

BARROW TO JOIN DILLINGER GANG IN CHICAGO

That reminds me... Clyde Barrow, the Texas terrorist, to whose bloody depredations a half dozen lives have been charged, was believed headed for Dillinger's hideout here.

Barrow continues to get more publicity than any other nation earth. She keeps sending word to one nation after the other and they always get an answer. Whether it's just plain advisers or whether they want to fight a fight is a question to figure out.

Throughout the nation today's newspapers carry in a little lower hand corner of "Ripley's Believe it or Not" a picture of a man and in big type across the front of the building are the words: "Payne and Lovett Hospital."

HOUSTON, May 3.—Immediate steps to end the strike of 4,000 Texas and Louisiana dock workers were ordered taken by the national labor board at Washington in instructions sent chairman Oscar Powell of the regional labor board at San Antonio, it was learned here.

Meanwhile shipping was at a practical standstill in Texas ports and at Lake Charles, La., where picketing began yesterday.

Powell advised by telephone today that he would get in touch with officials of the International Longshoremen's association, which called the strike and arrange the conference.

Lone Star Blocks Highway Building With Injunction

STRAWN, May 3.—Construction of State Highway 193 which was scheduled to begin this week has been indefinitely postponed because of a suit for injunction filed Monday by the Lone Star Gas Company.

Possibility that this action may even cause the loss of this highway was expressed by members of the local highway committee today. The contract for grade and drainage was let several weeks ago by the Highway Commission and the contractor has been awaiting a work order before beginning actual construction.

If a long legal fight prevents the use of available funds in the building of this highway, other funds may not be available when the matter is settled and the opportunity of securing this valuable road may be gone, according to the local committee.

The injunction proceeding came as a surprise to those interested in the effort to secure this road. Negotiations with the Lone Star Gas Company officials in Dallas in securing right of way led to a promise that a 100 foot right of way across this property would be donated, it was said.

ROBLES RANSOM IS EXPECTED TO BE PAID SOON

TUCSON, Ariz., May 3.—Negotiations for payment of $15,000 ransom and return of June Robles, 6, kidnaped heiress, were believed to have been reopened today.

The belief was founded on a trip made by Al Aguirre, reputed intermediary in the case and friend of the grandfather of the kidnaped child.

Aguirre disappeared after boarding a bus at Nogales, border town, for Tucson. When the bus reached here he was not aboard. Aguirre returned to Nogales late yesterday. He was seen in a money exchange, a private institution similar to a bank.

7,000 POLICE ON LOOKOUT FOR MEETING

Dillinger Is Believed To Be Seriously Wounded In A Gun Battle. CHICAGO, May 3.—One of the west's most notorious outlaws today was reported to be rushing toward Chicago—his route marked by Wanton gunplay—to join forces with John Dillinger.

Clyde Barrow, the Texas terrorist, to whose bloody depredations a half dozen lives have been charged, was believed headed for Dillinger's hideout here.

With him, it was reported, were Bonnie Parker, his cigar-smoking sweetheart, and another outlaw. A "shoot to kill" army of 7,000 police and federal agents, realizing that a union of Dillinger and Barrow probably would spread more deaths in the wake of the Hoosier outlaw's marauding, put new vigor in their search for Dillinger.

The theory that Barrow might head for Chicago to throw his lot with Dillinger's gang against the massed forces against the law unless headed off was supported by information in possession of the federal authorities.

KINGFISH GIVEN A WALLOP ON THE NOSE

Kingfish Long has been given another wallop on the nose by the anti-Long democrats. J. Y. Sanders, Jr., will be the next United States representative from the sixth Louisiana congressional district to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Rep. Bolivar E. Kent. He defeated by a majority of 2000 Harry D. Wilson, commissioner of agriculture in the Long-Allen administration. Nomination in the primary is equivalent to election, as the republicans do not plan to put up a candidate in the general election. Harry D. Wilson for 18 years has been the commissioner of agriculture for Louisiana. He carried the Kingfish tag, but it was a close shave at that.

