Mavs Have Field Day Against Gorman

Goode to Head U F Drive Here

John Goode has been named chairman of this year's United Fund drive, it was announced Saturday.

Moore...

ABOUT Eastland
By Virgil E. Moore

Gene Rhodes pointed out the letter to the editor which appeared in this month's Town Journal magazine.

We quote: "I was certainly happy to see that excellent article on the work that went into the construction of the hospital at Eastland, Texas. I hope you will extend my personal thanks to Mr. Davids, its author, and to all the members of your staff who are responsible for presenting this excellent example of Texas initiative and Texas energy. Lyndon B. Johnson, U. S. Senator, Washington, D.C."

We thought all the flying dirigible advertisements were a thing of the past, but not so. Guess you early risers saw that one fly over about 7 a.m. Friday.

Chief of Police Ray Laney was telling us about the Texan in Australia who wasn't very impressed by some of the bragging the Aussies were doing. Everything they came up with he had them one better. Finally the Texan glanced over his shoulder and spotted a kangaroo.

"Wow," he yelled. "I'll give up on that one. You guys have sure got bigger grasshoppers than we do up in Texas!"

We can't get one thing Sid Gaines, Rotary district governor, told the local club on his visit here. "Everyone needs a high school education," he asserted. "Even a college graduate."

Mrs. Jim Horton tells us she failed to mention two of the contributors to the street sign project, Victor Cornelius gave $50 toward the project and Mrs. Horton's husband kicked in $25. Cornelius also printed the 50 complete listings of streets and proper addresses of residents and businesses here.

My wife is giving us a hard time about our "bravery." We listed our home address the other day in a column answering the fellow who was going to run us out of town. Only thing was, we had it two blocks wrong. Frances says she didn't think the street sign project had anything to do with it either. They changed us to 1401 from 1501 and we said 1601 in the column.

Well, you can't afford to take too many chances these days!

R. B. Golemon over at Cisco, Junior College tells us that Evelyn Jordan, daughter of Mrs. Ima Jordan, 411 South Green, was the college's duchess at the recent Rising Star fair. Sorry we didn't tell you earlier.

Safeway has come up with some more large signs out at their new building. It's sure looking sharp out that way now.

But that empty store building Singer's left doesn't look so hot. It's a shame we let them get away.

See you Tuesday.

announced that this year's goal would be $4500, $200 less than last year, the initial year the drive was held here.

Goode said the same five agencies which took part in the Fund last year would be in it again for 1957. They are the Boy Scouts, YMCA, Salvation Army, Red Cross and United Defense Fund.

The drive chairman said that a definite date for the kickoff breakfast for volunteers has not been set yet. He said the date would be announced in the near future, however, and would be held sometime next month.

Goode also announced that he would name drive captains and other special volunteer helpers sometime this month.

"Last year the citizens of Eastland gave freely of their time and money to see that the United Fund drive was a success," he said. The drive went over the top, and we know that Eastland will do it again this year."

The United Fund is one united effort to raise funds for all of the agencies in one drive, without having a new drive starting practically every month.

Olden Woman Is Injured In Auto Crash Thursday

OLDEN — Word was received here this week that Mattie Williams, 70, of Olden was injured in a highway accident Thursday near Baird.

Mrs. Williams suffered several bruises, but was said to be in fair condition.

A Baird woman and three Wichita Falls residents were also injured in the crash. Mrs. Artrelle Dill of Baird and W. R. Browning, Mrs. Emma Mae Browning and W. R. Browning, Jr., all of Wichita Falls, were the others injured in the accident. Mrs. Dill and the younger Browning were drivers of the autos which collided. Mrs. Dill was the lone occupant of her car, and all of the other injured were passengers in the Browning automobile.

INCREASE OF 120 PERCENT NOTED

County's Industrial Growth Outstanding

Considerable progress has been made in the last few years in Eastland County in the direction of industrialization.

An indication of this hike in manufacturing production comes from the U.S. Department of Commerce, which shows that the output of factories in the county increased 120 percent in "value added" by manufacture.

The "value added" figure is the amount that raw materials are increased in value by being turned into usable merchandise, such as furniture, automobiles and shoes. Defined otherwise, it is the value of the finished product less the cost of materials, labor and the like that went into it.

