Ernest Oglesby Captured After Officer Killed

What minds me...

Mother Kills; Avenges Son

Hate nursed for a year flamed into deadly action when Mrs. A. H. Bailey, above, of San Antonio, shot and killed Minus Doolittle, then walked to the sheriff's home and surrendered. She said she had exacted revenge because Doolittle had slain her son, Albert McCoy, after McCoy was alleged to have attacked Doolittle's sister. Doolittle was not prosecuted.

HUGE PROGRAM FOR BUILDING IS OUTLINED

By United Press WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—A building program contemplating some $14,000,000,000 over two years has been outlined in the first section of a survey made by NRA technicians into the possibilities of stimulating re-employment through the construction industry. Two sections of the survey have been completed. The first is a survey of outlets for construction under government financing. The second is an inventory of real property and a program for maintenance between real estate and construction.

UPHOLDS ATTACK STORY IN THE SCOTTSBORO CASE

A central figure in the Scottsboro case, Victoria Price, is shown at Decatur, Ala., with Orville Gilley, who corroborated her charge that a band of negroes attacked her on a Southern Railway freight train nearly three years ago. Gilley, a roving young hobo poet, gave his testimony at the trial of Heywood Patterson, who was given death penalty Friday.

GRAND JURY IS TOLD CRIME COST HEAVY

Crime constitutes the heaviest tax burden upon the people of Texas, amounting to more than 100,000,000 a year, which is $17 per capita per year for the population of the State, Judge Geo. L. Davenport of the 91st district court pointed out to his grand jury which he empaneled this morning. In commenting on the enormity of crime Judge Davenport quoted from an article by Byron C. Utecht, Austin correspondent for one of the leading Texas newspapers. There are also many reports of alleged job selling in the State, especially in the case of school boards and school trustees in some counties are selling jobs, Judge Davenport told the grand jury and charged them to make thorough investigation where there was any evidence of this kind of law violation. No such violations have been reported here, however. Murder, reckless driving of automobiles, theft, and numerous other crimes were mentioned by Judge Davenport in his charge to the grand jury, special mention being made of the liquor laws. While the sale of 3.2 beer has been legalized in the State, Eastland county is still dry and beer cannot be legally sold within its confines, Judge Davenport charged the grand jury.

Sits in Wonder At Poison Trial

The drama of a murder trial is a fascinating show to little Alvin Colley, above, as he sits, bright-eyed and wondering, in the Benton, Ark., courtroom, and listens to testimony charging Mark Shank, Akron, O., attorney, with the fatal poisoning of his father, mother, brother and sister at a picnic last August. Alvin, 4, was the sole survivor of the poison plot.

ARREST MADE IN OKLAHOMA AFTER CHASE

Denies Any Part In Shooting Affray. Is Wounded In Wrist When Caught. OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 4.—Ernest Oglesby, 33, believed to be a brother of the notorious Cole and Bert Oglesby, was held here today after an affray in which Douglas Gates, city police scout, was shot to death and Webb Campbell, police officer, was painfully wounded. The two officers noticed that Oglesby's car carried a stolen license when they saw him drive from a tourist camp. They followed and a chase ensued. Campbell leaped to the spare tire of Oglesby's car when they encountered a traffic jam and the man shot through the rear glass, filling the officers' face with shrapnel. Gates was shot through the jugular vein a few minutes later when he attempted to stop a car Oglesby had commandeered after wrecking the one he was driving, officers said. Oglesby was arrested and his pistol found under a stove at an address where he was captured. He also carried an automatic pistol. He had been shot through the left wrist. He denied any part in the slaying. Oglesby formerly lived at Eastland.

PROBLEMS ARE FACED ON EVE OF WET ERA

By United Press WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Problems of controlling the return of legalized liquor swamped government agencies today as the official end of America's era of prohibition drew near. Issuance of permits for liquor importations was suspended for revisions of quotas as foreign wine and liquor shipments neared the nation's borders by rail and water from Canada, Mexico and Europe. The control situation was expected to be clarified on the return of President Roosevelt during the day and the assumption of office by Joseph Choate as chairman of the federal alcohol control administration. In advance of his formal induction into office, Choate halted the issuance of import permits and indicated they would be held up until a few hours before repeal becomes an accomplished fact. The end of prohibition will come between 1 p. m. and 2 p. m., central standard time, tomorrow when Utah formally ratifies the twenty-first amendment to the constitution, repealing the eighteenth amendment. President Roosevelt plans to issue a proclamation signaling the event. The proclamation was expected to revoke emergency federal taxes of $220,000,000 a year on gasoline, capital stock and dividends.

