A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

SEEK THINGS ABOVE: Set your affections on things above, not on things on the earth.—Colossians 3: 2.

THE PRICE OF A HAPPY MARRIAGE

Those unsavory court proceedings at Los Angeles, where the law is trying to find out whether a former movie star did or did not swipe a young woman's husband, are just about entitled to rank as the most depressing news of the day.

That's not so much because the details are unusually salacious. They aren't; they are probably milder than is usual in a case of this kind. It's just that the whole business displays such a lamentable misconception of the marriage relationship, such a complete failure to comprehend the philosophy that must underlie any successful marriage.

People have been handing down advice on marriage for a good many centuries, now, and the thing has been discussed more freely and frequently in the last few years than ever before. But still the world seems to be full of people who just don't get the idea.

It happens over and over. A man and a woman fall in love, get married, and wait for life to bring them a placid happy-ever-after continuity. Then, pretty soon, he starts flitting about with some other woman, or she begins to tag around with some other man, and the fat is in the fire. There are tears, accusations, angry scenes—and pretty soon the divorce courts have another job, not infrequently of the sort that has to be handled with pitchforks.

Most of this, probably, could be avoided if young husbands and wives could only realize that there isn't any easy recipe for the happy-ever-after business. Marriages aren't made that way. They are built up on disillusionment, disappointment and sorrow, as often as not, and you have to work with all your soul for the rewards that a successful marriage offers.

There are bound to be times when a wife feels her husband is a stupid, obtuse and thoughtless brute; there are bound to be times when a husband feels that his wife is flighty and unreasonable. But what of it? Human nature is imperfect, and it probably always will be. The price of a successful marriage is forbearance and forgiveness and a determination to make a go of it.

But so many people won't realize that. They expect marriage to be one long idyll. It isn't; it never has been and it never will be; but when they find that out they cry to heaven that they have been shamefully used, instead of gritting their teeth and pitching in to make a success of it anyway.

A CHALLENGE TO LABOR AND INDUSTRY

In a time like the present the horizon is fairly cluttered up with signs and portents. None of these is much more significant than the sudden epidemic of strikes—an epidemic that has broken out in the last month or so and that is giving the federal doctors one of the busiest seasons they will ever have.

Whatever else these strikes may mean, they at least prove that industry is no longer stagnant. They didn't put in an appearance during those dull months when we were at the bottom of the depression. They're coming now for a number of reasons, but chiefly because things are picking up. Men don't strike when the plant is closed down for lack of orders.

And the strikes present—to a nation which already has a century's supply of problems to settle in a few months—a new problem; one that carries a double-barreled challenge, one barrel for industry and the other for labor.

It is a challenge that must be read in the light of the NRA program. The National Labor Board's ruling, which emphasizes the fact that the law guaranteeing the right of collective bargaining means exactly what it says, is part of the background for these strikes, and it conditions their significance.

First of all, the problem challenges the directors of industry. It is a test of their spirit of fairness, of their willingness to co-operate in the tremendous experiment of the new deal. Labor has gained a great victory in the Industrial Recovery Act; the industrialist who seeks reprisals and wants to "put labor in its place" is piling up trouble, not only for himself but for the entire country.

Secondly, the problem challenges labor itself. It puts labor the necessity of developing some broad-gauge men. It calls on labor to take the long view of things, to exercise patience in places where patience comes hard, to rid of the racketeer and the self-seeker.

Both of these challenges must be met. The present streak of strikes could, if unchecked, lead to a catastrophic situation. It can, if the leaders of the contending sides meet the test with intelligence and patriotism, be a forerunner of a new era in American industrial history, an era in which both sides can profit as never before.

Mr. Roosevelt doesn't shoo a little money this way we may be reduced to the extremity of eating the eagle.—Bloomington Grove Times.

Mavericks to Meet

Decatur College has a strong team, having won the championship in their class last year. Twelve letter men of that winning squad are back this year. Besides these, high school stars from that section of the State make up the squad of 60 men. The squad is expected to arrive here Friday afternoon and take a workout on Maverick field.