The story is told in a preliminary Federal report based on its Census of Manufactures, the first nationwide survey of the kind conducted since 1947. The figures showing the status of American factory production were gathered in 1955 by the Department of Commerce on the previous year's operations.

Eastland County's manufacturing plants, it shows, contributed $2,478,000 in value added toward the nation's economy in '56. This was a gain of 120 percent over the local 1947 production, $1,129,000.

It was more of a rise than was achieved by the rest of the country, 57 percent. The West South Central States gain was 89 percent.

Partly cloudy weather is the forecast for Eastland county with high winds and little change in temperatures. Slight chance for moisture predicted for spotted areas.

Poison Takes Life Of Ellis Brod Of Ranger

A 35-year-old Ranger man died early Friday morning, apparently after taking ant poison.

Dead is Ellis Nick Brod, 313 South Oak Street. Brod was believed to have drunk coffee which contained a common ant ball poison. Officers said two Ranger doctors had confirmed that the man was poisoned.

An inquest verdict was still lacking Saturday. Ranger city police were investigating, but the Sheriff's Department and District Attorney's office both said they had not been called in on the case. A Texas Ranger arrived in Ranger Saturday morning, probably in connection with the case.

Brod had lived in Ranger for eight months. He was born Sept. 8, 1921 in El Campo and was with the Halliburton Oil Well and Cementing Co. for 9 1/2 years. He married the former Mrs. Nell Hartfield Jan. 11 of this year in Austin.

Survivors include his wife, two, sisters, Mrs. W. D. Williams of Eagle Pass and Mrs. LaVerne Morgan of El Campo; and his mother, Mrs. Felix Brod of El Campo. Funeral services were still pending.

Justice of the Peace Charles Bobo of Ranger held the initial inquest, but he left town Friday and reporters were unable to learn if he returned an inquest verdict or not.

It was believed, however, that an inquest verdict was still lacking. Officers said they may call in Justice Jim Boggs of Eastland. No autopsy was ordered, it was learned.

GARRETT URGES APPROVAL OF RETIREMENT AMENDMENT

H. R. (Pop) Garrett, county school superintendent, Saturday urged Eastland county citizens to study proposed constitutional amendment four and "then go out and vote for it."

Garrett said the proposed amendment to the state constitution "would strengthen the retirement system for teachers. It will be on the ballot at the general election next month."

"Amendment No. 4 deserves the close attention of every voter because we all support the public school system as taxpayers and most of us rely on public schools for our children's education," Garrett said. "It has been apparent for some years that the supply of well-qualified teachers is not keeping pace with the large increase in students."

"Teaching is a profession which appeals strongly to thousands of men and women, who are willing to accept less money than they might expect to receive in business life, but who are as eager as anyone else to be self-supporting in their old age. A better pension plan, we believe, would be a strong inducement to young persons with a yen for teaching and would hold in service many of the teachers who are now leaving the system at the rate of 7000 a year."

"The enabling legislation, S. B. 290, has been passed and would become effective on passage of the amendment No. 4. No teacher would be eligible for retirement with less than 10 years service. The minimum age would be 60, except for those with 30 years' service."

"Texans will vote on Nov. 6 to make the state's teacher retirement plan more attractive and induce more recruits into a key profession that is starving for personnel. The Wichita Falls Times labeled the amendment a "must" and sets forth its arguments in favor of the amendment in these words:

"The present teacher retirement program was enacted in 1937 when dollars bought much more than they do today. The current system limits contributions to 5 percent of $3,600 salary—$18 per year. This results in monthly retirement checks as pitifully low as $35 to $38 for former teachers who served children and school systems long and well."

"The constitutional amendment Texans will find on their ballots in November—Amendment No. 4—would raise the maximum retirement contribution of teachers to 6 percent of salary or $504 annually. This would make possible a minimum retirement payment of $100 per month for teachers retiring at 60 years of age or after 30 years of service. At current dollar values the substantial hike is well warranted."

"Texas must hold teachers or recruit 28,000 teachers to replace experienced teachers leaving their jobs. By 1960, 350,000 additional children will be enrolled in Texas public schools. Fifteen thousand new teachers will be needed. This host of boys and girls must not be cheated. To provide teachers for them will require 43,000 additional instructors by 1960."

