A SECOND ROOSEVELT ACCLAIMS 'THE PARADISE OF THE LORD'

Theodore Roosevelt knew his Texas. He was a republican with the same background and the same ancestry of the distinguished Roosevelt who is now President of the United States. Many Rough Riders for the Spanish-American war were recruited in Texas.

There is another Roosevelt skipper of the state. He has a marvelous background and a remarkable record as a servant of the people. Texas sent a Good Will Delegation to the northland and April 18 was "Texas Day" in the nation's capital.

"As head of this delegation I want to tell you that we bring congratulations and felicitations to you for bringing our state and the nation to recovery. This is a non-political, non-partisan delegation. We represent 6,000,000 Texans who want you to know that Texas is for you and your recovery program 100 per cent.

This second Roosevelt skipper of state accepted the beautifully made silk Texas flag. He smiled his famous smile. He said: "I am very, very appreciative. Texas is not only the largest state in the union but it seems to be running the government more than any other state. I can go fishing and Vice President Garner carries on the government 100 per cent in my absence.

And then, addressing the Texans and others who faced him, the Roosevelt skipper said: "It is a wonderful thing you are doing. I wish you would travel for a year and sell Texas to every state in the Union. You don't have to sell Texas to me. This flag is going in my study, where I can keep it always beside my own Presidential flag. I want to thank you every, very much."

Texas occupies a large place on the map of the American world. Texas in future time will lead the procession of states industrially and agriculturally and financially. Texas has a large share of the treasure wealth of America. Texas could support a population of 50,000,000 as easily as it supports 6,000,000.

MAYOR LAGUARDIA A PERSISTENT SEEKER FOR TROUBLE

Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, the Moses of the reformers of New York, is a persistent seeker of trouble and usually finds it. This is his latest: "Lawyers have done more to hinder the advance of civilization than cancer or small-pox."

There seems to be a lot of controversy about this and that. Political controversies will probably rage until the end of time, for once politicians get a bone of that nature between their teeth, they are loath to let go.

Campaign

outspoken attack on things as they are—a campaign that advanced him two years ago from political obscurity to runner-up in the governor's race. Ferguson policies, minus the sales tax, form the backbone of the C. C. McDonald campaign. Sen. Clint C. Small angles for the conservative vote. "No new taxes," is an appealing plank. A natural resources commission may be a leading one before the campaign is over. Edw. K. Russell, Annona candidate, stresses prohibition. That Allred still leads the pack is indicated by a reported movement of other candidates to head him off.

Arms Budgets Have Kept a Committee Busy for Two Years

By STEWART BROWN United Press Staff Correspondent GENEVA.—The most persevering and tireless committee of the Disarmament Conference has just concluded its labors. After 17 months of continuous work the Technical Committee of the Commission on National Defense Expenditure has just brought forth a report. The committee broke all League records for the duration and number of its sessions to draft this report. The committee has held 225 plenary sittings and about 200 sessions of its subcommittees since the beginning of the conference, more than two year ago. Formed Beer Club The members found each other so friendly and agreeable that once each week they met in plenary session as a Beer Club in a local cafe. The committee was composed of two Poles, a Japanese, an Italian, a Frenchman, an Englishman and an Indian. It was their task to examine the military budgets of all the governments represented at the conference with an object to deciding how international publicity could be applied to military expenditures. Also their work was to decide if it were possible to limit military budgets. The latter work was somewhat handicapped by reservations against the principle of budgetary limitation of armaments made by the United States, Japan, Italy and Germany. Regarding publicity the committee unanimously found it desirable and applicable. Important Work Their labors might prove extremely important if the conference decides to obtain a reduction of armaments by cutting military budgets. They also have done great service to the conference by preparing a model military budget which makes it easy to compare the military expenditures of each country. This work entailed the thorough examination of the military budgets of 60 countries. Full information for this purpose was submitted by countries representing 30 per cent of the world's military expenditure. The committee found in 1931 the world spent about $6,000,000,000 on armaments. The big countries submitted full details of their military expenditures—some of them, especially in the case of Russia never having been published before. Some 20 smaller nations, mostly South American countries, submitted only partial or incomplete documentation. GOLFERS GET BARGAIN DAY By United Press AKRON, O.—Bargain days for golfers are on in Akron. The municipal golf commission has voted to set aside one day a week, in rotation, when golfers can play on the municipal course at 30 cents