28 Unite With M. E. Church Here

An unusual sight was witnessed at the First Methodist church, Eastland, Sunday morning when 28 people came forward to unite with the church. Those included in the list were Fern Courtney, Mary Nell Crowell, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Daugherty, Orlena Davenport, Bert Elkins, James Fields, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hale, Maifred Hale, Ima Ruth Hale, Leon Hale, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Freeman, Bobby Poston, Mrs. Marie Pierre, Nan Mickler, Mrs. Parvin, Mrs. C. H. Smith, Mrs. Guy Quinn, Mrs. E. R. Stanford, Edward Stanford, Harry Stanford, Earle Stanford. The communion service was observed following the reception of the members and Rev. Rosemond Stanford spoke briefly on the "Psalm of Praise," taking the 103rd Psalm as a text. At the evening service eight persons were enrolled for the next class to be received into the church at a later date. Rev. Stanford preached on the subject, "Problems of Making Friends," the second sermon of the series on "Young People's Problems." He used as a text, "Ye Are My Friends." President Wilson said, "A man is the part he plays among his fellows." Obstacles to Enduring Friendship (1) Our sensitive sensitiveness is sometimes selfishness. The person who is always looking for slights is a social nuisance. The pastor of a church has something else to do besides patting people on the back and humoring their wishes to keep them in a good humor. A pastor knows no favorites and treats everyone with consideration and love. (2) Timidity keeps some people from making friends. Enduring friendship is founded on sincerity. A person that you can trust and put your finger on. (3) Enduring friendship is built on those who are lovable in character. Some people are distant and hard to get acquainted with while others are friendly. To have friends we must be friendly and agreeable. (4) Sympathy and kindness leads to enduring friendship. (5) Choose the friends that will enrich your life. Jesus is the best friend; take Him and follow Him.

RETAIL TRADE IN ALL LINES CONTINUES UPWARD TREND

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Retail trade in all Federal Reserve districts for the past week was classified by Dun & Bradstreet as "good," with the single exception of Kansas City, which was described as "fair." Reports on wholesale trade, manufacturing, and collections were either good or fair; none was below average. "One of the most favorable factors in the recent business picture has been the substantial movement in retail trade," comments Standard Statistics company, which is confirmed in a statement issued by Channing E. Sweitzer, managing director of the National Retail Dry Goods association, in discussing recovery thus far on the basis of reports from all sections. The department of commerce reports retail sales in 70 per cent of the chain grocery units in the United States for October were 3.6 per cent larger than in September, as compared with a September-October seasonal advance of only 1.6 per cent last year. Dun & Bradstreet's review says: "Retailers are closing the most satisfactory fall season since 1929, with no signs of an early let-up in the encouraging business experienced during recent weeks. The significance of this continued gain is more far-reaching in view of the relentless and stubborn efforts exerted in some directions to force a concession of the ground which has been won during the last eight months against the most harassing odds with which the commercial community ever has been forced to contend." William J. Pedrick, president of the Fifth Avenue association, declared that retailers in the metropolitan area "confidently expect one of the biggest Christmas seasons in many years." Reports to NRA headquarters show remarkable gains in retail business in regions directly affected by the operation of the codes, particularly in the steel region. Sales in major textile cities of Massachusetts showed what the Associated Press described as "tremendous gains." Sales in the state as a whole, exclusive of Suffolk county (Lawrence), increased 12.6 per cent while in Lawrence and New Bedford, both textile cities, the gains were recorded at 55.6 per cent and 33.8 per cent respectively. Sixty-six per cent of the reports to the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers reported business better in October than in September this year; 11 per cent reported volume the same as in September. Complete reports show sales of men's wear exceeded those for October, 1931. The New York Wool Top Exchange reports "demand for wool piece goods registered considerable improvement since Nov. 15. Apparently convinced of the soundness of piece-goods prices, buyers have covered both immediate and near-by requirements, some covering deliveries through the balance of the spring season." During the third week of November, according to the Federal Reserve board's review, wholesale prices advanced 20 per cent above the low point of last March. The board's seasonally adjusted index now stands at 77 per cent of the 1923-25 averages, which compares with 67 a year ago and 60 last March.

