A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THY KEEPER: The Lord is thy keeper; the Lord is thy shade upon thy right hand.—Psalm 121: 5.

RELIEF WORKERS ON A SELF-SUSTAINING BASIS

Speaking of the new program of relief to the needy the federal administration plans radical changes. To put the program into effect work relief divisions of existing state and local emergency unemployment administrations will be "modified." In other words the New Deal administration is to take over work relief. A conference will be held in the city of Washington on Nov. 14 to which governors, mayors, city engineers and others will be invited to hear and discuss the new program. This is the Washington viewpoint: Approximately 3,000,000 families are being cared for on public relief rolls now. The federal relief administration reckons four to a family and estimates that 8,000,000 persons, or two-thirds of the number receiving relief should be placed on a self-sustaining basis for the life of the civil works program.

There were many drouth sections of America during the hot summer months. Feedstuffs as well as pasture lands were destroyed. Now the administration has allowed 5,500,000 bushels of wheat to be used for livestock food in Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wisconsin drouth areas. The grain is part of the 11,579,000 bushels purchased for the relief administration. It will be distributed through state emergency relief administrations to farm families receiving their forces. They are against all strike movements. They are against violence. They are against picketing. They demand the American right to think for themselves. Milo Reno is a leader. Many so-called leaders in country and town dearly love the limelight. Milo planned his holiday strike movement to push the plan of "his march on Washington in the coming month of January." In other words, to quote the doughty Milo, "We are going over the head of the President and address our remarks to the congress of the United States."

Of course, this is a free country. The people rule. The right of petition is not dead. Washington is the capital of the republic. New York was—that is an historic street of Manhattan. All the hotels and apartments and rooming houses on the banks of the Potomac will be crowded the coming winter. Standing room only signs will be hoisted long before Speaker Henry T. Rainey of Illinois and Vice President Jack Garner of Texas call their houses to order.

NEW YORK BARS THE OPEN SALOON

New York lawmakers bowing to the recommendation of Gov. Herbert H. Lehmann paved the way for the coming of repeal by the creation of an experimental liquor control plan—in other words a state commission. Now the commission has ruled out the old time saloon and its bar. After repeal New Yorkers may buy their stimulating beverages only in bona fide hotels, restaurants, clubs, dining cars and ships. The only restaurant permitted to sell drink are those who can prove that most of their receipts come from the sale of food.

"They cannot just sell salads and sandwiches and get away with it," is the ultimatum of the state commission. Nowhere except at tables may liquor be sold and poured for customers. Sale of bottled liquor for off premises consumption will be restricted to state licensed retail liquor stores—a modification of the Quebec plan. Neither groceries nor any other kind of store can sell liquor or wine as retailers.

Joseph L. Mulrooney is the chairman of the state commission. For 30 years he was a member of the police department of Greater New York. He walked a beat, and won promotion until he filled the office of superintendent of the police department. Mulrooney did not take orders. He was thrown out by former Mayor James J. Walker and his advisers. Gov. Lehmann knew his man. He picked the deposed commissioner as the head of the state control commission.

Now it is said that when Mayor-Elect LaGuardia comes in early in January he will name Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan as superintendent of his police department. Gen. O'Ryan commanded a division in France. He is a thorough-going democrat—but not a Tiger democrat. He backed the LaGuardia candidacy to the limit. There are thousands of speakeasies in the four boroughs of Greater New York. Will their doors be closed? Will the new state plan of control drive the speaks and their proprietors to the tall timber?

SENATOR SHEPPARD SAID IT WAS JUST A SHOWER

Senator Morris Sheppard will come up for re-election in 1936. He is the co-author of the dead amendment. He has an international reputation as a never-say-die pro and foe of a triumphant Barleycorn who was sent to his grave in 1918 and was given a hurried resurrection in 1933. Sen. Sheppard has sounded his warning: "The fight for prohibition will go on. This is only a temporary reversal." In other words, the senior senator interprets the ballot box verdict as a light shower instead of a tidal wave. A prediction: There is going to be a hot time in the Texas primary election campaign in the month of July, 1934.

