BACKING THE CODES

Sen. Walter F. Woodul of Houston has answers from fellow-lawmakers that seem to show the state act to modify anti-trust laws to conform to the national recovery act will go through easily in the session starting this week.

Senator Woodul—who by the way, has not remotely held out as an administration man—has asked house and senate members about their attitude on reshaping the anti-trust law.

He announced out of Houston that 67 members of the house have declared themselves in favor of the change, 17 doubtful and none on record against it. Of the 31 senators, 14 told him they will support the modification, one declared against it, and eight were doubtful or said they would wait and see the form of the bill.

The most typical answer given Senator Woodul was, "I favor suspending any laws in conflict with the President's program."

Lieut. Gov. Edgar Witt has predicted the legislature will approve every measure needed to facilitate the national industrial recovery program. Answers of the members to the Houston senator's inquiry suggest as much.

On with the session.

TAIL LIGHTS ON THE WAGONS

Farmers who have paid taxes until they can't own an automobile, and who venture out on the fine public highways in their wagons, must now take further precautions besides driving over in the ditch all the time.

The state is going to make them put tail lights on the wagons.

Not lights, but red and white reflectors, all that are required on trucks.

The highway patrol has been instructed to "enforce" the law requiring the farmer to put a white reflector in the left and a red one on the right side of the rear of his wagon. Whether enforcement will mean arrest and fine for a farmer, or merely instructions to equip the horse-drawn vehicles apparently was within the discretion of the enforcement officers.

As a suggestion, if the state has power to protect the highways from traffic dangers, it wouldn't be a bad idea to stop some of the trucks that have glaring headlights that blind all approaching drivers for 400 yards, and either take the headlights off entirely, or take their light out of the eyes of other drivers and put it down on the road. A good many hundred more people have been killed because of such glaring headlights than by the failure of farmers to put tail lights on the wagons they drive down in the ditches while money-making traffic hogs the highway paid for by the farmer and other citizens.

You should never forget the importance of the various industries that make your city and never lose an opportunity to encourage and assist them in their growth, for therein rests the success of your community and the welfare of all who live and work there.

Judging from the super-heated, roller-bearing, articulated variety of demands for this and for that kind of law, this country is due to see many changes in its laws next session; that is if Congress can agree on anything.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

FRANK E. GANNETT, president and founder of the Gannett Newspapers, says:

"Newspapers are read more intensively today than at any time since the World War. Probably never before have newspapers played such an important part in the lives of people in all classes.

"There is so much going on, so many startling things happening in our political, economic and social life that the desire for news is increasing steadily.

"It is noteworthy that such economies as have been necessary in the average family in the past four years have affected newspapers probably least of all industries—people must have their newspaper.

"Therefore the newspaper is, and should be, recognized as the most powerful advertising sales medium. Being friend, counselor, guide and entertainer to every member of the family makes it not only the logical, but the most effective advertising medium for manufacturers and retail stores everywhere.

"The newspaper's unquestioned stability as an institution in the period of stress, from which I hope we are now emerging, is of itself a demonstration of its undoubted value to the advertiser. This is best shown by the fact that newspaper advertising by manufacturers and retailers all over the country has shown a marked and healthy increase during recent months."

AUSTIN.—Studies of various problems in politics, infant care, banking, football, chromosomes and other subjects won advanced degrees for 187 University of Texas graduate students this summer.

"The Theory and Practice of Scouting Football Games," was the thesis title for William Larkin Echols, Dallas, who won a masters degree in education.

Mrs. Ruth Y. Stoker, Arlington, master of science, made an "experimental" study of the efficiency of various types of infants' garments and fastenings.

T. & P. Announces Low Excursion Rate

The Texas & Pacific Railway company is today announcing an unusually low rate of only $2.00 for a round trip to Dallas and $1.50 to Fort Worth for Sunday, Sept. 17.

This rate is so much lower than the average excursion rate that it is expected a large number of people all along the line of the railroad will take advantage of this unusual offer.