"Amendment No. 4 to the Texas constitution will recruit additional teachers, hold teachers in service, bring up to date the 1927 retirement program enacted during the 1920's."

Retired Federal Employees Seek Talk By Burleson

Representatives of the Oilbelt Chapter of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees met Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Education Building of the First Baptist Church in Eastland. Plans were formulated for the November meeting, at which time Congressman Omar Burleson will be invited as principal speaker and will discuss the recent legislation in Congress pertaining to retired Federal employees.

In addition to an "excellent program of entertainment," the group heard the report from the recent annual convention of the Texas Federation held at Hotel Texas on October 6-8. B. H. Peacock of Ranger, secretary-treasurer, represented the Oilbelt Chapter at the annual meet was outstanding in both program and attendance.

The Federation banquet, held on the roof garden of the Texas Hotel was opened with an invocation by the Rev. George W. Shearer, former pastor of the First Methodist Church of Ranger.

The program was keynoted by an address by Congressman J. M. Wright of Weatherford. "This country owes a debt of gratitude," stated Congressman Wright, "to those 280,000 retired Federal employees who gave a life of unselfish service to their country."

A report by J. E. T. Peters of Cisco, chairman of the Legislative Committee, included an interesting summation of the activities of his committee covering the preceding year's activities. E. E. Layton, retired Eastland postmaster and Chapter president, expressed hope for a very active program for the coming year, and extended an invitation to all Federal government retirees within the Oilbelt area to affiliate with the local chapter.

Carbon Dumped By Gustine In Six Man Game

GUSTINE — Carbon's Wolverines ran into more than they could handle here Thursday night, taking a 42-6 drubbing from Gustine in a District 12 six man football game.

Gustine scored two touchdowns in the first quarter, on a 60 yard pass and run play and a two yard plunge.

In the second quarter Gustine scored again on a 70 yard gallop and Carbon got their lone touchdown. The Wolverine score came in the same period when Kenneth Tucker took a pass from Larry Greer.

The winners scored two more touchdowns in the third quarter and another in the final period.

Next week Carbon has an open date.

Don Fox Named President of Olden FFA

OLDEN — Don Fox has been elected new president of the Olden chapter.

Other new officers elected are: Gary Woods, vice president; Jack Giesville; the Watchman, George Hilliard, secretary; Stanley Cook, town; the Frontier Echo, Jack-treasurer; and Ray Rodgers, re-boro; the Empire, Stephenville, and the Guard, Vernon.

Second Stringers Play Most of Game

Eastland's Mavericks scored more than a point a minute here Friday night, smashing a fighting, but outclassed Gorman Panther eleven 53-0 in a display of offensive power.

The Mavericks, with the licking they took last week still fresh on their minds, had little mercy for the visiting Class B team. A n d Coach Carroll Shelton could do nothing to slow down the score. His reserves, in fact, did more damage in the game than did his regulars.

For Eastland, it was one of the most one-sided scores recorded in years. The Mavs beat Dublin 39-0 earlier this year and Gorman downed the Lions by two touchdowns. That would make it appear that the Mavs were keyed high.

Actually the visitors got off lucky. Two other Maverick scores were called back, and heavy penalties slowed the locals down.

P. A. Cox got things started for Eastland when he took a handoff from Quarterback Harvey Lewis six minutes deep in the game and raced wide around his left end for 16 yards and the score. The touchdown was set up by a Gorman fumble, recovered by Jimmy Phillips on the Panther 30. It didn't take the Mavs but three plays to score from there. Bill Upchurch converted.

Six plays later the Mavericks scored again. This time Lewis kicked to two men, then tucked the ball in on a keeper play and went 48 yards for the tally. Upchurch split the uprights again and the score read 14-0, Eastland.

The Mavs scored again before the period ended. This time Lewis passed to Halfback Saul Pullman on a play that covered 52 yards. The play was a well executed screen pass and Pullman played his blockers beautifully in racing more than half the distance of the field. Upchurch failed to convert.

Three and a half minutes deep in the second quarter the Mavs went over again. This time Clyde Young, who was the leading scorer for the evening, tucked in the ball and matched Pullman's run, going the identical 52 yards wide around left end on a reverse play. This time Upchurch's try from placement was good and Eastland led 27-0.

