A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

ROAD TO RICHES: Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.—Matthew 6: 33.

ANOTHER TEXAN GIVEN A PROMOTION

Another Texas has been transferred to a far field of endeavor. W. S. Farish of Houston has been elected chairman of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey and is expected to move to New York to take up his new duties. He has resigned as president of the Humble Oil & Refining company which he helped to organize in 1917 and has been with the company since that time, first as vice president and as president since 1932. He is recognized as one of the really able petroleum executives of the nation, and is widely known in oil as well as financial circles the country over.

It is said that Senator William Gibbs McAdoo and his California lieutenants are doing their level best to prevent the naming of a petroleum czar. President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes are for governmental control in order that the gigantic industry may be stabilized, overproduction controlled and reckless waste of oil and gas be prevented in the rich productive fields of America. Now which side will win?—the administration forces or the McAdoo forces looked upon as the independents headed by John B. Elliott of the Golden Coast state? Elliott is the McAdoo choice for governor of California next year.

It must be true that wherever there is oil there is hell, and the politicians play their parts in the very exciting game of an industry which represents an investment of billions of dollars.

McADOO DEMANDS AN INVESTIGATION OF PETROLEUM

Sen. William Gibbs McAdoo has asked for a thorough and impartial investigation of the whole domestic oil industry. In an oral statement the California battler said: "The gigantic combinations of capital that control the production, transportation, marketing and distribution of the products of this industry must not be left uncontrolled by proper governmental agencies." Furthermore he said the only way by which the federal government can cope with large combinations is to ascertain first "the true facts surrounding them." In other words a searching investigation of the industry "that will reveal to the country the true inner workings of the present private control."

California is one of the leading producers of petroleum. John B. Elliott, prominent in the democratic politics of the state, is the head of the independent producers. Elliott was the campaign manager for McAdoo last year. Publicity aplenty has been given the petroleum kings and the lesser lights engaged in the gigantic industry. Indeed all concerned are said to be passing sleepless nights in the wake of anxious days.

A GRADUAL PROCESS

The legislature failed to afford the state banking system much needed statutes to keep up with the advance of federal legislation for national and federal reserve member banks.

It will be gradual thing, and a long-drawn out development, but the state banking system will have a constant fight to void surrendering its field to national banking.

Already a few state banks have proposed to shift over into the national system. Future legislation should protect the state system against artificially created attractions for the federal system.

In Texas there is room, and definite need, for a state banking system. The state best will be served through all the years by the two, state and national banks, serving side by side, each having distinctive advantages the other lacks for service to particular communities or in especial fields of the banking business.

TOM HUNTER ON THE ROAD AGAIN

Col. Tom Hunter of Wichita Falls is on the road again. He ran third in the gubernatorial contest last year. Indeed, he received a total vote of more than 200,000, and paralyzed the predictions of the veteran political leaders of all factions. He camped under the big dome during the regular session of the legislature. He has let it be known that he has "never stopped running for the nomination in 1934." A lot of water will be carried down the political stream long before the coming of the July primaries of next year. Indeed, the prophets are saying that there will be two big bandwagons pushing along the great highway and perhaps a dozen wheel barrow wagons. As for the Wichita Falls colonel, he is pledged, "to shell the woods as well as to tan the hides of all comers."

It must be quite a shock to the National Economy League to see so many new taxes and so much increase in public debt imposed on us by not only the National Congress but by many State Legislatures as well. It is about time they steamed up their Propaganda Bureau again, or perhaps they were only interested in soaking the disabled war veterans so unjustly.

One Touch of Nature Makes the Whole World Kin

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON. — Washington "regulars" don't realize how the town is being reshuffled under their feet.

A great deal has been said about the new deal, and the new cards, and even a new game, but Washington is rapidly providing a new table for the game to be played on.

The open-mouthed wonderment of a Washington "old-timer" recently returned for a short visit showed us "regulars" how the changes have been sneaking up on us.