GOLDFISH FOUND IN DITCH
REDFORD, Ore.—A highly-colored gold fish six inches long was found in an irrigation ditch near here by Mrs. C. A. Ordway. No explanation as to how it got there was available. The fish, put in a bowl, seemed frightened and darted about, showing it had been in wild state some time.

Reports from Indianapolis that six alligators have been caught in the White river near there, though zoos hadn't missed any. Maybe we'd better go slow about this repeal business.

Legal 2.3 Beer Flowing Since Last Midnight

Legal 3.2 beer began flowing in Texas at one minute after midnight last night. At the election held last month Eastland county remained in the dry column, but Stephens county, a border county on the north, and Shackelford county, just northwest of Eastland, are wet and beer may be obtained there.

Exactly 3.2 miles from Ranger north across the Stephens county line places have been arranged and stocked with beer. This is also true a few miles north of Eastland and just across the Eastland-Stephens county line.

Transportation of beer into dry territories is not prohibited under the law regulating the manufacture and sale of beverages containing not more than 3.2 alcohol, Elbert Hooper, first assistant attorney general has ruled.

Hooper said it would be lawful for a person to purchase beer in wet territory and transport it to his home for personal consumption. It also would be legal to have it delivered in dry territory by transportation agencies, he ruled.

The law prohibits places whose principal business is the sale of beer from disposing of the beverage between the hours of 12 midnight and 7 a. m. of any day. Also places whose principal business is the sale of beer are forbidden from selling it between the hours of 12 midnight on Saturdays and 7 a. m. on Mondays.

Must Be 21 to Buy
There is nothing in the law to indicate that restaurants, hotels, and other concerns not selling beer as their principal business would be required to desist from the sale at any time.

The regulatory law provides beer shall not be sold to a person less than 21 years old and directs that no person less than 18 years old shall be employed in any establishment whose principal business is the sale of beer.

The county commissioners court can prohibit the sale of beer by any dealer whose principal business is the sale of beer where the place of business is within 300 feet of any church, school or other educational institution.

Under Hooper's interpretation of the beer law, "the manufacture, sale, barter, exchange" of 3.2 beverages only is prohibited in dry areas.

