GEORGE WRIGHT WAS AMONG THE DESPERADOES

Was Serving Four Years On Robbery Sentence From Eastland County.

HOUSTON, June 5.—Four desperate convicts, who braved the gunfire of guards, still were at liberty today after a sensational break from the Harlem prison farm, 25 miles west of here, late yesterday.

The escaped convicts were Frank Callan of Dallas, serving 25 years for murder; Odette McHughes of Waco, serving nine years for burglary; Jim Lucas, of Breckenridge, serving 15 years for robbery, and George Wright of Eastland county, serving four years for theft.

The escape from the farm was effected when the prisoners left their work in a construction gang and stole an automobile belonging to a guard.

PLACE GEOFFREY HERMAN IN THE BIG PICTURE

Henry Ford has the human touch. Henry Ford for 30 years has been one of the most remarkable men on the American stage of action. He has spent more than $1,000,000 this year for a remarkable display or exhibit at the Century of Progress Chicago show. Well, Sunday was the opening day of the second year of the show. This was a top notch dispatch: "A 10-year-old boy from Boston, Mass., took precedence over a half dozen executives at the World's Fair when he was taken on a tour of the new Ford exhibit by Henry Ford himself. The boy was Geoffrey Herman, and Mr. Ford, hatless and coatless, came upon the youth at the Ford exhibit. They struck up an acquaintance and Mr. Ford proceeded to guide him around. Soon other boys joined the impromptu tour and it became a pilgrimage with Mr. Ford leading the way." Henry's important secretaries and guides stood aghast. They were horrified. They reminded the wizard of the West of previous engagements with men "high in the world of business and finance." Well, the big boss gave his secretaries the laugh. He waived aside his secretaries. This is what he said: "The boys come first. We don't need to be afraid of anything in this country if we can train our boys right. I don't get a chance like this very often. Come on boys. What did you say, Geoffrey?" Henry Ford was endowed by nature with a large stock of horse sense. He said a lot when he handed this line of thought to his secretaries: "We don't need to be afraid of anything in this country if we train our boys right." Correct to the last letter. We propose this amendment to the Henry Ford advice: "We don't need to be afraid of anything in this country if we train our boys right—and our girls, too."

INTERESTING RULING BY SUPREME COURT

According to a recent decision by the supreme court of Texas railroads have rights-of-way over public waters subject to the state police power and cannot recover more than actual damages when the right-of-way is flooded in improvement projects. The ruling was made in the Chicago-Rock Island and Gulf railway suit against a Tarrant county water control and improvement district. The railway had sought to recover, not only the damages caused by the water improvement district to its line along the Trinity river, but for the cost of relocating the tracks at another site. It appears that a corporation continues to be without a soul.

The man replies, 'HUDDY BRIGHT OVER, DOC! I'M AFRAID HE'S PRETTY SICK!!'. The woman replies, 'WHATCHA DOIN' THERE, MAW?'.

