A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

FATE OF THE ROBBER: Behold at evening tide trouble; and before the morning he is not. This is the portion of them that spoil us, and the lot of them that rob us.—Isaiah 17: 14.

DEATH OF A PRE-WAR DIPLOMAT

Viscount Grey of Fallodon, dead at 71, won a place in history which will certainly be secure but which is not entirely enviable.

It was Grey who, as foreign secretary in 1914, took England into the war; and as the English ever since 1918 have been nourishing a slow suspicion that the war caused practically all of their troubles, it is not surprising that this veteran diplomat suffered a kind of eclipse in his last years.

For Grey will stand for a long time as an epitome of the kind of diplomacy that was so common before the war—the kind that thrived on secret agreements, secret understandings and the jargon of what H. G. Wells has called the "great power game."

Prior to 1914 the average Englishman calmly assumed that England could not be embroiled in any European war unless the people of England as a whole wished to be embroiled. It was Viscount Grey, as much as anyone, who had to dispel this illusion.

Like practically every other chancellery in Europe, the English foreign office saw the war coming long before it actually arrived. It is possible that the ease with which all the diplomats saw its approach was one of the reasons why it finally came. But at any rate the British foreign office, having visioned war from afar, got ready for it by making certain agreements with the French foreign office concerning united action against Germany.

Thus, when the storm clouds finally broke, the people of England did not have a free hand. Their diplomats had committed them in advance. When Grey laid the whole situation before Parliament, there was only one answer that could be made. To all intents and purposes, it was impossible for England to remain neutral. The invasion of Belgium-rallied Englishmen to the standard, but the die had already been cast.

Now to recount all of this is not to condemn Viscount Grey. He was an able, sincere and patriotic man. There is no doubt that he actually wanted peace. He did his best according to his lights and it was hardly his fault if his lights were wrong.

It is the kind of diplomacy he represented that needs condemnation. The World War was a product of that diplomacy; and a world which is still suffering from the war can hardly be blamed for concluding that that diplomacy was an expensive sort of luxury.

JOB IN THE VALLEY

State Relief Director Lawrence Westbrook, in his first message out of the hurricane zone of the Lower Valley, urged that people should not go into the section with the idea of finding work.

A task to which state and national relief agencies are now giving strenuous efforts is to take care of all those already in the Valley. Such work as will be created in rebuilding will occupy only a part of those already in the Valley. Many in the section must rely on direct relief. Many will move out of the Valley temporarily, because there is nothing to do, no way to make a living until more normal conditions are restored.

It would be a serious mistake, and one increasing difficulties of the relief work, for others to throng into the Valley in the hope of finding work there, Westbrook has pointed out.

Some merchants seem to think WDOP means "We Double Our Profits" instead of "We Do Our Part."—Silsbee Bee.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

We live in times when much is being done in many parts of the world to meet difficulties and to find solutions to different problems by conferences.

There is at times a disposition to be optimistic whenever a conference is called to try to solve a difficult situation. It is good that there should be confidence in conferences, for it indicates a belief in the reasonableness of human nature when people, no matter how bitterly opposed at one time, are capable of agreement when they come together.

All conferences, however, do not seem to have the desired results. Some of the meetings at which the parties would seem to be at enmity and irrevocably opposed have had better results than others which it looked as though they met with but a single thought and a single plan.

PROBLEM FOR POLITICIANS

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—There's a wide split in the Department of Agriculture which may develop sensationally.

Profits of the middleman, return to the farmer and price to the consumer represent the issue.

Assistant Secretary Rexford G. Tugwell and Chief Counsel Jerome Frank of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration head the group of liberals which is primarily concerned with producer and consumer and hopes it can squeeze excess profits from the "spread" of the distributors and financiers.

On the other side are Administrator George N. Peek, Co-Administrator Charles J. Brand and Dairy Section Chief Clyde King of the AAA, who aren't so excited about those aims.

Milk is now the crux of the fight. The first group seeks a national minimum price for dairy farmers and a maximum for consumers and subsequent concentration on the "spread."

