OFFICERS SEEKING SLAYERS OF TEXAS GIRL

What reminds me... with all good wishes... every word... the utmost success...

FOUR OFFICERS AND PRISONERS ARE MURDERED

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 17. Trapped in a deadly cross-fire of machine gun bullets, four peace officers were killed today without a chance to fire a shot. With them died Frank Nash, escaped convict and member of the Owl Spencer gang of bank bandits and train robbers that spread terror in Oklahoma years ago. The killings occurred on the Union Station plaza where gangsters made a murderous attempt to liberate Nash as he was being returned to the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., from which he escaped in 1930. As the officers were entering an automobile for a trip to Leavenworth, they were caught in a barrage of bullets from two directions. One group of machine gunners leaped from behind a parked car and opened fire at close range. At the same time a second group in an automobile passing through the plaza made the officers their target. The slain officers were Raymond Caffrey, agent of the department of justice; Ott Reist, chief of police of McAlester, Okla., and William Grooms and Frank Hermanson, Kansas City detectives. Two other officers were wounded. After the massacre the machine gunners, who had emerged from behind the parked car, ran to their automobile and joined their comrades in the second automobile in flight. Nash was captured yesterday in Hot Springs, Ark., and officers brought him to Kansas City by train. He arrived at the station today in the custody of Reed, Caffrey and another agent. An error in timing by the machine gunners apparently cost the life of the man they were seeking to free. Had they waited a second the body of one of the officers would have shielded Nash from the fire. Some held the theory the outlaws were seeking vengeance on the officers while others believed Nash might have been marked for execution by the underworld because of failure to live up to its code.

RAISES APE WITH HIS OWN SON

A remarkable psychological experiment, in which an infant ape was brought up as the baby sister to a professor's son of approximately the same age, has proven that environment and training made the ape virtually a "human" in mental development. In many cases the ape's development exceeded the child's. Dr. W. N. Kellogg of Indiana University conducted the experiment, raising his son, Donald, and the ape, Gua, together through their infant developmental stages as brother and sister. They wore the same clothes, ate the same food, played together, reacted to the same discipline and routine. The upper picture shows Donald and Gua having a lively romp in their rabbit car. Below, an interesting comparison of their physical development.

REHABILITATION IS DISCUSSED AT MEETING

Representatives from every town in Eastland county as well as every member of the commissioners' court and County Judge C. L. Garrett attended the meeting at the courthouse Friday afternoon and heard Representative Hughes of the Texas rehabilitation and relief commission explain the details of the proposition and what it means to every county and community in the state. The main object of this meeting was to get this county, as all other counties will be doing, to make a project survey to determine how much money the different towns and communities of the county will want. When this is done each town and community will work out its projects in detail and make application for the funds. The county fair grounds and other enterprises will be the main project for Eastland and the explanation given by Mr. Hughes shows that the way is open for the consummation of these plans, which are now being worked out in detail. Other projects that will be submitted, possibly, will be road improvements, the objective of which will be to take up the county's quota of the $25,000,000 to be allotted to Texas. Hard-surfaced roads from Eastland to Desdemona and from Carbon to Rising Star will be among the plans submitted for road work. Below is a brief outline of the discussion by Mr. Hughes of President Roosevelt's vast program for the rehabilitation and relief of the county: Title 11 of this measure known as the national industrial recovery act is to be the president's un-gloved, knockout blow at the depression. The act puts $2,300,000,000 in the president's fist for this specific purpose. Mr. Hughes said a swift decisive campaign to bring home to the people throughout the state the advantage of quickly seizing the opportunities presented to them under terms of the bill is being carried on by the new employment-relief agency at Austin. The motto under which the campaign is to be conducted will be: "Take families off the relief rolls and put them on payrolls." It is estimated that a least $250,000,000 for public works can be obtained for Texas from this enormous federal fund if prompt action is taken by those in position to negotiate loans covering eligible projects. It is said that wide-spread interest is already being shown and it is considered likely that the minimum goal will be exceeded. Experts have estimated that 1,000 men receive jobs for each million dollars put into payrolls. On this basis more men would receive employment in Texas than are now on R. F. C. rolls in this state. Under terms of the bill, virtually every type of public works is eligible. On acceptable projects the federal government will make an outright grant or gift of 30 per cent of the construction cost, and will loan the balance of 70 per cent at a low rate of interest. Among suggested eligible projects are the following: 1. Building Construction—Administration, city hall, county courthouses; hospital, city and county; schools; auditoriums; stadiums, prisons; markets; libraries; factories; docks; warehouses; (Continued on page 2.)

