DILLINGER IS NEARLY CAUGHT BY OFFICERS

By United Press
WARSAW, Ind., April 13.—John Dillinger, America's ace outlaw, returned to his old stamping ground today for a new rail on a police arsenal and barely escaped capture.

The notorious criminal, with a companion identified as Homer Van Meter, Indiana parole violator and known associate of Dillinger, fled southwest with a posse of 50 vigilantes close upon his heels.

They fled in a sedan after a bold ruse in which they forced an officer to accompany them into the police headquarters, where they absconded three bullet-proof vests and two pistols from police lockers.

The officers succeeded in tripping Dillinger as they went down a stairway, causing him to fall down the stairs, but he jumped up and fled.

World's Champion Is Religious Man

FORT WORTH.—For one man to stand up and hammer away at another's chin in an earnest effort to relieve him of his sensibilities does not seem exactly consistent with a religious nature, even where the hammer wears six-ounce boxing gloves.

Despite this apparent incongruity Barney Ross is an extremely religious young man and it doesn't soften the effect of his punches to any degree whatever. He is as ready and willing to fight as any man in the professional ring today; in fact he is more willing than most of those now wearing the titillating tiara of their respective weight divisions.

Ross is a fighting champion and takes his challenges as they come, with no demand for set-ups. But he refuses even to train, much less fight, on any of the Jewish holidays. For this reason he will not begin training for his title defense scrap against Tony Herrera until April 16.

Immediately after his non-title bout with Bobby Facko, in Los Angeles, Tuesday night, the king of the lightweights and junior welterweights entrained for Chicago where he will spend the holiday pass-over with his family. During the holiday which lasts from March 30 until April 7, he will not hit a lick but as soon as the festivities are ended he will rush to Fort Worth to begin a hard 10-day conditioning period for his engagement of April 20, with Herrera.

Far from regarding the skinny Mexican lightly, Ross plans to be in top shape for the bout. For that matter he is in form for all his bouts, being a "right-liver" and a conscientious trainer.

On his arrival here the pride of the Chicago Ghetto will work out daily under the watchful eyes of his managers, Sam Fian and Art Winch. He believes Tony is one of the most formidable contenders in either division over which he holds the whip hand, and is taking no chances on losing either of his

J. C. Penney

J. C. Penney's policy of making managers of his stores a partner in the business was one of the main factors in his success. Penney stores throughout the nation are now celebrating their 32nd anniversary of the company.

J. C. Penney Store Now Celebrating 32nd Anniversary

George H. Hipp, manager of the J. C. Penney department store here, announced today that the local store had just completed receiving shipments of the huge quantities of new spring merchandise purchased months ago for special selling during the 32nd anniversary celebration of the founding of the company. The anniversary, which is celebrated nationally in all Penney stores, begins tomorrow and will continue throughout the remainder of the month.

In commenting on his unusually large shipment of goods, Mr. Hipp pointed out that the local Penney store was enjoying the busiest season in its history.

"March went over big with us here," he said, "and the company as a whole had a large sales increase. The outlook is very encouraging and we are all set to shatter records in April."

Mr. Hipp called attention to the fact that the Penney company, in planning for this year's anniversary celebration had bought in enormous quantities to supply all of their nearly 1500 stores, and hence had been able to buy very advantageously, so that prices could be kept at a low level.

"Regardless of increased costs in wages and overhead," said Mr. Hipp, "the Penney company is maintaining its long-established policy of passing on to its customers every possible saving from advantageous buying and economical operation. This anniversary was planned months ahead," he said, "and because of advantageous buying operations at that time we are now able to offer some items at prices even lower than last year's level."

"It is true," he continued, "that increased manufacturing costs have to be met, but the Penney company, realizing that wages and incomes of a great many people have not kept pace with increased production costs, has endeavored to absorb these costs in economies in operation and carefully planned buying. In this way we are able to keep prices scaled down more in line with income levels. Yes, recovery does call for higher prices but there can be no recovery if goods aren't sold, and the Penney company has always found that the way to get goods sold is to keep them at prices people can afford. I believe the public response to our anniversary value will prove the wisdom of this policy."

