

Hoover Maybe Subpoenaed Before Grand Jury

that reminds me...

Continued activity of Government agents with results so far...

There seems to be some controversy as to whether or not there should be a carnival in connection with the coming county fair.

Frankly if a carnival is asked to cut out all of their "games" and just bring their side show entertainments, carnival representatives usually say, "Nothing doing."

Usually when a dancing teacher starts a pupil, he begins on the first step. That happens even if the pupil is over twenty-one.

There is no use talking, but its funny. A big black cloud will hover over Eastland and just when you think the bottom will drop out of the clouds, dropping sheets of rain over the entire section, they seem to dissolve just as steam does when the air hits it.

The newest yet is the colored man who said to his employer, Boss, I sure do wish dey would hurry up wid dat thirty two beer. 'I been makin' dat stuff fo' a long time but all I kin git out'en is sixteen."

Let's have the biggest Fair... let's have a Bank, and let's have a real live working Chamber of Commerce, and above all let's have a happy Eastland, all working together for one cause...

CHARGES FILED IN MURDERS AT FT. WORTH

FORT WORTH, Aug. 22.—Charges of murder and assault to murder were filed today against Jack Powell, 18, as the result of a shooting last night which cost the life of his father and a woman and resulted in the critical wounding of another man.

John Powell, 61, a blacksmith, was found dead in the street in front of his home when police arrived. The top of his head had been blown away.

Mrs. Myrtle Brown, 48, and Pat Oliver, 52, also a blacksmith, were found wounded in the front room of their residence. Mrs. Brown died today. Oliver was in a serious condition.

Witnesses said Oliver shot the elder Powell and the younger Powell shot Mrs. Brown and Oliver.

Legislature To Consider New Laws at Session

AUSTIN, Aug. 21.—Two weeks more, during which basic policies of Texas will be declared by the electorate, and the Texas legislature will be back in Austin, or on the way, to translate constitutional changes into action.

After the vote next Saturday on repeal, beer, county home rule, state relief bonds, and in many cases, local option, the legislature is to meet to take necessary steps to put the new authorities into motion.

Such an upswing of support for the state relief bond issue—"bread bonds"—has developed that the prospects for passage of this amendment had become excellent.

The legislature which apparently will be called into session Tuesday, Sept. 5, the morning after Labor Day, will vote the issuance of part of these bonds, if the amendment is adopted.

There is some belief that revision may be needed of the pre-empting act regulating the sale of beer, based on the prospect that the amendment will be adopted.

Shannon Bond Hearing Is Set

FORT WORTH, Aug. 22.—Plea for bond reduction for R. D. Shannon and three members of his family, held in Dallas in connection with the Charles F. Urschel kidnaping, will be heard here Thursday at 10 a. m., federal district judge James C. Wilson advised defense attorneys today.

Shank, shown above after his capture, has confessed that he poisoned the family.

Government Will Kill Four Million Hogs This Autumn

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—An emergency program to raise prices will begin tomorrow in America's livestock centers. The agriculture adjustment administration estimated today it would cost about $55,000,000.

Government buying will begin at St. Paul, Sioux City, St. Joseph, Kansas City, Omaha and Chicago. Buying also will be started in other markets before August 23.

Nine and one-half cents a pound will be paid at Chicago for pigs weighing 25 to 30 pounds. Prices range down to 6 cents a pound for pigs weighing 95 to 100 pounds.

TESTIMONY IN BANK FAILURE CASE DESIRED

DETROIT, Aug. 22.—Former President Herbert Hoover is requested to accept a subpoena to testify before the grand jury investigating bank failures here.

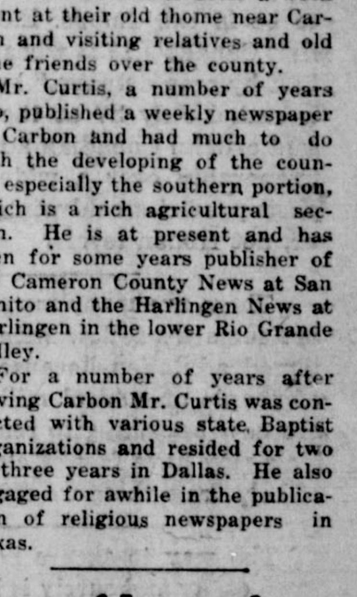

The decision to subpoena the former president came as the result of the repeated testimony of Sen. James Couzens, now concluding a three-day appearance before the grand jury that banks were permitted to operate in technical violation of the law because of the attitude of the Hoover administration.

The grand jury has no power to enforce its subpoena outside the state, officials admitted but were "hopeful Mr. Hoover will cooperate and voluntarily accept the subpoena."

