BERLIN SEEMS CALM IN SPITE OF MUCH STRIFE

By WEBB MILLER United Press European News Manager (Copyright 1934 by United Press) BERLIN, July 7.—Outwardly Berlin seems absolutely normal today.

It is an apparent and not a real normality. Under the surface there is strife.

You would think, walking along, that this was one of the most pleasant cities in the world in which to be—busy, clean streets lined with attractive bright shops; well dressed healthy people; up-standing, bareheaded, tanned men; laughing, bare-legged blonde girls.

Beer and harder drinks flow freely—if you have the price—at some of the spots, according to informants. The price usually is far above the ordinary bootleg quotation.

County and city political candidates are making much of the situation. They are describing Fort Worth as one of the "loosest" cities in Texas and are threatening to "shut down such places within two weeks after I am elected."

Some of the strictly dancing halls however are doing a thriving business, without the "gambling" attraction. Proprietors look to this increased business as a sign indicative of general business recovery.

Night Clubs Are Now Numerous In Fort Worth

By W. WINSTON COPELAND United Press Staff Correspondent FORT WORTH, July 5.—Night clubs and dance hall operators are becoming so numerous here they literally tread on each others' heels in the scramble for patrons.

Some of them are getting a "big play." Others apparently are about two jumps ahead of the bankruptcy process server.

There are nearly a dozen larger night clubs and dancing resorts here, aside from many smaller ones.

At least four of the clubs reportedly operate gaming rooms "on the side." Three of these reportedly are somewhat lavish rooms, where you can play anything from dice to roulette, or lay a bet on tomorrow's horse race at various tracks throughout the nation.

The gaming rooms are keeping some of these places going, it is said, while their dancing floors are doing only mediocre or even poor business.

Night clubs sprang up here last fall like mushrooms. With the closing down of many of the winter resorts because of hot weather, new ones cropped out, most of them moving outside the city or near the edge of the city to escape the heat.

Two new ones have opened in the past month, one of them a luxurious, heavy-carpeted and pompous place.

Some of the strictly dancing halls however are doing a thriving business, without the "gambling" attraction. Proprietors look to this increased business as a sign indicative of general business recovery.

KERRVILLE, Texas.—It may be a case of follow the leader. At any rate, one Kerrville household became unusually prolific one recent week.

FLETCHER IN FIRST ATTACK ON DEMOCRATS

By United Press JACKSON, Miss., July 7.—Henry P. Fletcher, republican generalissimo, officially opened the party's 1934 campaign today, picturing the present administration as a meddlesome dictatorship put in power by rubber stamp congressmen.

His first address since being made chairman of the republican national committee, as prepared for delivery, asked how anyone can regard the party now in power as "democratic."

"It has gone completely hew deal," he told 50,000 Michigan republicans who rally officially opened the 1934 campaign. He described the administration a maze of bureaucratic agencies by means of which, he said, the president is administering power and authority comparable only to that of Hitler and Mussolini.

Influenced by fear and fascination, he said, congress has "undermined democracy and weakened representative government by surrendering its lawmaking powers to the president in matters affecting public welfare."

Clothed with unprecedented authority, the president has in turn delegated the control of the livelihood and prosperity of the American citizen to a vast maze of theorizing, meddling, directing, spending, lending and borrowing agencies lettered on the Russian model.

All previous administrations, democratic as well as republican, have supported, defended, even revered the constitution, he said.

SAMUEL INSULL AS A "DAMNED LITERARY FELLER"

Samuel Insull, facing trial in the criminal courts of Chicago, is a very busy man. He is writing a book. He is working six days a week as "a literary feller." He is going to tell how he started as a poor boy in England, crossed the Atlantic ocean, landed in the city of New York, became the secretary and adviser to the immortal Edison, kept his eye on the job, became the ruler of a $2,000,000,000 utilities empire, became an invisible ruler of a dozen commonwealths, went down in the crash of 1929, became a fugitive from justice, was extradited from Greece by American authorities and now at 74 patiently awaits the verdict of 12 of his peers in the jury box. Robert Quillen may not be a prophet, but his guess is that Samuel Insull will be given a verdict of acquittal. If so, his book should be one of "the six best sellers" along in autumn time.