2500 tons in weight and including more than a thousand separate machines to be used in telling the complete story of the manufacturer of automobile parts from raw materials to finished products are now in place and in operation. They were assembled at rush speed from all parts of the United States. Most of them were lifted bodily from factories. The "Roads of the World," unique 2,000 feet stretch of roadway in Ford Gardens illustrating in exact reproduction 19 of the most famous roads of roadbuilding history, have been entirely completed in less than three weeks of working time. Ford Gardens itself, two weeks ago a mere stretch of sand waste, has been transformed into a lake front park complete with shrubs, flowers and trees in less than two weeks. A huge shell to be the scene of a 13 week series of twice-a-day concerts by the Chicago Woman's Symphony Orchestra and the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, not needed until June 7th, is completed in structure and is receiving final acoustical treatment. The world's largest geographical globe—20 feet in diameter, 12,000 pounds in weight, electrically driven and illuminated is completed and in operation in the "Court of the World," central open court in the Ford rotunda. The world's largest photographic mural, 600 feet in length, 20 feet high, 40,000 pounds in weight, printed on four fifths of a mile of photographic paper is in position on the interior wall of the great rotunda. Sixty-nine historic vehicles comprising the Ford "Drama of Transportation," tracing the development of vehicular transportation from prehistoric times to the present, are in place on the concrete and tile platforms in the Grand Concourse. The Ford Museum containing priceless relics of Ford and his lifelong friend, Thomas A. Edison, and showing the evolution of the machines hop during the last century is completed and with its ancient machines humming. The Ford Industrialized Barn built in 1863 on Henry Ford's father's farm and transported board by board and shingle by shingle from Dearborn, stands in striking contrast in the lee of the big main building demonstrating Henry Ford's ideas on how the farmer may improve his status by adopting industrial methods. A battery of twenty-four thirty-six inch projector searchlights which will send a 600,000,000 candle power "Torch of Light" 200 feet broad and a mile in height from the Ford rotunda is the marvel of Chicagoans by night. A battery of twenty-four loud speakers capable of amplifying so tremendously that it can be heard a distance of two miles and tolling 750 watts in volume tolls off the time hourly for all who might care about it. A complete hospital employing three registered physicians, three graduate nurses and two first aid men with pulmotor oxygen tanks and all other necessary first aid equipment for the protection of Ford visitors is installed and ready for action in need. A ventilating system which will lower the temperature of a large part of the building by at least ten degrees even on the hottest days is in working order. The force of 700 employees has been uniformly trained and rehearsed to handle 200,000 visitors daily. Such is the record accomplished by an army of workmen, which at times reached figures close to the 2,000 mark, in a project which in all required almost 350,000 man hours of labor, and employed members of thirty separate labor unions. And in the whole job at break neck speed not one man was badly injured and nobody was killed.

ALLEY OOP. A four-panel comic strip. Panel 1: A man is being hit by a ball. He says, 'STOP! I'M CRACK!' and 'I GOT 'IM! OW! OOOH, MY HEAD!'. Panel 2: The man is being hit again. He says, 'OUCH!' and 'THUD! CRUNCH! SOCK!'. Panel 3: The man is being hit a third time. He says, 'LOOKOUT! HE'S LOOSE!' and 'DON'T LET 'IM GET AWAY!'. Panel 4: The man is being hit a fourth time. He says, 'OH DINNY!' and 'HELP!'. A sign says, 'OH, WHERE IS THAT BIG SNAGGLE-TOOTHED LIZARD?'.

Exhibit at World's Fair Now Open to Public. CAGO, June 5.—Unparaleled in engineering and construction are represented by opening of Henry Ford's exhibition at the Chicago World's Fair as he got away to a late this year. The result was he was faced with what ordinarily would have been a year of to be completed in three hundred men working day and night under the direction of a whole regiment of engineers, technicians, artists, architects, field men and Ford officials smashed even war time construction records in doing this job, the biggest ever done by a single exhibitor for any world's fair. The Ford project covers eleven acres. Some idea of the immensity of it is indicated by the fact that it employs more than seven hundred permanent employees. Twenty-one big manufacturers in addition to Ford are participants. The main building with its 12 story high rotunda in the shape of a truncated gear and its 600,000,000 candle power "pillar of light" in itself covers five acres. The industrial hall, a single wing, is the size of three football fields placed together. Fourteen hundred tons of steel, 1,600,000 lineal feet of lumber, 5,000 cubic yards of concrete, 7,500 cubic yards of gravel, 700,000 square feet of wallboard and 200,000 square feet of roofing were required for the job. Electrical installations unprecedented in size and wholly new in type included more than 100 miles of wiring, 9,000 multi-colored flood lights, thousands of lineal feet of lighting units, more than three hundred loud speakers and other units that will consume a power load of 7,000 kilowatts, more than a third of the total power load of the entire Fair last year. Exhibits totalling more than

