PEOPLE OFTEN ask if it isn't difficult to fill up a column in the newspaper two or three times a week. The answer is "yes." It takes about two full typewritten, double spaced pages to make a column of newspaper type.

We try to write about people and things in which you, the reader, will be interested. We avoid too much opinions, feeling that you're more interested in what's going on in the community. We are constantly alert for things to write about, and always carry a pencil and paper to record notes.

FOLKS ARE REAL helpful, too. Often, somebody approaches us and says "here's something you might want to put in the paper," and 99 per cent of the time, we do. The mail frequently brings little items that we use in our column or elsewhere in the paper.

We're always ready to help out people and projects by mention in the column. For examples, several hundred pairs of used eye glasses have gone from here to poor people in Asia in recent months through notes from time to time in this column. These glasses were doing nobody any good and are being put to use.

IT IS OUR conviction that a country newspaper such as ours should be full of local news items - things about the people's comings and goings and so forth. Local news and pictures are things that we country papers can give you better than any out-of-town daily, so we concentrate on that and leave the state and national news to them. Any time we have anything about state or national news is because it has a local angle.

In a lot of ways, it's real interesting to be a country editor. It has been said that a newspaper can't be any better than the community it serves.

We pledge to you as a New Year's resolution to try very hard every day to be as good as this fine community and to do our part in helping make it a better place in which to live.

AND TO ALL, as the new year begins, we join in wishing and hoping for a year and years of PEACE.

YOUR INCOME TAX Questions and Answers

and a dependent?
 A. A dependent qualifies as an exemption deduction but there are other reasons besides dependency for which exemption deductions are given. Every person who files a return gets a basic $600 exemption. Someone 65 and over is entitled $600 exemption because of age. A blind person is also entitled to an additional $600 exemption. The $600 personal exemption allowed for a wife is not a dependency exemption because, for income tax purposes, spouses are not considered dependents.

 Q. This Thanksgiving my church is collecting food for needy families. If I give food to this drive will it be deductible?

A. Yes. Gifts of merchandise as well as cash gifts are deductible when made to a qualified organization. The fair market value of the food is the amount that may be listed as a charitable contribution. Generally this is the price you paid for the food.
 Q. Do I have to wait until the end of the year to file a return? I'm a full-time student and worked only during the summer.

 A. Returns cannot be filed until after the close of the taxable year.
 Q. My mother becomes eligible for Social Security benefits this month. Will I lose her as a dependent this year if she applies for these benefits? So far this year, I've been her sole support.

A. Since the year is nearly over it is doubtful that any Social Security benefits she might spend for her support would disqualify her as your dependent for this tax year. Assuming that you mother otherwise qualifies as your dependent, the Social Security benefits and any other amount she spends on her support have to be more than the a-

Announcing...

WE HAVE sold MacMoy's Super Save on South Seaman St. to Mr. J. T. Gregory and Mr. M. H. Perry, effective January 1.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank our many friends and customers for their faithful patronage during the years that we have owned and operated the store, and encourage each and everyone to continue shopping the locally-owned SUPER SAVE.

It has been a real pleasure to serve the people of Eastland and this area through this store, and we will recall our most happy times as those years at Super Save. Because We Sell Insurance —

... naturally we have a very special interest in the welfare of those who drive moving vehicles. With the period of early darkness already upon us and with snow, ice and slick pavements in prospect, this is the season for extra care by both drivers and pedestrians. Unless more driving caution is used than ever before, this holiday season may be remembered more for its record traffic deaths than for the glorious event which we celebrate this month. So drive with care and always with adequate insurance protection. ----

Groups Ask for Cotton Allotment Protection

It isn't now and it's been a long time since cotton was King in Eastland County, but with irrigation looming as an important factor of the farming future, the picture might change some day. It is with this thought in mind that public officials, chamber of commerce agricultural committees, bankers and others have been considering cotton allotments and production control aspects as they pertain to cotton.

The county court and five chamber agricultural committees have adopted resolutions asking that the acreage limitation ceiling for cotton be raised from 10 to 25 per cent for the 1966 crop year.

In non-USDA terms, this means that these officials are asking that the Department of Agriculture go ahead and allow county cotton producers to divert to non-crop use now, rather than "stretching out" the "cut-back" over a four-year period, as is provided in the just-enacted Food and Agricultural Bill, which hopes to take 40 million acres out of production during the next four years. This will insure good cotton history protection on this 25 per cent, it is said.

By going ahead and asking for this 25 per cent cut, the county will "protect" its allotment, and then later, if and when irrigation and proper fertilization increases yields in the county, the USDA allotment can be retained.

In 1965, the county's allotment for cotton was 4,791 — only 389.2 acres were in fact planted to cotton, with much of that just "token" plantings to protect the allotments. A total of 2,337.9 was "released" to the state committee for transfer to other areas.

Raisers voted (by less than a fraction of one per cent) in November not to allow "allotment transfers" outside the county, while some neighboring counties voted to do so. County raisers will get a vote again next year to see if they want to lease or sell allotments outside the county.

The resolutions include a statement to the effect that "the increase will not have a detrimental effect to the economy of the county, but rather an increased effect to our economy by the annual payment that will become due under the Cropland Adjustment Program."