He thought he would again like to live in Missouri or North Arkansas and went back, but returned in a few months and located in Eastland and went into the mercantile business with Walter Harmon, in the building which is now occupied by the Club Cafe. He later was with Tom Downtain in a general store where the Eastland Drug Co. is now located. From there he moved to the farm and has lived the past 26 years on his farm eight miles north-west of Eastland.

Surviving him are his wife and three sons and three daughters, Ed and Frank Castleberry, Mrs. Lula Jones, Mrs. Althea Carter, of Eastland, John Castleberry of Seymour, and Mrs. Viola St. John of San Antonio. All of the children were with him when he died. Three sisters in Missouri, Mrs. Peter Taylor and Mrs. Bill Jefferson of Thayer, Mo., Mrs. Dora Brewer of Myrtle, Mo. His half-brother, the Rev. D. D. Rose of Brownwood died the 20th of last September. Surviving him also are 19 grand children and five great grand children, and a host of friends.

President Welcomed On Return Home

By United Press
WASHINGTON, April 13.—Parading congressmen welcomed the president home today with a blast of music and whoopees of enthusiasm.

The presidential special arrived at 9:50 a. m. "Good morning," said Mr. Roosevelt as he appeared on the rear platform and discovered the band, approximately 200 representatives and a score of senators waiting.

"I can't be truthful and say I'm glad to get back. I'm very sorry to have to get back," the president said.

STATE RELIEF NOT TO START NEXT MONDAY

By United Press
FORT WORTH, April 13.—C. A. Braun, Austin, assistant state relief director, told Dr. A. H. Flicker, county relief administrator, today that the government's new work relief program would start Monday, are false.

He said the program still is scheduled to start April 24, which was ordered yesterday by the new state director. It originally had been slated to start Monday.

G. W. Castleberry, 78, Died Thursday; Funeral Saturday

G. W. Castleberry, pioneer Eastland county citizen, died at 8:08 o'clock Thursday afternoon at his home eight miles northwest of Eastland.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Eastland Church of Christ at 3:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Castleberry was born March 14, 1856, in Many Springs, Mo. He lived in Missouri until about one year of age, then moved to Arkansas. He stayed there until the Civil War. His family, with several neighboring families, were guarded by a detachment of Federal troops into Illinois until hostilities ceased, as Missouri was then torn between two factions.

The family remained in Illinois until the close of the war, then moved back to the old home to find the farm devastated. They removed to Myrtle, Mo., where he engaged in the mercantile business for several years. They lived there until Sept. 8, 1896, when they moved to Staff, Eastland County, Texas.

He was appointed postmaster at Staff at the beginning of William McKinley's administration and served four years. He also owned a general store at Staff. He moved the beginning of the small village to its present site on this farm, and gave the lot for the Methodist church which still stands.

He thought he would again like to live in Missouri or North Arkansas and went back, but returned in a few months and located in Eastland and went into the mercantile business with Walter Harmon, in the building which is now occupied by the Club Cafe. He later was with Tom Downtain in a general store where the Eastland Drug Co. is now located. From there he moved to the farm and has lived the past 26 years on his farm eight miles north-west of Eastland.

Surviving him are his wife and three sons and three daughters, Ed and Frank Castleberry, Mrs. Lula Jones, Mrs. Althea Carter, of Eastland, John Castleberry of Seymour, and Mrs. Viola St. John of San Antonio. All of the children were with him when he died. Three sisters in Missouri, Mrs. Peter Taylor and Mrs. Bill Jefferson of Thayer, Mo., Mrs. Dora Brewer of Myrtle, Mo. His half-brother, the Rev. D. D. Rose of Brownwood died the 20th of last September. Surviving him also are 19 grand children and five great grand children, and a host of friends.