North Woods Quintuplets Owe Lives to Calm Country Doctor

Kindly, Blunt Physician Is Unruffled By Furore That Beats About Him; Nurse "Still Trembling." By HELEN ALLYN. NEA Special Service Correspondent. NORTH BAY, Ont.—I have talked to Dr. A. R. Dafoe, the kindly country physician who is fighting to save the lives of the Dionne quintuplets. He has told me about their birth, the illness of their mother, their diet and their chances to survive their strange and premature birth. I have talked to Mrs. Alex Legros, the neighbor woman who got up at 4 a. m. May 28 to help Mrs. Olivia Dionne through a childbirth—and found she had walked in on a phenomenon. I flew here from Cleveland to reach the spot on which the world's attention is focused—the tiny four roomed log cabin where a medical miracle is occurring. Kindly, but blunt. It is taking place under the direction of a short, stocky country doctor who never expected that he was stepping into the path of fame when he chose to set up his practice among the simple people of the north woods. He is kindly, but he has the unruffled bluntness which comes to a country doctor who has to deal with people who are stubborn about medicine and medical care. He was not called in on the Dionne confinement until a week before the five little girls were born. He found Mrs. Dionne suffering from a kidney ailment. "Ernest Dionne, the husband of the sick woman and the father of her six children, didn't want a doctor," Dr. Dafoe says. Didn't Want Doctor. "He reasoned that the other six were born with only the help of a neighbor woman, and the one that was coming—as far as he knew it was only one—could manage on the same basis. "I told him that he could either get a hired girl or plan to get a new wife," the bluff practitioner said. There will be another brush between the father and the doctor when the father comes back from conferring with a representative of the Chicago World's Fair. Bars Trip for Babes. The doctor isn't at all enthusiastic about the idea of taking the five fragile bits of feminine life on a trip. "As long as I'm boss," he said, "there will be no trip anywhere over that night yet. See, I still tremble." At first the babies were fed cow's milk, mixed with corn syrup. They were fed with eye-droppers. But now Dr. Dafoe has ordered natural human milk. The babies have a good chance of surviving, Dr. Dafoe says. If they can pull through the three weeks which should still have been part of a normal pregnancy, they have the normal child's chance of living. They have already passed one great danger—the danger of death which threatens every child born of a multiple pregnancy. Pass One Great Danger. The first official weight of the babies was exactly 12 pounds—all together, with their clothes on. Take off four ounces for the clothes. All expenses for food and supplies are being taken care of by the Ontario Relief commission. The Ontario Relief commission has promised to see that nothing is lacking. I found the road to the Dionne cabin a difficult one. Two cars cannot pass. Sharp rocks stick up every few feet. Roller-coaster dips and curves abound. It took us 30 minutes to travel two and a half miles from Callander, the nearest town. Road is Difficult One. When we got there, we found the house placarded with signs in French and English telling visitors to stay away. Besides the signs, there were guards recruited from among the neighbor men. Armed with clubs, they protect the privacy of the Dionne cabin. Such protection is needed, because hundreds of curious persons are congregating here. They come in automobiles of all sorts over the narrow, bumpy road and they come afoot through the woods and the clearings. Thought It Wasn't News. They are telling a story about the naivete of the world's most famous father. When Ernest Dionne had recovered from his dismay at learning that his family of children had suddenly leaped from six to eleven what with the mortgage and all, he behought himself that people might be interested to learn that five babies were born at once to his wife. So he had his brother call up the local newspaper. "How much," the brother asked the newspaper's city editor, "would it cost to have an item put in the paper about five babies being born?"

Father Didn't Want Medical Aid In Case; Firm Veto Is Placed On Ambitious Plan For World's Fair Trip. There was no lack of sympathy and kindly help in the Corbiel, Ont., home of Olivia and Elzire Dionne when news of their quintuplets spread. At top you see three of the quintuplets resting easy in an old fashioned incubator sent the parents from Chicago, while at right is shown a nurse, supervised by Dr. A. R. Dafoe, carefully feeding the tiny babies with an eye-dropper. for these babies. The father can go if he wants to, but not the children. Dr. Dafoe isn't getting much sleep these days. The quintuplets take most of his time and he has the rest of his practice to attend to, besides. He had been up all night at another cabin. That was a confinement case too. But it was just a single baby. In spite of his sleeplessness, he was still pleasant and unruffled. "I'm used to this," he said. "Used to losing sleep and used to bringing babies. I have one every day. I guess I've had 1500 in the 26 years I've practiced here, but these are my first quintuplets." Flooded With Queries. The pockets of Dr. Dafoe are jammed with letters from medical men far and wide. They ask questions about the triplets. Are their organs normal? Yes, says Dr. Dafoe. Are they fraternal quintuplets born from five separate germs, or identical quintuplets, all from one germ. Identical, says Dr. Dafoe. Mrs. Legros isn't taking the matter so calmly. She is still trembling. In charming broken English she told about the experience she encountered that eventful morning. She Still Trembles. "One baby is nothing," she said,