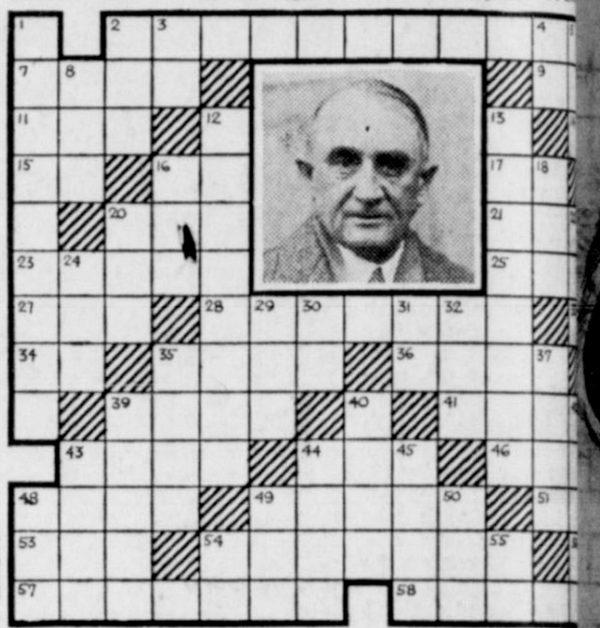

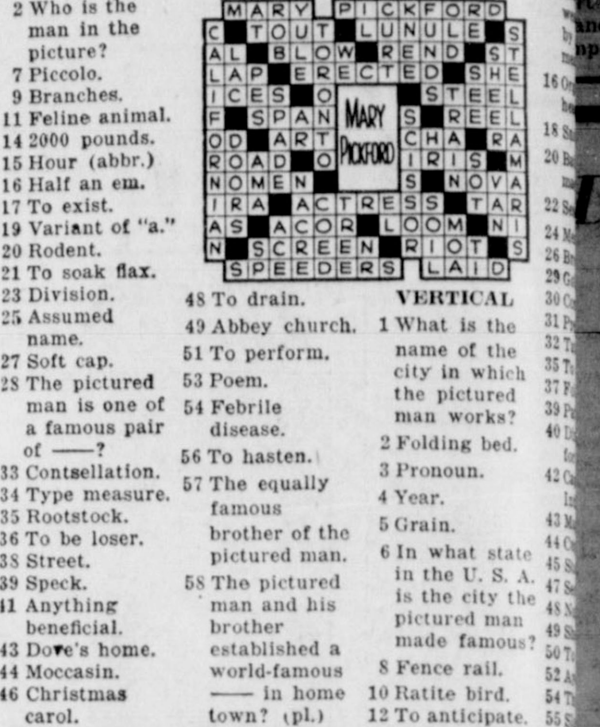

Hooper said it appeared that existing liquor regulations had been relaxed even in the case of counties and political subdivisions that have voted dry. He cited the statute in effect before the new law was passed which made it unlawful "to possess or receive for the purpose of sale, transport, export,

The constitutional amendment merely provided that it should continue to be unlawful to "manufacture, sell, barter or exchange" beverages in dry territories containing more than 1 per cent of alcohol by weight, Hooper said.

"It should be noted that the act in question does not purport to be amendatory, but was enacted as an original and independent law upon the subject of beer and wine," Mr. Hooper said. "It is complete in itself and covers the whole field of regulation respecting beer and wine. The act does not amend any constitutional amendments, even does, by implication, repeal parts of previous acts."

Hooper said the amendment directed to enact laws dealing with "sale" and "transport" had been left out of new

FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS—By Blosser

ONCE . . . EACH DAY

By V. MARIE STEPHENS

Mona!
Roberta!
Leota!
Mary!

Present. All four of them, Baylor university bound . . . the famous Keys quadruplets of Hollis, Okla.

They have just blown in from the cyclone state . . . flying to Waco today, with college friends . . . and a lot of publicity to make it more interesting.

We've always wanted to be a twin, so we might talk to ourselves . . . without the world wondering at our muttering.

But we haven't reached the four-of-a-kind stage yet. Imagine buying four fall costumes with the new deal prices . . . (imagine buying one).

We don't know them . . . Mona, Roberta, Leota, and Mary. But we used to stand before their pictures and envy them. We knew their aunt.

Enviied the possibility of being three other people and retaining one's self-respect.

Perhaps we envied the aunt more . . . much better to be a relative than four identical souls . . . better to be quietly and individually famous.

And then we knew their cousin . . . took trips with her . . . and often agreed with her. She, too, was human. Well, so were we.

And so, to school they go . . . and though there be hundreds of "forgotten men" roving the campus grounds, none with half an ear and mind can fail to know them.

They speak for themselves . . . quietly. Four stars in a row do that. Four pretty girls . . . oh, my dear.

Baylor sits quietly beneath her spires . . . and wraps herself in traditions. America reads of the fated bus that carried a team to its death . . . America bowed her head with Baylor.

America read of a president's death . . . America mourned with Baylor.

And today America gives her only quadruplets to Baylor . . . and America beams with pride.

Lucky four . . . Mona, Roberta, Leota, and Mary.

Penny Manager Says His Store Offers Bargains

Sensational advances in all ladies ready-to-wear and a most up-set condition of the merchandise mart has kept the buying public in a state of excitement as to when where and how to buy, and rightfully so. But opportunities to keep away from high prices which are bound to come in the good news from the J. C. Penny company, according to G. H. Hipp, local manager of the store. Mr. Hipp says: "We have just received a shipment of dresses and coats that I can truthfully say represents the greatest values we have ever offered. Five thousand garments were purchased in plenty of time before the present advances and we have received our apportionment and they are now unpacked and ready to show our friends and customers. Our company, by being on the ground and insisting on deliveries can pass these wonderful values on to our customers.

"Our fall merchandise is arriving every day and our showings are wonderful. Nothing pleases us greater than to be in position to serve the community in which we operate with unusual values and high quality merchandise. Naturally I feel that the public will agree with me that now is certainly the time to buy because all merchandise must be necessarily increased in price."