Feeling Runs High Against Negro at Scene of Assault

By United Press KOUNTZE, Texas, Dec. 4.—Feeling against a negro suspected of slaying Mrs. William Brockman, 28, wife of a farmer, flamed anew in this section today when it became known that Mrs. Brockman, mother of three small children, had been criminally attacked before she was slain and her body set afire. Mrs. Brockman's body was found late Saturday beside the truck she was driving toward Kountze. Members of a civilian conservation corps crew, who found the body in the midst of flaming brush, said they saw a negro with a shotgun in the vicinity a short time before. More than 200 armed citizens searched to no avail Saturday night and Sunday. Police went to the hospital this afternoon to fingerprint the patient. It was not revealed what led police to believe he might be Floyd.

PRETTY BOY IS BELIEVED HELD IN HOSPITAL

By United Press FORT SMITH, Ark., Dec. 4.—A man believed by police to be Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd was placed under technical arrest at Fort Smith hospital today. The man received a broken leg in an automobile collision last night near Charleston, Ark. He gave the name of Bob Carnes, Fort Smith. Police went to the hospital this afternoon to fingerprint the patient. It was not revealed what led police to believe he might be Floyd.

90 Million Loan To Dawes Bank Is Still Unpaid

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—A loan of $90,000,000 from the RFC to the Central Republic Bank & Trust company matured Dec. 23, 1932, and has not been renewed, records of the RFC revealed today. The unpaid balance is $62,157,596. The United Press was informed that the loan could be considered in "technical default" but it was explained that by not renewing the loan the RFC obtained more complete control over collateral than it would enjoy if the maturity of the obligation had been extended. Former Vice President Charles Dawes was head of the Central Republic Bank & Trust company. Dawes resigned as president of the RFC about two weeks before the loan was advanced, and returned to Chicago to resume his position as chairman of the board of the bank.

By United Press BATHURST, West Africa, Dec. 4.—A glassy sea held Col. and Mrs. Charles A. The distance will be about 1,600 miles.

Negro Is Given 99 Year Sentence In Murder Case

By United Press FORT WORTH, Dec. 4.—Fredrick Simmons, 22-year-old negro, was sentenced to 99 years in prison here today on charges of murdering Miss Geneva Cantrell, 19, of Okmulgee, Okla., and her companion, A. S. Michael, 33, of Fort Worth, last July. Simmons pleaded guilty in district court as he went on trial for the second time. The first trial ended in a hung jury. Miss Cantrell and Michael were found shot to death in a sparsely settled neighborhood one morning. Each had been shot through the head. Miss Cantrell's body was lying in a field nearby. Police said she had been assaulted.

A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE THIRSTY LAND: O God, thou art my God; early will I seek: my soul thirsteth for thee, and my flesh longeth for thee in a dry thirsty land.—Psalm 63: 1.

SPEAKING OF ACREAGE REDUCTION OF COTTON

According to statisticians, including federal census takers, there are 65,000 farm tenants in this commonwealth. Federal farm administration officials are drafting a plan for their relief. This is the tentative program outlined: "Landlords who join in the cotton production control plan for next year, probably, will have to provide houses for the same number of tenant farmers on their land as this year." However, the landlord would not be bound to furnish cotton land to the tenants, although the federal administrators will urge that this be done wherever possible. They hope next year to cut the acreage in cotton to 25,000,000 acres, compared to an annual average of 40,000,000. This would be a reduction of 40 per cent "and means that thousands of tenant farmers might be deprived of a means of livelihood." Land-owners who joined in the wheat acreage reduction campaign did not have to accept such conditions and owners of corn land are not expected to agree to such stipulations. A substitute is offered for the plan. The government officials have been asked to make available to the tenants the 15,000,000 acres taken out of production. Given land on which to grow food, tenants would still lack stock and tools, "but the landlords are expected to cooperate in furnishing these."

Like Banquo's ghost new problems are ever bobbing up; but the old world continues to jog along as it has jogged along for millions of years. Ten governors of 10 Western commonwealths are at the capital of the nation clamoring for a price fixing program for the products of the farm. Washington correspondents are advised that the President is lending a willing ear. Is price fixing on the way?