Brand, who retains his post with the National Fertilizer Association, and Dr. King, who is charged with playing too closely with distributors, are special targets of the liberal group.

Peek, who failed to loom as large as Hugh Johnson of NRA when Secretary Wallace firmly seized the AAA reins, tried to get Fred Lee, former farmer lobbyist, as his general counsel and was forced to take Frank. Lee now operates in Peek's office.

That Reminds Me

(Continued from page 1) as the sales tax on top of it as we see it now might wind up many more of us in the poorhouse. Perhaps we are wrong—we are open for conviction—and will gladly reconsider our opinion if we are. But darn if we don't believe that this tax business is going to create some uncomfortable rebellion if it keeps up.

Lamson received the death penalty charged with killing his wife. He maintains his innocence. The evidence before the jury was circumstantial. Sometimes a powerful prosecuting attorney can piece circumstantial evidence together enough to convince the jury that it was in fact. This no doubt happened in this case. Regardless of the verdict however Lamson no doubt will maintain his innocence to the last. There were no eye witnesses to the tragedy. The world will never know actually what happened before the killing of Mrs. Lamson. Unless of course someone breaks down and confesses to the crime. That is doubtful.

From all accounts merchants of Breckenridge since the inauguration of 3.2 beer have been sitting on the side lines watching the dollars go by and flow into the coffers of the breweries. Most of them are wondering just how long the money will last the imbibers. And then they realize that they might find it necessary to wait several weeks or months before those who sluffed off their money on beer during this exciting period can come in and buy actual necessities of life. Breckenridge merchants do not as a whole report good business during the past three days. No wonder when it is told that thousands of cases of bottled beer, hundreds and hundreds of kegs of beer were sold in a short period that involved thousands of dollars to buy it. It couldn't be bought on credit. And ev-

Frank, a liberal who wrote "Law and the Modern Mind" to analyze the conservatism of the law, was on the Yale Law School faculty. He was one of a group of lawyers referred for key jobs here by Prof. Felix Frankfurter of Harvard. Secretary Wallace seeks to keep peace. If he doesn't succeed, resignations will be likely.

NOT much has been heard of the gold mining company whose president Charlie Curtis became after his term as vice president of the United States expired. But it has sold more than $400,000 in stock here in Washington.

WIDESPREAD misunderstanding exists as to the wage status of persons under the NRA codes or the PRA code who previously received more than the new minimum wages. The President's Agreement promises that wages shall not be reduced and that "equitable adjustments" shall be made for those persons.

Nearly every approved code bars lower weekly compensation for shorter hours and most of them provide for increases proportionate with the minimum wage increase. A textile manufacturer came here from Northampton, Mass., to complain of labor troubles in his mills. He said he was observing the code to the letter.

Inspection of his payroll revealed that he had put his whole plant—higher brackets and all—on $13 a week, the code minimum.

Magnolia-Lone Star Will Play Today in Big "Crucial" Test

Austin Squad Has No Lettermen

By United Press AUSTIN.—Coach Bennie Strickland of Austin's schoolboy football players will work without a single letterman this season.

Wilbur Taylor, brother of Bud Taylor, the T. C. U. star, was the only letterman to answer Strickland's training call. Appendicitis sent Wilbur to the hospital. He will see no service this season.

A game that has been looked forward to with much interest for the past few weeks is to be played at Willows field this afternoon when the Magnolia and Lone Star teams of the Twilight league meet for the first time.

These two teams have each been defeated once, the Lone Star losing to the Legion and Magnolia losing to the Elks. The game this afternoon will probably determine, to a great extent, the outcome of the second half of the Twilight league season.

The Monster in Form of the Sales or Consumers' Tax Bill Is Again Being Revived in Preparation for a Swift Drive to Enactment
During the Special Session of the Texas Legislature

Be Warned! The vicious Sales or Consumers' Tax Bill again raises its ugly head — and now, more than ever, you must, for the protection of yourself and family, fight against any new or increased taxation of any kind!

Don't be Caught "Napping"! Don't allow the proponents, the special interests of "more revenue," to choke the Sales or Consumers' Tax down the throats of the people of Texas.