It is time that the pacifist politicians should realize the fact that their efforts, laudable though they may be from a moral and economic standpoint, are simply wasted, and give up monkeying with the security of the nation.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES
"Sacrament" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 8. The Golden Text is: "The bread of God is he which cometh down from heaven, and giveth life unto the world" (John 6:33). Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Behand, I stand at the door, and knock; if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me" (Revelation 3:20). Sports writers have praised Carnera for not staying down for the count of nine. Maybe he couldn't count that high.

SOPHIE KERR'S SUPERB LOVE STORY "STAY OUT OF MY LIFE!"

By Sophie Kerr
I was more difficult than Jane... I had foreseen to make contact with her friend Amy could not come to her at once, as Jane demanded. She couldn't seem at first, come to her at all. Jane re-ally hated the notion of this. She knew that Amy couldn't dash off alone to New York at a moment's notice without giving Marburg an adequate reason, and Jane had no intention that Marburg gossip should lay hold of her name. But presently the opportunity came in an easy way. Old Professor Ellert was suddenly seized with a longing for one last visit to the scenes of his student days in Germany. He had so happily collected his geological specimens, and it was obvious even to himself that he could not go alone. Naturally he turned to Howard. He would pay the expenses. He would make the trip short—this last apologetically to Amy—but he did want powerfully to go and to have his young aide with him. It was impossible to refuse the old man. They rushed their preparations and sailed on the sixteenth of July. Amy came to New York to see them off. It was a hot steaming day and when the ship had pulled away from the pier Amy did not want to watch it down the river. She was tired from the stifling heat and distressed at this parting from Howard, for though she was used to his field trips this was different. He was so much farther away and besides, they had been planning to go abroad together in another year. It was all dis-appointing and stupid and nothing to be done. And now she was so hurried to see Jane and find out what her mysterious, disturb- ing unhappy letters meant. Amy hailed a taxi and gave Jane's address and tried to wrench her thoughts from her own feelings and get them into a proper state to meet Jane. "If she's simply acting and work- ing herself into one of her states as she used to do," Amy said to her self firmly. "I'd walk out on her flat. I don't want to hear any non- sense from Jane." ALL the same, it was exciting to think of seeing Jane again, of seeing where and how she lived, and perhaps being friends once more. Maybe Jane had repented the way she had behaved about Howard and her wild accusations against both him and Amy but that seemed unlikely. She wished the interview over the real reason for it she never once suspected. With her eyes still fixed from the outside glare she walked hesitantly into the shadowy salon of Jane's apartment, and a shadowy, misshapen figure came hesitantly to meet her. "Is Miss Terry—" began Amy. And Jane's voice, shrill, trem- bling, "Amy—Amy!" Then Amy knew why she had sent for her. She was so struck with horror and amazement that she could not speak but she held out her hands and the two women clung together in silence, which presently broke into a chaotic mur- muring half-speech half-incoherent wordless exclamation. "I knew—I knew you'd come. There was nobody but you." "Jane—oh poor Jane!" "Amy—Amy! I'm so afraid—it's all so dreadful!" "But Jane—tell me—" And Jane told. Not very much, not very clearly, but enough for Amy to understand the folly, the danger the pity of what she had done. Amy understood something more—that for once Jane was not acting, not shamming. For once Jane was honest with herself and her audience. "If you'll only stay with me, Amy. That's what I mind, being so utterly alone. If I only felt well, I'd get through it by myself, but I feel so strange. Sometimes I think I might die here without a soul around. You will stay with me, won't you? You won't leave me?" "BUT how can I stay, Jane? I only came on to see the boat sail. I didn't even close the house or make any arrangements. I haven't even any clothes with me except what I need for these two days." Her mother would take care of the house and her something to wear. And Howard was gone, would be gone for weeks. She might somehow manage it. Jane felt her weakening. "You can telegraph that you've decided to make me a little visit. Then you can write. They'll certainly see nothing odd in that. No one will think anything odd of whatever you do anyway. Amy. Oh stay with me! It's only another month. You couldn't go away and leave me now you've seen me." The two girls looked at one another. Amy loved as she had al- ways been in her fair serenity her fair life: Jane tumbled and swollen and hollow-eyed, aged and ill. It hurt Amy unbearably to see her so. And Jane, half glancing toward the nearest mirror said, with a twist of wry humor, "I look like the wages of sin, don't I? Oh, and I meant to be so free, so glorious. I ought to be shot for a fool." "Don't! Jane dear, don't! I only wish it was my child." "I'll give it to you, if you like. I'm going to send it away to be adopted as soon as it's born. I'm not going to keep it." "Jane, you don't mean that. That's the wickedest thing I ever heard of. You wanted to have this child and now you're not going to take care of it! That's horrible. I—you mustn't even think of such a horrible thing." Jane's great mournful eyes gazed at her friend in utter disillusion. "Amy," she said, "do you really think I'd make a good mother? Wouldn't any child be better off with someone who wants it? This child, if it lives—it ought never to know who its mother is." (Copyright, 1924, by Sophie Kerr) (To Be Continued.)

