Harkrider Wins Ranger Tourney Second Time

That reminds me...
Harkrider, who won the championship last year, was again victorious over Lefty Cook's All Stars of Abilene, 7 to 1. It was rather a slow game and the competition was none too great; in fact the fans expected a better game. Without Cook's effective hurling the game would have been a slugfest for the locals. The Frogs were off their usual form too, and that fact alone accounts for the small score.

MISCELLANY

IT'S TRUE THAT—
Before NRA one person in Eastland worked 167 hours a week for $5.77. Recently a kidnap victim resided here. A woman whose home was entered by burglars never fails to leave her porch light on since the incident. One person in Eastland was born in Jerusalem, has lived all over the world, fought in several wars under different flags and is a Dutchman. A man here smokes 11 cigars a day. The best things are free and hardest to obtain. A convention policy for twenty-five cents was sold at San Angelo last week. In Abilene there is a college student, partially paralyzed by infantile paralysis, who has written four books, one of which is a biography of the president.

SCHOOL CLOSURES

Graduation exercises of the seventh grade class of the Lone Cedar school were held Wednesday night.

CALIFORNIA KIDNAPERS BEHIND THE BARS FOR LIFE

Three California kidnapers are behind the bars of San Quentin penitentiary—for life. They were the kidnapers of Millionaire William F. Gettle. District Attorney Baron K. Pitts of Los Angeles county made a quick job of it. He's a former Texan. The kidnapers were taken to the private office of the prosecutor. This is what he said to the ruffians who were trapped and missed the ransom loot: "Agree to enter pleas of guilty today or risk the electric chair." They agreed. They were given life imprisonment. They were taken to San Quentin. They did not harm or injure their victim. The California law recently enacted calls for death for the perpetrator "if the victim is harmed."

Now it is said that federal agents of the department of justice and the state authorities of Arizona are on the trail of the abductors of the Robles child and their arrest and conviction is certain. Yes, "justice travels with a laden heel but it strikes mighty hard." The congress has enacted the legislation recommended by the attorney general of the United States. A large appropriation has been made for modern equipment of the sleuths of the department of justice who are to work hand in glove with the state units of law enforcement. Uncle Sam is on the road. Uncle Sam "gets his man." High or low, "he gets his man." There are no state boundary lines which make it easy for criminals to jump from one commonwealth or another. Samuel Insull fled to Europe. He laughed at the law and its agents. He is back in America. He must go to trial. He was not a kidnaper. He was not a murderer, but the leaden heel of justice caught him under far-away foreign skies just the same.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

There is need for caution and moderation in everything, and especially in publicity for the purpose of attracting tourists. I read a very interesting booklet received in the mail today, telling about the captivating beauty spots of a certain part of the world. I happen to know the place. It has no Alladin's lamp nor magic gardens for the tourist to tread upon. There are many more wonderful places in the United States and Canada.

The tourist of today is generally a much traveled and educated person, and a mere fairy tale won't satisfy him. If once duped, he won't return and will tell the world why.

When you plan a trip, you will find plenty of places of interest advertised in the newspapers. SEE AMERICA FIRST!

IF THE PUNISHMENT FITTED THE CRIME

Bootleggers Are Threatened By Federal Agencies

W. A. Thomas, collector of internal revenue, has mailed 6,000 notices to North Texas drug stores and other holders of liquor stamps warning them they will be subject to a $1,000 federal excise tax if they are distributing liquor in violation of the state dry law. Bootleggers who believe themselves "right" with the federal government just because they purchased liquor revenue stamps after repeal are misinformed, Thomas said. Drug stores selling whisky on "made-to-order" prescriptions were warned. "Some drug stores are buying prescriptions from doctors in batches of a hundred," Thomas said. "These are filled in when whisky is sold." "Not only are these pharmacists violating the revenue act, but they are guilty of forgery and the doctor is guilty of conspiracy." "Under the law, the physician must examine the patient before giving him a whisky prescription. "We are not going to stop levying this excise tax. Druggists and doctors guilty of conspiracy will be prosecuted on these charges." The $1,000 levy is provided in Section 701 of the internal revenue act of 1926, the collector said. Some drug stores here and at Dallas, as well as other Texas cities, according to informed persons, keep pads of prescriptions in their stores ready for issuance when a customer wants his whisky. At some places, it is said, not even the pretense of a forged prescription is necessary. Many bootleggers here bought $20 retail liquor stamps after repeal and stocked up with stamped liquor to keep in line with the stern revenue laws, it is said.