The possible starting lineup for the Mavericks is as follows: Garrison, quarter; Gilkey and Simmons, halves; Tulley, fullback; Taylor and Maxwell, ends; Gary and Laney, tackles; Kallett and Railey, guards, and Kitley, center. The Decatur squad will be composed of 25 men all of which may see service during the game. The roster is as follows:

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

ABE PLOUGH, president of Plough, Inc., in telling what newspaper advertising has done for his business, says:

"In 1910 our firm invested $187.00 in newspaper advertising. In recent times, we have invested as much as $1,000,000 a year in advertising—mostly in newspapers. I use the word 'invested' instead of 'spent' because in 1910 we sold less than ten thousand packages, whereas our products, are now selling at the rate of 48,000,000 packages a year.

"If, like Elbert Hubbard, I were asked to publish a credo, I should say, (1) manufacture products of merit; (2) sell them at popular prices; and (3) advertise them consistently in newspapers—weekly as well as daily papers.

"I firmly believe newspaper advertising has played a major part in whatever measure of success we have enjoyed."

Everybody should read the classified ads. Most everybody finds use for them, for they are of great value to both buyer and seller.

CARBON

day in honor of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hendrix's fourteenth wedding anniversary. The table was centered with a large white cake decorated in pink and green, surrounded by a bank of green leaves and red berries. Those enjoying this pleasant occasion were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Tate entertained with a noon dinner Thursday.

and Mrs. W. E. Trimble and, John Edward; Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Thurman, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stubbfield, Mrs. Clyde Brymer, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Brown of Dallas, and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Tate and daughter, Louise.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Prieckett of Brownwood were last week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Fields. Miss Alice Gentry of Lubbock is visiting friends in Carbon.

The Carbon community fair was a success considering the trying times we are under and poor crop year. The crop exhibits were good but not so many varieties as formerly shown. The women's department was good. The livestock showing was extra good and shows that people are turning back to the raising of better stock. The entertainments both nights was splendid. All in all the fair was all right.

Rev. and Mrs. Davis had as guests the past week his father and mother of Elgin. Monday Mrs. H. L. Bray and two children are visiting Mr. Bray in Kilgore, and Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Barnett are occupying the home in Mrs. Bray's absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Jackson were guests of his brother, Dr. T. G. Jackson, and family, last week. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Norris of Fort Worth were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Greer.

Mrs. Walter Wyatt had as guests over the week-end her three grandsons of Olden, D. M., Bobbie and Joe Collins.

Mrs. Elbert Stevens and Mrs. J. B. Scoggin of Brownwood, Mmes. Will Jenkins, John Bell, George Tomlinson and Cooper Gunter of Zephyr were Monday afternoon guests of Mmes. Kirk and Stafford. This party had attended a big birthday dinner in Gorman and brought the scribbler a generous portion of the birthday "fixins."

Dr. Will Guy of Dublin was a Carbon visitor Monday. Truly Carter and Maurice Vaughan were visiting in Necessity Sunday.

Mrs. Ellis Boles is on the sick list the past few weeks.

We might glimpse each of these character studies as a great painting. Looking at it we can see the sweep of beauty as God's plans are followed but as dabs of paint when self is exalted.

We are weaving the tapestry of life. We would love to have it perfect and in likeness to Christ but how broken and rough must be the threads. It will be beautiful only as we obey.

"Serve the Lord with all your heart."

"Be strong in the Lord and in the power of his might."

DESDEMONA

DESDEMONA, Sept. 21.—Mrs. Minter (formerly Mrs. Eunice Burrow) of Strawn, visited Mrs. Annie Daniels and Miss Mollie O'Rear Sunday.

Clay Emde of Overton visited old friends here Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dolph Henry of Littlefield spent the week-end here with his father, T. J. Henry.

Mrs. Jake Smith was called to San Antonio on Tuesday of last week to be with her little grandson, Jack Sanders, who was seriously ill. Mr. Smith had a card Sunday saying the little boy was a little better but still critically ill. Jack made his home here with his grandparents for a few years

For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TODAY

EVE BAYLESS, pretty assistant to EARLE BARNES, advertising manager of Bixby's department store, married DICK RADER, construction superintendent. Dick is sent to take charge of a construction job in the Adirondacks. It will require at least a year to complete but Eve refuses to give up her work and go with him.

MONA ALLEN, copy writer, dislikes Eve and is constantly causing trouble at the office. She is responsible for several mistakes for which Eve is blamed. Mona is friendly with THERON REECE who continues to force unwelcome attentions on Eve.

Unknown to Dick, Eve has been playing the stock market, borrowing money from her mother and sister. She loses this, as well as all her savings and $400 Dick left in the bank.

