anniversary of Founders Day in formal fashion at their meeting Tuesday afternoon, held in the cafeteria of the school, and conducted by the president of the association, Mrs. Paul McFarland.
Mrs. W. P. Leslie, program chairman, arranged a very beautiful observance, opening with the ensemble singing of "America, the Beautiful," followed by a piano solo, Fifth Nocturne, pleasingly played by Miss Jeanne Kitley.

A group of members appeared carrying large letters, which spelled Founders Day, Feb. 17, and Mrs. C. G. Stubblefield, read a charming tribute in poetical form to the parent-teacher association.
Guests were served from a yellow satin lace covered table, lighted with blue candles in silver sticks, and centered with a silver bowl holding sweetpeas and snapdragons.

The place of honor was occupied by a seven-tiered birthday cake, iced in the P-T-A colors of blue and yellow, and topped with candle holders in these shades, with lighted white tapers.
As each candle was lighted by Mrs. Leslie, Mrs. Webb, Mrs. Don Parker, Mrs. R. E. Sikes, and Mrs. McFarland, each said something charming in commemoration of Founders Day, the tributes concluding with the lighting of the final tapers by Mrs. E. H. Jones, and Mrs. D. S. Eubanks, honoring the past presidents and the Founder of the order, Mrs. Birney.

The beautiful cake was the work of Mrs. O. O. Mickle and Mrs. Guy Parker, and the confection was served with hot chocolate to Mmes. Guy Parker, D. S. Eubanks, E. D. Mahon, Karl E. Page, D. Michael, C. G. Stubblefield, R. E. Sikes, J. S. White, Robert H. Ball, J. U. Johnson, W. P. Leslie, E. H. Jones, O. O. Mickle, C. W. Webb, O. P. Pegues, E. M. Anderson, J. R. Boggs, Eugene Tucker, K. Brilliant Success
The Baptist Church of Eastland was the scene of the reception and banquet given in the lower auditorium of the church Tuesday night, honoring adult department of the Sunday school of the church.
Guests were received in the upper auditorium by J. R. Carlisle, superintendent of the Sunday school, Mrs. W. D. R. Owen, superintendent of adult department, the pastor and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. O. B. Darby, and teachers of department, Judge B. W. Patterson, Mrs. J. F. McWilliams, Mrs. Clyde L. Garrett and Charles M. Murphy, secretary of adult department. W. D. R. O. Hunter at the piano, and were received by Mrs. William Sherriffs, general chairman for the entertainment.

The large classroom was transformed into a patriotic setting honoring George Washington, of whom several large pictures were hung about walls, with pictures of Martha, his wife.

Immense flags and several smaller flags, with windows wreathed in bunting in patriotic colors, made a colorful setting for the six long tables laid in white, with red, white and blue runners centering, faced with red light candles, and flowering plants, in alternate, red, white and blue frilly covers.
Plate favors of red hats, carried the class announcement and greetings.

The menu of fruit cocktail and dinner plate of chicken, dressing, sauce, hot rolls, glazed apple, stuffed eggs, condiments, and vegetable salad, in red and white tones had last course of cherry pie with whipped cream topping and coffee.

Waitresses, ten charming girls from the young peoples department were garbed in white, with shield shaped aprons, in national colors. Mrs. W. D. R. Owen, toastmaster, presided most gracefully, and the program opened with invocation by Rev. O. B. Darby.
Toasts responded to were: "Adult department and the Sunday School" by J. R. Carlisle; "The Adult Department and the Church," Rev. Darby, voice solo, Mrs. F. Palm, with Mrs. Joe A. Gibson at piano; response, "Why Go to Church?" W. D. R. Owen, president Men's Bible class; "What a Sunday School Can Do For the 20th Century Woman," Mrs. Clyde L. Kinnaird, accompanist.

A group of informal toasts were cleverly given by prominent members of the class, "Informal Toasts to the Women," by the husbands; response by the women, "To Our Husbands."
"To Our Associate Members," Mrs. S. C. Walker; "To the Sunday School Leaders of the Future," Mrs. A. J. Campbell; "To Our Guests," Judge Clyde L. Garrett; voice solo (negro spiritual), "Noah Didn't It Rain?" Mrs. O. B. Darby, with Mrs. Kinnaird at piano.

The last toast "To Our Homes," brought a beautiful tribute in the response by Judge B. W. Patterson.

An informal reception followed, with numbers by the orchestra throughout the assembly hour.
The banquet was perfect planned, and the most enjoyable affair the church has experienced in its social life for some years.

Held as Suspect in Kidnap Plot

Held in connection with the recent kidnap threat—which some reports say may force Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh and their son Jon Morrow to forsake the United States for residence abroad—is Mrs. Elsie Harvey, an expectant mother. Her husband, Norman, and Joe Bryant also were held at Roanoke, Va., after Bryant had admitted to cash a $17,000 check which had been left as a ruse to capture a group who threatened to kidnap Jon Morrow Lindbergh.

UP the beanstalk

WHEN Jack climbed the beanstalk, he got a new conception of his needs. No longer would just a hen do, but a golden-egg hen. No longer just a harp, but one that stood by itself and played. He didn't know what he wanted till he saw something better than what he had... though he labored hand over head to get hold of that point of view.

Advertisements give you a high point of view without any climbing at all. They spread world products before you—servants to serve you, conveniences to please—prices low because so many thousands are using the same. They give you a new conception of what you'd like to own. No longer will a watch or food chopper do—but the most highly improved watch or food chopper. No longer just a radio—but one of purest transmission. They make you change your mind about what you started to choose, and choose something more pleasing at no higher price. They help you see the whole field of satisfying wares. They lift you to fresh joys.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer
CHILDREN usually like sweet foods, and wisely chosen desserts fill an important place in their daily dietary. However, very sweet desserts such as pie and cake have the tendency to take away the desire for vegetables and cereals and increase the appetite for more sweets. Little children who have never tasted over-sweet food will not crave them and will be satisfied with the desserts suitable for them.

The training of a child's appetite is of utmost importance. Proper eating habits have direct bearing on his growth and may have much influence on his susceptibility to disease and over-fatigue all through his life.

Sweets Should Be Last
Every child should have some suitable sweet food to eat at a proper time. At the end of a well balanced meal a reasonable amount of something sweet seldom has a disturbing effect and may be served to children with safety. But if sweets are eaten on an empty stomach, there is danger of digestive upsets.

Junket is an ideal dessert for small persons. Its simplicity and the amount of sugar needed to make it palatable make it quite perfect for very small children.

Fruits cooked for small children should be those which take the minimum amount of sugar to make them palatable. Prunes are mildly acid but need only a little sweetening. It is more desirable to use sugar to bring out the full flavor of other foods than to use it in a more concentrated form, as in pastries.

Fruit gelatin, ices and ice cream can be used for children's desserts. Rich frozen puddings should not be given to little children. A plain frozen custard made of milk and eggs and junket ice cream are the best types of frozen "cream" to serve when an ice desert is wanted. Children should always eat frozen desserts very slowly.

Monday's Menu

BREAKFAST: Sliced oranges, cereal, cream, co-dled eggs, rye toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Toasted cheese sandwiches, stewed canned tomatoes, jellied dried apricots, milk, tea.

DINNER: Noodle soup, creamed cauliflower, buttered new beets, spinach timbales, shoestring potatoes, assorted relishes, prune whip, milk, coffee.

A dab of whipped cream on any plain dessert will glorify it enough to make it acceptable for a festive occasion when the family dessert is not suitable for small members.