Candidates— (Continued from page 1) candidates or just "against" Gov- ernor Ross S. Sterling. Hunter is reported choice of the oil field workers, and there are about 50,000 of them to vote. Allred seems to be favored by other large labor groups. No candidate can claim a solid labor support. The week's end will also end a three-week test period said to have been set by a considerable center to determine if they would center on Witt or Small. Hear- say puts the meeting of the group at an Austin hotel and makes it politically strong. Hughes, apparently, fears that Hunter is getting the Bohemian vote. At Austin he said that Hunter was the first candidate to be dry in English and wet in Bohemian. Allred's personal vote appeal is to apolitical campaign what the sex appeal of some movie stars is to the boxoffice. It's indefinable, but it's there and it gets results. "Even his best friend" would tell Russell that he has no chance to get into the August run-off. He may get 25,000 votes. If he sell were not running and 25,000 should go in a run-off, some other candidate, the baby would decide who gets into the run-off.

To the Citizens of Eastland!

The Eastland Fuel Corporation is a company organized by Mr. A. S. Hickok, who is president of the Hickok Oil Corporation, of Toledo, Ohio, operating a large and successful oil and gasoline marketing business throughout Ohio, Michigan, Eastern Indiana, and Western New York. This company is capable of carrying out its business ventures and undertakings. The Hickok Oil Corporation is the parent company of the Consolidated Gasoline Company, the Hickok Producing & Development Company, and the Breckenridge Gasoline Company. The two first named companies have operated in Eastland for the past twelve years. During this period of time these companies have had an average pay roll well in excess of $5,000.00 per month, which has been and is now being spent in Eastland. In addition, these companies have paid producers and land owners royalties of over $1,000,000.00. If these concerns are to stay in business, they must find a market for their residue gas.

We have worked out a plan which we believe will aid in creating a market for such residue gas and will ultimately result in the City of Eastland owning its own gas system. It is a well known fact to us as well as to the people of Eastland, that a great many cities find it impractical to vote bonds in order to construct their own utility gas system, as many cities have desired to do. We have, therefore, agreed and do hereby propose to construct a gas distribution system at our own expense and, after the net revenue of this gas system shall have repaid the cost of installing the same, plus 6 per cent interest per annum, then the Eastland Fuel Corporation will give the system to the City of Eastland to be operated as its own. This offer is conditioned, however, upon the City and the citizens giving us their wholehearted support and upon our being protected from annihilation by the adoption of a minimum rate ordinance below which it shall be unlawful to sell gas within the City of Eastland. We have been notified that the prices will be cut for the purpose of running us out, should we go into the gas distribution business.

The important parts of the plan proposed are as follows:

- (1) To build a new gas distribution plant.
- (2) This gas distribution system, to be constructed of new material, will cost about $80,000.00, of which approximately one-half or $40,000.00, will be paid for labor to Eastland people.
- (3) To supply this system with gas from wells in this territory so far as practical.
- (4) After the net revenue of this gas system shall have repaid the cost of installing the system, plus 6 per cent interest per annum, then to give the system to the City of Eastland, after which the city can determine its own rates. We guarantee to apply at least 12½c (approximately 20%) from each 1,000 cubic feet of domestic and commercial gas sold toward the repayment of the investment.
- (5) We propose to charge the following rates for gas for the various classes of service and our franchise and rate ordinance, if granted, will limit the rates to an extent that no higher rate than these may be charged:

DOMESTIC RATE:
60c per 1,000 cu. ft.
Minimum Bill $1.00 allowing 1,666 cu. ft.

