ON THE RIGHT TRACK—One way to beat the traffic problem is to take to the rails—very few autos use them. The seemingly mixed-up motorists, above, are driving a new rail-highway inspection car, designed by North Western Railway System. Equipped with small flanged wheels, the car travels over highways or railway tracks with equal ease, giving the road's officers a new flexibility of movement while making inspections. The flanged wheels guide the rubber tires along the top of the rails, and are manually raised when the car takes to the paved roads.

Students Advised 'Golf Tourney Slated At Ranger Sept. 1-2-3'

Young men and women planning to attend school this fall under the new War Orphans education law should file applications as soon as possible to avoid unnecessary delays in receiving their first allowance check. Scott B. Harrington, manager of the Veterans administration regional office in Dallas said. Application forms are available at all VA offices. Persons eligible for schooling are those whose veteran - parent died of injuries or diseases resulting from military service during World War I, World War II or the Korean conflict, he said. Students generally must be between 18 and 23 years old. Prompt action is needed, Harrington, explained, because normally it will take about three months from the date of application to the date the initial check is placed in the mail. When the first checks do arrive, however, they will cover the entire period during which the students were in school after Oct. 1, the beginning date on which the law authorizes payments to be made. Thereafter, checks will be mailed regularly each month and will usually be sent to the student's parent or guardian, rather than to the student himself. The three-month period between application and receipt of the first check is necessary because of the processes required by the law, he said. Harrington advised all students to obtain VA vocational counseling. If they want to enroll before VA's final approval, they should enroll in state-approved courses for Korea veterans under the Korean GI bill.

The use of safety devices to control and limit the power of flames is explained and demonstrated. At one point the lecturer declares, "our smoking habits should be as safe or safer than our driving habits," and proves his point with startling demonstrations. Bureau engineers believe most fires and explosions happen because people do not understand the characteristics of potentially dangerous materials. "The Magic of Fire" lecture covers more ground than is described here. Although it is spectacular, it is not intended to create fear. It was designed to show how to use and handle flammable or explosive materials to be as sure as you can that you won't be burned to death or blown to bits.

Bible Comment:

Tolerance Is a Vital Part of Christianity

IF one reads the earlier history of many churches, the impression spreads that there were individuals whose religion consisted chiefly in the delight that they took in disciplining others. In general it may be said that the Church has been far readier to adopt Paul's suggestions about discipline than it has been to put into practice Paul's much more important teaching concerning love as the greatest thing in the world.

A good cause is never well served by intolerant attitudes. There is such a thing as being intolerant, even in our advocacy of temperance.

At a temperance convention was heard the loud and raucous voice of a rather intolerant man who was haranguing the crowd. My friend, a total abstainer and strongly opposed to the liquor traffic, said to me, "I never hear that man advocate temperance without feeling like going out and having a drink."

If a man so thoroughly devoted to the cause could be reacted upon in that way, what must have been the effect upon others? The temperance cause has been served most ably by those who have first of all practiced temperance, and who in their total life and conduct have manifested the beauties and graces of Christian living.

In his letter to Titus, Paul sets forth the things which, as he puts it, "befit the sound doctrine." It is a plea for temperance, sober-mindedness, love, and patience, for well-disciplined, noble living, the sort of thing that will never bring shame upon ourselves or disgrace upon the Church. It is as we make all these constructive virtues evident in our lives that we exert the truest influence on others, while attaining what is best for ourselves.

The Right Decision — at the Right Time! There is good reason why the man sitting in the beautiful motor car above looks so pleased. He has decided to make the move to Cadillac! This, to be sure, is cause for great personal satisfaction in itself. For the wisdom of selecting Cadillac is undeniable. But not only does this gentleman know he has made the wisest possible choice of a motor car—he knows that he has made it at the wisest possible time. For coming, as he did, at this particular season of the year, he was able to take advantage of some very favorable circumstances. To begin with, he will be able to obtain delivery of his Cadillac after the shortest waiting period in many, many months. And, even more importantly, he discovered that Cadillac ownership has become more attractive and economical than ever before. Because of low-used-car inventory, it is currently possible to receive an unusually generous trade-in allowance. Little wonder, then, that this gentleman looks so pleased and happy—just as we know you will when you get the full, wonderful facts about Cadillac today! In fact, we should like to suggest that you come in and hear them for yourself. We know you'll agree that the right decision is for Cadillac—and that the right time is now! ## Record of Congress 'Generally Good' to Sports and Parks

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Where it took definite action, the record of the 84th congress on natural resources conservation was "generally good," according to a summary released by the National Wildlife Federation.