Port Arthur Plans A Sub-Courthouse With Tower Jail

By United Press
PORT ARTHUR.—A sub-courthouse building with a "tower jail" will grace the Lake Shore drive here if plans under consideration work out. An architect's drawing of the proposed edifice reveals an imposing structure of eclectic design combining Greek, Roman and modern architectural features. Besides spacious chambers for deputy sheriffs, deputy collectors and other sub-officers, the building would house a jail compartment sitting like a penthouse atop the structure and with capacity for 32 prisoners. The county in 1931 voted to issue $150,000 in bonds to pay for the Port Arthur Sub-courthouse. It is proposed to borrow federal money on the bonds on a 30-year basis. An outright grant of 30 per cent may be asked also. It is expected work on the building will start after the first of the year.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS BUY EDUCATION

By United Press
LAWRENCE, Kan.—Students at the University of Kansas, members of the Self-Supporting Students association, are earning money for second semester tuition by making and selling nicknacks for the Christmas season.

The 22,000,000th visitor at the World Fair in Chicago received a farm as a prize. That's not a prize. That's an insult.

That Reminds Me

Eastland county did, and they are a part of it . . . they throw out their chest all right, but with an eye on the front door and a kind of funny feeling, and question in their mind—"how long can I get by with it."

If we remember correctly, one of our citizens in Eastland in a legitimate business took it upon himself recently to let some one have a bottle of said 3.2 and the customer hadn't hardly guzzled it down before "the law" was in there and nabbed him. It created lots of excitement, and we have all been waiting to see what becomes of the case. (We are wondering yet.) But we can tell everybody one thing, whether they are deep-dyed in the wool prohibitionists or not (and they will agree with us) if this situation of wide open selling of 3.2 is allowed in Ranger or any other dry community as far as that is concerned then this old boy that took the bull by the horns and let one of his customers have a bottle of 3.2 is sitting "Jake" and has nothing to worry about.

We have no desire to dictate the policies of any other community, nor do we want to "meddle" but we want to know if this law of 3.2 is valid or not as to those counties or precincts that voted dry or not. We have no crow to pick with the Sheriff . . . he doesn't do things only according to law . . . and we have a good one. Sheriff Foster is not asleep . . . he is on the job, and his record is clean and above challenge. We wouldn't want a better sheriff any time, but we feel that the sheriff has been in a quandary as to what to do, and we feel that the State, Federal or any other medium should set him right. We still say that the Federal government had no right to issue Federal licenses to any one to sell 3.2 beer or any other liquor above the one half of one per cent content that has specified its desire to stay dry by a majority vote of the people. Eastland County voted that way. Now . . . what is going to be done about it?

Don't fail to go out to Maverick Field Saturday and see the Mavericks give the Abilene Eagles a big play for their money. We might beat them—who knows? You'll see a good football game. Let's all go, and root for the home boys.

CLEAN FOOTBALL by JOCK SUTHER

THE rules state that a lineman use of his arms, if he keeps together, if he does this he may legally jockey parts of his arms on offense. This rule gives the linemen a good opportunity for poor sportsmanship. panning sketch shows why. Here the offensive lineman is trying to throw his opponent backward. The referee, but his arms are NOT body. He has thrown them out and his opponent under the chin and blow that can break the defensive line. Officials cannot be too strict on player. The penalty of half the goal line is hardly stiff enough.

sent one number and Mrs. W. H. Mullings a paper, "God's Crucifixion." Mrs. Leslie Gray, a reading, "Christoph Colomb." Mrs. Hubert Jones will review "The Bright Land." Clubs represented are Thursday Afternoon, Civic League, Music Study clubs, and Alpha Delphian chapter.

Mrs. Louis Pitcock, president of county federation, will preside. All clubwomen are invited and guests are cordially welcome.

Junior Thursday Club
 The prologue of the program presented by the Junior Thursday club, on Wednesday afternoon, brought "Necessity of Good Books for Children," introduced by Miss Ina Payne, on the Book Week observance of the club, opened by Miss Joyce Johnson, president, with minutes, approved, presented by Miss Sadie Brewer, secretary, and program led by Mrs. Harry B. Sone, hostess for the day.

Miss Joyce Johnson gave an interesting talk on "County Library Work With Children." A review of "Hitty," by Rachel Field, an outstanding modern book for children, was given by Miss Sadie Brewer.

Miss Loraine Taylor presented little Julia Brown in a clever song and tap dance, and tiny four-year-old Lynda Lucille Hassell, in a story of "This Little Pig," in which the child showed pictures during the recital.

A literary game included all titles of books on exhibit from the state library in Austin, woven into a story, filling in blank spaces.