Eve is lonely and misses Dick. She begins to wonder if she should not give up her job and go to him. On Thanksgiving day she writes him a long letter telling him she is willing to come to Pine Forest.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLII

BUT EVE did not give up her job at Bixby's next morning. Instead she burned the letter she had written to Dick.

"I'll have to keep away from Mrs. Penney and Mary," she decided. "They always put me in a sentimental mood. After all, there's no more reason why I should give up my work than that Dick should give up his!"

It would be foolish, she assured herself, to give up the comforts she enjoyed in Lake City for the privations under which she was sure Dick lived in Pine Forest.

In mid-December he wrote her: "When it snows up here it snows and stays snowed! We have had to burrow our way through the drifts for several weeks now and there's no knowing how long it will be before this blanket of snow thaws."

Dick did not seem to mind the hardships of this life in the woods. Indeed he did not even consider such primitive surroundings as hardships. He never wrote to Eve that he missed her and she failed to read between the lines. Though each letter always concluded, "with all my love—Dick," Eve wanted more proof than that of his steadfast devotion.

She was disappointed that he made no reference to the coming holidays. Her resentment grew until she felt she had a real grievance because he failed to show concern over the Christmas ahead. The day was to fall on Wednesday and Eve felt that Dick should come home to spend a week or 10 days. Her better judgement told her it would be a long expensive trip to make and that Dick's work was too important for him to leave it to others at this time.

TEN days before Christmas she mailed a box to Dick which she took great pleasure in packing. There was the pair of skates he had wanted for years. Eve was sure they would mean more to him this year, perhaps. Luan at any other time. She shared with him the homemade fruit cake and Christmas cookies her mother had sent her. Kate Bayless' holiday baking took place early in December and she was generous with it. Eve packed a box of candy with a generous supply of the chocolate centered butter creams of which Dick was so fond. And in the sporting goods department of Bixby's she had found many articles of wearing apparel she felt would make his winter more comfortable.

The Saturday night before Christmas she boarded the west-bound train which would carry her to her parents' home, a 12-hour ride distant. She felt she could not endure Christmas alone in Lake City although she knew she should have saved the money spent for railway fare to help pay her debts.

The day before Christmas a telegram from Eve was delivered at Bixby's advertising office. Ariene signed for it.

"From Pine Forest, N. Y., no doubt," she said to Mrs. Penney. "I suppose Eve's husband is wishing her an extra Merry Christmas. He certainly is the answer to a maiden's prayer—and I don't see how Eve dares be so casual about him."

Mrs. Brooks expressed the same sentiment to her oldest son Christmas morning. The Rader doorbell had been ringing incessantly for many minutes before her own sounded. She hurried to see who her caller might be and opened the door to face Dick, who stood, hat in hand, with a worried look on his face. He all but ignored her Christmas greetings in his haste to ask about Eve.

"Oh, I'm so sorry!" Mrs. Brooks hastened to explain. "Mrs. Rader left to spend Christmas with her parents. Didn't you know?"

"I must have missed her letter telling me she was going," Dick hastened to defend Eve. "I was away from Pine Forest and didn't get my mail for a few days."

MRS. BROOKS had a key to the apartment which she gave Dick. After he had gone she shook her head mournfully. "The poor dear!" she said. "To come all that way for Christmas and then find nobody at home. I'll ask him to dinner."

Dick found himself placed next to Dorothy McElhinney at the dinner table. If he missed the companionship of his wife he suffered nothing from lack of solicitude. Miss McElhinney gave him her undivided attention, engaging in a sprightly conversation and causing him to laugh frequently. When the dinner came to an end Dick lingered in the pleasant living room of Mrs. Brooks' suite. Later when Miss McElhinney noticed that he was becoming restless she suggested a walk and directed his footsteps toward the theater district.

"Let's go inside," Dick suggested as they approached the building on which he had worked so long.

After the matinee they followed a throng to a popular Christmas restaurant where they dined and danced. Then it was time for Dick to take the train east. He called a taxicab.

"Someone ought to see you off," Miss McElhinney said sweetly. "I'll ride to the station with you."

And of this experience Dorothy McElhinney made the most. She met Eve in the hall the first evening after her return from home, and with a maliciousness she took little pains to conceal, told of Dick's arrival and her own part in entertaining him.

"The poor man!" she purred. "I felt so sorry for him. I did my best to make him forget his loneliness."

