Watson Willing To Lead G. O. P.

Like an old warhorse yearning for battle, James Eli Watson, above, of Indiana, once a power in the U. S. Senate, is ready for a return to the thick of the fray. He has expressed a willingness to accept the chairmanship of the Republican national committee, Rumor says Everett Sanders, present chairman, will resign.

After Years of Controversy Negroes Appear To Have The Right To Vote In Primaries

By United Press.
DALLAS.—The last bar to unreserved exercise of the franchise by negro voters has, at least in theory, been thrown down in Texas.
A recent ruling by a federal judge at El Paso, following U. S. supreme court rulings on the same subject, gives negroes the entire to Democratic primary elections, and the census data among political observers was that next July 28 will see unprecedented numbers of colored voters taking advantage of their newly declared rights.
Not since adoption of the 15th amendment to the federal constitution has the negro legally been kept from the polls at general elections. But since "the tragic era" of reconstruction following the Civil War the white majority in Texas has found means to abridge the negro's franchise to considerable extent.
In the days of "carpet baggers" and "Radical Republicans," who sought to exploit the negro vote to their own ends, the means was not a particularly subtle one. Clubs and guns in the hands of Knights of the Ku Klux Klan kept terrified former slaves in their cotton patches on election day.
Gradually, however, less direct action was taken. In East Texas in the '70s, after a white Republican, E. J. Davis, had been raised to the governor's chair on a wave of negro votes and a few negroes had been elected to the legislature, a novel technicality was effectively invoked.
When federal and state elections came simultaneously two ballot boxes were used in each polling place. Negroes were permitted to cast federal ballots but were denied state ballots. Thus the election of state officials was reserved to the whites without attracting the unfavorable notice of the federal government.
In 1902 the state adopted a constitutional amendment intended further to curb the negro who would vote. The amendment provided that before a citizen was qualified to vote in any election held in the state he must have paid by Feb. 1 of each year a poll tax of $1.75.
The majority of negroes in Texas, it was reasoned then, would not find it feasible to pay the tax. The following year, after practical politicians seeking the negro vote found a means to circumvent the intent of the amendment, a law was passed by the legislature making it a felony for one individual to lend to any other the $1.75 with which to pay the poll tax.
Subsequently cities with home rule charters adopted poll tax ordinances and recently the state attorney general's office ruled payment of municipal poll taxes also was a necessary qualification to exercise of the franchise in the state.
Prior to 1903 the question of negro participation in Democratic primaries was not an issue for the reason that there were no primaries. The state and local Democratic executive committee picked their candidates in their own con-

SOME LINES TO BE STARTED AGAIN TONIGHT

By United Press
FORT WORTH, March 12.— Army air mail service on the Fort Worth-Chicago route will be resumed tomorrow night, the postal department here was advised today.
No instructions on the route to Memphis were received. These two are the only ones from here the army has flown since taking over the air mail service.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, March 12.— The motors of American air mail planes, unutilized in 15 years, were silent today as the Army and Post Office department labored to restore the service on a safety first basis, probably within 24 hours.
The safety first order came after a demand from President Roosevelt that hazards resulting in death of 10 army fliers in three weeks be eliminated.

It followed also, a week-end conference by Col. Lindbergh and Secretary of War Dern.
Dern said Lindbergh had been called for his technical advice and aid.
In the air mail crisis growing out of cancellation of private air mail contracts last month, interest was high as to any part Lindbergh might play, either in an overhauling of the army service or in reorganization of the private industry which the mails will be returned through an administration measure to be passed by congress.
What this part might be neither Lindbergh or Dern would indicate.

HOUSE VOTES TO CONSIDER A CASH BONUS

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Mar. 12.— The house of representatives broke with the administration today on the soldier bonus, voting to act on the Patman $2,400,000,000 inflation-bonus bill.
The vote was 313 to 104.
The test vote, a forewarning of house approval of the bill later, was on a motion to discharge the ways and means committee from further consideration of the measure, a procedure which made the bonus legislation the order of business in the chamber.
The veterans' bloc victory came in the face of a threat by President Roosevelt to veto the bill, and as democratic ranks were in disorder over the bonus and the entire question of economies in veteran's compensation.

Peace Officers And National Guards Seeking Bandits

By United Press
ATLANTA, Ga., March 12.— State police, sheriff's forces and the national guard joined today in a hunt for robbers who raided the Exchange National bank at Aetona, kidnaped employees, shot the chief of police and escaped with $17,000.
The robbers, four or five in number, raced westward after they looted the bank, their car protected by bank employees they forced to stand on the running board.
W. C. Linville, chief of police, was shot as the bandits were getting into their car outside the bank. He was standing about 100 feet away drawing his gun when they saw him. One of the machine gunners went into action. Linville fell at the first blast but not seriously wounded.
A number which totals approximately 70 have evidenced their intention of trying out for the team which is in its primary stages of organization.