At close of program the club hostess served tea and small cakes to the visiting Thursday Afternoon club members, Mrs. F. M. Kenny, W. A. Martin and Ray Lar-ner; 12 members of the senior club were out of the city and six were ill; and Junior Thursday club members present, Mrs. Frank Hightower, Arthur Vaughn, Jack Vaught, Jack Ammer; Misses Ruth Ramey, Loraine Taylor, Ina Payne, Sadie Brewer, Joyce Johnson, and hostess, Mrs. Harry B. Sone, who had the community clubroom decorated with chrysanthemums and posters dealing with Book Week, for the meeting.

Adjourned to Dec. 6, in community clubhouse.

High School P. T. A.
 An interesting meeting was held by the Parent-Teacher association of Eastland high school, in the auditorium, Wednesday afternoon, conducted by their president, Mrs. A. J. Campbell, and with minutes of last meeting submitted by Mrs. D. L. Childress.

The election of a secretary was held immediately and Mrs. Childress accepted the office as secretary-treasurer.

Plans were made to furnish the publicity secretary, Mrs. W. K. Jackson, with the programs, in advance of meetings.

A discussion as to the dues and other matters resulted in a motion made by Mrs. J. LeRoy Arnold that state and national dues be paid from funds of organization. Hereafter there will be no membership dues.

All necessary funds will be raised through entertainments and other means as occasions arise.

All mothers are urged to attend the sessions, and a strenuous effort will be made to have a representative attendance of mothers at each meeting.

Teachers and parents present pledged their utmost efforts toward the upbuilding and strengthening of the high school association.

A brief parliamentary drill on motions was led by Mrs. J. LeRoy Arnold, program chairman.

An Armistice incident was related of the sudden stilling of the surging crowd in the Chicago railway station, at the sound of "Taps," when all, with bared heads, waited until the call to memory had ceased, at 11 o'clock Saturday morning, witnessed by the speaker, Mrs. Arnold.

The hymn, "My Eyes Have Seen the Glory of the Coming of the Lord," with Miss Belle Wilson as accompanist followed.

Programs for the year were discussed and Mrs. Arnold asked that members call and give her suggestions along this line.

Principal Palm stated each member present should make their personal duty to secure membership attendance at the meetings, and said "What we believe in what we work for. Our boys and girls have to have the mother touch, and it is up to mothers to make our children good citizens."

The session was genuinely interesting and will result in a fine year's work for the High School Parent-Teacher association.

The hymn, "America," with Mrs. W. K. Jackson at the piano, closed the session attended by Mrs. A. J. Campbell, N. N. Rosenberg, R. D. Mahon, L. J. Lambert, George Brogdon, D. L. Childress, J. LeRoy Arnold, L. A. Brown, W. K. Jackson; Misses Belle Wilson, Mary Carter, and Johnson; W. P. Palm, S. D. Phillips, and Hart.

Adjourned to third Wednesday in December.

Boys and Girls World Club
 The Boys and Girls World club met in assembly Wednesday afternoon in classroom of Methodist church under direction of Mrs. J. U. Johnson, who told them a story, "Grandmother's Mysterious Basket," dealing with the Japanese life, the fourth of the series of mission studies of that country.

Bible verse, "Let the Children Come to Me," was memorized and the song by the children, "Jesus, Friend of Little Children," was followed by their prayer song.

The Japanese garden project was almost finished, the boys engrossed in placing trees and flowers over the landscape.

The girls finished their "Dolly" kimonos, and covered a basket, in readiness for Thanksgiving treasures, which they will carry to an old colored "mammy" on Thanksgiving Day.

Mrs. Johnson was assisted by Mrs. Earl Bender.

Children present, Dorothy McGlamery, Marie Hart, Annette Bender, Patsy Eubanks, Johnnie Mae Murphy, Billie Sue Bender, Hazel Black, C. M. Campbell, Billy Johnson, Bruce Pipkin, and Garland Campbell, who warmly greeted Mrs. Fred Drago, who has returned from a stay in San Angelo.

Forfeit Banquet Tonight
 A Thanksgiving banquet tonight at 7 o'clock will be tendered by the Joe C. Stephen side as forfeit to the winning Jessie Lee Ligon side in the membership contest in interest of the Booster Bible class of Methodist church.

The lower assemblyroom will be the scene of the entertainment. A large crowd is expected to attend.

Intermediates R. A. and G. A.