"I dare say you did," Eve retorted and closed the door abruptly.

DICK'S telegram, lying on Eve's desk when she arrived at the office that morning, had been a shock. Her Christmas at home had been most unsatisfactory, due to the fact that she missed Dick and none of her relatives seemed to sympathize with her. Women of her mother's type knew but one code after marriage—duty to her band and family.

Eve noticed the ashes in the tray next to Dick's favorite chair. Wearily she sank into the chair and tenderly stroked the arms because Dick had been there so recently. She closed her eyes and tried to picture just how he looked, wondering whether he were thin, tired and sad looking or robust and happy. Miss McElhinney would know, she thought bitterly and her resentment against Dick and the girl increased as she pondered over the latter's story of Dick's Christmas.

Of course they had planned it all. She had been blind to fail to see it before. That was why he had not notified her sooner of his plans. Uncontrollable sobs broke from Eve and her body shook. A last she went to bed.

It was then that she found Dick's Christmas gift. He had placed it in a package under her pillow. Eve drew it out and unwrapped it. Inside was a cameo pin with an old gold setting.

Of course Dick was hurt because Eve had not confided to him her plan to go home to visit her parents. She had had plenty of time to do so. It had only been the day before Christmas when he found that he could get away from work long enough to make the trip to Lake City.

In Eve's next letter to Dick she berated him for neglecting to let her know that he was coming. His answer was a frank retort. After reading that letter Eve had no doubt that he considered her selfish.

Eve destroyed the flippant reply she had composed. She had the grace to admit to herself that the present situation was her own fault. But something perverse it felt. But something perverse it felt. But something perverse it felt. Dick this.

Thus the breach widened. (To Be Continued)

Baptist church, 8:30 a. m.
Boys and Girls World club, 9 a. m., Booster classroom, Methodist church.
Public library 2 to 5:30 p. m., community clubhouse.

Royal Neighbors of America
An interesting session was held Wednesday afternoon by the Royal Neighbors of America, in their planning of the business, programs and other details in connection with their coming district convention, to be held Wednesday, Sept. 27 in Elks clubhouse with the morning session opening 10:30 a. m., a program, and other features for the day. An evening banquet, and "open house" in Elks club ballroom at 8 p. m.

Noted visitors from all over the state will be in attendance. The full program will be published in this paper at a later date.
Those present at the meeting, Wednesday were Mmes. W. E. Kellett, T. R. Faulks, J. R. Woods, H. A. Collins, Pearl McEachern, J. A. Watson, E. R. Chandler, J. N. Taylor, R. H. Harrison, C. I. Melton, A. M. Armstrong, D. J. McDonald, and Curt Williams.

Junior Thursday Club Holds Initial Meeting
The Junior Thursday club held its initial meeting in the community clubhouse at 4 p. m., Wednesday with interested young club-women in attendance.
The club is sponsored by the Thursday Afternoon club of Eastland, the oldest in point of federation and the first to foster a junior organization here.
The purpose of the club is similar to that of the senior organization; a course of study throughout the year, the building up of the public library, and an initiative interest in the children's section of the library.
The club meetings will be held on the first and third Wednesdays of each month.
The course of study will open with the next meeting, on the fourth of October.
The session Wednesday afternoon was presided over by their president, Miss Joyce Johnson, who opened the procedure with the personal introduction of each officer, with the exception of the secretary, Miss Sadie Brewer, absent on account of illness.
Miss Edna Day, vice president, was presented; Miss Maurine Davenport, library chairman; Miss Aline Walker, critic; Mrs. J. F. Collins, historian, and Miss Mary Pearl Judkins, reporter.

Mrs. F. M. Kenny, president of the senior club, was introduced, and the club was cordially greeted in a pleasing address of welcome on behalf of the sponsoring club.
Mrs. Kenny concluded by announcing that Mrs. Wayne Jones of the Thursday Afternoon club, was the appointed sponsor for the junior club.
A musical program was presented under direction of Miss Loraine Taylor, chairman.
Miss Wilma Beard was charming in a voice solo, "Smiling Through," with Miss Taylor at the piano. A sailor clog was done in costume by Emmalee Hart, Doris Hennessee and Johnnie Lou Hart.
A reading was given by Lurline Ross.
At close of program a dainty tea plate was served of nut sandwiches, mints, and iced tea, by Mrs. Frank Hightower, hostess for the day.
Members present were Misses Wilma Beard, Ina Payne, Dolores Tanner, Lucile Brogdon, Maurine Davenport, Loraine Taylor, Ite Payne, Edna Day, Mary Pearl Judkins, Joyce Johnson, Aline Walker, Mmes. Harry B. Sone, Arthur Vaughn, Frank Hightower, J. P. Collins. Guests were Mmes. F. M. Kenny, J. O. Brothers, Charles Fagg, Jack Ammer, and S. J. Petty Jr.