Historic Pennsylvania Avenue, he pointed out, looks like a resplendent butterfly just emerging from its cocoon of frowzy slum dwellings. The south side of the avenue, once more picturesque than beautiful, has almost become the imposing row of marble facades it was always intended to be.

Chinatown has moved from its ancient seat below the dome of the Capitol to make way for a long-needed Archives Office, and Constitution Avenue, which for so long existed mostly on paper, has become the dignified marbled approach it was planned to be.

Harvey's, the capital's famous old seafood restaurant, stands dismantled and ready for the wreckers. It's now ensconced in a dignified atmosphere on Connecticut Avenue.

Even the vacant lot where the bonus army of a year ago was driven from its pitiable little shacks, is full of marble columns and the walls of a new government building. And almost right across the street is the World's Largest Service Station—in Washington of all places!

All the old frame buildings which cluttered the area between Union Station and the Capitol during the war, and which were to have been torn down immediately after the war (and stayed many years instead), are gone. Instead is a spacious open plaza with pools and fountains sparkling in the sun.

The historic corner of 15th Street and Pennsylvania Avenue, where thousands have seen the inauguration parades, has been opened up wide, no longer a corner, but a plaza. Pol's Theater in Lafayette Park across the quarter mile or so of marble columns that now house the Department of Commerce.

Marble buildings don't make a capital, though, and those who remember pre-war Washington will be glad to know that some things remain the same. The squirrels still scamper unafraid in Lafayette Park across the street from the White House, and the White House itself remains the most simply dignified and utterly beautiful official residence of any national leader.

And government workers still fill the great Ellipse behind the White House on Saturday afternoon, playing baseball and tennis as light-heartedly as though they had never heard of salary cuts or government reorganization.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

THAT it is a good idea to express sound sense in plain words.

Working means something more than working for yourself.

In order to prosper you must work not only for yourself, but also for the general good of your community.

Every city has its share of men who have fought and won; men who have risen to high positions—not alone in their own home city, but beyond the confines of that city.

They have done it with a spirit of comradeship; they shouldered their full share of work and responsibility when called upon to do so for their city's sake, no matter what sacrifices they had to make.

You can meet face to face daily these real community builders—the men who do things!

That Reminds Me

we remind you. It is a day set aside in honor of "His Majesty," king for the day. It may be his last for a year . . . but above all let him have it. It's a good day to lay aside all arguments such as "bills" dirty shoes, leaving clothes lying around on the floor . . . spilling coffee on the clean tablecloth . . . coming home Saturday night . . . just a little teeny snooted up . . . in fact let's don't have any arguments . . . wait until Monday . . . and then pour it on.

But honest folks . . . just a little smile . . . a little remembrance . . . a little attention . . . a little effort to establish something in his heart . . . to make him realize what a beautiful thing life and the world we live in is . . . all these things . . . just for the day . . . may be the means of side-tracking many unpleasant-ries of the future. He is just a "dad" . . . he may be rough . . . in his ways . . . but deep under the skin . . . there is a tender spot that can be reached . . . some of us just have to brush it to bring it out . . .

G. A. Bennett Dies At Gorman Home

After a lingering illness of several months duration, Green Asbury Bennett died Wednesday evening, June 7, 1933, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Henry McCroan of Gorman. Mr. Bennett was born March 10, 1857, in Franklin county, Tenn., and was 76 years, 2 months and 28 days old at his passing.

He came to Texas with his parents in 1871 and after living a short time in Lavaca county, came to Hill county, where he was married in 1877 to Miss Kansas Rhodes who passed on about two years ago. They moved to this section of the state about 1881 and since that time, Mr. Bennett has made his home in and around Gorman and Desdemona.

Soon after his marriage he and his beloved wife united with the Baptist church, of which organization he remained a loyal member to the time of his passing.