Garbo Shines in Finest Role of Her Career

Screen history was made when "Queen Christina," the long-expected picture, resulting Greta Garbo and John Gilbert, opens today at the Lyric Theatre. The picture, a spectacular presentation of seventeenth century romance, as depicted in the life and loves of Sweden's famous queen, is primarily historical because it brings Gilbert back to the theatre fans after his announced retirement to private life and after a five-year screen separation from Garbo. It is a picture based authentically upon events and customs of the time and presents elaborate historical settings, which for their beauty and accuracy, have seldom been equalled. The story deals with Christina who, after being reared as a man and who was crowned King of Sweden, finds tempestuous love through the visit to her court of John Gilbert, who portrays the authentic role of Ambassador Antonio Dimintelli of Spain. Their open love affair incenses the nation against Christina and her people repeatedly clamor for her marriage to Prince Charles, one of her countrymen. She is finally forced to expel her lover from the country, but abdicates her throne immediately after in favor of Prince Charles and flees in pursuit of Antonio—to find him slain in a duel with her Lord Treasurer. The performance of Garbo is undoubtedly the finest of her career and Gilbert maintains and revives that old petulant force so evident in his earlier pictures. Ian Keith, Lewis Stone, Elizabeth Young, C. Aubrey Smith and many other members of the cast deserve honorable mention for their excellent roles and Director Rouben Mamoulian should be congratulated for his pictorial artistry. The wild men of Borneo aren't wild at all, says a missionary. Bring one of them to New York, let him loose in the traffic, and watch him go.

game in the 12th with three on and one out but the batter in attempting to bunt the ball popped a fly to the pitcher who doubled the man off at third retiring the side. Dublin got three home runs, two over the short left field fences and the other a freak home run inside the park. Bradberry hit a fly ball to Wright who muffed the ball and picked it up in an attempt to throw the ball in he threw the wrong way and Bradberry was able to trot around minus any effort on his part. For the Horned Frogs, Morris, Brothers, Pope and Amis showed to advantage for the Frogs. Odell hurled very effectively during the six innings he was in the box allowing only five hits. Wallace hurled 11 innings and bearing down when necessary getting 10 strikeouts. Odell who started for the Frogs was relieved by W. Wallace in the last half of the seventh with the score tied, so the credit of victory went to Wallace who pitched the remainder of the game for the Frogs. Outside of some careless base running on the part of the Frogs, it was a bang up ball game and also a nerve wrecker. For Dublin, C. McCarty, Warner and Bradberry were the shining lights of the Orioles. The Orioles had by far the best club the locals have played this season and should be a constant threat to the contending clubs. Due to the length of the first game they were unable to play the second half of the double-bill so it will be played at a later date. The Horned Frogs will be at home to the Dublin Orioles next Sunday and Welch Park should be filled to overflowing in anticipation of the good game they are sure to witness. More than a score of fans motored down from Eastland to witness the games and from all accounts were well pleased with the game. In fact some of them returned a wiser but probably a little older fan than when they left.

Old Navajo Culture Revealed By Science

WASHINGTON.—Primitive pottery and remains of ancient vegetation are among finds by archeologists at work on Keet Seel, a prehistoric ruin in the Navajo National Monument, Ariz., the Department of the Interior revealed. The information was reported to the National Park Service of the department by John Wetherill, known to his Navajo Indian friends as "Hosteen John," custodian of the monument and a pioneer. In a trash pile below Keet Seel was uncovered the body of a child. Buried with it were two pieces of pottery of great interest to archeologists due the fact they are reported to be of a much earlier type than the culture of the ruin itself. A stump of tree, uncovered in a nearby creek 35 feet below the ground level, is believed to be a part of a tree which grew to maturity at the time the elephant and camel roamed this country.

ject they have gained the confidence and good will of the people wherever they operate. Senator Clint Small, candidate for Governor of Texas is showing continued strength and progress in his campaign. He is being rated as the most conservative and consistent candidate in the field. His mild mannered characteristic of putting forth his ideas and his pleasing personality have made him many supporters. ALLRED, AND A LONG RACE

Those Who Don't Like Attorney General's Candidacy Shop Around For Opponent.

When Jimmie Allred four years ago set afire the small towns and farms of Texas, and came under the wire to defeat the administration-backed Bobbitt for attorney general, many thousands of Texans picked him at once as a future governor. Allred, violently opposed two years ago by large oil influences, repeated emphatically as a vote getter. The attorney generalship—a natural stepping stone to the governorship—much more so than the lieutenant governorship. Allred's race has been definitely more spectacular than that of Witt. As 1933 closed, average political opinion picked Allred as certainly the successor of Gov. Miriam Ferguson. A field of five or six was only speculative as to who would run against him in the second primary. But today, and with such a big field of candidates, throughout Texas there is an anti-Allred movement. This movement is not FOR any particular one of the group; it is a movement led by those who are AGAINST Allred, and who seek to crystallize their support on a man who can beat him in the second primary.