Eastland scored again before the period ended. This time Quarterback Humphreys passed to Young on fourth down for 22 yards and the score. The play climaxed a 37 yard drive, set up when Wayne Dodson fell on a Panther fumble. Upchurch's kick lateral from Humphrey on the 19 and went over untouched after Humphrey had raced from the 26 on an option play. Jarrett's kick was no good.

Humphrey passed for 28 yards and the final Eastland score. Young was his receiver and again the play came on fourth down. The extra point try was no good.

Gorman was strictly on the defensive in the game. The Panther couldn't find an answer to the Mavs' offensive go. But the Mavs themselves looked much improved. They had the attitude of a winning ball club, getting in and out of huddles in half the time it took them against Ranger.

And Coaches Shelton and Jon Tate found some unknown ability sitting on the bench. Young was the brightest spot in the list of previous starters. He scored three touchdowns and had another called back Humphreys, a little but (Continued on Page Four)

Virgil Seaberry Attends State Bar Meeting

AUSTIN — Virgil T. Seaberry Sr., Eastland attorney and vice president of the State Bar of Texas, will attend a quarterly meeting of the Board of Directors here Friday and Saturday, Oct. 19-20.

In addition to his duties as vice president, the Eastland attorney is board advisor to a number of State Bar Committees, including Unauthorized Practice of Law, and conference committees with accountants, insurance adjusters, life underwriters, realtors and trust institutions.

Joseph A. Chandler of Stephenville who represents lawyers of the 17th congressional district on the state-level board, will also attend the meeting.

Included on the two-day agenda is a study of plans for State and local bar observance of the Texas Bar's Diamond Anniversary in 1957. The state's organized bar dates back to 1882 in Galveston when the Texas Bar Association was organized with some 300 members.

Present membership of the State Bar of Texas, which succeeded the original organization in 1939 as an integrated branch of the state judicial department, is 12,600. It is the second largest bar organization in the United States, exceeded in membership only by California.

Early Eastland Paper Heroic As Marshal Was

The frontier newspaper editor was "every bit as heroic as the most intrepid U. S. marshal; he was as daring and fearless as the wildest cowboy," a study of 1885-1886 Texas newspapers affirms.

"Notes on the Frontier Editors and Newspapers" is one of the articles in the October issue of Southwestern Historical Quarterly, published by the Texas State Historical Association. The author is Eddie Weems of Waco, a journalism teacher at Baylor University.

"Taking his chances of being called wrong—or worse, of being shot or beaten up—the frontier editor took sides on almost every issue, and he had no hesitancy about voicing his opinions," Weems reports.

Early Texas newspapers cited in the article include the Star and the Tomahawk, Albany; the Livestock Champion and the Northwest, Amarillo; the Weekly State Gazette, Austin; the Banner and the Sentinel, Brownwood; the News and the Texas Eagle, Buffalo Gap; the Clarendon Callahan; the Courant and the Telegraph, Coleman; the Chief, Comanche; the Weekly Herald, Dallas; the Monitor, Denton; the Review, Eastland; the Echo, Fort Griffin; the Whig, Chief, the Democrat, the Daily Post and the Daily Journal, all at Fort Worth; the Advance, Gary Woods, vice president; Jack Giesville; the Watchman, George Hilliard, secretary; Stanley Cook, town; the Frontier Echo, Jack-treasurer; and Ray Rodgers, re-boro; the Empire, Stephenville, and the Guard, Vernon.

Highway Slaughter Staggers Residents

Multiple-fatality traffic accidents in Texas during the first eight-months of this year are responsible for raising the state's traffic toll over the similar period for 1955 and if the current trend continues, the all-time record of 2547 deaths which were recorded last year stands to be exceeded by the end of December.

This information was contained in a statement released this week by Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas department of public safety, who said that while the records of the agency's statistical division showed two fewer fatal accidents through August than in the first eight months of 1955 that 32 more people were killed. This is due, he pointed out, to the fact that more than one person was killed in many of these accidents.

Through Aug. 31 of this year, 1607 persons had died in 1318 motor vehicle accidents in the state. In the same period last year, 1320 mishaps claimed 1575 lives.