SHERIFF SAYS 'PRETTY BOY' WAS CAPTOR

BOLIVAR, Mo., June 17.—Sheriff Jack Killingsworth and an elderly couple were released today after spending several hours as hostages in the hands of Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd and a companion. Bolivar Sheriff Killingsworth declined to give an account of the kidnaping. "My safety and my family's safety depend on following instructions," he said. Killingsworth confirmed the identity of his captors as Foyd and Adam Richitti, known as an associate of the notorious Oklahoma outlaws. He said two occasions during the search officers came within shooting distance of the bandit car near Warsaw. Killingsworth declined to divulge the name of the man and woman who were released with him, indicating silence was part of his bargain with Floyd. JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 17.—Belief that Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd may have been the assassin who killed two Columbia police officers were expressed today by Warden Sanders of the state penitentiary.

She May Become King Zog's Queen

Baroness Franziska de Janko (above), prominent leader of Albanian society and well-known in German and Austrian social circles, is betrothed to King Zog of Albania, according to Continental rumors. Reports from Vienna say a definite announcement will be made in the fall.

WOMAN IS ALSO SOUGHT AS ACCOMPLICE

BRYAN, Texas, June 17.—A murder on the highway north of here followed a robbery 12 miles south of here furnished officers searching today as to the whereabouts of two men and a woman, one of whom shot and killed Miss Ledell Hammond, 18-year-old student of Baylor university. Miss Hammond was slain last night when she dismounted from the automobile in which she and Ervin Conway, Baylor graduate, were driving here to visit Conway's parents. The couple's automobile was stopped at an underpass north of here by a motor truck which was blocking the highway. A woman, appearing in distress, was in the highway a short distance from the truck. When Conway stopped his automobile two men appeared from the truck, demanded that the couple get out and then opened fire on them. Miss Hammond was struck by the first volley of bullets. She died instantly. Conway, struck in the shoulder by a bullet, fell to the pavement. The highwaymen rifled his pockets and then beat him with their pistols. The youth feigned unconsciousness and after the trio had fled from the district in the truck, he dragged the girl into the machine and drove to a hospital. The boy furnished incomplete descriptions of the trio. County officers posted themselves at road intersections and when a report of a robbery on the highway 12 miles south of here was received they dashed to the neighborhood. Descriptions furnished by the robbery victims tallied with that given by the injured boy. The two students left Waco late yesterday to drive here. Miss Hammond is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hammond Jr., of Kosse. The boy furnished incomplete descriptions of the trio. County officers posted themselves at road intersections and when a report of a robbery on the highway 12 miles south of here was received they dashed to the neighborhood. Descriptions furnished by the robbery victims tallied with that given by the injured boy.

Colonies Citizens Appreciated the R.M.A. Program. Favorable reports continue to come in on the good will program put on at Colony at the station today in the custody of Reed, Caffrey and another agent. An error in timing by the machine gunners apparently cost the life of the man they were seeking to free. Had they waited a second the body of one of the officers would have shielded Nash from the fire. Some held the theory the outlaws were seeking vengeance on the officers while others believed Nash might have been marked for execution by the underworld because of failure to live up to its code.

Hope Still Held For Safety Of Jimmy Mattern. NOME, Alaska, June 17.—Hope for the safety of James Mattern, round-the-world flier believed down somewhere in the Bering Sea, was not abandoned by airmen today. Because of fogs and clouds a search for the Texas aviator who left Khabarovsk, Siberia, for Nome Wednesday, appeared unlikely for several days. Two coast guard cutters searched the Bering Sea, however. Airmen here believed Mattern landed on one of the Aleutian chain of islands or on an island in the Bering Sea. They said he could live in safety with natives for weeks before establishing communication with the outside world.

FATHER'S DAY PROGRAM TO BE RENDERED

The Martha Dorcas class of the Methodist church Sunday school extends a cordial invitation to all interested to attend their Fathers Day program, honoring the 9:49 Sunday school class of the church and the fathers of Eastland, which will be given this morning at 9:49 sharp, in the main auditorium of the church, at the regular hour of the honored class. A fine program will be taken part in by Mrs. W. E. Coleman, president of the class; Mrs. Charles C. Robey, the class lecturer, Miss Calar June Kimble, Loraine Taylor, Lillian Thompson, and Mrs. Anne Perkins Stewart, assisting with Willy Allen Kenny. The program has been arranged by Mrs. F. M. Kenny. Guests will be received by Mrs. M. S. Griffith, C. L. Fields, Frances Jones, Ida Mae London, Robert Ferrill, and Ed T. Cox, Jr.