COMMERCIAL RATE:
First . . . 20,000 cu. ft. . . 60c per 1,000 cu. ft.
Next . . . 10,000 cu. ft. . . 58½c per 1,000 cu. ft.
Next . . . 20,000 cu. ft. . . 54c per 1,000 cu. ft.
Next . . . 150,000 cu. ft. . . 27c per 1,000 cu. ft.
Next . . . 300,000 cu. ft. . . 22½c per 1,000 cu. ft.
Minimum Bill $1.00

INDUSTRIAL RATE No. 1:
First . . . 50,000 cu. ft. . . 45c per 1,000 cu. ft.
Next . . . 150,000 cu. ft. . . 27c per 1,000 cu. ft.
Next . . . 300,000 cu. ft. . . 22½c per 1,000 cu. ft.
Next . . . 1,500,000 cu. ft. . . 21c per 1,000 cu. ft.
Minimum Bill $27.50

INDUSTRIAL RATE No. 2:
First . . . 150,000 cu. ft. . . 30c per 1,000 cu. ft.
Next . . . 150,000 cu. ft. . . 22½c per 1,000 cu. ft.
All over 300,000 cu. ft. . . 18c per 1,000 cu. ft.
Minimum Bill $45.00.

ALL RATES LISTED ABOVE ARE NET

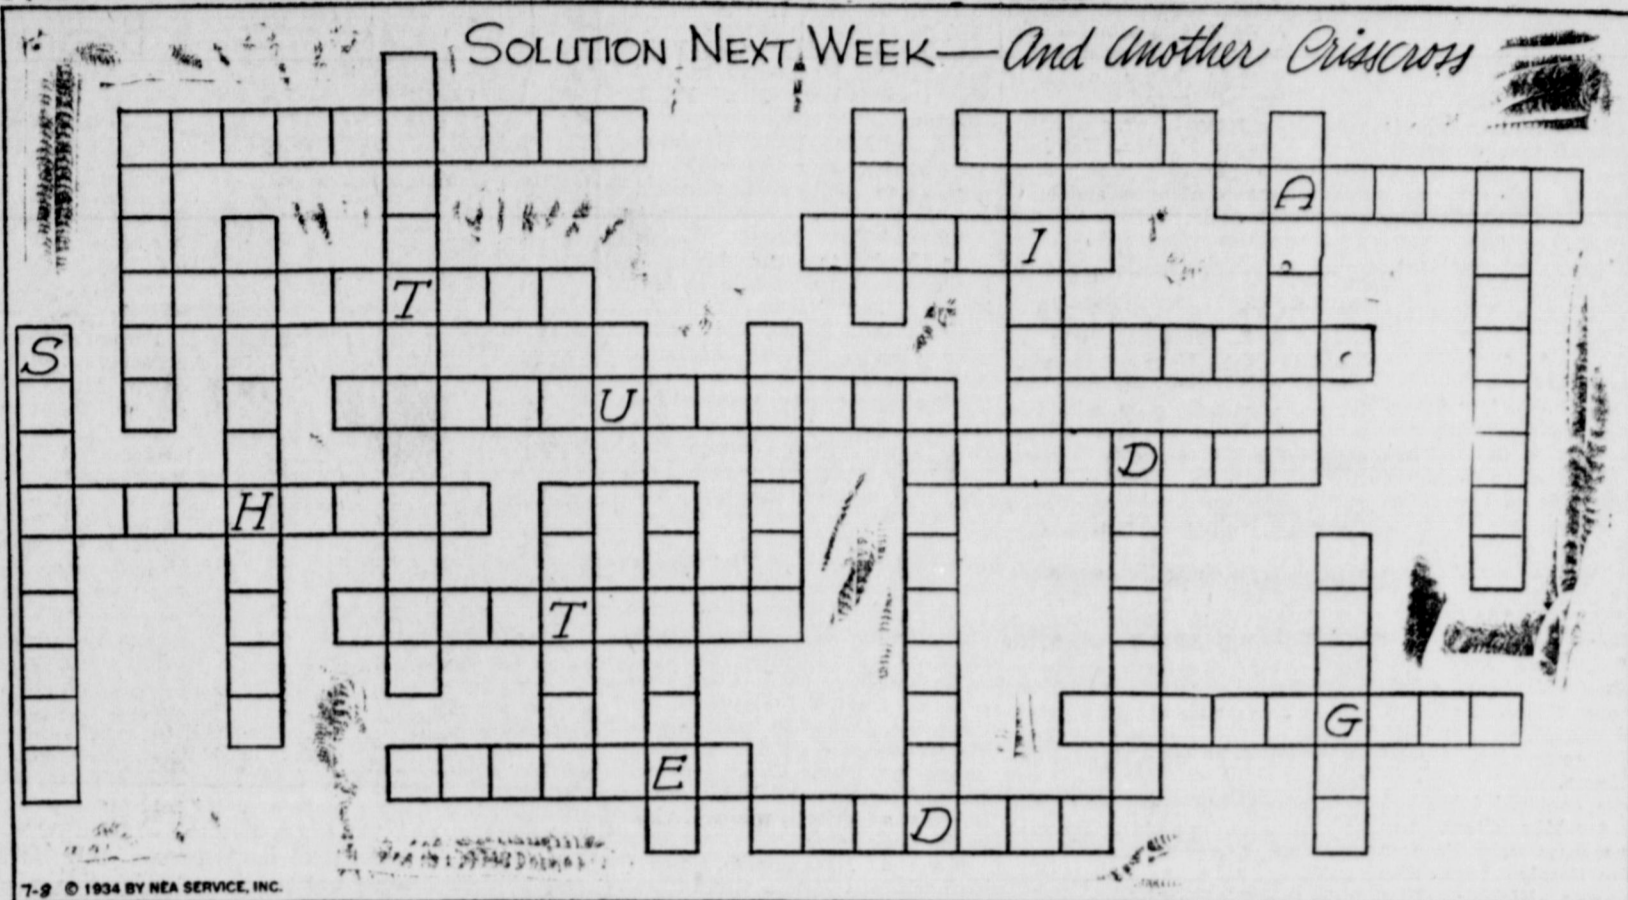

This company does not propose to enter into a rate fight nor a newspaper controversy and unless protected by a minimum rate ordinance, shall be forced to withdraw this proposal.

Respectfully submitted,
EASTLAND FUEL CORPORATION

V. V. Cooper Is Running His Race Upon His Merits

TO THE VOTERS OF PRECINCT NO. 1, EASTLAND COUNTY

In offering myself as a candidate for commissioner of this precinct, it shall be my purpose to make the race on my own merits, qualifications and past record. My opponent is charging me, as former commissioner, with being responsible for the precinct being in debt when he went into office. In this connection, I desire to state that this indebtedness was unavoidable and was occasioned by reason of the fact that the State Highway Department required the widening of highways through Eastland County and about fifty-five miles of Highways Numbers 1 and 67 were in Precinct No. 1. It cost approximately $15,000.00 to provide right-of-way, remove and rebuild fences and purchase and install necessary culverts. Furthermore, one rain in June, 1932, washed out fifty-six bridges and culverts which of necessity had to be replaced and rebuilt at a cost of $4,000.00. Then again