He became a member of Church of Christ in 1891, of which he has remained a consistent and active member.

Farley Is Under Fire In Airmail Contract Inquiry

By United Press
WASHINGTON, April 13.—James A. Farley and his democratic subordinates, replaced the republican administration of Former Postmaster General Walter Brown in the air mail investigation picture today.

Sen. Warren Austin, Rep., Vermont, claimed today that the post office department allowed a change in specifications for its temporary air mail contracts to permit certain operators to bid.

Austin said specifications were changed to allow use of single-motored planes instead of multi-motored planes and the change was made at the request of independent operators. Austin said he was prepared to introduce evidence to this effect in the air mail inquiry.

RELATIONS ON STATE PAYROLL ARE REVEALED

AUSTIN, April 13.—Relationship honeycombing the state payroll was laid bare here today in an astounding report completed by a joint house and senate investigating committee.

It shows 26.1 per cent of state employes have relatives also employed by the state.

Great discrepancy is revealed in the answers to questionnaires sent out by the committee. Legislators who reported no relatives employed were named by employes in their questionnaires as relatives.

The report called attention to the great number of relatives of department heads employes in other departments, despite denials of "job swapping."

Among the figures the report furnishes are: Of the 31 state senators, 83.8 per cent have relatives working for the state; 45.6 per cent of the house members have relatives on state payrolls.

Employe questionnaires show 4,870 of them have relatives working for the state, while 13,784 reported none. The state highway department, with 7,934 employes reporting, showed 2,009 of them with relatives receiving state pay.

One member of the legislature has nine relatives on state payrolls, it was noted. Five employes reported they were related to both senate and house members.

Italian Hunts Ancient Caves

ROME.—Professor Durio Rellini of the Rome University has completed an interesting trip throughout the Gargano, the mountainous peninsula projecting east from the north coast of Apulia.

On the slopes of this promontory, both along the coastline as well as in the neighboring inland territories of Vico and Ischiella, he discovered and explored about one hundred caverns.

In these, he reports, abundant evidence of prehistoric life in Apulia ranging from the introduction of agriculture to the Stone Age, was discovered. The importance of this discovery, according to several archaeologists, is increased by the fact that Apulia was colonized and civilized since earliest historical times by the Greeks. Positive evidence of the relations between the prehistoric inhabitants of the region with those on the opposite Adriatic shore are very scarce. The Gargano, in fact, originally belonged geographically to the Dalmatian coast and was separated from the rest of Italy by a stretch of sea as late as the Tertiary period. Its highest point is Mount Calvo, 3,465 feet above sea level.

The material collected by Professor Rellini is verified and considered invaluable to proving that the Dalmatian coast and inhabitants were once closely related to Italy.

Actress Charges 'Love Kidnaping'

Charging that she was kidnaped at pistol point in an effort to force her to wed, Marjorie Crawford, flying film actress, above, caused arrest of R. C. Dowling, former dance partner of Joan Crawford, in Yuma, Ariz. She declared Dowling held her prisoner in a Yuma hotel till she escaped by a ruse.

Oil Field Workers Threaten to Strike

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Strike of 100,000 oil workers will be called off and when regional wage rates proposed are adopted, Harvey Freming, president of the International Oil Workers union, said today.

"We are prepared to call a general strike—a national strike within 48 hours," he said.

Such a strike he said, would affect all members of the International oil field, gas well and refinery workers of America and would result in the closing down of many refineries.

Crashes Walls As Means of Living

WASHINGTON.—Crashing through walls at a speed of 75 miles an hour has brought fame and fortune to Clark Townsend, former amateur motorcycle racer.

Townsend, a native of Lisbon Falls, Me., received from $50 to $100 for riding a motorcycle through a 36 square foot wooden wall, one inch thick. He is one of five men in America who can accomplish this feat.