Recovery Act and Anti-Trust Laws Are Being Studied

AUSTIN, June 17.—Close study is being made of the national industrial recovery act in connection with Texas anti-trust laws. While no statement is forthcoming from the attorney general's department, investigations have gone far enough to indicate that the national act has no provision incompatible with the state's constitution in its $17,500,000 penalty suits against major oil concerns, charged with violation of the Texas trust laws. No course will be announced by the attorney general until his department has fully considered the federal act.

Tariff and Trade Barrier Attack Asked at London

LONDON, June 17.—United States delegates to the world conference proposed a sweeping attack on tariffs and trade barriers today. In a written list of suggestions submitted to the economic commission of the conference, the United States negotiators asked all nations to enter into a general horizontal cut of 10 per cent in tariffs. It also proposed an encouragement of bi-lateral tariff reduction agreements and extension of the truce whereby 41 nations representing 80 per cent of world trade entering 80 per cent of world trade barriers while the conference is meeting. The commission has invited all nations to submit its proposals for world economic settlement.

Farm Price Plan May Be Known By Next Monday

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Congressional circles were advised today that a broad administrative program, designed to raise prices to pre-war levels and take from 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 acres of the present crop out of production, probably will be announced by the agriculture department Monday. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace expected to reveal the methods to be used in adding millions of dollars to the income of cotton raisers. The cotton control program follows Wallace's announcement that about $150,000,000 will be paid this year to wheat farmers in return for reducing acreage in a three-year acreage reduction plan. The programs to aid growers of wheat and cotton are expected to be followed by speedy action regarding other farm products.

Witness Faces A Perjury Charge

A complaint charging Dick Grice of Gorman with perjury was filed with Justice of Peace Milton Newman of Eastland, Thursday afternoon. The charge grew out of the testimony Grice gave in the Bill Knight case, in which Knight was alleged to have stolen a trailer or belong to Eastland county and in charge of Commissioner T. G. Gray of Gorman, on trial in the 88th district court Thursday. At the time the trailer was stolen Grice is alleged to have told the officers at Gorman that he went with Knight, when he took the wheels from the trailer, to the tank on the Munsell place where Knight lived and saw him conceal them in the water. The wheels were found in the tank and returned to Mr. Gray. On the stand Grice swore that he found the wheels in the brush near Gorman and took them to the tank himself, using Knight's car to do so. As a result of this testimony the charge of perjury was filed.

BERRY SALE RAISED FUND. NEW ORLEANS, La.—The impoverished congregation of the Rev. James L. Boudin, Presbyterian preacher, was unable to make its annual contribution for general Sunday school work so Boudin raised the funds himself—by selling blackberries to wealthy citizens of New Orleans.

JUDGMENT FOR PLAINTIFF. The case of the Employers Liability Assurance Company vs. J. M. Brown was heard before Judge George L. Davenport of the 91st district court Saturday morning and judgment rendered in favor of the plaintiff. The suit was brought to set aside an award made by the State Accident board at Austin. The decision set aside the award and prevented the defendant from taking anything on his cross action.

SMALL INVESTORS ARE INVITED TO BUY

Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin has announced a security issue expected to reach a billion dollar total to be used to meet maturing debts, pay interest on the public debt, and furnish funds to inaugurate President Roosevelt's industrial control program.

All of which is a reminder that during the last several years large financial institutions generally have taken the government security issues as fast as they were offered.

Another proposal bobbed up on the banks of the Potomac—that the government permit American gold producers to export gold mined in this country, "to take advantage of higher prices abroad."

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

JOHN H. KEEN, advertising manager of the Austin American, says: THAT the world today offers greater opportunity for brains than ever before in the history of this country.