Now what will happen in the contest, primary and otherwise, in the upstate Louisiana districts where the Kingfish has ever had his strongest political backing? Kingfish has four years to serve as a senator of the Pelican state. He has promised to invade Mississippi in the campaign of the summer and make life interesting for Sen. Pat Harrison, perhaps the ablest and most active of the administration battlers. Pat Harrison as a campaigner is a very ugly warrior-wasp to handle in joint debate, running debate or any other kind of debate. Kingfish is not an accident. He has demonstrated this in all his campaigns for minor or major office in Louisiana. Indeed, he is rank poison in or out of the senate and he is certain to be in the big picture for years to come.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

Our politicians talk much about the Common People. According to them, we must have different classes of people. I am under the impression that we have ONE class of people in this country—just American people.

From what I can figure out, the politician classes the whole mass of the working people, irrespective of trade or occupation, as common people.

It seems that a large number of those commonly included in the professional ranks are of the opinion that they are more entitled to the term "Working Class" than a good many of those so-called among the tradesmen. Of course, that brings up the question of who composes the other class. You can figure it out for yourself.

My guess would be that many politicians consider themselves as the super class and the rest of us as the common class or common people.

Governor Wants to Leave Office with State Paying Cash

AUSTIN, May 3.—Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson's ambition to go out of office with the state restored to a cash basis will be realized, her husband-advisor predicted today in the Ferguson Forum.

"The present administration reduced appropriations $15,000,000," the Forum said. "Had the preceding administration not left to this administration a deficiency of about $19,000,000, the state would today be out of debt as a result of its policy of economy. "However, at the end of this administration's fiscal year the state will be restored to a cash basis, but it will be almost impossible to leave much money in the treasury, as in former administrations, because of deficiencies inherited."

State Treasurer Charlie Lockhart placed the remaining state general fund deficiency at $4,940,125.

Cummings Appeals For Better Forces To Combat Crime

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Attorney General Homer S. Cummings appealed today for more men, armored automobile, radio facilities and more machine guns to capture such criminals as John Dillinger.

"Dillinger would have been trapped in Wisconsin," Cummings said, "if the department of justice was modernized."

Cummings said he wished 200 additional special agents, 70 accountants, some armored cars, a two-way radio system for communication among radio scout cars, machine guns, and certain types of rifles.

ment of a bank. No matter what has happened in the past, no matter how one may have been disgusted with banking connections in the past... This is no time to take a stick and rebash old grievances... and old disappointments. This is no time to quit and become soured on everything that may be suggested. This is a time that it takes every man to the wheel... some of us can pull... but to get it over the hump it is necessary for everybody to get behind and push. When we get the bank over the hill... established and going... there will be so many other things follow along in its wake that will be most pleasant surprises... and the going won't be near as hard as every one will find out. Eastland needs more payrolls... and it needs more inducements to get people to come here and do their buying... and as we have said once before it needs the things to bring back here many of those who have gone astray and yet are living in our immediate trade territory... bank will bring them back... and it will save thousands of dollars a month to the business interests of the town. Eastland has lost enough already since the bank has been closed to put up three bank... by the community that they would sacrifice... most anything rather than throw one hand cap in the way to hinder the possibilities of having a bank. Give us all an unselfish and devoted desire to help ourselves in order that we may be a happy and prosperous community. May this prayer issue from the lips and minds of all people of this community in the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost.

Yes... we are wondering too... are all the money is coming from to fulfill the promises some of the candidates in the field for Governor are making.

Britain Seeks To Save Her Shipping
By United Press
LONDON.—Great Britain's intense anxiety to rescue her shipping industry from its present plight is due to the fact that shipping is her greatest source of income from abroad.
Her income from shipping far exceeds that from any of her visible exports whether cotton, coal, iron or steel. It is more than three times her income from the export of woollens and worsted.