Ball Practice Begins Today

Steadily growing with interest for baseball playing, was the keynote of players who intended to be present and participate in the initial tryout of local would-be ball players.
The manager of the team, L. E. Spalding, is of opinion that Eastland has material of quality which is unusual in a town of the population of Eastland and is confident that the team and its players will make much headway in the coming season.

MELLON SAYS TAX SUIT IS JUST POLITICS

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Mar. 12.—Andrew W. Mellon today charged attorney general Homer S. Cummings with "politics of the crudest sort" in connection with Cummings' announcement that grand jury action on income tax charges would be sought against the former secretary of the treasury.
Mellon's statement was issued after Cummings had announced such action had been taken against him, James Walker, former New York mayor, Thomas L. Lamont, partner in J. P. Morgan and company and Thomas Sidlo, prominent Cleveland attorney.
Mellon pointed out that he had paid $20,000,000 in income taxes in the past 20 years and declared "I am as much in the dark as anyone as to any possible grounds for action."

AGENTS SHUT DOWN BRECK RADIO STATION

By United Press
FORT WORTH, March 12.— Federal agents said they had not been officially advised of the closing of two radio stations at Breckenridge because of alleged operation without licenses and for interference with interstate transmission.
The stations, according to reports received at federal offices, have been closed down since Saturday night. Federal Inspector William J. Donnell at Dallas could not be located for a statement in regard to the Breckenridge activities of his agents.
His office at Dallas said, however, Donnell had been working in the Breckenridge vicinity.
Similar action was taken against radio station FWTX here last week for interference with a licensed station. The station so far has not been permitted to resume broadcasting.
Federal operatives declared war on stations operating without license whose broadcasts extended beyond the borders of the state. This campaign will be continued as long as such stations operate, officers here said.

A virtual state martial law was established about the jail and courthouse.

A 25-YEAR PLAN FOR CONSERVATION OF NATURAL RESOURCES

Harold L. Ickes is an independent republican who went all the road in the campaign of 1932 to do his part in bringing about the defeat of Herbert Hoover and the election of Franklin D. Roosevelt. He is one of the ablest men in public life and one of the most thoroughly independent of the leaders of the New Deal in the big picture. He has ever been a champion of the conservation of the national resources of the nation. Chicago is his home city. He planned it from Washington to the banks of Lake Michigan and speaking before the Chicago Dental society's annual convention he described "the reckless exploitation of natural resources as having serious cost in lives and property."

It appears that the thinkers—who think along patriotic as well as intelligent lines—are in the saddle today and not the speculators or gamblers of by-gone years. History making—yes. But what of the future?

SOUTH DAKOTA RETIRES FROM THE COAL BUSINESS

South Dakota, after 15 years of expensive trials, has retired from the coal business. This was one of the non-partisan governmental ventures. More than 40,000,000 in debt as a result of the failure of its state owned enterprises, South Dakota merged off another $185,000 loss by getting out. It is disposing of its mines at Haynes and selling its lease on another—a relief project. This leaves only one state business venture of the program enacted in 1919 by the Dakota lawmakers—a cement plant at Rapids City which had a loss of $300,000 recorded against it. Tom Berry, one of the leading stockmen of the state and a democrat was elected governor in 1932. He was authorized by the legislature "to pull the state out of the coal business."

Preparing And Filing Income Tax Returns
Stock Loss Deductions
 One ground for deduction frequently employed by taxpayers is that claimed by reason of losses sustained on the sale or exchange of stocks and bonds. I hope I can make this particular provision of the Revenue Act, as amended by the National Industrial Recovery Act, perfectly clear.
 The deductions may be claimed for losses on stocks and bonds which are not capital assets—that is, which have not been held for a period of more than two years. However, losses of this nature may not be deducted in excess of gains of similar nature. To make the matter entirely plain, a person making a stipulated salary may not deduct from that salary losses arising through the sale of stocks or bonds, which have been held two years or less.

 Such losses, however, may be deducted from gains obtained through the purchase and sale of other stocks and bonds held for two years or less. These same general limitations are applicable to both corporations and individuals as well as other taxpayers, with the exception of dealers in securities as to stocks and bonds acquired for resale to customers in respect of transactions in the ordinary course of business. In defining stocks and bonds for the purpose of limitation, the statute specifically excludes bonds issued by the government, a state or a political subdivision thereof. This exclusion includes bonds issued by the government of the United States or a State or political subdivision and also bonds issued by a foreign country or foreign municipality. Therefore, the deduc-tion for losses sustained on the sale or exchange of such bonds is not subject to the limitation.