in the summer of 1932 the old bridge on Colony Creek at the Panhandle Lease had to be replaced with an 80-foot steel span and the wooden bridge on Ranger Thurber road in East end of the county burned and had to be replaced, the two costing approximately $4,500.00. The circumstances which caused the above expenditures were, of course, beyond my control and I should not be held responsible for them. In the expenditure of the above amount which were absolutely necessary, many of our unemployed citizens were given employment. Not only was it my official duty to make these improvements and expend these funds, but I also had the satisfaction of knowing that the money spent for labor went into the hands of many of our needy and worthy citizens. While in office I tried at all times to be conservative, I was not unmindful of my fellowman's material needs. I hope that you will bear in mind that while I was in office I did not have thousands of dollars of C. W. A. funds to spend on projects in my precinct as has your present commissioner. I will leave it to your present commissioner. I will leave it to your judgment as to whether or not these funds have been wisely spent.

Much is being said about first and second terms. I believe you are not so much interested in the terms as you are in the service which you will receive.

I desire to mention a few things which I favor and will work for if elected:

I favor building and maintaining good roads at the least possible cost and which would serve the greatest number of people.

I believe a laborer should be paid wages that will enable them to properly support their families. I will give every consideration to the old, poor and needy of the county who are not being provided for otherwise.

I will co-operate with the teachers and parents of the schools in my precinct, as I have done in the past, in bettering the roads leading to the schools and also properly grading and maintaining school grounds.

I favor giving reductions in tax values wherever and whenever justifiable.