Frankly, I admit, I may be just a little out of line in sponsoring this campaign at a time when replacements in many instances are quoted at a higher figure than I quote you. However, I feel that I am doing my part in helping my friends and customers in securing needed commodities at lowest price under existing conditions as long as I am able to do so. Holt, Addie Kirk, and Miss Elizabeth Jackson of Silsby. Scripture reading and prayer followed by talks from most all present made this a very impressive occasion. Aunt May Hearn rose from the table after drinking four glasses of iced tea and called "Central." We suppose she wanted to find the doctor. Rev. Davis declared the chicken tasted like a Methodist had swiped it from Rev. Gwaltney. It was a great occasion and may joy be to all many days henceforth.

Mrs. H. L. Bray, assisted by Mrs. Francis Cooper of Eastland, entertained Saturday afternoon honoring her little daughter, Mary Fern, on her sixth birthday. Games were led by Misses Faye Stone and Faye Cunningham. ### Uncertainties Are Numerous Under Local Option Law

By RAYMOND BROOKS
AUSTIN.—Counties and precincts that voted on local option for beer will have a hard time changing their minds now. Future local option elections are but one of numerous intricate questions of law affecting the sale of beer after Sept. 15. Many local officials are now concerned whether those who live in local option dry areas may go outside and buy beer and legally transport it back to their homes. A uniform procedure will be worked out to govern this. Under the old local option law before statewide prohibition it was legal to take your liquor with you—for your own use—into local option dry territory.

The attorney general has construed "Whether, when voted dry by local precinct in the another election. WITH President Roosevelt's acceptance of the NRA Automobile Code, Chevrolet, the world's largest builder of motor cars, officially begins operations in accordance with the administration's recovery program.

Although the official code was signed only a few days ago, it will be of interest to Chevrolet's many friends to learn that the Chevrolet Motor Company started to carry out the spirit of today's recovery program over three years ago!

At that time, we put into operation a "share-the-work" plan, whereby our workmen cooperated in spreading the work to give more men jobs. By means of this plan, as well as by regulating hours of work per week to meet retail demand, and by building up parts stocks in lean seasons, it was possible to carry 33,000 men on our payroll through the depression. For eleven months of each year since 1929, we have kept our employment within 10 per cent of this average. We are justly proud of that record. We are also proud to say that Chevrolet workmen did not, at any time during the depression, become a burden on public welfare departments.

On August 1st of this year, Chevrolet announced a blanket wage increase as well as the adoption of a 7½-hour, 5-day week and the employment of 12,000 additional men. This wage increase was the second in the last 4 months, Chevrolet having been among the first to put a blanket wage increase into effect.

We feel that the President's recovery program deserves the whole-hearted support of every citizen and manufacturer in America. It is a bold, swift, courageous plan to start the ball rolling toward economic recovery. Its sincerity is unquestioned. Its objectives are admirable. And the direct, forceful steps the President and his associates are taking to make it a success, should stir the pride and admiration of every American.

We are proud and glad to do our part. And we are deeply grateful to the American people for the patronage that has enabled us to anticipate the present recovery program and to play our part today. After all, the immense number of men employed by Chevrolet is a direct result of the continued preference America has shown for Chevrolet.

Solomon
The great building, Solomon's temple, which David planned as a perfect house for the worship of God, was completed.
Solomon, his son, at this time 1012 B. C., was a young man, modest and peaceable in defending his territories; was now the proud ...ruler, living in Jerusalem and the builder of the temple.