Townsend fell heir to the profession by accident. In 1931, he explained, while riding 70 miles an hour down a highway, his motorcycle, left the road and crashed through a rail fence. He escaped uninjured. It then occurred to him that he might make money by crashing through walls before audiences.

The New Englander performs on dirt tracks at fairs and motorcycle races. He circles the track, gathers speed, and then plows through the wall. Force of the impact, Townsend declared, throws the front wheel in the air, and failure to crash through would prove fatal.

He is equipped with a crash-proof helmet, shatter-proof goggles, hockey gloves padded with rubber sponges, felt enforced with leather caps for his knees, leather puttees, high shoes, leather jacket, heavy sweater, and tightly wound tape about his neck. The motorcycle has break-proof tires, steel bumpers, special handlebars, and a high speed motor.

Barney Ross Is Threatened With A Damage Suit

By United Press
FORT WORTH, April 13.—Damage suits against Barney Ross, lightweight and junior welterweight champions, and New York promoters, were threatened today if the title fight here is finally cancelled.

Promoter Dick Griffin announced he had given up hope of holding the fight. Griffin assured ticket holders that he would start a refund of their money as soon as the fight is definitely called off.

Griffin made no attempt to conceal his chagrin at the 11th hour turn of events. He conferred with lawyers on possibility of forcing the fight and on recourse if unable to do so.

NORRIS READY TO TELL JURORS OF STATEMENT

DALLAS, April 13.—Dr. J. Frank Norris, Fort Worth minister, was ready to go before the Dallas county grand jury here today and tell "some things" concerning what he knows of information on Clyde Barrow and Raymond Hamilton received from the local police and the district attorney's office to prevent the fugitives' capture. Norris was summoned several days ago following a speech.

"The boys are hot over what I said about them, but they are going to be hotter when I get through," Norris promised as he sat in the waiting room at the grand jury.

"I didn't tell everything in my talk that I'm going to tell the grand jury. I'm going to charge Dallas county officials have knowledge of and are in collusion of bookmakers, gamblers and bootleggers. The sheriff's office, the police and the district attorney's office are all in on this."

Hunter to Open His Campaign at Clifton, April 21

By United Press
WICHITA FALLS, April 13.—Tom Hunter will open his campaign for governor at Clifton, Bosque county, on Saturday, April 21, he announced at his headquarters here today.

Hunter's decision to open his campaign in Bosque county came as a result of numerous invitations by citizens of Clifton and other communities in that section of the state. Arrangements for a real old-fashioned political gathering are being pushed to completion by a committee of Bosque county citizens, assisted by Hunter leaders in a number of Central Texas counties.

Hunter supports in every section of the state have already notified the state campaign headquarters here that they will bring delegations to the Clifton opening.

In his address at Clifton, Hunter will outline the basic principles of his "Texas Recovery Program" and will enlarge upon the planks of the platform which he recently made public as the basis of his campaign.

Among the subjects Hunter will discuss will be consolidation of state agencies in the interest of reducing governmental costs, revision of the tax system to protect small property owners, assessment of a tax upon excessive incomes, strict regulation of public utilities, rigid supervision of the removal of natural resources from the state to insure an adequate return to the state from this removed wealth, drastic punishment for bribe takers and for office holders who take fees from private interests, elimination of stock manipulations by holding company operations, as well as other items that compose steps in his Texas recovery program.

Already conceded a certainty for one of the places in the run-off primary, Hunter plans an active campaign to follow upon the heels of his opening address at Clifton.

$350 IN CASH AND BAGGAGE IS IN LOOT

Desperadoes Stage Old Time Stage Coach Robbery Early Today.

By United Press
FORT WORTH, April 13.—Three bandits obtained $350 in cash and an unestimated amount of baggage and personal belongings in a holdup of a Greyhound line transcontinental bus eight miles east of Weatherford today.

The bus was halted in Mineral Wells where a check of the passengers was made before continuing its journey.

Tom Colley, Athens, Texas, was one of the heaviest losers. He was robbed of $150. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kendall of Wynnewood Okla. saved $200 in cash, which they dropped under a seat. They lost only $2.