Drunk Fines Are Lowered at Juarez

JUAREZ, Mexico.—Americans who drink too freely at Juarez bars in the future will find the Juarez court tempered with mercy, on orders from Mayor Daniel Quiroz Reyes. The mayor ordered ordinary intoxication fines reduced to one peso, approximately 32 cents in American currency. Previously, fines of five to 60 pesos have been assessed, depending on the degree of inebriation. A hen fell into a well at Duncan, Okla., and floundered around in deep water for two days until it was rescued. Then, most likely, it quacked its thanks.

Bankhead Act to Administered by Old Committee

STATION—The Bankhead Act, controlling cotton production, will be administered by the machinery employed in the agricultural adjustment program at Washington has been assigned to C. R. Martin, extension director at Texas A. & M.

may gin and sell 3,091,100 bales tax free under the new AAA points out. All in excess of this must pay a tax of 50 percent of the average central spot price for 7-8-inch middling.

control associations set under the acreage reduction program will have charge of making individual allotments for production the next year beginning in 1935.

although these may be lowered according to the allotments assigned by the Department of Agriculture. Allotted bales are to be given exemption certificates as soon as they are received and machinery set up in the individual farms.

who did not sign reduction contracts may participate in new act, but they will not be given former co-operators. Farmers croppers and tenants are protected in making of allotments and issuing of exemption certificates, according to provisions of the act. Contract signers violate their contracts are to forfeit their exemption certificates.

allotments are to be made under the Bankhead Act until all farmers have applied to their county cotton committees for exemption certificates. Texas allotments are based on the ratio of acreage production for five years—1922 to the average national production for that period.

the first duty of every producer under the law is to apply for tags for all cotton produced this season now in possession of the farmer. As soon as they are available the farmer should apply for production exemption certificates for his allotment for 1934-35. Final date these applications has not been set.

Every bale of American cotton going through trade channels in the cotton 1934-35, must have a tag which the farmer may obtain either by surrendering his exemption certificate or by paying the tax. The amount of tax is determined by the tax in effect at the time the cotton is ginned regardless of when it is sold. At the time can the tax be less than one cent a pound. Bureau of Internal Revenue will have charge of collecting the tax.

Cotton of 1 1/2 inch staple eight or longer is exempted from tax but the producer of such cotton must first prove his point by exemption is granted. Exemption station cotton is also exempted from the tax.

en Million Poppies Made By Disabled To Be Sold May 26

JAMESTOWN, N. D.—Completion of arrangements for the nationwide observance of Poppy Day, May 26, has been announced by James Morris, of this city, chairman of the national poppy committee of the American Legion Auxiliary. Approximately ten million paper replicas of the poppies which grew along the World War I front in France and which became the memorial flower of the World War dead, have been made at disabled veterans working in 58 government hospitals and convalescent workrooms in different parts of the country. Nearly 100,000 women of the auxiliary have volunteered to distribute the flow-ers on the streets throughout the country on Poppy Day.

Arrangements for the annual Poppy Day observance have been carried out with enthusiasm and thoroughness by the 8,300 American Legion Auxiliary units. Mrs. Morris said. "We are confident that fully 10,000,000 Americans will wear poppies Saturday to the war dead and aid the living victims."

Try a WANT-AD! DONNA of the BIG TOP by BEULAH POYNTER

BEGIN HERE TODAY DONNA CARROLL and MADELINE SIDDAL who call themselves "The Gabriel Sisters" are circus performers. When Donna is injured by a fall from the trapeze Madeline arranges for her to be taken to GRANDFATHER SIDDAL's farm to recuperate. To pliant, her cousin Donna goes in love with BILL SIDDAL. Madeline is ashamed of deceiving Bill and Grandfather she is afraid to tell the truth. Meanwhile Madeline marries COX DAVID, animal trainer in the circus, and takes part in the animal act and Donna are married. Mrs. PLANTER, housekeeper on the farm, announces Madeline's marriage to Cox in a newspaper and Donna realizes the woman is a dangerous enemy.

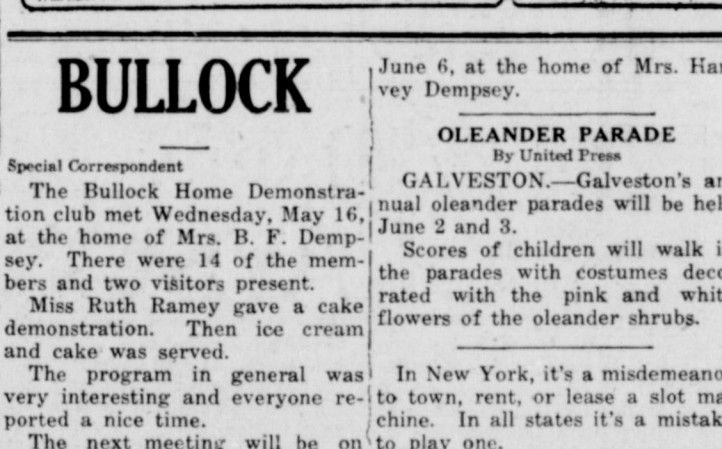

YOU know, Honey," Bill Siddal said, struggling into his shirt and ruffling his crisp dark hair. "I've been noticing you and Mrs. Planter. She's a harmless old soul with a bark a lot worse than her bite, but I can see she gets on your nerves. If you'd like to get rid of her and have Minnie Jones come over to help you with the work I'll speak to Grandpop and I'm sure he'll agree to the change."