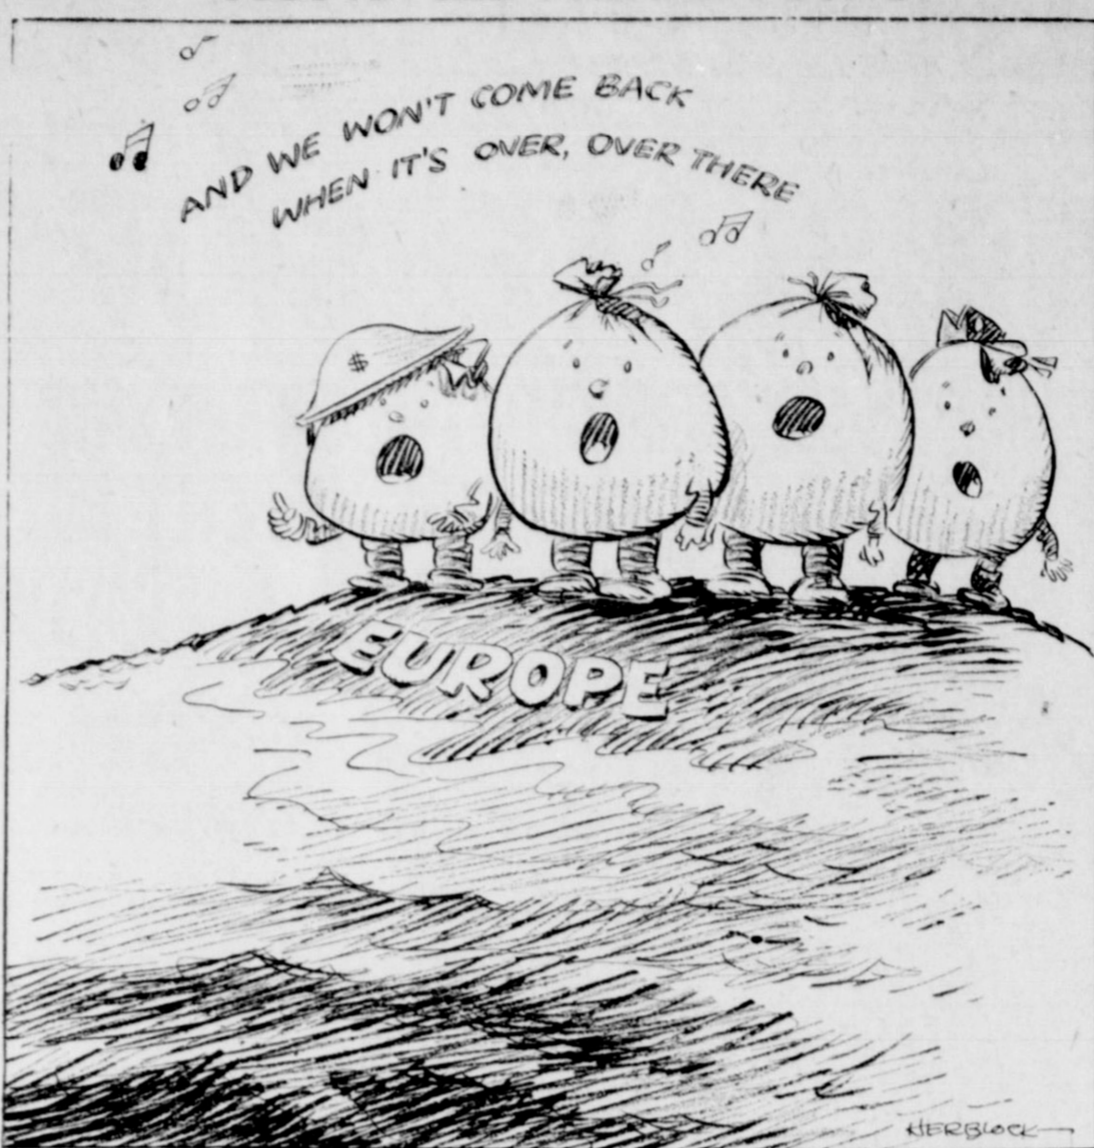

From now on the merchant must merchandise if he is to conduct a successful business. Advertising is one of the largest contributing factors in successful merchandising.

But what is the function of the newspaper as an advertising medium? It is to carry your message to the customer. Don't blame the paper if you fail to get results, provided the paper reached the people and was read by them.

Wake up! The only man who can make a success of your store is yourself. Get on your toes! Find the trouble; right the wrongs, use your head and the future will be the best you have ever known.

These are times that try men's souls. The strong man will win. Brains will succeed. Lets go!

PARIS STYLES

By MARY KNIGHT
 Press Staff Correspondent
Queen Her Majesty the Queen has been around and our town selecting summer dress and among them, three from Schiaparelli One is a blue and white print, a small, regular pattern of leaves, designed with a belt in line, and cut almost straight through. It is the same material as the one with a belt of bright blue and a cylinder fastening.

Another is a favorite combination with the Queen, a blue and white print, a small, regular pattern of leaves, designed with a belt in line, and cut almost straight through. It is the same material as the one with a belt of bright blue and a cylinder fastening.

The dress is trimmed by a band of ribbon that forms a border to the jacket rolling over at the neck to show a lining of the same material. That sound simple, but where costume designers congregations gather, it is a deal of planning and work to be cramped in your dress as far as variety is concerned, and if you haven't already got your mind, here are a few suggestions: How about a white and red? Jane does a knit blouse in white with red stripes, white cuffs, and a two-pur-two neck and at the hips and combines it with short trousers of royal purple. A small, sort of boxy red hat down roseward.

If you're more conservative would prefer her olive green and gray combination. The sleeve is of the green, round neck, and a square neckline, very fairly low. The pants are length, set on a yoke at the waist and button at the right side and button on the left side. There is a pocket at the right hip. A square-off jacket, just length, accompanies this outfit. It has long sleeves and Jane has only a band of ribbon at the head, half olive green and half bright red with a thin line between the two colors.