"Trophies of the Word" formed the subject of the program for the Intermediate Royal Ambassadors and Girls Auxiliary, Wednesday afternoon in Baptist church classroom, when the session was opened with the song service, "Let Others See Jesus in You," and "Am Thine O Lord," with prayer by Miss Marie Hilburn.

Minutes were presented by secretary, Miss Geraldine Terrell, and the 98th Psalm, the devotional, by Miss Katherine Garrett.

"What is a Trophy?" Miss Beulah Drake.

"Trophies of the Word," Miss Frances Norton.

"Our Gifts Bring Trophies," Miss Marzelle Wright.

"My Christmas List," a poem, reading by Miss Mary Shepherd.

Others present, Misses Dora B. Williams, Della Webb, Lorene Chambers, Wanda Lassiter, Jane Ray, Alice Mae Sue, Joy Coplen, Faye Taylor, Anna Bell Arterburn, Katrine Lovelace, Louise Hilburn, Curtis Terrell, and Mrs. L. G. Rogers, director of group.

Have Thanksgiving Dinner November 14
 The family of Mrs. Rosa Bishop, 206 South Dixie street, met for a Thanksgiving dinner Tuesday, Nov. 14. Those present were Roy Bishop of St. Louis, Mo., Dewey Bishop of Eldorado, Mrs. Jo McCleskey and daughters, Margaret Jo and Doris Jean, of Ranger, Mrs. J. C. Pelfrey and husband of Cisco, and Georgia Mae Bishop and sister, Mrs. Josie Duncan, of Eastland. All enjoyed the day, especially the turkey dinner.

Mrs. Rosa Bishop and son, Dewey Bishop, visited another son, Buster, of Fort Bliss, Texas, last week-end.

Grieved Over Pooch
 Little Wood Butler Jr., and Baby Barron Butler are grieving over the mishap to their cute two-year-old fox terrier, "Pooch," whom they found on the porch of their mother's home, Mrs. W. O. Tuttle, 1506 South Seaman street, late Tuesday afternoon, lying in a welter of blood, and with one side of his head badly crushed.

The entire neighborhood of children grieved over "Pooch," their playmate. Mrs. Butler carried "Pooch" to Dr. Ross Hodges' dog hospital in Ranger at once Wednesday, the boys visited their pet, and though "Pooch" laid in a coma, he showed he knew and loved them, when they called him, by feebly wagging his tail.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Fred Drago returned home Monday from a four week visit in San Angelo with her daughter, Mrs. Wanda Drago Beall.

Lonnie King arrived Tuesday for a few days Eastland with friends.

Frank H. Bushick Jr., with headquarters in Mineral Wells, stopped in Eastland a few moments Tuesday night, en route to Cisco to visit friends.

A bake sale by the ladies of the First Christian church all day Saturday at Rachel's Underwood store will be in charge of Miss J. A. Beard, J. H. Vaughn and E. Wood.

PARIS STYLES

By MARY KNIGHT
United Press Staff Correspondent
PARIS.—Lady Castlerosse has been shopping down at Molyneux's and one of the things she found particularly to her liking was a hunting costume of dark olive green ribbed velvet with a dark green sweater.
The jacket of the ensemble is hip-length, has two pockets, one at each side, and a two-inch belt that fastens with a simple buckle in front. The collar turns over like that of a Norfolk jacket and the sleeves are straight and simple, ending with two cloth-covered buttons at the wrist.
The green sweater underneath is designed along the same lines as the jacket, with buttons down the front from the throat to the waist. It has short sleeves just above the elbows.

Funeral for Mrs. Louise Jones Held Thursday

Funeral services were conducted at 4:00 o'clock Thursday afternoon from the Hamner Funeral parlors in Eastland for Mrs. Louise Jones, mother of Frank A. Jones, publisher of the Weekly Chronicle and editor of the Eastland Daily Telegram.

Mrs. Jones died late Wednesday evening from burns sustained when her clothing was ignited from a stove in her room at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mal Jones, in Covington in Hill county.

Funeral services were conducted by W. E. Moore, pastor of the Eastland Church of Christ, of which Mrs. Jones was a life-long member, assisted by Rev. James Trammell, pastor of the Methodist church of Covington. Burial was in the Eastland cemetery beside her husband, the late William N. Jones, who preceded her in death by eleven years. The Hamner Undertaking Company had charge of the funeral. Pallbearers were five of her grandsons, and James Harkrider of Eastland.