He is survived by eight of his 10 children, namely: Jim Bennett, of Kilgore, Mrs. J. W. Mason, T. H. Bennett, Bert Bennett, Mrs. J. W. Mason, Mrs. J. N. Ellison, Mrs. C. H. McCroan and Mrs. F. E. Higginbotham of Gorman and Mrs. J. P. Johnson, of Ardmore, Okla. Three brothers, Leander and Sim, of Gorman and Jim, of Sweetwater and one sister, Mrs. Mattie McBride, of Fort Worth, also survive him.

Funeral services were conducted Thursday afternoon at 2:30 by Rev. J. L. Roden, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. McCroan. Interment followed in the Gorman cemetery beside the body of his wife. Five of his grandsons, Bennett, McCroan, Morgan and Aubrey Bennett, Jean Ellison and Jack Bennett also Basil Eliff, acted as pallbearers.

Mr. Bennett lived through a long and useful life and saw the stirring scenes of the past three-quarters of a century. He was old enough to remember the Civil war and did his part as a pioneer in the development of the west. He lived serenely through the stirring scenes around him and with the change from the ox-cart to the automobile, he marched with the change of time along his happy way, living as he found life. Another life that linked our community with the past has gone on, and another foot will have to take the burden that he trod in Life's pathway. May he rest in the shade of peace across the Rivers of Eternity.—A Friend.

New Deal in Colleges Necessary

By United Press
PHILADELPHIA.—Declaring "new deal" necessary in the colleges and universities of America, Charles E. Beury, president of the American Association of University Professors, said "we have miserably failed our colleges in having contributed to public opinion the number of men and women who should have been trained to the nation by the states of the colleges," he said.

French Doubt Practicality of The Tariff Truce

PARIS—Pessimism over the economic practicality of the tariff truce for the duration of the world economic conference is growing in France. Despite sincere wishes by French economists for the success of the conference, it is freely admitted in many banking and industrial circles that the interim tariff truce, lasting possibly until the end of 1933, would be disastrous for France.

Truce Agreement Doubt that France can live up to the truce agreement signed at London was clearly implied in several items included by the senate in the 1933 budget. One was a tax on radios and radio tubes, which if approved by the chamber will be in open violation of the London agreement. The proposed tax falls on the domestic as well as the imported article, but is none the less not within the letter of the tariff truce.

Heavy Deficit The two insidious factors underlying the situation are that the nation is confronted with a 1933 deficit of 3,498,000,000 francs, as foreseen by the senate; and that France is unable to compete successfully against the United States and Britain with depreciated currencies.

War Schooner Is Recovered

PENETANG, Ont.—One hundred and nineteen years after she was carried triumphantly to Mackinac by her British captors, and a century after she was allowed to go to the bottom in the Pentanguishene harbor, the United States war schooner 'Tigress' lies in trophy upon the town dock of Penetang.

Real But Absent Minded Fisherman Is Discovered

KLAMATH FALLS, Oregon.—Found: A real fishing fan, but absent-minded. Frank Evans went on a fishing jaunt down Klamath canyon. Driving to the brink of the canyon, he locked his car and climbed down the steep canyon wall, a mile and a half.

Texas Failures Lower In May Than Year Ago

AUSTIN.—Although a number of business indexes now show definite signs of business improvement, the record of commercial failures still stands out as the first in Texas to show a pronounced and sustained favorable trend, it is stated in the report for May of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. For almost a year, there have been fewer commercial failures in Texas each succeeding month than there were in the corresponding month a year before, the Bureau's report shows.

A LUNAR eclipse can always be seen at the same time over the whole section of the earth on which the moon is shining at the time, while in the region over which the sun is shining, various sections see a solar eclipse at various times.

HOOKS and SLIDES BY BILL BRAUCHER

To Tommy Bridges THREE times in two years Tommy Bridges has stood on the threshold of baseball's hall of fame, only one hit robbing him of the privilege of joining his fellows who have pitched no-hit no-run games.

'What We're Paid For' WHEN Johnson sent up a pinch-hitter, he meant for him to hit Harris was drawing his salary for hitting just as I was drawing mine for pitching. It was up to me to keep him from hitting, which I did not do.