Schiaparelli's "feel" has been adopted by the world. Fashion mongers believe that it is the high style shoe gray of winter. It will make a pair that can be worn with all lighter tones of gray, with red and even with black or white. A problem this has been for the bootmaker.

Another important kid leather shoe is to be "taupe" for fall, the name indicates it is the color of the little field mole, with just sufficient gray to give it a future ink.

For the future, indications for the future include a new "faun brown" as used for combinations. It harmonize well with all the colors on the fashion bill of fare, the very smart combined with the kid-in the latest half and half of shoe.

SPEAKING of SPORTS

By DAN OBWERMAN
 Heavy Football Team Promised at St. Mary's
MORAGA, Cal.—Edward Patrick Madigan waved his hands wildly and slipped into the parlane of an automobile salesman today to describe the 1933 model football machine of St. Mary's College.

"We," said Mr. Madigan, "will have four forward speeds and reverse."

"Our model will be the heaviest in history, without sacrificing speed."

"Heavier in what history?" a skeptic asked.

"The regular will average 210 pounds in the line and the backs will average 211 pounds," Coach Madigan said. "Those are the speed boys. Our heavy duty line will average 245 pounds. So I guess it'll be the heaviest in football history."

Madigan teaches the Notre Dame brand of football, dedicated to the theory that a good little man can always beat a good big man if the heavyweight is slow and muscle-bound above the waist.

"His 1933 behemoths, he declared, are fast and smart."

"How about the color job?" Madigan was asked.

"Better than ever," he answered.

So it should be something to behold, Madigan last year dressed his lads in red, white and blue silk pants, blue sweaters and white shoulder-pads.

In spring practice he developed a quadruple change of pace. One play will be run as a quick drive from the shift, as a slower-breaking play with the interference doing some decoy work, as an even slower-breaking drive generating more power, and, in the fourth speed, geared down to a walk, but with the power of a tank in low gear.

WOULD YOU BUY IT AGAIN?

When your answer is NO it is never a bargain

Unless it gives you your money's worth in value, and the satisfaction in use which you expect, no product is ever a bargain.

Yet many of these "would-be" bargains are in the stores today!

Packaged products you have never heard about, or seen advertised. Brands put out by manufacturers whose names mean nothing to you.

In many cases the only appeal of these products is a "bargain" price; their sole claim to merit, a clerk's promise that they are "just as good" as the better-known brands you ask for.

Any time you are persuaded to buy them you may be wasting your money.

In unfamiliar packages now urged upon you, there is often cheap merchandise—the offering of manufacturers who have gone too far in their efforts to make your money buy more quantity. Products in which quality has been sacrificed to make a low price still lower.

When you shop today, look at the label as well as the price—for a well-known label is a guarantee of quality. The genuine bargains are among the brands you recognize! Many of them now cost less than they have in years.

ONCE..... EACH DAY

By V. MARIE STEPHENS

A toast to dad! 3-2, coffee, buttermilk... whatever dad likes, fill the steins! For it's Father's Day, and just as serious as Mother's Day.

It all began over 20 years ago when Mrs. John Bruce Dodd of Spokane, Wash., supported by the Ministerial Association and the Y. M. C. A., brought the idea to the people of the nation.

In 1921, the Greeting Card Association, assisted by representatives from a group of supporting newspapers, agreed upon the third Sunday in June as the time set for the annual celebration of Father's Day.

And so it has grown to be a dedication in the hearts of the people.

A dedication to those men who fight and love and sacrifice for and with us... the "Old Man," to Dad, and Father!

Probably more affectionate nicknames have been added to father's memory than any other being... outside the household pets.

I can remember the day when the boy who dubbed his dad "The Old Man" was considered beyond redemption. It was a mark of disrespect, and the world sat confidently and waited for that son to walk the wide path to ruin.

A great many of our fathers today cherish that name because it is Tom, Dick, and Harry's way of expressing admiration... it is a mark of companionship.

Parents have ceased to be tyrants.

We call them pals now. If dad has chosen himself a profession, we recognize him by such. He's "Doc" or "The Judge"... sometimes he's "The Pater" if we've studied Latin and remembered that much of it.

The proud young father who walks the floor at night to hush Junior's infant cries so the neighbors can sleep...

The maturing man who teaches Tommy to box so he can hold his own against the kid next door... who ties Mary's cash and groans at the vanity of little girls...

The man who wonders how in the world he's going to manage for a degree for those coming young citizens... and always manages to manage for it.

The man who becomes a father-in-law and wishes he might tell those young fools how to crawl out of the mess they've rushed into...