An additional tax levy at this time cannot be justified on any reasonable basis. According to current propaganda that such a tax is to replace the State Ad Valorem Tax and who would pay for it under this new plan, is a cruel joke that would spell stark tragedy for the peoples of this State.

Don't be Hoodwinked by the Misting Arguments of the "Interests" Clamoring for More Revenue! Veiled and insidious are many of the tricks of the "political trade" when played upon the sympathies of the people. The Sales or Consumers' Tax, or by whatever name it may be called, has no earthly connection with the National Industrial Recovery Program since this State or any other state is not called upon to furnish any funds whatsoever for the building projects. The Sales Tax agitation in Texas is purely a part and parcel of a nation-wide scheme by certain "influential interests" to make the already-overburdened mass, you and I, bear the chief blunt of taxation!

Don't be Fooled! State Finances Are Improving and Texas is in Need of No Major Revenue Measures At This Time! Any new or increased taxation simply means greater hardship on you and your family and every citizen of Texas. The cost of living has already increased, in some instances 20% to 30%, while wages lag far behind. And a Sales or Consumers' Tax will further increase living costs and intensify the difficulties of hundreds of thousands of families trying to expand small incomes to meet these rapidly-rising costs of living.

A Sales or Consumers' Tax would Mean a Heavy ADDITIONAL TAX on Almost Everything You Buy for the Well-being of Yourself and Family! As a relief measure it would prove a pathetic joke on every man, woman and child in Texas.

BE ON YOUR GUARD!
Don't Let the Special Session of the Texas Legislature Choke Any New or Increased Taxation Down Your Throat!

CITIZEN... NOW is the Time for Action!

Write, phone or wire your Senator or Representative at Austin that you do not want a Sales or Consumers' Tax of any kind! Urge him to vote AGAINST any proposals for new or increased taxation... tell him emphatically that our government costs must be kept within the amount that is necessary to meet its present income. Tell him that you know that the citizens of Texas are in no position to pay any new or increased taxes of any kind at this time. DO IT NOW!

HOOKS AND SLIDES

The King's in Again!
LEAPING Lena Levy rushes in to print again with the astonishing announcement that her protegee and brother, King Levin, will slug with ex-Champion Jack Sharkey when the two meet at Comiskey Park, Chicago, Sept. 15.

"My boy is a knockout puncher," the eccentric ex-fish peddler's manager and cook related the other day. "And he's hitting harder every day."

Sure he'll slug with Sharkey. He'll slug with Sharkey whether Sharkey wants to slug or not, because the Kingfish is a slugger at whatever he tries, including an occasional roundhouse attack upon the Queen's English.

A $25,000 Smack
AND there is just a chance that Sharkey, stepping out to Chicago and taking off his coat for a guarantee of $25,000 (not a bad pile of NRA shucks, my friends) may wake up again, as he did after the Carnera fight, asking his seconds who threw that brick at him.

In that event the Kingfish would be right up there with the other two strange men. Primo Carnera and Max Baer, a topline act anywhere you want to take it (but perhaps you want no part of it).

There are stories from Boston to the effect that Sharkey hadn't realized how far back he had gone and had trained on buffoonery and ice cream for the Carnera thing.

He is aiming to make a piece of change here and there this winter, as who isn't, and has gone back to work to see how good he is with the idea of five fights in mind. If he can't pass the Kingfish, and there is every reason to believe he can't if he comes in all roly-poly as he appeared against Carnera, his four fights after the King gets through with him will retail at 5 cents apiece.

Out of the Dark
SHARKEY has the same thing to watch out for against Levin, that he failed to see coming from Carnera—a wild punch out of nowhere, with plenty of power behind it.

Then you would have the picture of a former fish peddler gunning for the heavyweight title seriously. Well, why not—didn't an old fish market man run for president?

Ministers, Dentists And Circus Clowns Ask Relief Work

HOUSTON.—Four pretty young women, calm as the fates casting their shuttle of destiny, sit in an office here reviewing the pages of a story of mighty proportions.