This temple, whose fame is still ringing through the ages, was built in seven years; working thousands of men, at the cost of $4,900,000, according to the heavier system of weights.
The wood of the interior was richly carved and the whole interior was overlaid with gold. Shining brass was also used in some of the altars while the vessels were of solid gold.
The dedication of the building was a great event.
"And the priest brought in the ark of the covenant of the Lord unto his place, into the oracle of the house, to the most holy place, even under the wings of the cherubim."
A great sacrifice of sheep and oxen, that could not be "told or numbered," was offered up to God in a praise service.
"When the priest came out of the holy place, that the cloud filled the house of the Lord."
"So the priests could not stand to minister because of the cloud; for the glory of the Lord had filled the house of the Lord."
Solomon's prayer at this dedication is well worthy of anyone's study. He gives all the glory to God and repeats the story of David and the prophecy that he, Solomon, David's son, would build the temple.
"That all the people of the earth may know that the Lord is God, and that there is none else," are his words that seem to shape the keynote of his desires in using this building.
The prayer of Solomon for wisdom is a familiar story. Wisdom has been defined as "the faculty of applying knowledge aright."
Solomon's writings are beautiful, having written 3,000 proverbs and 1,005 songs.
The familiar story of acquired wealth is true of Solomon. After the dedication of the temple he seemed to forget God to a certain extent. He had 700 wives and made friendship with the wealthy and influential of the world.
Solomon's name means peaceable; given to him by David in his later days of turmoil and expressed his desire for peace. Solomon was the son of Bathsheba, the former wife of Uriah, whom David had killed that he might possess her. Following this sin of David was a time of wickedness and turmoil to which Solomon's weakness in later life was attributed.
Solomon's heart was turned from his father's God, not to the idols of his heathen wives, to his love of self expressed in terms of magnifying and exacting service from others to flatter his vanity.
After all, are not most of the wives of this world patterned after just such a love?
"Jehovas is merciful and gracious. Slow to anger and abundant in loving kindness."—Ps. 103:8.

For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TODAY
EVE BAYLESS, pretty assistant to EARLE BARNES, advertising manager of Baby's department store, marries DICK BADER, a construction superintendent. Dick wants Eve to stop working for the refuaca.
Unknown to Dick, Eve plays the stock market on borrowed money. ARLENE SMITH, stenographer at Baby's, buys stock on Eve's advice but loses all her money. SAM HOLERIDGE, an advertising man employed by another store, is infatuated with Arlene.
MON ALLEN, copy writer dislikes Eve and is responsible for certain errors at the office which Eve is blamed for.
The building on which Dick has been working is completed and his employees tell him they will have no more work for him to do for at least two months. He and Eve spend a brief vacation visiting Eve's parents. The day after their return a policeman comes to the store and asks for "Miss Bayless." Eve discovers that Mona Allen gave her name instead of her own when she was interviewed following a automobile accident. The affair is straightened out but Eve, humiliated, enforces her frequent quarrels.
Eve is ungracious about Dick's enforced absence and they frequent disagreements.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXV
The second week in September Dick received his summons to return to work. He was to supervise construction of a group of hospital buildings in an eastern state. Work was to begin immediately and would last many months. A year at least—perhaps longer.
His departure left Eve dazed with astonishment and grief. She had not really believed he would go without her. Until the very moment when he swung aboard the train taking him away she had held steadily to the hope that he would yield to her wishes and remain in Lake City or else masterfully carry her away with him.
Tears misted Eve's eyes as the train pulled out of the station. Blindly she made her way to a taxi stand.
In the taxi some inner voice prevented her from yielding to the impulse to weep unrestrainedly. She was thankful for this restraint when, just as she had turned the key in her door, Mrs. Brooks appeared in the hall and invited her to make a fourth at bridge.
Eve wanted to refuse. She wanted to lock her door against the world and relieve her doubts and loneliness in tears. But she knew Mrs. Brooks was trying to be friendly. She had planned the bridge, Eve suspected, to help her through that first lonely evening. So she managed to smile and answer, "Why, how nice of you, Mrs. Brooks! I'll be glad to come, of course. Just give me time to powder my nose and slip into another dress."
The hall door leading to Mrs. Brooks' living room stood open when Eve emerged from her apartment. Mrs. Brooks, smiling and eager, slipped an arm about Eve and led her to the davenport. Eve could not help greeting the other guests as though she were in a daze. Her thoughts were with Dick, between potato chips and the famous Mexican tortillas. They are made of corn meal crisply toasted.
Blood pressure of a human being is 20 degrees higher when awake than when asleep. And 20 degrees higher than that while reading the papers and trying to figure out the next move at Washington.
The sugar industry in Cuba may be all shot, but they still seem to be able to raise cane.