The grandfather who sees he's going to have to educate Tommy, Bill and Mary the same, and proceeds to do it because he really wants to all the time...

That's the fellow we're drinking the toast to:

3-2, coffee, buttermilk... whatever dad likes, fill the steins!

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force? will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, June 18.

The Golden Text is from Isaiah 48: "Hearken unto me, O Jacob and Israel, my called; I am he; I am the first, I also am the last. Mine hand also hath laid the foundation of the earth, and my right hand hath spanned the heavens; when I call unto them, they stand up together."

Included with other passages to be read from the Bible will be the following from Genesis 1: "So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them." Citations will also be read from the Christian Science textbook by Mary Baker Eddy, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," one citation being as follows (p. 502): "Genesis 1: 1. In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth."

"The infinite has no beginning. This word beginning is employed to signify the only—that is, the eternal verity of God and of God and man, including the universe. The creative principle—life, truth, and love—is God. The universe reflects God. There is but one creator and one creation. This creation consists of the unfolding of spiritual ideas and their identities, which are embraced in the infinite mind and forever reflected. These ideas range from the infinitesimal to infinity, and the highest ideas are the sons and daughters of God."

FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS—By Blosser

BARGAIN BRIDIE

By KATHARINE HAVILAND-TAYLOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY
BARRITT COLVIN, back New York after four years, is himself most attracted by 2-year-old ELLOR STAFFOR. Barrett is 35, wealthy and married to a woman who is an archaeologist. Elinor's mother, LIDA STAFFOR, is beautiful and because she wants attention for herself, has always forced her daughter to wear unbecoming clothes and make-up. MISS ELLA SEXTON, in order to inherit a share of the Sexton fortune...

With practiced, automatic gestures Lida freshened the rouge on her lips.

Barrett's half-sister, MARCO BENDON, tells him she is terrified for her husband will lead of an unfortunate episode in his past. Years before Barrett adopted Elinor when a young girl, Elinor's mother, LIDA STAFFOR, was a young girl, Elinor's mother, LIDA STAFFOR, was a young girl, Elinor's mother, LIDA STAFFOR, was a young girl...

CHAPTER VI

THERE was no sign in Lida Stafford's smiling face that Barrett's words had aroused her. She said warmly, "How charming of you! Please do come. I've been anxious about Elinor lately and the sort of young men she seems to prefer. I'd like to have her know you!" That, Lida thought with satisfaction, was a start and a good one. She wasn't going to have Barrett Colvin paying attentions to her daughter. It would completely spoil her plans. Lida wanted to cultivate Barrett because she knew Aunt Ella thought highly of him. Winning his friendship would impress Aunt Ella, who had the old-fashioned notion that marriage should provide a clear and devoted view of one's husband and blindness to all others.

Furthermore Barrett Colvin was attractive and Lida was not ready to believe any attractive man could prefer her daughter to herself. She was sure that her words had found their mark. She had seen the stiffening of Barrett's honest face. The thing to do, Lida decided a few moments later as she waited in the airless reception room for Miss Ella, was to make Barrett feel that there was no redeeming Elinor. He was ridiculous as a child. It would be easy to convince him that Elinor was a member of the wild younger set. Oh, yes, she knew just how to manage it. And to a man of his sort that would be enough.

Lida moved restlessly. Would the old lady never come? Barrett Colvin had said she was well. Only that morning the manager of a small, select gown shop had asked indignantly, listing several purchases, "Your cousin, Miss Sexton—is she well?" The woman's glance had been chilly and it had held a question, too. All those unpaid bills. So many people waiting for the death of the indefatigable old lady! "So trying—the whole affair!" Lida thought.

Eastland Personals

Miss Mildred Simpson of Fort Worth has been the guest the past week of Miss Juanita Harper. Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Rosenquest motored to Fort Worth for the day Friday. Allen Dabney and Edward Laurent spent Friday in Abilene. Ernest Parks of Dallas was the guest Thursday night of Sam Conroy.

spending his vacation with home-folks. C. W. Walker, of Denton, has accepted a position with L. C. Burr & Co., and started in his new location Saturday. Mr. Walker comes highly recommended as salesman of pleasing personality. Geo. J. Mickle and son, Omer, accompanied by John D. Seale made a business trip to Stephenville and Walnut Springs Thursday.