Survivors, other than Frank A. Jones and Mrs. Mal Jones, are M. M. Jones, a member of the mechanical force of the Abilene Reporter and Morning News, Abilene; Mrs. Henry Orr, Stanton, and Parker P. Jones, Denver, Colorado. She has 11 grandchildren, all of whom attended the funeral except Mrs. Mal Jones, who was severely burned in trying to extinguish the flames from her mother's clothing, and Parker Jones, who did not reach Eastland until too late for the funeral, and six grandchildren.

Mrs. Jones was born Louise Morrow, Sept. 22, 1866, the only daughter of Zack Morrow and Louise Duckworth Morrow. She spent her childhood and grew to womanhood in Fannin and Hill counties. She was married in 1886 to William Newton Jones and with her husband moved to McLennan county, living for some time at Waco. From Waco they went to Erath county, and in the fall of 1899 came to Eastland county, making their home at or near Carbon and at Eastland since that time.

3. Banish Bowel Fatigue and the laxative habit

Here's Why:

Any hospital offers evidence of the harm done by harsh laxatives that drain the system, weaken the bowel muscles, and in some cases even affect the liver and kidneys.

A doctor will tell you that the unwise choice of laxatives is a common cause of chronic constipation.

Fortunately, the public is fast returning to the use of laxatives in liquid form.

A properly prepared liquid laxative brings a perfect movement. There is no discomfort at the time and no weakness after. You don't have to take "a double dose" a day or two later.

In buying any laxative, always read the label. Not the claims, but the contents. If it contains one doubtful drug, don't take it.

Brahmas to Play Putnam Saturday

Next Saturday promises to be a big day in football at Eastland. It seems, according to information, that Eastland High school chances of playing for the district championship depends on their ability to pick the Abilene Eagles on Maverick field Saturday evening at 7:30. However, there will be action plenty at the same spot Saturday morning in what promises to be a hotly contested game between the Junior High Brahmas and the plucky little hard-fighting team from Putnam, which is composed of high school and grammar school players.

Ferguson Has Plan For Hard Liquor

AUSTIN.—Former Gov. James F. Ferguson has whittled the appetite of those seeking something stronger than 3.2 beer. Says he: Texas may have hard liquor without waiting to repeal its constitutional prohibition measure. The plan to evade the constitutional amendment has been frequently discussed. Wets believe it is valid, but have not tried the plan because they believe that not enough votes can be mustered in the legislature to put it over.

Rabbi Has Praise For Modern Youth

EL PASO, Tex.—Youth, which has been given credit in more ways than one for going to the dogs, has found another friend here in the person of Dr. Joseph M. Roth, of Congregation B'Nai Zion. A scholarly, ascetic rabbi, Dr. Roth, who likes to fuss and use slang, will tell you in more than a half dozen classic languages that modern youth, with all the temptations and distractions, has done rather well.

Mexican Town Is Hurt By Texas Beer

EAGLE PASS, Tex.—With loss of American business through return of legalized beer the Mexican city of Piedras Negras, across the border from here, has turned to development of its own trade territory. Everything in Piedras Negras now is strictly Spanish. English signs that once greeted American visitors have been torn down at the instruction of Presidente Bernardo Romero of the city and all sign now seen on the streets are in Spanish.

ONE SURE WAY TO END COUGHS AND COLDS

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the irritated membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, and attacks the seat of the trouble.

DUCK THIEF FOUND

REEDSBURG, Wis.—A rare mountain eagle, measuring six and a half feet from wing tip to wing tip, was shot near here by Alfred Templin, a milk dealer. When first seen the bird had a full grown duck in its talons. Give your wife a treat, take her out to Sunday dinner. Bankhead Hotel. (adv.)