Tea Reception Honoring Recent Bride

Mrs. Frank Lovett has extended invitations to a tea reception from 4 to 6 o'clock for tomorrow, Wednesday, afternoon, at her home, 700 West Patterson, in honor of her son's wife, a recent bride, Mrs. Poe Lovett.

This will be one of the smart social events of the early summer season. The honoree was the former Miss Brewer.

Senior Epworth League

The Senior Epworth League had an interesting program, Sunday evening at their meeting in Methodist church.

Parker Brown opened the program with the hymns, ensemble, "Higher Ground," and "Living For Jesus."

The subject of program, "The Schools of the Church," had the first topic, "Why I am glad I went to Weatherford College," interestingly handled by Bob McGlamery, who brought out the qualities of the faculty and students, and that the work absorbed the afterlife of associates; that church and college cooperate; that the school is economical, centrally located for convenience of students and is a junior college.

Rev. E. R. Stanford spoke on the subject, "My College," of his attendance at times at Clarendon, Southwestern, Yale, Columbia, and Northeastern, a most interesting account.

The session closed with the responsive reading, announcement, and league benediction.

The announcement brought the forfeit in the attendance contest between the boys and girls, in the entertainment of the girls, by the boys, with a picnic at Butler Springs, Wednesday, tomorrow. All going are to meet at the church 6:00 p. m. Girls are asked to bring, each, three cups, five spoons, three forks, four plates, and the boys are asked to bring thermos jugs filled with water. Any member who can furnish a car is requested to have same at the church at 6:00 p. m. This is the contest that is confined to the Senior League only.

The Intermediate Epworth League recessed their regular meeting and the members were the guests, in a body, of the Senior League.

Intermediates: Geraldine Russell, Marie Plummer, Ruth Hart, Mildred McGlamery, Geraldine Harris, Nan Mickle, Madge Hearn, Bobby Ferguson, Bert Elkins and Joyce Kelly.

Senior Epworth League members present: Jo Earl Utz, Clara June Kimble, Carolyn Doss, Lewai Chance, Carolyn Cox, Katherine Garrett, Maxine Coleman, Lurline Brawner, Margaret Fiv, Wanda Lassater, June Ray, Edith Meek, May Gates, Joyce Newman, Frances Harrell, Kathleen Cottingham, Bobby Dwyer, Rex Gray, Bob McGlamery, Richard White, John Hart, Fred Davenport, Hiram Childress, Tom Harrison, Wendell Seibert, Earl Braly, Orville Harrell, Harry Bill Brogdon, Bill Doss, Milam Williams; Mrs. June Kimble, Mrs. B. E. McGlamery, director; Rev. E. R. Stanford, pastor.

Receives Degree

Miss Belle Wilson of this city, who has been teaching in Eastland High for some years, received the Bachelor of Arts degree on May 30th, in the presence of a large audience in the North Texas State Teachers College, at Denton.

Miss Wilson was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. T. M. Wilson of this city, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Willits of Fort Worth, her sister; and her sister, Mrs. Frank Weaver of Kilgore; Miss Laura Beatty Smith of Denton, "hooded" Miss Wilson.

Prior to receiving her degree Miss Wilson visited friends in Denton several days and returned to Fort Worth Thursday afternoon and with her mother to Eastland on Friday.

Truth Seekers Class Meeting

In the absence of the president of the Truth Seekers class, the Sunday morning meeting in Baptist church was opened by their secretary, Mrs. Bruce Butler.