The bus carried 23 passengers, the company's office here said, including eight women. It left here at 2 a. m. and stopped at Boaz Station on the outskirts of Fort Worth, picking up two men. One of them took a seat near the driver, the other going to the rear of the bus. When the bus was about eight miles east of Weatherford the bandit in the front of the car drew a pistol and pointed it at the driver. Simultaneously the man in the rear covered the passengers with a pistol.

They forced the driver to turn the bus up a side road. Meantime, the third bandit, following the bus in a light car, drew up behind the bus, carrying a machine gun. The trio forced the passengers to unload and rifled them of their belongings. Then they fled.

HOSPITALIZATION OF CRIPPLED CHILDREN IN TEXAS

Sen. Margie E. Neal is the director of the White Cross seal campaign for the Texas Society for Crippled Children. This incorporated organization has launched a campaign to raise funds to augment state appropriations of $10,000 per year for the hospitalization of crippled children of the commonwealth. This campaign is in the nature of a White Cross field sale which begins Easter Sunday and closes May 1. A goal has been set by the society of not less than $25,000 and Sen. Neal hopes that the amount may reach $50,000. With the 20,000 crippled children in Texas the only woman senator reminds the public the state appropriation of $10,000 would mean only 50 cents per child. The people can readily see that those administering this new law, which went into effect Sept. 1, 1933, "would be rendered impotent to effectuate any results and for this and many other reasons the Texas Society for Crippled Children has agreed to come to the rescue and to help raise sufficient funds to enable the state to make a satisfactory showing during the first year of the operation of the law.

"Texans are reminded that they responded happily and generously to the call for aid to children crippled from infantile paralysis on the occasion of the President's birthday, but Texans should realize only a small per cent of the crippled children will go to Warm Springs, Ga. This is the Neal appeal: "We must hospitalize them in Texas and as near their homes as possible—this is a matter of economy to the state and of heart interest to the parents."

Sen. Neal, as author of the law which the society is endeavoring to make as effective as possible and as director of the campaign, earnestly urges the press of Texas to give this cause as great publicity as possible and to give the directors what personal assistance it can in furthering "this humanitarian movement." Twenty per cent of the seal sales go toward research to be conducted by the international society for stamping out infantile paralysis and the remainder will be used for hospitalizing the crippled children of the Lone Star commonwealth. This is the call: "Every man, woman and children owe a responsibility to the handicapped of Texas. Easter week, beginning with Easter Sunday, will be known as "Crippled Children's Birthday Week." Every child is asked, if he can, to buy as many seals as he is years of age and not less than one seal at the price of a penny; every adult, likewise, "and a dollar's worth if possible."

It's time some citizens quit WISHING they could do something to help the home city. Actions speak louder than wishes!

More cities die from lack of public spirit than for any other reason.

— 4 1/2 miles of warehouses —

Everything that Science knows about is used in making Chesterfields.

One thing we do is to buy mild, ripe tobaccos and then lock up these tobaccos in modern storage warehouses to age and mellow like rare wines.

It takes about 3 years to age the tobaccos for your Chesterfield, for Time does something to tobacco that neither man nor machine can do.

It means something to keep 70 million dollars worth of tobacco storage. It means just this:

We do everything possible to make Chesterfield the cigarette that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better.

the cigarette that's MILDER      the cigarette that TASTES BETTER

Pabbito is in love with ESTELLE FIELD, in Havana, under the name "Juanito, he becomes celebrated as a hero and he and Beal open a gymnasium.

SIR AUBREY, a titled Englishman and Pabbito's father, begins a search for his son, employing BILLINGS, New York, who is convinced Pabbito is Sir Aubrey's son and innocent of the charge against him, sets to work to prove this.

Three years pass and Pabbito sees Estelle again. They meet secretly on a yacht cruise. Among the guests on the cruise is ALEC DAVIDS, who wants to marry Estelle for her money.