The "dark spots" were mostly "sins of omission" in failure to face up to certain pressing problems, the federation said. It listed the following major conservation accomplishments of the Congress which adjourned July 27:

1. Soil bank legislation that included forestry and wildlife objectives, and the supplementary Great Plains conservation program.
2. A new water pollution law that has stronger enforcement teeth and provides federal grants to municipalities to help build sewage-treatment plants.
3. Long-needed reform of the outmoded mining laws of 1872 for the purpose of preventing and eliminating fake mining claims on the public lands.
4. Actions to strengthen and improve the national park system. These included defeat of Echo Park dam, a reclamation project proposed for construction in Dinosaur National monument in Colorado and Utah, and appropriations to start "Mission 66," a 10-year program of rehabilitation and improvement of the parks and monuments.
5. Elevation of federal fish and wildlife functions by creation of a new assistant secretary of Interior and reorganization of the Fish and Wildlife Service into two major bureaus, one for sport fisheries and wildlife, the other for commercial fisheries.
6. Legislation to release $13 1/2 million of federal-aid wildlife funds that had been tied up in the treasury for 10 years.
7. Revision of the Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention act of 1954 to cut red tape, broaden the objectives and accelerate the small watersheds program.

1. Encroachments upon a national refuge through pressures for military land acquisition, oil development, mining, and "other forms of exploitation." The federation recommends legal safeguards for the refuges similar to those congress has erected for the national parks.
  2. Neglect of recreational and wildlife resources in the national forests, where booming public use—more than 40 million visits in 1955—have turned picnic areas and campgrounds into "outdoor slums." Conservationists have advocated earmarking a portion of national forest operating receipts for development of recreational facilities and wildlife habitat.
  3. Federal subsidies through farm programs and others that encourage the drainage of marshlands without which waterfowl and other kinds of wildlife cannot exist. Conservationists recommended eliminating the subsidies for unnecessary drainage and speeding up the acquisition and preservation of wetlands.
  4. The problem of securing adequate recognition of, and protection for, wildlife and recreational values in connection with federal river development projects.
- The "major black mark" on the conservation record of the 84th congress, according to the federation, was approval of an Army engineer project called Bruce Eddy dam on the Clearwater river in Idaho. This "black mark" was erased by President Eisenhower, however, in his veto of the omnibus rivers and harbors bill, which included the Bruce Eddy along with 112 other projects.

Conservationists have opposed Bruce Eddy dam because it would eliminate spawning runs of migratory fish and flood out winter feeding grounds of elk and other big game.

Christian Science

The healing power of divine Love will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday in the lesson-sermon entitled "Christ Jesus."

Jesus' assurance to his disciples of their ability to heal the sick by means of prayer will be included in the scriptural reading (John 14:12): "Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father."

Selections read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (243:4): "The divine Love, which made harmless the poisonous viper, which delivered men from the boiling oil, from the fiery furnace, from the jaws of the lion, can heal the sick in every age and triumph over sin and death."

Rev. Williamson To Fill Nazarene Pulpit Sunday

Rev. R. B. Williamson will preach Sunday at the Church of the Nazarene. Services begin at 11 a.m. with Sunday evening services at 8 p.m. Sunday school starts at 10 a.m. The church is located at the corner of Main and Connellee.

Bible Comment: Church Grew From Experience Of New Life

THE Christian Church did not arise out of plans of some promotional organizer. There was no advance prospectus or blueprint of a proposed organization. The Church definitely grew out of an experience. It was not a matter of organization awaiting or developing life; it was life leading to organization.

Although Jesus did not formally organize the Church, there was more organization associated with his ministry than is commonly supposed. He gathered about Him the apostles, to whom were committed special privileges and responsibilities, and with whom He communed concerning the deep things of the Kingdom, so that he developed an inner band of disciples—a sort of Christian cabinet—to carry on His work. Also, He organized the "seventy" who went through the villages teaching and preaching, two by two.

The Church, as I have said, had its origin in the experience of the new life. It began as these experiences found expression in the remarkable events on the Day of Pentecost. Here, as the disciples were gathered together in one place, there came a strange outpouring of spiritual power. Peter, who formerly had denied his Lord, preached with great boldness and courage about the reality of the Christian way, and brought home to the hearts and consciences of his hearers the realization of their sins. The result was that many were brought into the Christian way.

In his letter to the Ephesians, Paul sets before us a noble ideal, that of the Church as a body incorporating the spirit of Christ. The Church it still waiting for the fulfillment of that ideal, and the world itself will never find peace until the unity in love becomes the dominant mark of human society.

Vanities are being shown quite often as a feature of new correlated groupings. Shown here is an interesting arrangement of two chests and a vanity base and desk combination. The clean simplicity of the pieces is enhanced by the gleaming pewter of the drawer pulls. A delicate curved sweep is seen in the front of the case pieces. The brown walnut, open-pore finish of the collection simulates an old oil finish but has the body and wearing qualities of modern finishes. (Grand Rapids Chair Co.)