The public safety director pointed to this past Aug. 18 as the deadliest day, traffic-wise, in Texas so far this year. On that date, 24 persons died in 14 accidents. This was a Saturday which is consistently one of the most hazardous days for highway travel but the traffic toll on that date approached the usual experience for a Christmas Eve which ordinarily runs the highest fatality total.

Garrison said that he could give no accounting for the extremely high number killed on Aug. 18 but that 15 of the 24 persons were killed in just five of the total fatal accidents recorded on that date. He said that excessive speed was most frequently the contributing factor in the death of more than one occupant of a vehicle. N. K. Woerner, chief of the DPS statistical division, has gone back through the department's records since complete tabulations were started in 1939 and has itemized all of the Texas traffic accidents since that time which resulted in the deaths of six or more persons. His figures show that during the 17-year interval 63 fatal accidents have claimed the staggering total of 484 deaths.

The latest of these mass slaughter entries was the three passenger car accident in Tyler county on Aug. 4, 1956, which cost eight lives.

The state's worst traffic mishap was the truck-train crash at Alamo in Hidalgo county on March 14, 1940, in which 29 farm workers were killed.

The second most deadly traffic disaster in Texas was the collision of the two Greyhound buses on U.S. highway 81 south of Waco on Aug. 4, 1952. Twenty-eight persons were killed in that tragedy.

Receiving third top "billings" according to fatalities was the Aug. 5, 1947, accident between two trucks north of Waxahachie in Ellis county on U.S. highway 77, in which 19 persons were killed.

The state's most deadly traffic mishap involving only passenger vehicles was the two-car collision on U.S. highway 80 near Weatherford in Parker county on Feb. 7, 1953, which claimed nine lives.

Woerner's reports reflect only one year during this period in which a multiple-fatality traffic accident has failed to take at least six lives. That was in 1944. Thus far, in 1956, two such accidents mark the record. In addition to the one in Tyler county last month, a two passenger car collision in Howard county on Feb. 11 took six lives.

An outlaw horse has won the contest from this striped-clad convict and the thrills are just beginning. Bigger, better, wilder than ever, the thrill-filled Annual Texas Prison Rodeo plays its 25th season with four big Sunday performances, October 7, 14, 21 and 28.

Salk Vaccine Gives Excellent Protection Against Paralytic Polio

Exactly one year has passed since Harrison County physicians and school officials, in legal disregard for "priority" ages, gave 7600 school children their first shots of Salk polio vaccine in Texas' first all-grades immunization campaign.

In the 12-months interim, not a single untoward reaction to the vaccine has occurred, and not a single case of paralytic polio has been diagnosed among the county's 50,000 population. One non-paralytic case was reported to state health officials in July.

"We consider the Harrison County campaign additional proof that Salk vaccine gives excellent protection against paralytic polio," said State Health Commissioner Henry A. Holte.

Dr. Holte called the East Texas county's drive against polio a "study in doctor-community cooperation." He said careful analysis of the project may give an indication as to what percentage of population must be immunized to forestall a polio epidemic.

Approximately 58 percent of the eligible Harrison County population was immunized with two shots of the protective vaccine. Third shots were given on the initiative of parents. In comparison, only 38 percent of the entire state's under-20 population have received two shots as of Sept. 30.

Prime movers behind what Dr. James H. Harris called "the action of free men facing a new situation," were the 18 physicians who compose the county medical society.

The State Department of Health, with approval of federal authorities, designated Harrison County as a special study area and furnished sufficient vaccine to inoculate all willing school children in grades 1 through 12. By contrast, established priority ages at that time included children under 15 and pregnant women.

Priorities have since been eliminated on the use of commercial vaccine, but still apply to the use of public vaccine to persons under 20 and expectant mothers.

Teamed with the physicians in the altruistic enterprise were school officials, teachers, hospital and special duty nurses, and doctors' wives. Their time was donated free. Doctors dipped into their own resources for clinic supplies, and paid the bills incident to advertising the clinics.

In answer to detractors of the mass program, Dr. Harris, president of the Harrison County Medical Society, says "we feel we followed the rules of science and ethics as responsible leaders of the organized medical profession in Harrison County. We feel our action was entirely compatible with the private practice of medicine."