Ray Catcher Is Built By College

SWARTHMORE, Pa.—Cosmic rays are captured for the amusement of the visitors to the Century of Progress in Chicago by a little machine constructed in the laboratories of the Bartol Foundation on the campus of Swarthmore College. Designed by Dr. Thomas H. Johnson and constructed by Lewis Fussell Jr., the machine is known as a hodoscope. The face of the machine is a panel of small Neon lamps, upon which the path of each cosmic ray striking the instrument is visible by a row of flashes. While these rays dart through the atmosphere they are of such small amplitude that only the most delicate instruments can detect them. The heart of the hodoscope is a battery of 72 Geiger-Mueller counters, a type of vacuum tubes especially constructed in the Bartol laboratories to count cosmic rays. They are arranged in a block 10 inches wide, nine inches high and four inches deep. Each counter is connected through an amplifying circuit, to the Neon lamps in the panel. As the rays strike the battery, the light is registered on the lamps. When the instrument is in action it records about 30 rays a minute. Lights flash in all directions, indicating the various angles from which the cosmic rays come from inter-stellar space.

Blue Jays Aided In Capture of Eagle

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Jimmy Duffy, with the aid of a flock of blue jays, captured an American eagle with a garden rake in the rear yard of his home in Kansas City. The eagle was busy repulsing an attack by the blue jays when Duffy hooked its foot with the rake and dragged it from its nest in a tree. The eagle had a wing spread of seven feet.

PORTLAND, Oregon.—David Brauer, proprietor of a shoe store here, bent over to lace a new shoe on the foot of a customer in his shoe shop recently. He said he was "hit by something heavy." And now police are looking for a male "Cinderella" who ran out with one shoe on—the other lying, laces, awry, in the shoe store.

that was his in bold, shadow eyes. "I've come from Aunt she did not receive me hurt!" "Lord! Fancy not seeing if one could!" he murmured, groped beneath the table for hand. "I have endured Bentwell so many years in order to be hurting the old lady," Lida on. Again she sighed. She a pleasant sense of long-suffered saintliness, untouched by the that her manner of "ending" was so extremely vocal that had, more than once, driven her well to his club to try to be the lash of her tongue.

VANCE's hands tightened her hand violently. For first time he looked away from her. Stealing a side glance him she saw his face drawn emotion. His chin was set, can't bear to think of you had to endure anything," he harshly, unevenly and too hot. "I want to give you—everlastingly. Lida, I want to take care you!" Privately she thought, "$50,000!" and found the that amusing. To him she "Vance, you're so sweet kind!"

He moved suddenly and his eyes were upon her, deluging her. Lida saw that he going to be difficult. It did frighten her; instead she stimulated, enjoying this of her charms. "Vance," she appealed, "me! I'm really so pit weary. Nothing has gone should today. You know long for peace and quiet and and—dear companionship—been lonely for years. Vance She raised her large, gray eyes which could hit synthetic feeling to his face balked hunger had made a For the first time he paid no to her appeal. "Lida," he exclaimed, "I'm of it. Meeting you like this half an hour or so. It's enough. I can't stand to know what I want. You your time—everything! Love me, Lida—sweetest!"

Suddenly then he was leaning away from her, too away from her. His grip on hand made a ring cut deep, adored such moments, deep role and finding warmer fire she never felt in her best. A few moments later he again, staring down at lashes, outlined and made by her perfect skin. "Some day all this will be Lida!" he promised a thickly.

She gave him a fleeting shy and war. She said, "I know that's my dream, darling. Together—" he went on. "Oh, Vance, if that only be!" "It will be. It must! My Lida!" There was another street silence in which Lida felt growth of satisfaction in power. Oh, yes, she could with him, exactly as she Vance worshiped her. Was anything she said! Suddenly he turned, shoulder pressed against. Vance said in a quiet tone, most forgot that I've some for you!" (To Be Continued)

Presbyterian Auxiliary Program

The Women's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church will meet for a covered dish luncheon at 1 o'clock Monday at the home of Mrs. W. K. Jackson, house hostess, who will have the luncheon served from a buffet table, with several small tables appointed for the luncheon course.

Mrs. J. B. Nunn of Camden, Ark., who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. D. L. Kinnaird, and who was a former member of the Eastland Presbyterian church, will be the special guest of the day.

The program for the afternoon session, to be led by Mrs. M. C. Mayes, will correlate the topic, "The Negro's Contribution to Education and Morality."

A Brilliant Event

The Methodist church auditorium was crowded with a large audience for the second recital of the series, given by Wilda Dragoos, in presenting her studio in violin and piano program, at 8 o'clock Friday evening.

Guests were present from Ranger, Cisco, Gorman, and several other adjacent towns, for this splendid recital by the Olden Dragoos students.

Ushers for the evening were Billy Satterwhite and Leslie Cook, who handed out handsome printed programs from the Eastland Telegram.

The floral setting was as handsome as that of the preceding night, with additional floor baskets of gorgeous flowers enhancing the brilliancy of the background of the candle-lighted church, that invited quiet attention given to the beautiful program rendered.