Miss Sadie Brewer will be leader and hostess at the next meeting. The subject for discussion will be "When Dances Were Prayers."
Mrs. W. E. Brashier and Miss Mary Carter entertain
Miss Faye Blankenship of Kaufman, who has been visiting friends in Eastland the past few days, was the honoree of a pretty card affair, given by Mrs. W. E. Brashier, and co-hostess, Miss Mary Carter, at the former's residence on Wednesday night.
The rose motif was carried out in all details of the attractive arrangements in tallies, and matching bridge covers, and bouquets of pink roses were used in adornment throughout the rooms.
High score favor in the game, a novelty porcelain set for kitchen use, was awarded Miss Lavelle Hendrick.
The honoree was presented the guest favor of handsome silk hose. At close of a delightful evening, refreshments were served of pecan caramel pie, with ice cream topping, to Mmes. D. S. Eubanks, Earl Johnson, L. Y. Morris, Carl Johnson, Joe Coffman, W. O. Butler, J. D. Blankenship, J. O. Brothers; Misses Aline Walker, Lois Nelson, Lavelle Hendrick; hostesses, Miss Mary Carter and Mrs. W. E. Brashier, and honoree, Miss Faye Blankenship.

Martha Dorcas Bible Class Hosted by Mrs. C. W. Hoffmann
The Martha Dorcas Bible class of the Methodist church spent a delightful social afternoon Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Carl W. Hoffmann, assisted by co-hostesses, Mrs. Jack Hale, Mrs. D. J. Jobe, Mrs. Jack Dwyer, and Miss Ila Mae Coleman.
The entire home was beautifully decorated with roses and ferns, and the president's table bore a bouquet of dahlias and ferns.
Mrs. W. E. Coleman, president, opened the meeting with the hymn, ensemble, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," prayer by Mrs. C. C. Robey, and the devotional, the Twenty-Third Psalm, given by Mrs. Sam G. Thompson.
The secretary, Mrs. Harris, read the minutes, covering the entire year from 1932-33, which were approved.
The class voted to send a round-robin letter to their pastor, Rev. Sam G. Thompson, who is ill at a sanitarium in Temple.
A cordial remembrance in the form of a postal card shower was prepared by the members and mailed to a recent associate, Mrs. Olin Stover, now living in McCamey.
The social hour was delightfully cared for in games of "42" arranged for four tables, which, at close of session, were resurfaced with madeira linens for the tea hour.
A delicious tea plate was served of sandwiches, with chicken salad filling, devil's food cake, mints and iced tea, by the house hostess and co-hostesses.
Members present were Mmes. J. L. Winkelman, Virge Foster, M. B. Griffin, W. L. Van Geem, Shupe, Don McEachern, Ed T. Cox Jr., Mac O'Neal, W. B. Harris, Guy Quinn, T. A. Jones, C. C. Robey, Anna Perkins Stewart, Sam G. Thompson, L. A. Cook, Fred Michael, and the five hostesses; guests were Miss Mabel Patterson of Rising Star; Mrs. J. D. Hilton of Abilene; Mrs. L. E. Roach of

"And a little child shall lead them."

That's the spirit folks. All it takes is to keep enough interest right here at home, and those worldly things that keep people's minds jumbled as to what to do, will be solved so quickly that we are actually traveling along the line to prosperity and happiness before we even realize how we did it.

Isn't it funny—when sister-and-brother twins grow up, by the time the boys is 30 the girl is still only 22.

just as the competitor thinks it ought to be to serve his own selfish interest. This NRA business is based on a charitable aspect of things, and is for the purpose of stimulating business. Every business owner is still owner of that business, and so long as he pays the minimum wage, and follows the rules of hours, there is no other demand. Unjust criticism and selfish interests are the worst of fenders of all against the progress of the NRA program. NRA is not a get-rich-quick scheme.