The class teacher, Mrs. Clyde L. Garrett presented a forceful lesson on the subject, "Jesus in the shadow of the cross," Matthew 26. Inspirational thoughts brought out, that sacrifices we are willing to give enable us in our services for Christ.

The class adjourned to the auditorium for the closing of the Sunday school in general assembly for which Mrs. Breazeale is pianist and Karl Garrett, director of music for the Young People's Department.

The Truth Seekers is a recently organized class to which young married people only belong, and only those without children.

Date for Luncheon

The Book club will hold its last meeting for this season in the form of a luncheon at 1 p. m., on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. John W. Turner, house hostess.

The affair will be in the form of covered dish, and is under direction of Mrs. H. S. Howard and committee, chairman of menu and arrangements.

Awards to Be Given

The Baptist Training School, the usual session of the assembly of B. Y. P. U. groups, held at 6:45 p. m. Sunday, and presided over by their chairman, Terrell Coleman, was opened with assembly singing of hymn, "Take Time to Be Holy," led by Mrs. C. T. Nelson. The report of the secretary, Mrs. Bouchillon, showed 50 members present.

The Baptist Training School study course of last week, held in the church, was reported, showing an average attendance of 44 entrants. Awards will be given 42 who completed the course and who will be presented diplomas on some date to be arranged, it was announced.

Announces Called Meeting

Mrs. W. K. Jackson, president of Civic League, announces a called meeting of the league for next Thursday afternoon, 3:30 o'clock, at her residence, 1203 South Seman street.

The meeting is an important one and will close the Civic League's year.

All committee women are requested to be prepared to present reports, and all unfinished business that has not been formally reported is required to be presented, in order that secretary may inscribe same in her reports.

All outstanding bills will be allowed at this session, and the formal report of the chairman of the Civic League flower show, and her general committee will be presented for adoption at this time.

Each and every member of the league is requested to attend. A social hour will follow the business session. Civic League members are courteously requested to keep this date free, and to attend this final and important league session.

Asks For Pictures Of Club Presidents

Mrs. Volney W. Taylor, state president T. F. W. C., writes that from her many contacts over the state, she is convinced the success of Texas Federation Women's clubs is closely identified, with the success of the local clubs, and much depends upon presidents of the individual organizations. And for that reason, it was her desire that the new year book includes photographs of presidents of the clubs during 1934-35, for the 1933-34 year book, which will be an ambitious undertaking.

The state, district officers, chairman of departments, divisions committees and a complete roster of clubs for 1934-35 will be printed, and will serve as a reminder to club presidents of the clubs which have done, and which has carried the T. F. W. C. to new heights.

T. F. W. C. Federated club presidents of Eastland were requested to send their photographs. These clubs are the Thursday Afternoon and the Civic League.

MAE WEST BEGAN AT FIVE ON THEATRICAL CAREER; BACKSTAGE EVER SINCE

Only five years of Mae West's life have been spent outside the theatre. They were her first five.

The spectacular blonde Broadway actress and authoress, who makes her debut as a movie star in "She Done Him Wrong," a film which she wrote herself, and which comes to the Lyric Theatre today, spent on the stage at the age of five and has been on it ever since.

Miss West was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., of a theatrical family, and spent her first five years in learning how to follow her parents' profession. As a child actress, she clicked decisively, and soon she was a vaudeville performer.

All during her childhood and adolescence, she was in either vaudeville or musical comedy. At the age when most girls were just getting out of school she was a featured performer in Ned Weyburn's "Demi-Tasse Revue" and "The Mimic World."

Then she turned to writing. She produced the play "Sex," in which she played the starring role. It ran for two years. "The Wicked Age" was her next starring role.

In the following five years she produced three more plays which she wrote and in which she starred. They enjoyed long runs.

Meanwhile, she prepared novelized versions of two of them. Both soared into best-seller class.