Service Program Of Salvation Army Aids All

The Service Unit Committee of The Salvation Army in Ranger represents a combination of leading citizens and a spirit of service that strives to meet need at the time and point of need, according to Mrs. E. L. McMillen, chairman of the local group.

Based on the service creed of The Salvation Army around the world — "With Heart to God and Hand to Man" — the Service Unit Committee carries on the welfare program of the Army in this area, helping those in temporary distress. The members of the committee are volunteers who are deeply interested in the welfare of their fellowman and who serve the community without pay.

There are 142 Service Unit Committees of the Salvation Army in Texas with a total membership of approximately 1400 of the leading citizens of their communities.

The Ranger Service Unit Committee is a member of the Ranger Community Chest. According to Wilson Guest, "We of the Service Unit Committee believe strongly in the service-program of The Salvation Army in meeting need when and where it exists. We feel that it is impossible to measure the real value of a good meal or a clean bed or a prescription that has been filled to a person in actual need, and we are proud to do our part to see to it that everyone who is in need is cared for."

Typical of the services made available by Service Unit Committees is the case of the Harker family. The mother and three children came to a Texas city to seek help for the family. The father had been left in a hospital in Arizona. Shortly after the family arrived at the former home of the mother, her father died. The children were too small to be left alone while she worked, and there were no other members of her family who could help her. She was directed to the Service Unit Committee for help.

Members of the Service Unit Committee listened sympathetically to the story, did necessary checking for verification, and then made it possible for the family to return to their former home. They also referred the family to agencies in their home town who could help them until the father could return to work.

A short time ago, a letter came to the committee thanking them for their help and stating that the father had recovered and was back at work, with all the family together and on their own once more.

Hey, Gals, Take Care of Those Beautiful Eyes

Career girls work their eyes too hard. Fixed focusing of the eyes for long periods on letters, reports and other data frequently cause the weary feeling that often hits the hardest during mid-afternoon. The muscles of the eyes become tense and tired of holding the orbs at a fixed position. And tired eyes make you feel tired all over.

While it would undoubtedly relieve the tension on eye muscles to wink intermittently at your boss, give devastating side-glances to whoever comes in the office and gaze longingly at that good-looking man in the office of the opposite building, we can't recommend these as remedies. Here are some suggestions for avoiding eye fatigue that will enable the career girl to more fully enjoy an evening of relaxation after a full day's work.

1. If you are in that great army of suburban commuters, don't read on bus or train while riding to the office. Reading while on a moving vehicle is especially hard on the eyes. Your eyes are putting in a full day on the job and they need plenty of rest before as well as after work hours.

2. Once at your desk, give your eyes a rest several times each day. Cup your hands over the eyes and close them for a five-minute interval in both morning and afternoon.

3. Apply eye drops occasionally to refresh tired eyes. If mascara drips in your eyes while it is being applied, eye drops will act as a cleansing agent. Don't try to remove a speck of mascara or any other object from your eye by dabbing into it with your finger.

Remember, that your eyes are the most expressive feature you have and the most useful. Appreciate their usefulness with the same care you should give the other organs.

City Meeting Is Routine; Park Permits Pondered

Eastland city commissioners had a routine meeting Monday night, getting a few minor problems worked out.

Commissioners voted to have a screen built around the large Eastland sign on top of the Exchange Building to protect it from hail damage. The action was taken on recommendation of City Manager Jimmy Young. Young said the work would pay for itself in money saved from hail damage.

Commissioners also authorized Art Johnson to again make the City audit this year.

The city fathers agreed to make a study of the cemetery, with the thought in mind of possibly raising costs of the lots as high as those in Cisco and Ranger. Also discussed was the possibility of selling single burial space in the future. Now a person must buy at least a half a lot, enough for four graves, as a minimum.

Commissioners also discussed the commercial parking permit situation. They agreed that "too many permits have been sold to individuals. Young was told not to renew any permits when they expire.

Christian Science

The vital importance of applying the rules for living taught and practiced by Christ Jesus will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday in the lesson-sermon entitled "Doctrine of Atonement."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (37:22-25): "It is possible — yea, it is the duty and privilege of every child, man, and woman — to follow in some degree the example of the Master by the demonstration of Truth and Life, of health and holiness."

The golden text is from II Corinthians (5:18): "All things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation."