It compares with the novels of Hugo, Gorky and Tolstoi. Grim, courageous, macabre, defiant and hopeless, with occasional facets of humor, it offers the broad sweep, the wide play of emotions, the quality of universal appeal found only in works of the masters.

Unlike these works, however, it will never be given the public. Its pages are the 28,033 questionnaires answered by the unemployed of Houston during the NRA volunteer sales army drive in August.

Thus far the young women compiling statistics have read only about 4,000 pages of the voluminous manuscript, but the story is majestic in outline.

Five writers, two dentists, two lawyers and a circus clown reported they were out of employment.

A man of 83 and a youth of 10 filed petitions for work. Both said they were able-bodied and willing.

To the question, "married or single," a woman of 50 wrote, "married, but deserted without funds."

A man answered the question as to his previous occupation by writing: "Pipe liner at the rate of a lousy 25 cents an hour." As to his marital status he added: "Single, and glad of it."

A 37-year-old college graduate wrote he was an accountant and once held a responsible post. "Since Feb. 1 have been at the social service bureau, working free for groceries," he added.

Another blank was filled out entirely in Spanish, while another bore a street address and, "Can't speak English."

A professional baseball player asked work because his wife and two children were needy.

A man of 54 carefully filled out the entire blank, stating he was formerly employed in a lumber yard, and then added, as an afterthought: "I am totally deaf, crippled and without income."

"If you are employed part-time, what are you doing?" is one of the questions on the blank.

"Hunting for work," replied a young ex-shipping clerk.

a light forever burning a voice that is never still

NIGHT comes on and spreads a blanket of darkness upon sleeping cities and towns. Here and there a lone policeman. In the distance a clock tolling the hour.

In the dark silence of the night, there is one light forever burning... one voice that is never still. That light is the light in the telephone exchange. That voice is the voice of your telephone.

A city without telephones would be a city afraid—a city of dread.

For the telephone brings security. Its very presence gives a feeling of safety and nearness to everything. In times of stress and sudden need it has a value beyond price. In business and social activities of

She Doesn't Know How You Do It!

YOU feel a little embarrassed and sorry for her. She looks so admiring and helpless, so envious, and so—so—ineffective!

Her clothes are always so bad, poor little thing. And she pays too much for them. Her home is furnished with all the wrong things. She seems to have a genius for wasting money. When she goes out to buy anything, soap or silverware, or lingerie or lamps, she's sure to turn up with something nobody ever heard of before and doesn't want to hear of again.

She is that eager, but not very bright, little woman who, "my dear, doesn't ever read advertisements." Who doesn't know what to buy, or where to find it, or what to pay for it. Who doesn't know values and can't compare them. Who doesn't know that what a new style, or a new convenience, or a new anything arrives, one sees it first in the advertisements.

One really gets a little vexed with her—

But let's not waste too much time on her. It's about time for you, dear lady, to have your daily look through the advertisements.

TO STAND THE TEST OF ADVERTISING MERCHANDISE MUST BE GOOD

MODERN NURSERY RIMES

There was an old woman who lived in a shoe,
She had so many children she didn't know what to do;
'Til she advertised the want-ad way,
And got a maid without delay.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

MOSQUITOES, IF GIVEN THEIR CHOICE, WILL DRINK SWEETENED WATER, IN PREFERENCE TO BLOOD!

IN HAWAII, THERE ARE FOOTBALL LEAGUES IN WHICH THE PLAYERS WEAR NO SHOES; THEY DEVELOP GREAT KICKING ACCURACY AND PUNT 50 YARDS WITH EASE!

SHIPS WERE NOT PAINTED IN CURIOUS DESIGNS DURING THE WORLD WAR FOR THE PURPOSE OF MAKING THEM LESS VISIBLE, BUT TO MAKE IT MORE DIFFICULT FOR TORPEDO BOATS TO ESTIMATE THE SHIP'S SPEED AND COURSE.

THE WORD "camouflage" is incorrectly used in speaking of the weird painting used on ships during the war. Officially, the practice was called "dazzle painting," and its purpose was to cause miscalculations when enemy gunners attempted to torpedo the ship. Large bow waves were sometimes painted on the hull to give the appearance of terrific speed.
