Flames Destroy Wheat That Survived Drouth

Destruction of this tract of wheat was completed by flames, after the grain, barely had survived the long drouth, with most of the able-bodied population of Clearwater, Kan., fighting futilely to halt the blaze. A strong wind sent the fire raging through a mile of the wheat before it was quelled upon reaching a highway.

Innumerable Ideas to Bring Rain Cause Weather Man Only to Laugh

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The weather man looked exasperatedly at a hill of letters telling President Roosevelt how to break the drouth and announced: "No power on earth can make it rain."

All the ideas on how to produce rain—and they are innumerable—just produce so many good laughs at the United States weather bureau. W. J. Humphreys, meteorologist to whom most of the well-meaning suggestions are referred, is getting fed up with sticking factual pins into pet theories.

The popular notion that noises such as are made by detonation of cannon or dynamite can shake the sky loose of its moisture burden is entirely fallacious, Humphreys said. Against the weather bureau's advice, the government once tried out the idea in a drouth-afflicted part of Texas. It didn't work and the weather men laughed up their sleeves.

Another common theory associates rain with battle. That, also, is wrong, Humphreys declared. To the rain-soaked troops of 1914-18 the idea seemed reasonable. Many thought the constant thunder of artillery was blasting the sky open. Humphreys said it was not.

Ptolemy, in his "Lives," called attention to the fact—Humphreys said it was coincidental—that rain often occurred after great battles. He listed these theories to account for this:

- 1. The Olympian gods, outraged by man's conflicts, sent showers to cleanse the guilty earth; 2. The clash of swords on shields, cries of the wounded and other sounds of battle "shook" the clouds into opening and pouring forth; 3. Mass evaporation of blood and sweat produced rain.

A patriotic citizen of Akron, Ohio, recently wrote the president suggesting that all this radio broadcasting was causing the drouth. The letter was referred to Humphreys who replied: "The idea has often been suggested and the converse also, namely, that radio brings entirely too much rain and causes floods. "Evaporation is a process that consumes a very large amount of heat and radio does not produce a measurable amount of heat. Neither does radio cool the air. "In short, we know definitely that radio neither increases rainfall nor decreases it."

From Drouth came the suggestion that rain could be coaxed out of the sky by: 1. Sprinkling dry ice on clouds; 2. Building large oil fires. Other rain-making ideas, all worthless in Humphreys' opinion, include: Sprinkling clouds with electrified sand; Boring holes in the sky; Spraying dust in the air; Blood-letting (practiced at one time by Australian natives); Abuse of idols and images; Imitative tableaux. Once in Esthonia three men climbed trees.

Last Rites For W. S. Michael Said Tuesday, 2:30 P. M.

Funeral services for W. S. Michael, who died late Sunday evening at a Cisco hospital where he had been rushed for treatment for injuries sustained in an automobile accident near Romney were conducted from the First Methodist church of Eastland at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. Frank L. Turner of the Cisco Methodist church.

Burial was in the Eastland cemetery with Masonic rites conducted by the Ranger Blue Lodge of which he was a member. With the Cisco Commandery of which he was the first commander, furnishing the escort, Masons from virtually every lodge in the county attended.

Mr. Michael was also a member of the Knights of Pythias, Odd Fellows, Woodmen of the World and Modern Woodmen and each of these orders were represented at the funeral.

Mr. Michael was a member of the Methodist church and the members of the Martha Dorcas class served the noon meal for the family and relatives at the home Tuesday.

The body was brought from Cisco to the home in Eastland where it remained until time for the funeral Tuesday afternoon and where it was viewed by a large number of friends.

The Hamner Undertaking company of Eastland had charge of the body. Mosiah Temple of Fort Worth, of which Mr. Michael was a member, wired D. J. Jobe of Eastland to purchase flowers for that in substitution to be sent the family and a letter to Mr. Jobe extended sympathy to the widow and members of the family.

Eastland business houses out of respect to the deceased closed their doors for the funeral hour, 2:30 to 3:30. Pallbearers were the four members of the Eastland county commissioners' court, County Judge C. L. Garrett and Don Parker, assistant county auditor.

Survivors are his widow, who was Miss Ada Allen and whom he married at Pearl, Texas, Oct. 6, 1890, and three sons, two daughters and seven grandchildren as Mrs. M. E. Kemp, Cisco. Grandchildren — Colvesta and Ruben Smith; Carroll Jr., Billy Fred, Michael, and Freddie Ladell Michael and Bobby Kemp. William Spencer Michael was born at Boone, N. C., Nov. 9, 1868, and came to Texas about about 1888. He came to Eastland county a few years later, first residing on a farm in the Salt Tank community near Rising Star. Later he was a teacher in the Rising Star public schools, and then engaged in the mercantile business being employed for sometime by the H. H. Anderson company at Rising Star. He was also engaged for a number of years in the banking business serving at different times with banks at Ranger and Cisco. He was appointed internal receiver.