"CALIFORNIA, HERE WE COME"

California lawmakers, almost without debate and in both houses, enacted a bill providing the death penalty or life imprisonment without right of parole for kidnapers who kill or mutilate their victims. In addition, the California lawmakers appropriated $10,000 to be used as state rewards. Gov. James Rolph gave the measure his approval.

Public sentiment appears to be crystalizing in the United States. It may sound the doom of gangs and gangsters. It began with the kidnaping and the violent death of the Lindbergh babe.

Gen. Smedley Butler, "The Fighting Marine," has advised President Roosevelt to invoke martial law against kidnapers the nation over. As for the penalty, he advises adoption of military procedure, or military trial, and the punishment to be inflicted by a firing squad.

STATE OF EMERGENCY

Lawyers have pointed out at Austin that if the legislature decrees a "state of emergency," the restriction against use of state revenues for relief work, direct or indirect, will be lifted.

The model draft of a Texas statute, sent the governor by the national relief administration, proposed in its first section to declare the state of emergency, equivalent to war times.

The legislature, in a tax penalty remission law declared a state of economic emergency; and in the case of Williams vs. Jones at Austin, supreme court upheld the exercise of the discretion to so declare the state of affairs as to justify measures that would not have been permissible except under the emergency declaration.

TERRIFIC SLUMP REPORTED IN CANADIAN GRAIN CROP

Just now the Bluenoses who are grain growers are said to be in the dumps. Electrified by authoritative reports that Canada's 1933 wheat yield "had been dwarfed almost half by crop damage," bread grains jumped 6 and 7 cents a bushel July 27 at the Chicago grain pit. Really, it is said official Canadian advices told of three crops blighted irreparably over a wide-spread territory. Weather prophets predict a cold winter and bread prices seeking higher, not frozen levels.

There are many men in this country and among them are some we follow with a sort of hallowed and unquestioned adulation because they either direct the destinies of people or control millions and millions of dollars. We are now beginning to realize the startling fact that these idols may have feet of clay and that in expecting any sort of help from them we are but fooling ourselves.

The way to secure new customers and hold old ones more easily and surely is by keeping a policy of good merchandise and plenty of god newspaper advertising.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES II, lecturer and editorial columnist of The Birmingham (Ala.) Are-Herald, says: "Did you every stop to think that it is comfortable, tidy and illuminating to find in some single word the summary of a whole elaborate program or complicated movement? It may be that the thousand and one rules of the Rooseveltian new deal, the wildly and somewhat confusedly whispering hopes of a better day for America, can be found to hang basically just now on some such word. It may be that they hang upon the simple, old-fashioned word 'Honesty.' Honesty not only in the personal and direct sense in which the word has been conceived heretofore, but in a broader and much more public sense. Economic honesty, political honesty, social honesty. The honesty which stops men not only from personal grafting, lying, stealing, cheating, but which puts an end to demagoguery to profiteering, to serving one's self or one's group in detriment to a social interest.

"The demagogue who invokes for his own ends a public feeling to which he himself does not really subscribe is not honest. The profiteer who disrupts the whole economic balance to take more than his share or to take out of turn is not honest. The man who serves himself or his crowd at the expense of society is not honest, whether he be a rich man or a poor man, whether his crowd is composed of the powers-that-be, the powers-that-want-to-be, or even of the powers-that-ought-to-be. In many respects honesty is the omnibus word of all that is proposed in the new deal— AND THE WANT OF IT IS GOING TO BE IDENTIFIED NOW IN BROADER TERMS AND DAMNED IN LOUDER ACCENTS THAN EVER IN CALLOUS DAYS GONE BY."

NERVOUS WOMEN

Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I am so nervous it seems as though I should fly... My nerves are all on edge... I wish I were dead... how often have we heard these expressions from some woman who has become so tired and run-down that her nerves can no longer stand the strain. No woman should allow herself to drift into this condition if she can help herself. She should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. For nearly sixty years women have taken this wonderful tonic to give them renewed strength and vigor. 98 out of every 100 women who report to us say that they are benefited by this medicine. Buy a bottle from your druggist today... and watch the results."

Why— You're always saying Chesterfields taste better

I wish you'd tell me why

Well, I've worked in tobacco; I've manufactured cigarettes... and I'll tell you why Chesterfields taste better.

For a cigarette to have a good taste, it must have first the right kind of Domestic tobacco. This means ripe, mellow, sweet tobacco, filled with Southern sunshine. Then, blended and cross-blended with this tobacco there must be the right quantity of the right kinds of aromatic Turkish tobacco... tobacco that has a pleasing flavor and aroma.