The UNKNOWN BLOND

By Laura Lorr BROOKMAN

HELEN HELEN LOHMAN On a stormy November evening DAVID BANNISTER meets a pretty blond who sits in a taxi cab in the city in which he is riding. Her name is Juliet France and he sees a revolver inside. Next morning Bannister reads that TRACY KING, orchestra leader in a movie theater, has been found dead in his apartment. Police are searching for an "unknown blond" who visited King the night before. Bannister, remembering the girl in the taxi cab, is puzzled. He sees her again that morning. The girl tells him her name is JULIET FRANCE and that she knows nothing of the murder. He goes to see his old friend, JIM PAXTON, editor of the Tremont Post, and arranges to work on the King murder case for the Post. Bannister and J. RAN-DOLPH GAINES, star reporter, go to police headquarters. They learn that HERMAN SCHEERLICH, unemployed, is in jail, accused of writing a threatening letter to King. Bannister decides to take a look at the room where King died and leaves. On the way he stops to see Juliet France. He is informed that she has left the hotel. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VIII BANNISTER repeated, in a tone of disbelief, "Checked out? You mean she's gone? But there must be—" "Miss France checked out of the hotel early this afternoon," the voice over the wire told him crisply. Bannister heard the click that meant that the telephone call had been disconnected. He put down the instrument he had been holding, stared at it rather stupidly for an instant and then turned away. He walked slowly across the lobby toward the door. But he had not taken a dozen steps before he was back. He said to the room clerk, "I understand that Miss France has left the hotel. Do you know if she left a message for me? My name is Bannister—" The room clerk turned. "I see, sir," he said and began sorting through a collection of envelopes. A moment later he shook his head. "There's no message," he said. "And she didn't leave a forwarding address?" Bannister persisted. He knew, even as he asked, that she hadn't. Juliet France had gone away from the Hotel Tremont because she didn't want anyone to be able to find her. Evidently she hadn't trusted him, hadn't believed him when he said he would try to help her. Or did this disappearance have an entirely different meaning? Did it mean that the story the girl had told him that morning was a tangle of lies, made out of whole cloth to appeal to his sympathy? Did it mean she was a clever adventuress? "No, there's no forwarding address," the clerk said briefly. Bannister thanked him, turned back toward the door. This time he went out to the street, hailed a taxi and told the driver to take him to the Shelby Arms. He felt rather as though he had dived from a high spring-board and landed flat. The more he thought of it the more he was convinced that the girl had used him to suit her purpose—and how well she had done it, too!—then artfully gone her way. What those purposes were, what part he had played in them, Bannister could not guess. Of course her story about going to see Tracy King to ask for a job was ridiculous on the face of it. So was her explanation about the revolver. And she had said she had no friends and was so terrified of the police and the tears had come into her eyes!

...the help, every one that all knew Mr. King. He was so pleasant. Such a fine young man—" "It was you who found him, wasn't it?" Bannister asked. "Yes, Mr. Druggan and I. He didn't come back to the theater and Mr. Druggan came to find out what was the matter. When he knocked and couldn't get an answer he came downstairs and we went back together." "I suppose the police are sure it couldn't have been suicide?" "Oh, impossible! The color said that was out of the question because there were no powder burns—and then there wasn't any gun. No, it couldn't have been suicide. Besides Mr. King had no reason to do such a thing!" "I wonder," said Bannister. A moment later he asked, "Is there anyone from headquarters here now?" "Not now," Link said with a shake of his head. "There were half a dozen here last night. The Chief, too. This morning there were two men—detectives—out, asking questions of the servants and some of the tenants. I'm afraid they didn't learn much if they would only find that woman—" HIS words broke off as he turned the key in the lock. The door swung open. Bannister saw a living room, longer than it was wide, with three windows at the end. There was an attractive dark rug on the floor, attractive, figured draperies at the windows. Aside from these details the room was completely in disorder. A desk, standing before the window had been rifled. Chairs were at all angles, one of them upturned. Pillows from the davenport had fallen to the floor. Dirt had been trampled into the carpet and there were several places where ashes had been spilled. "We haven't done anything to the rooms at all," Link was quick to explain. "Everything is just as they left it last night. Captain McNeal said they weren't to be touched. I locked the door myself and it hasn't been opened since." Bannister considered the wreckage before him. That was to be expected, of course. The photographs at headquarters would give a record of the appearance of the room exactly as it had been when King's body was found. The disorder indicated that the search of the apartment had been most thorough. No chance that Henley's men had missed anything. "In there," said Link, "is where we found him. In the bed room." A boyish voice called from the corridor, "Oh, Mr. Link! Mr. Link!" The clerk turned. "Excuse me," he said, "I'll have to see what they want. I'll be back in a moment—" Bannister nodded. He heard the door close behind him as he moved forward, halting in the entrance to the bedroom. It was smaller than the other room and it, too, had been completely disordered. A dark, brownish stain on the gray carpet told its unmistakable story. Bannister knelt to inspect the stain. Even before he heard a sound he was aware of the presence behind him. There was no time for action. Cold perspiration stood on Bannister's forehead; he would have turned but he could not. Then something landed on his back. (To Be Continued)