Months later Pabbito reads an unfounded report that Estelle is engaged to David. He leaves Cuba without saying where he is going.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXXVIII

TWO years later the engagement of Estelle Field and Alec Davids was announced. "I suppose you might as well try it, Alec," Estelle had finally conceded.

Alec said ironically and with a glint in his eyes that would have told her much had she been wise enough to read it, "I am very eager to try it."

"This last flare of father's has ended the possibility of my staying with him," Estelle confided in an undertone. Alec drawled, "I don't blame you. Dancers are such an old story. It's really unforgivable of him to show such taste—"

She was hurt by that but she was accustomed now to being hurt. Probably, Estelle had decided, no one would ever quite understand her well enough to say the right thing at the right time. And no doubt, as her father said, she was very demanding. "Demand a little more of yourself," Jim Field had advised her again and again, "and less of other people. You'll find the results more satisfactory."

Without doubt, she decided, she was a square peg in a round hole and destined to remain one. She had found no pleasure in her new friends or in sharing their activities. She had only found a little of the forgetfulness she was constantly seeking in a rather feverish and youthful way.

"Everyone in the regiment is out of step but you, Estelle," her father often said and the chant had told. She was "odd," she decided. A misfit. In such a case the only thing to do was to pretend to be like the others.

So Estelle played a little too hard, spoke the new language that she had learned, and scolded herself soundly for the moments of hopelessness that swept her when she was alone or for an instant quiet.

"I'm going to try to make you happy, Alec," she promised the day she agreed to marry him. He kissed her then with a fervor too ardent for her comfort. Alec was determined now to "show her who was master."

"You'd better!" he assured her. She did not like that either.

"What's the matter now?" he asked a little roughly, attempting to find the reason for the sudden change in her eyes.

"Something's always the matter with me," she answered honestly. "You should know that by now. Alec, I think I was born on a cloudy night when my star could be seen only dimly and through a haze. I'm always groping, never sure and never quite warm or happy."

"Oh, rot!" he broke out, wearied. "I believe you enjoy these Russian moods. Sometimes — to speak frankly, Estelle — I've felt a good deal of sympathy for your father. You haven't made his life very easy."

Tears brimmed in her eyes at that, although she was now far beyond the stage where tears come easily and can wash away a hurt. She had tried to forget all her father's cruelties, had resolved that as long as she stayed with him it was better to maintain some sort of peace. Her efforts, however, had not accomplished much except to provide an open gate through which her father could shout his disapproval. Trying never seemed to get one much except more hurt, Estelle reflected. Life was far from the simple thing she had supposed it to be in the old days when she wandered about the garden of the convent school in Paris. There she had dreamed mistily of growing up and falling in love with some fine man, of marrying him and living happily, as in the fairy tales — forever after.

Now she was sure about very little. Especially was she uncertain about marrying Alec, yet she knew that she must get away from her father who of late months seemed to be clutching with desperate, blunt fingers at such joys as he could comprehend.

"DON'T take everything so seriously," Marcia advised Estelle when they met one morning at a musicale. Estelle was looking white, strained and rather tense. "It's really not worth it, you know. Men are men and we can't change them. We can only pretend to be sweetly unaware. But then you've always been an incorrigible idealist just as your mother was. You know what it did to her!"

Estelle agreed to that.

"Play hard, expect nothing and take everything! I've told you that before but you wouldn't listen to me," Marcia went on. "You'll have to do it some day. We all have to. 'Damn it, we die young!'"

"I'm beginning to believe you," Estelle responded. "If that is any satisfaction to you."

"Rather bitter mood you're in today, isn't it?" Marcia drawled. "But never mind! Some day you'll grow up and when you do you'll realize nothing is really important but your own comfort and your bank balance. Then you won't be bitter any longer. You'll find it all rather amusing."

She left Estelle soon afterward, smiling faintly and nodding good-bye. Marcia thought, "Poor