INVESTMENT BANKERS FEAR HIGH BEER TAXES

National investment bankers of America are holding their annual convention at Hot Springs, Va. High aces of the association made a survey. They reported that too high beer taxes already are causing loss of revenue to the nation and that potential taxes on other liquor may be so high as to strengthen the bootlegging industry. Is this an indirect appeal to the administration or to the American congress to impose low taxes on liquor imports from foreign nations? Scotch and English and French distillers and manufacturers of wines and champagnes are vitally concerned. They are ready to unload their huge stocks on this side of the Atlantic.

DEPRESSION CENTERED IN THE HEAVY INDUSTRIES

President Roosevelt took a day off and looked over a stack of charts and summaries. He decided the recovery campaign was pushing wages, employment and commodity prices upward. And interpreting economist at the elbow of the President reported "the depression was concentrated at this time in the heavy industries." It required the work of many years to bring about the crash. It will require the work of years to restore prosperity or a fair share of it to the foreign as well as the American world.

BORGER TELLS OF ITS RESURRECTION

Borger in the not remote past was a wild oil town in West Texas. It had a Jack-of-the-beanstalk variety of growth. It kept the law enforcement officials as well as the rangers busy all of the time and not some of the time. There came a slump in oil production. Now there is a resurrection on. Hundreds of men have gone to work in refineries and natural gas plants. Hundreds of houses, "ranging from genuine houses to the shacks of boom days" have been reoccupied. Now the wives of the willing workers are clamoring for kitchen sinks and plumbing. In the dead days of Borger kitchen sinks and plumbing disappeared from hundreds of vacant houses. Is this a cheerful little earful or a feminine cry for a R. F. C. loan to complete the resurrection of an oil town that was deserted and dying before the coming of the New Deal in the petroleum game?

It needs no stretch of imagination to realize how tiresome it is when you sit down to listen to a program of music on the radio and are bombarded with a lot of advertising. When most people want to find where to buy, they read the advertisements in the newspapers. When they want entertainment, they turn to the radio. Advertisers should stop and think this over.

There are a few cities in this country where the merchants fight each other. Citizens who fight each other keep the home town in an uproar all the time and then wonder why business does not get better and why the city does not grow.

12 Year Old Boy Kills Large Buck

SAN ANGELO.—Robert Ellis Benton, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Bascom Benton, San Angelo, probably holds the title of being the youngest hunter to bag a deer. The youth recently brought down a 6-point, 7 foot buck while hunting alone in Mason county. It makes the second straight year the young hunter has come home with the venison. Situated in a tree, young Benton hit the animal with the first shot and killed him with a second. A new Jewish state has been started in Siberia. ### The UNKNOWN BLOND

By Laura Lou BROOKMAN

WHY TRACY KING, or BANNISTER, a newspaper reporter, understood the girl, but she disappeared.

He said something more but Bannister did not hear it. Bannister was heading for a telephone. A minute later he reported to the assistant city editor of the Post that Denise Lang had identified the girl who was under arrest. The rest of the story was all just as he had given it before.

Parker Coleman and Denise Lang were gone when Bannister returned to the office. For a newspaper man who had just turned in an important exclusive story he showed a surprising lack of exuberance. His mood, as a matter of fact, was quite the reverse. Bannister looked again at the door of McNeal's office, scowled and returned to the press room.

THE news that Denise Lang had identified the blond prisoner as the girl she had seen talking with Tracy King two days before appearing exclusively in the Evening Post that afternoon but the full story of what happened behind that closed door was reserved for the morning newspaper. It was almost six o'clock when McNeal admitted the reporters to his office. All of them had been waiting an hour or more. They asked questions eagerly.

McNeal ignored the questioning. Leaning both arms on the desk before him he began impressively: "Well, I've got something for you this time. I think in 24 hours we'll have this case solved. The girl has been identified by Link, the clerk at the Shelby Arms, and she's admitted she went to King's rooms."

"What's her name?" demanded Gaine.

McNeal shook his head. "We don't know yet," he said, "but we'll find out. She's admitted she went to King's apartment at nine o'clock the night he was killed. Said she went there to get some letters—"

"What kind of letters?" one of the others asked.