"She Done Him Wrong," which she wrote, is a lusty, roaring story of the Bowery, with its saloons and honkytonks, its tough men and beweled women. She plays the role of a night-life queen who exchanges her favors for diamonds, for which she has a mania. Cary Grant, ostensibly the head of a neighborhood mission, ultimately appears on the scene without diamonds but with a series of startling events which bring the picture to a breathless climax.

That Reminds Me

Isn't a bit worried and still says "We've got the best baseball team in the country" and thus far it has been proven.

There is one thing about the fellow who pays his debts—regardless of the amount. Finland for instance gets just as much publicity for what she owes this nation and the installment is only $166,538, as England does $11.68. England says "Let's talk it over a little while longer—don't think we want to pay you right now"—Finland says—"Here you are 'Uncle Sam' please give us credit". Finland will have the best reputation of the two—even if England decides to pay. In the one instance Finland just up and pays without an argument—England argues which puts a little stain on the thing. Which all goes to show that if one cannot pay—O. K.—just say so—but don't argue about it—Debts that are paid promptly with any kind of argument simply cause unnecessary unpleasantness and makes it hard not to have to argue an account to stall—The most graceful way if it simply cannot be paid is to simply say so and any creditor will be glad to help to work it out somehow. But arguments lead to courts—and sometimes a biff in the nose—and gets no one anywhere—Better not make a debt if ones temper gets the best of them on pay day. And any one doing a credit business can well refuse to do business with a person or firm when it is in evidence that a dispute is in order on pay day.

Medical Problems Will Be Discussed At A.M.A. Meeting

By HENRY B. HENSON

CLEVELAND.—Modern medicine's four "problem children"—cancer, tuberculosis, heart disease and arthritis—will be clinically viewed when 8,000 physicians and surgeons meet here June 11 for the 85th annual meeting of the American Medical Association. Sessions will continue through June 15.

Three hundred medical and scientific papers, detailing the latest advances in man's war on the four perplexing diseases, and others, will be read.

Epidemic Diseases

Epidemic diseases, which have ruffled the brows of medics particularly during the past year—amoebic dysentery and epidemic encephalitis (sleeping sickness), will be analyzed in two symposiums.

The first disease, caused by infection from an amoeba, broke out in Chicago during the summer of 1933. The second disease caused a serious epidemic in St. Louis.

Speakers on amoebic dysentery will include Drs. Charles F. Craig and Sidney K. Simon, New Orleans; Henry E. Meloney, Tenn.; Thomas B. Magath, Rochester, Minn.; George W. McCoy, Washington, D. C.; Alfred C. Reed, San Francisco; and Kenneth M. Lynch, Charleston, S. C.

Other Subjects

Other subjects scheduled for special attention include forensic medicine, (the relation of medicine to law), lead poisoning, nutrition, new investigations on the functions of the outer layer of brain and indications for the interruption of childbirth.

The first general session will be held Tuesday evening, June 5, with Dr. Walter L. Biernie, Des Moines, new president-speaker. Dr. Biering, surgeon, Dean Lewis of Baltimore, Md.

Welcome addresses will be given by Mayor Harry L. Davis, Cleveland Academy of Medicine and Dr. Clyde L. Cummings, president of the Ohio State Association. United States Senator Robert J. Bulkley, of land, also will speak.

PREXY PEDALD, STUDENTS

GAMBIER, O.—While politics of Kenyon College school of aeronautics are weird figures in the sky, D. L. Foster, Pierce, no less an A. M., L.H.D., D.D. and the school's president, has a bicyclic enthusiasm. Dr. is "driving" a shiny new which he pedals to and fro college airport.

IMPROVED GAS COOKING

like a fleet air liner . . . today's modern gas range is revolutionary advancement!

One might as well compare the pony express with today's air liner as to try and compare today's gas range with those of even five years ago so rapid and revolutionary have been the improvements.

Today, more than ever, the gas range is the efficient kitchen's mainstay. Factories are working over-time to keep up with the orders. Only this month have we been able to procure complete selections. So, while choice is at its best won't you visit our showroom for first hand knowledge of these advancements which make cooking sure, easy and economical?

You can trade in your old range and spread the payments out over a period of months, or pay cash and receive a discount.