Donna's first reaction was one of relief. Since Mrs. Planter had pliant her the circus handbill, relations between the two had been more strained than ever. Donna had made an effort to be pleasant, had tried tactfully to assume charge of the household, as befitting its mistress, but she had met with no success.

But before she could agree gratefully to Bill's suggestion caution prompted a different answer. No—so long as Mrs. Planter had that handbill in her possession Donna could not risk offending her. Consequently Mrs. Planter could not be dismissed.

Occasionally on a Saturday afternoon Mrs. Planter went to Lebanon to visit a married cousin who lived on the other side of town. The next time she spoke of paying a visit and asked Bill if she could ride to town with him. Donna found an excuse to remain at home. She was determined to search for the handbill.

She waited until Grandfather was asleep and she was sure the car might not return. Then, feeling as though she were a sneak thief, she mounted the stairs to Mrs. Planter's room. Carefully, so as not to disturb anything and give away the fact that she had been in the room, she opened all the bureau drawers, went through the pockets

KATHARINE HEPBURN'S ROLE OF "SPITFIRE" FRANK AS HERSELF

Katharine Hepburn's remarkable characterization of the mountain tomboy in the RKO-Radio picture "Spitfire," now at the Lyric theatre, is attributed by many of those who know her to the striking similarity of the role of the film's heroine to the temperament and personality of the star herself.

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK—The worst judge of a fighter is a fighter. Plainly, being bumped on the bezer doesn't improve the sight. A wallop amid the whiskers may fill the noggin with stars, but it's not conducive to clear crystal gazing. Well, to cut third base and get in there, Tony Canzoneri and Billy Petrolle predict that Barney Ross will out-gallop Jimmy McLarnin in the Sunken Garden of Queens on May 28. Canzoneri and Petrolle happen to be the young men on whom Ross built his reputation. Indeed, the Lollapalooza of the Loop won the 135-pound crown from Canzoneri on a highly debatable decision and duplicated the performance under the same circumstances. But, after all, these boys are fighters.

Hear ye! Hear ye! NOW, let's listen to their managers, and if just so happens that they were—and are—handled by two of the smartest men in the game. Says Sammy Goldman, who handles Canzoneri, and who handled Pete Herman years before him: "The managers of Ross made a grave mistake in going out of the lightweight champion's class. McLarnin will end the battle with the first good right hand he lets loose. I don't believe in handi-cap matches, and I always disapproved of a McLarnin-Canzoneri match, although Tony wanted it."

Says Jack Hurley, who piloted Petrolle to a fortune: "Ross' managers made a poor match. McLarnin is a sure winner by a knockout. Ross is an overrated boxer. McLarnin is one of the greatest of present-day fighters. He outclasses Ross in both boxing and hitting skill."

"Many believe that McLarnin knows nothing about boxing because of his many knockouts. But on many occasions Jimmy has shown his boxing skill to such doorous, haydenish side of her nature finds expression in many ways that are astounding even to Hollywood, such as her propensity to run about the studio in knock-about attire, her searching frankness which prompts her to reject invitations with such comments as "I don't like your Hollywood parties," rather than with the usual embroidered excuses; her distaste for the conventional social life. As the heroine of "Spitfire" looks upon raw life in the mountains, so does Katharine Hepburn look with equal honesty upon life in the higher circles, according to those who know her.

GIFTS for Graduation GRADUATION! You have a son or daughter who is going to pass an important milestone in this business of getting on in the world. You are a bit puffed up with pride. You feel a glow of satisfaction that is going to express itself in a gift. What shall it be? Tradition has nominated certain things for graduation gifts—a watch for the son—a ring for the daughter. Fine! But the younger generation has outmoded a number of venerable traditions. Maybe, in the case of your boy or girl, something less usual would be more welcome. How to find out? One modern parent we know used this gift-giving plan at Christmas. He casually introduced a discussion of advertisements with his son and daughter. They looked through the newspapers together. The conversation was directed toward advertising. It developed into a discussion of products. This parent discovered his young folks knew a lot more about merchandise than he dreamed. They knew modes, styles, fashions, trends, trade names, the value of advertised responsibility. They had preferences and judgments formed on facts. He said it was the most successful Christmas their family ever had. Try this little scheme on your graduates this year. It will make your gift-giving more successful all around.