McNeal scowled. "Letters she'd written to him. Mash notes, I suppose. Her story is that she saw King in the morning and he promised she could have the letters if she came to his apartment that night. But when she got there he said he'd misplaced the letters and promised to bring them to her the next day at the hotel. That's her story. We haven't been able to break it yet but we will. Now don't print this, but here's my theory. Evidently this girl was crazy about King. Somehow she must have found out that he was going to marry Denise Lang, and she came here to try to stop the marriage. When she found she couldn't—bingo! You know the one about the 'woman scorned.' Well—"

BANNISTER, who had been listening silently, interrupted: "What about the letters? Did you find them?"

"We did not," McNeal told him, "and the reason is because they weren't there. There wasn't an inch of that apartment that wasn't searched. I was there myself and

422 Received a Total of $3,279.07 In C. W. A. Checks

Checks were issued Saturday to 1,785 men employed on CWA projects in Eastland county. The total amount of $12,717.33 was distributed as follows:

Town	Amount	Men
Cisco	$ 3,052.16	407
Gorman	1,167.60	141
Rising Star	1,357.75	231
Carbon	691.20	71
Desdemona	851.50	132
Ranger	3,279.07	422
Eastland	1,999.50	351
County Clerical	409.00	30
Total	$12,717.33	1,785

In addition to this amount $450.80 was paid from the work relief fund and $78 from the same fund for relief administration costs, bringing the grand total of all types of relief to $13,246.13.

The county quota of men to be employed on CWA projects was originally set at 796. When this number was found to be greatly insufficient the quota was raised to 1,241. Later authority was granted to the county administration to issue checks to all men at work on the approved projects. With the number of men engaged in CWA work increased, the administration Saturday expressed a belief that the number of families receiving direct relief would be lessened.

How'd Sawyer come out on the pictures?" Gaine asked as he and Bannister left the room together.

"Don't know. He was here but I don't know whether he made anything or not."

Gaine gazed at his companion.

Was Bannister, who had seemed such a regular fellow, suddenly getting high hat? The tone and air of indifference suggested it. Gaine was disappointed. The next moment he decided he had been mistaken. Bannister chatted about the newest developments in the case in a friendly enough manner as the two walked along the street toward the office of the Evening Post.

"Well, if our friend, Captain McNeal, is right about it," he said, "my assignment on the Post won't last much longer. All we have to do now is sit and wait for a confession."

Gaine frowned. "Yes," he said, "if McNeal is right. Funny the girl won't tell them her name or even where she came from. If she didn't want to spill her real name you'd think she'd make up one. I wonder if McNeal is right."

"I'm wondering the same thing," Bannister admitted.

But he wasn't. His feelings, since he had seen Juliet France that morning, had undergone a complete metamorphosis. He knew now that she had lied to him, deliberately deceived him, trying to play on his sympathy. She had told him one story and the police another. She had said she did not know Tracy King, had never seen him before. Yet Denise Lang had seen them together. Letters—what McNeal called "mash notes"—what could they mean but a love affair? And a jealous woman would do anything. Yes, indeed. How many murders in the world's history had taken place just as McNeal had reconstructed this one? Countless thousands, no doubt.

He thought of the girl in the green suit again and a single word formed itself in his mind—"Murdress."

Mob Shatters His Prophecy

A lynching would be almost impossible in his state, declared Gov. Guy B. Park of Missouri, above. But two days later a mob dragged a negro from the county jail in St. Joseph, Mo., and hanged and burned him. Governor Park ordered troops to the scene, but they were swept aside by the lynchers.

Things are picking up in Eastland, and people are spending some money. During the past week between the hours of 7 and 10 p. m., people are standing in line to get into the picture show and see a good picture such as the Lyric is showing each day in Eastland. This speaks well not only for the management of the Theatre but also the fact that people like to see good entertainment. While we had always rather see folks too busy to wait on everybody at the same time, we still feel that the Lyric itself is not quite sufficient in capacity to take care of the crowds that are coming and will come in the future. It is hoped that the Theatre management and those in charge of our entertainment in Eastland will soon make arrangements to have more adequate seating capacity in order not to inconvenience the public who are willing to patronize the Theatre and glad of the opportunity.

"By March 1 Iowa farmers will have received nearly $30,000,000 in corn-hog plan administration benefits.