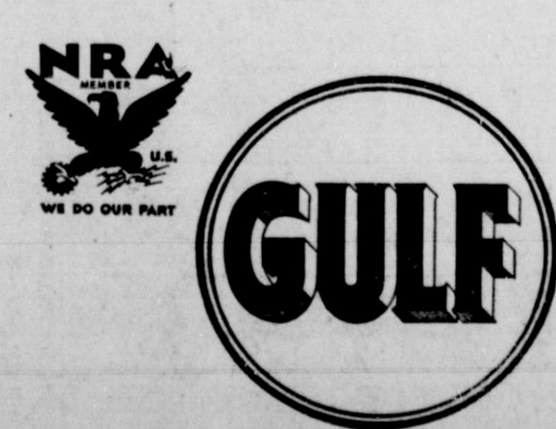

...him before the week's out. And he's married—I'm almost certain he's married. How can she be so cheap and common?"
Eve's suspicion was confirmed a moment later when Kenny was about to leave the office. Arlene, who had been typing busily during his call and apparently had been blind and deaf to the byplay between him and Mona, flashed the salesman a brilliant smile as he passed her desk.
"Good morning, Mr. Kenny," she beamed maliciously. "I see by the public prints that your up-and-coming little suburb has rapid transit at last. Makes it awfully nice for you, doesn't it? You'll only have to spend 15 minutes now to reach the wife and kiddies in the little bungalow out on Elm Street!"
A flush suffused the man's face. He laughed nervously.
"Have to have your little joke, don't you, Miss Smith?" he said and made his escape.
"Oh, is he really married?" squealed Mona in mock indignation. "Why, he was trying to make a date with me. Imagine that!"
EVE brought up the subject again as she and Arlene waited at noon for their lunch to be served at a candle-light table in a dim corner of the Gypsy Tearoom. "Do you think Mona will make a date with Kenny now that she knows he is married?" she asked.
"Sure, she will! But she'll be shy about it and try to avoid people she knows when she's with him," Arlene answered.
"But why does she do it? What does a girl hope to gain by that sort of thing?"
"I've often puzzled over the question myself," said Arlene. "In her case I'd say it's just plain dumbness. With that baby face of hers and the gift she has for covering up a mean, tricky nature with a mask of innocence, Mona could do pretty well for herself, matrimonially speaking. But instead she prefers to play with fire. She'd like to think she's a combination of Cleopatra and Helen of Troy. I think she actually believes all the flattering things men say to her."
At this point the hostess of the tearoom, in gypsy dress, approached and offered to read the tea leaves in their cups. Eve found her wish, ready-made, waiting in her heart. She wished that nothing might ever come between her and Dick and their love for each other.
Arlene was warned by the fortune teller to look out for the treachery of a blond woman. Eve was told that her happiness was threatened by a dark man. Sheer nonsense, of course! The woman had no occult power. But Eve could not suppress a little shiver of apprehension as the thought of Theron Reece came to her. Reece had no power whatever to harm her. But she could not shake off the fear that chilled her heart.

That Reminds Me

We need him most. He doesn't let his people suffer unless they themselves elect to disregard his rules. That is as it should be, and is.

All for Eastland, and not a let-down. Let's go, and by all means let's don't lose the opportunity to hold our business within the confines of our own survey. Trading at home will discourage any business from having an idea to leave town, thereby leaving another empty building. Those who stick can well afford to make it possible for people to trade at home by doing all they can to serve them with the best at all times, and by all means business men should advertise their wares and then make people glad they bought them by their courtesies and favors extended to them after they respond to their advertising. There are two sides to every question. It's one thing to tell people to come and buy, and when they do, it doesn't stop there. It's another thing to keep them coming, the right merchandise, the right prices; and courtesy which costs nothing, will do the trick. No one can afford to let down on Eastland now. We must all work hand in hand for its benefits.