The first movement, "Capitan Brown Military March"; "La Brunette," and "Fun on the Mall," played by the Dragoos ensemble of 17 violins.

The music was inspirational, the ensemble toning perfect, and brought enthusiastic applause from the audience.

The performers were in the smart red and black uniform combination.

Piano solo, "Wood Nymphs Harp," was smoothly given by Annie Bender. Tina Billye Beall, who has her violin but whose music surprised her audience with the clear tones of her solo, "Marching to School."

Wendell Hunter, in the violin solo, "Robins Lullaby," had lovely tone and sympathetic interpretation.

Talented little Nancy Seaberry gave a fine rendition of Brahms' Hungarian Dance, violin.

Mary Ann Murray, gave an interpretative rendition, piano, of "Somersaults," and "Banjo Pickaninny," that was well received.

The talented Alima Williamson played a beautiful number, rhythmic in feeling, piano, "Skating," by MacLuehlin.

Clara June Kimble, outstanding in piano, is fast climaxing in violin, and gave a clear and beautiful tone to the first movement from "Concerto," by Seitz, in violin.

The first movement from "Concerto," by De Beriot, was splendidly played by John Allen Mouser, his bowing showing strength, and technique.

Myra Lee Parraek was charming in her piano rendition, "Through the Air," and La Rue Ussery played in a delightful swinging

WHOLE GANG'S THERE

movement of "On the Lake,"

by Williams. Scholarships awarded in next winter's term went to John Allen Mouser, first place in violin; Donice Parker, second place, and first to Virgie Sue Wyatt in piano.

Glenna Johnson was irresistible in her violin solo, "Concerto," by Ruedgerro, and Gloria Reed brought tumultuous applause in her fine piano solo, "Cheerfulness."

Gloria Graham of Cisco, a talented young artist, was at her best in the temperamental Hungarian Dance, violin; and Jane Ferguson a simply marvelous young pianist was marked for her legato touch in "Valse Chromatic," and smooth and quiet hand in the Bach "Prelude."

That little violin marvel, Ellen Ayres Ryce, held her audience enthralled with her violin solo, "Spanish Dance."

Olivette Killough gave a brilliant performance in the "Valse," by Wachs, and a sympathetic touch in Bach's "Prelude."

The program closed with Margaret Hart playing the "Concerto," first movement, by Bruch. This young artist is always in close touch with her audience with whom she is justly a favorite.

Miss Dragoos awarded the scholarships for exceptional work, given in summer term for this year, to Glenna Johnson, violin; Leo Wolf, piano; and Ruth Reed and Max

Mr. and Mrs. Jones Take Over The Eastland Hotel

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jones, who have lived in Eastland for the last 14 years announce in this issue of the Telegram that they have taken over the Eastland hotel on East Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones need no introduction to the people of Eastland, as they have been in the hotel and boarding house business here several years. Mr. Jones was formerly a member of the Eastland fire department.

The hotel, which is located one block east of the square on Main street, is well furnished throughout, offering a comfortable home, lobby, an attractive dining room and, of much importance, especially good beds.

The new proprietors extend an invitation to all to visit them in their new home.

That Reminds Me

... and now the only excuse offered is to save the treasury. We weak ones... we'll say. The same was wrong in principle. Raising money for government pension from the pots of booze... also wrong in principle. whole thing is out of balance!

Home brew makers say average of 11 bottles of beer bottled for a gallon... being around a cent to a cent and a half a bottle... beer sellers from 12 1/2 cents to 20 cents a bottle for it... 3.2 that is offered cost around 35 cents a bottle to the fellow that buys it. Both make tremendous profit and find a ready sale.

It's hard to stop a mob... whether to hang someone... crying for 3.2. Aug. 26 will be the tale for Texas.

MR. and MRS. RICHARD JONES

"WELL!! Bill Perkins?"

HAVE you ever walked along a street in a strange city... strange faces passing you... Then, a face you knew... recognized immediately— "Bill Perkins!" you exclaimed: "Gee, I'm glad to see you."

Have you ever shopped in a store in a strange city... a score of local products stared you in the face, all good, perhaps all reliable. Then you saw a familiar advertised brand of what you wanted. "Good! I'll take that," you said. Right then you subconsciously were glad for advertising. You felt an immediate warmth, closeness, confidence—the reliability of old friendships.

Advertising is one of the greatest public benefits ever invented by business. It enforces quality, full value, honest statement of facts. For, when a manufacturer advertises his product, calling attention to it risks his very business existence—if it is less than he states.

This paper is constantly presenting advertised products for your attention. Many of them are old friends. But, many of them perhaps greet you for the first time. Read the advertisements, get acquainted with new friends you'll be glad to know now, and later.