Aroma, as you know, adds to the taste. It's just like the pleasing aroma from certain foods. It's appetizing. It makes the food taste better. It makes the cigarette taste better.

Then again, for a cigarette to have a good taste, it must be made right. The size, the cigarette paper, everything about it must be right.

Just try Chesterfields.

FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS—By Blosser

For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TODAY EVE BAYLESS, pretty assistant to EARLE BARNES, advertising manager of Bibby's department store, marries DICK RADER, a construction superintendent. They keep their marriage secret. Dick opposes Eve's continued employment but she is determined to go on working.

On her wedding night Eve is surprised to find a new copy writer, MONA ALLEN, at the office. Mona is a trouble-maker. Eve becomes nervous from worry and Dick takes her on a weekend trip to the little town of Tankville. In an antique shop there Eve admires several pieces of furniture. Dick says they can't afford them but she leaves. He tells the shop owner she will send for them later.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XIV CHRISTMAS fell on Tuesday that year and Eve was overjoyed when Mr. Barnes said that she could have Monday as a holiday and thus be able to spend Christmas with her parents 500 miles away. Bibby's was open until nine o'clock each evening of the week before Christmas and Eve was obliged to spend at least part of every evening at the office.

Saturday, with the last task completed, Eve said goodbye to the others in the office, wished them a Merry Christmas, and left to meet Dick. On her way to the train they posted their marriage announcements to Eve's friends in Lake City. Those for the home folks had been sent a week earlier.

Eve felt a mixture of apprehension and relief after the announcements were mailed. But at least there was nothing to worry about for the present and she boarded the train with a light heart. Tomorrow she would see her parents again and Dick would be with her.

Henry Bayless met them at the station Sunday morning. Eve spied her father first and gulped as her eyes filled with tears. Then she hurried forward and kissed him while he struggled for composure. Partings and meetings after long separation always affected Henry Bayless. His eyes were blurry and he swallowed hard. Then he welcomed Dick with a hearty handshake and felt a glow of friendship in that firm clasp. Hank trusted few men until they proved themselves but his instinct told him Dick Rader was all right.

It had snowed heavily overnight and Hank drove carefully. He was proud of his new car and boasted to Dick of the number of years he had driven the old one.

The Bayless home was in an old section of the city on a tree-lined street. "Nice here in the summer," said Hank as he drove into the yard. Dick saw a modest house of the seven-room variety with side porch and a low attic over the kitchen. Eve's mother, rosy and smiling, beamed a welcome from the doorway.

That evening the whole family bundled into heavy wraps and rode out to "Cousin Myrtle's" in Beachwood. There, in a modern suburb, Cousin Myrtle and her family lived in a house of Normandy type. There was a tower with a winding, wrought iron stair and casement windows. Through diamond-shaped panes of glass the lights of an outdoor Christmas tree twinkled. The beautifully furnished home had not been built by wealth but rather by years of hard work combined with thrift and careful planning.

Dick felt himself attracted to all of Eve's relatives who seemed so friendly and merry. The next morning he built a crate to hold their gifts. "It's such fun," the cousins had declared, "to celebrate Christmas and a marriage at the same time." There were shell pink dishes, an onyx base lamp and a portable radio. There were exquisite silver pieces and an electric waffle iron.

Monday evening Esther invited a crowd of young people—all of them old friends of Eve's—to her home. There was bridge with a buffet supper and music afterward.

Then Christmas night the whole Bayless family escorted Eve and Dick to the station. "Eve," said her mother a moment before the train arrived, "here is an extra little present for you. Buy yourself some nice silver or something you really want with it. And don't tell your Pa! I saved it myself." It was a $50 bill.

EVE was awake and had eaten breakfast long before the train reached Lake City next morning. She was filled with anxiety. By the time she reached the office the store would have been open for some time and she would have to face everyone at once. They would all know about her marriage. She wondered how they would greet her and what new complications she would have to face.

Eve's trepidation increased later when she entered the store. Mr. Barnes had given her permission to arrive late, inasmuch as the train did not reach Lake City until 10 o'clock. A throng of after-holiday shoppers already was engaging the attention of the clerks, but Eve felt all eyes focused on herself. She nodded to several acquaintances as she hurried along toward the elevator. Her knees were weak by the time she entered the advertising office.

She was greeted by Miss Smith, darting up from her typewriter and flinging her arms about Eve's slight form. "Congratulations, darling!"

Marya looked up from the evening slippers she was sketching. She arose and with dignity extended her hand and kissed Eve. "I am so happy for you," she said, smiling. Eve never remembered what she answered. She thought giddily, "What deep dimples Marya has!"