The minister testified the attractive brunette "chased" him and on several occasions demanded that he marry her.

The witness said that on the Saturday he was supposed to have filed the notice at Boerne he spent the morning calling on members of his congregation and the afternoon preparing a sermon.

In his missionary campaign to resell the new deal to the corn belt, as "one dirt farmer to another" the brain trust chieftain said the government would use his position as partner to help "not only big business men, but also others interested in the enterprise—the farmer, the worker, the investor and the consumer."

The partnership would be evolved, he said, through "social management."

PLAN WILL BE ANNOUNCED BY TOMORROW

Has Taken Action to Arbitrate Strikes Over the Nation.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—President Roosevelt today invoked his special labor arbitration powers in an effort to end the Pacific coast longshoremen's strike.

His action forewarns new national labor mediation machinery to pacify industrial unrest raging for weeks in all parts of the country.

The new setup to be announced today or tomorrow, is expected to apply to the deadlocked dispute of steel companies and their workers and similar labor situations.

The plan will carry into practice the special labor dispute legislation passed in the closing days of congress.

In the longshoremen's strike the president, acting under authority of this legislation, named a three-man board to arbitrate, as reports of a dangerously tense situation came in.

His executive order was seen as a model for future industrial peace plans. The outline is broadly similar to that in the automobile strike last spring.

In the reorganization the president is expected to name a key arbitration board of three members from the present personnel of the national labor board. This board would be empowered to settle all disagreements.

EAST TEXAS TOMATO GROWERS CALL OFF STRIKE

There is peace in East Texas, the land where "love apples" grow. The modern name for the love apple is the tomato, which had its origin in Peru, the land of the Incas and their golden temples. In those ancient days it was the apple of love, but not a table offering. Spanish crusaders carried the love apples to Europe. For many years they were regarded as more ornamental than useful. Indeed, the physicians of that age declared that they produced cancer in the human frame or body.

Down on the Carolina coast for 100 years they were known as "Jerusalem apples" and the fisher folk planted them in their scanty flower gardens. Now a million cars of tomatoes the country over are shipped to the larger cities of America as well as the smaller cities and the Lord knows how many carloads local consumption calls for, speaking of the gardens and the patches given to the cultivation of early vegetables by the American people.

East Texas growers ended the strike with receipt of word that a Texas committee had arranged with Mississippi growers to get two cents a pound for their product. East Texas farmers began at once marketing hundreds of bushels which had been held in sheds at Jacksonville for the best prices available. Commissioner of Agriculture J. E. MacDonald of Texas made a temporary deal with the marketing committee of the Mississippi growers. Well, cooperation is the thing. Growers of two states came together and now the East Texas strike is off and peace reigns.

THIS HAPPENED IN TEXAS

A farmer who sold a carload of tomatoes for 10 cents a bushel at Frankston, Texas, was escorted from town by a group of officers after a mob had formed to protest the sale. Violence was prevented by the presence of the officers. It appears that the mob spirit is making rapid headway the country over. Low sellers in the tomato growing districts of Texas should beware. The mobster will catch them if they don't watch out.

Quite a number of our politicians seem to be suffering from convulsions—having spasm after spasm. The malady can be traced back to the vote they cast for more and more taxes. Many of them will have plenty of time after the next election to rest and think.

The men who never in their lives offered to serve or even interest themselves in the welfare of the home city as usually the fellows who howl the loudest about the work being done by the newspapers and civic organizations.

LYRUS Eastland STARTS TODAY "Eight Girls in a Boat" with DOROTHY WILSON Douglas Montgomery

Yesterday and Today WHO would want to go back to the standards of even a generation ago? We have traveled far since then. Inventions and scientific discoveries have furnished the principal vehicles: New conveniences, improved merchandise, better foods, added health-conserving means. But the thing which has hastened us on to the knowledge and acceptance of their benefits is ADVERTISING. It has brought new things quickly to all of us and sped us toward a different, better mode of living. Modern advertising sells us, not only things, but IDEAS. The advertising of soaps has sold us the health advantages of more frequent bathing. The advertising of modern bathroom equipment has made bathing a singular pleasure. The advertising of improved razors and beard softeners has made whisking off whiskers a simple daily ditty instead of a weekly major operation. Tooth-paste, tooth-brush and mouth-wash manufacturers and retailers are saving us untold aches and years of marred smiles, by advertising the importance of oral hygiene. As a result of the advertising of food manufacturers and purveyors, we have escaped from the drowsy dullness caused by heavy breakfasts and are full of forenoon vim and clear-headedness. The clothes we wear, furniture we use, fuel we burn, car we drive, telephone we've installed—all these would not so quickly have come home to us, were it not for the silent but irresistible force of advertising. Keep pace with the world you live in by reading the advertisements in this newspaper.