Huge Investment
But with, according to the Chamber of Shipping, close to $1,500,000,000 invested in this industry, about one-eighth of British ocean-going tonnage is laid up and the remaining seven-eighths is running at a loss or barely making expenses. This is attributed to ruinous competition from three big fleets subsidized by their respective nations—the United States, France, and Italy—and from Germany, which has loaned government funds to its mercantile marine, as well as from Greece with its excessively low capital and operating costs.
The most striking example of competition from a state-subsidized fleet, it is pointed out, is the American competition for the trade between the two British Dominions of Australia and New Zealand. According to the Hon. Alexander Shaw, chairman of the

Second Largest Telescope Being Built For Texas

AUSTIN.—With respect to studying the physical nature of the heavenly bodies, the McDonald Observatory of the University of Texas, now being constructed on Mt. Locke in the Davis Mountains of West Texas, will occupy an outstanding position in the astronomical world. Its 80-inch telescope will rank second in size to the 100-inch glass of the Mt. Wilson Observatory in California.

Dr. Otto Struve, director of the Yerkes Observatory of the University of Chicago, said that the McDonald Observatory telescope will be as powerful as the Mt. Wilson telescope for the photographing of nebulae and distant universes. In this connection it is interesting to note that through a co-operative arrangement the McDonald Observatory will be operated by a staff of scientists from the Yerkes Observatory, including Dr. Struve as director.

It was largely through the personal investigation by Dr. Struve that the site on Mt. Locke, about 50 miles from Alpine and 10 miles from Fort Davis, was selected.
The establishment of this observatory comes through the generosity and interest in astronomical science of the late W. J. McDonald of Paris, Texas. He bequeathed to the University for this purpose a fund which is now approximately $1,000,000.

To Dr. H. Y. Benedict, president of the University of Texas, the project is of the deepest interest, and he has been devoting much thought and time to directing the work of making the observatory a reality. Dr. Benedict took his doctor's degree in mathematical astronomy at Harvard University and taught astronomy at the University of Texas from 1892 to 1927. He conducted the negotiations with President R. M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago, and Director Struve, by which the two institutions during a period of 30 years will pool their resources for the development of astronomical research.

Vegetables Keep Best In Garden

The garden is a better place to keep vegetables fresh than the refrigerator. The economy of a garden is seldom considered from this viewpoint but it is an important one. There is no waste from storage. The vegetables are kept at their best quality while growing. They may get over-matured if left too long in the soil but they keep where they grow, and only a quantity sufficient for a meal need be gathered, leaving the rest to remain in tip-top condition for another day and another meal.

A garden saves a lot of room in the ice box and provides better quality vegetables than can possibly be gathered from the refrigerator or from the cold storage plant of the grocery. Home-grown vegetables do not suffer as do market supplies from wilt from being left in the sun and they are not passed through hands of whose cleanliness and sanitary condition there is grave suspicion.

Home-grown vegetables are cleanest, of best quality, and a real economy.
Clean spinach for the baby is the incentive for many a garden start. The wilted and sand-laden greens often on sale at the green grocers cannot compare with the fresh, crisp leaves that may be gathered in the back-yard patch from a nickel package of seed plus a little healthy exercise in the way of spading up space to plant it.

But proper diet for the baby is no more important than proper diet for the adult and although it is usual to treat a baby with more consideration than a grown-up when it comes to food, there is no good reason for doing so from a strictly hygienic standpoint.

Start a vegetable garden this year as a measure of health and economy. If it is no more than a spinach patch it is that much clear gain. Tomatoes may follow the spinach and two staples of the menu are provided for the season.

A Homesteading Plan Is Started

GREENBURG, Pa.—The first of 30 homesteading projects authorized by the United States government for Pennsylvania has started here.

A 1,327-acre site has been partitioned into two-acre plots for 200 families, each lot to have a four to five room house which, it is estimated, will cost about $2,500. Seventeen families were assigned their lots recently.
With an appropriation of $6,000, a barn in the plot will be modeled to house a building trades shop where the first 17 homesteaders, all coal miners, and the other 183 will be taught different phases of the building trades, to enable them to aid in furthering the project in other parts of the state.
In the center of the community is to be established a dairy, eliminating the necessity of any of the homesteaders keeping a cow. A high school is situated near enough to the community for students to attend daily classes.
Nearly all the houses in the community, under the government's plans, will be of frame construction. The $2,500 estimated cost of each house is to cover all materials and labor.
The homes will be liquidated in 20 to 25 years, under the government's amortization plan. Each of