Mona Allen assumed a bored expression. She remained at her desk and as Eve passed she glanced up and returned her greeting with a "Good morning, Mrs. Rader." The words came as a distinct thrust. Strange as it seemed to Eve then, she has never thought of being called anything but "Miss Bayless" or "Eve" by her business associates.

To her intense relief Mr. Barnes was in consultation and she had time to regain her composure before facing him. As Eve opened her desk and lifted out sketches and notes she answered Arlene's questions and learned that the marriage announcement had caused pleasant excitement in the office.

Arlene and Marya said they hoped Eve would continue her work. Mona Allen permitted a corner of her mouth to lift in a scornful quiver.

The office boy entered then, most buried under the stack of newspapers he was carrying. He tossed the papers on a large flopped desk and smiled brightly as he greeted Eve. Approaching her desk, he scowled darkly and whispered, "Don't let Miss Allen get your job. She's counting on it!" (To Be Continued)

Junior Missionary Auxiliary An unusual and beautiful program was presented by the Junior Royal Ambassadors and Girls Auxiliary in the Baptist church Saturday morning, directed by Mrs. J. P. Truly, in a program called "The Summer Christmas Tree." In reality, this is the plan for sending gifts in time for Christmas receiving, to the missionaries at foreign posts.

A song service was led by Lillian Bishop, and prayer by the director that the G. A. and R. A. may realize they can live the Christian spirit of love and missions the year around.

The devotional was offered in story form, on the subject, "Why Four Men Tore Up the Roof of a Crowded House," based on Matt. 9:2-8.

The meeting was opened by their president, Miss Florence Perkins, and the hymn ensemble, "Work for the Night is Coming," was followed by prayer by the pastor, Rev. Sam G. Thompson.

"Stained Glass Windows," the subject handled by Billy Satterwhite, brought an appreciation of the Psalms, and the poetry of the Bible.

"Overtones" was beautifully given by Miss Ima Ruth Hale. "Highroads and Byroads of Poetry," by Miss Joyce Newman, brought a comparison of poems, of old and new eras, and their spirituality as applied to life.

The hymn, "Take My Life and Let It Be," and the league benediction in unison closed the program.

There were 33 members present, and a guest, Raymond Pipkin.

Dream Auto Goes Under Hammer

AUBURN, Ind.—A sheriff's sale behind the city hall here, at which a bid of $150 was accepted, was the ignominious fate of a $250,000 dream of a Detroit inventor.

The object on sale was an automobile which Warren Noble, consulting engineer and designer, hoped would revolutionize the transportation industry. He had spent $250,000 and two years in construction of the model.

Illness and other reversals overtook Noble shortly before the model was completed.

He was forced to sell 55 per cent interest in the plan. Stockholders refused to furnish additional funds and the sale here was ordered to satisfy judgment of $555 against Noble held by H. L. Layler, Detroit.

The car had been stored in the Auburn Automobile Company factory here for several months.

L. H. Dunten Fort Wayne attorney retained by Layler, made the only bid.

An outstanding feature of the automobile is a toristlastic system of wheel suspension. The car has no axles, each wheel being set in rubber and suspended from the frame. This is said to permit the vehicle to travel over hard bumps at a high speed with no noticeable shock.

The motor used by Noble was a 12-cylinder, front-drive.

Board of Control Member Expected To Quit on Sept. 1

AUSTIN.—Genial Adrian Pool of El Paso will quit the state board of control Sept. 1, it is reliably reported here.

He will take up his duties as United States Customs Collector and the scramble will be on for his place on the state board.

Roy Tennant of Temple, was for a long time thought to be first choice for the place. Now two others are mentioned more frequently.

One is F. J. Chudej, pronounced "hoo-day" with the accent on the last syllable. Chudej was made a member of the state board of education by Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson in her former administration.

The other mentioned is former Mayor George Meyers of Rockdale. He was an aspirant for the highway commissionership.

One report is Chudej is to serve until January and that a permanent appointment then will be made. Another is that Frank Denison of Temple, will be named. Denison was appointed chairman of the state highway commission succeeding the late Cone Johnson of Tyler. The senate did not confirm the appointment.

Sheriff Is On Run With False Reports

DALLAS.—Deputy Sheriff Bud Walker is beginning to discredit his senses and those of other peace officers in the several states where the Barrow gang of Texas outlaws has made its appearance in the past.

A few more false alarms and he'll believe they're no more authentic than Santa Claus he indicated, after response to a man's excited telephoned tip that Clyde Barrow had been spotted proved the report erroneous. "Humph, if I had a dollar for every time I've answered a call that one of the Barrow boys was reported somewhere, I'd quit work," Walker declared.