I most respectfully request that you give my candidacy your careful consideration, then, if you believe with my qualifications and experience that I can serve to the best advantage and can favor me with your support and influence you may be assured that it will be deeply appreciated.

Promising you, if elected your commissioner that I will be on the job at all times working for the best interest of our precinct.

Very truly yours,
V. V. COOPER.

American Sailors Fight With French

By United Press
NICE, France, July 7.—All shore leave from the Americap battleships Arkansas and Wyoming was cancelled today after street riots that left 20 American seamen injured and 40 in the ship's brig. Two of the injured were in serious condition. A police statement said the biggest riot, at the Cafe de Paris, started when a large bill was presented to a group of seamen and one of them said: "Take it off the war debt." The fight was on.

The afternoon closed with the playing of anagrams.
A Pretty Luncheon
 One of the attractive affairs of last week was the informal luncheon, given by Miss Margaret Fry at her home in honor of Miss Jean Kitley of Troup.

Monday Evening Bridge Club

Mrs. R. L. Ferguson was at home to the Monday Evening Bridge club recent meeting, entertaining at 8:00 p. m. with two tables appointed in green tallies, seating Misses Imogene Jones, Hassie Graham, Nell Caton; Mmes. Weldon Graham, W. H. Cooper, Walter Green, A. C. Creamer, and hostess.
 High score favor in game, a green bath towel was awarded Miss Jones, and consolation, a novelty whisk broom, went to Mrs. Green.
 A supper plate was served of tuna fish sandwiches, potato flakes, olives, cheese wafers, small cakes and tea with mint and lemon.
 The club will meet July 16th, at 8:00 p. m., with Miss Jones at the home of Mrs. M. B. Griffin.

Busy Bee Sewing Club

Mrs. Argye Fehl entertained the Busy Bee Sewing Club in a most attractive fashion at her home Friday afternoon, when, despite the sudden storm, a large number attended.
 Guests were Mrs. Huffman of Breckenridge, and Mmes. Hatten and Warner Hatten of Eastland, and members present were Mmes. R. L. Ferguson, Arthur Vaughn, J. C. Creamer, J. M. Beale, Ira L. Hanna, J. V. Freeman Jr., and Joe Kraemer Jr.
 Sewing occupied the little group the earlier part of the afternoon, and refreshments were served of cheese sandwiches with stuffed olive topping, devils food cake, and tea with lemon.
 The pleasant meeting closed with the presentation to Mrs. Beale of a shower of dainty gifts in white wrappings, tied with pink and blue ribbons, and brought in by Warner Hatten Jr., who wheeled a little red wagon, piled high with the gifts.

Open House

Mary Frances Hunter Hostess
 Miss Mary Frances Hunter entertained with "open house" Friday night at City Park, receiving her guests at the stone clubhouse.
 The affair honored Miss Jean Kitley of Troup, and Miss Susan Frances Schmidt of De Leon.
 The wide verandas were used for dancing, and several card tables were arranged in the clubhouse for informal games. Fortune telling was a popular feature.
 The porches were brilliantly lighted with red and green electric bulbs and electric victrola and radio music kept the merry group occupied.
 The daintily arranged table for the punch bowl was presided over by Miss Mairfed Hale and Osgood Hunter, and this refreshment with icebox cakes was served during the evening.
 Mrs. F. O. Hunter, mother of the young hostess, and Mrs. J. L. Cottingham assisted in the entertaining.
 Those present: Misses Ellen Pearson, Clara June Kimble, Edith Meek, Carolyn Doss, Kathleen Cottingham, Frances Harrell and her house guest, Miss Mozelle Ramshay of Dallas; Misses Ruth Meek, Carolyn Cox, Florence Perkins, Ouida Sanderson, Norma Frances Vickers, Katherine Garrett, Joan Johnson, Doris Van Geem, Margaret Fry, Doris Lawrence, Lewai Chance, Mairfed Hale, Mae Taylor, Mildred Lamb, Edith Rosenquest, Fae Taylor; Bob Sikes, Andy Taylor, Richard White, W. E. Kellett, R. L. Perkins Jr., Horace Horton, Ward Mullings, Bobby Burkett of Cisco, Alex Clarke Jr., Frank Hatten, Curtis Terrell, Royer Moorhead, Billy Satterwhite, Finis Burkhead, Irvin Cottingham, Russell Sanderson, Tom Harrison, Bob Dwyer, Rex Gray, Hiram Childress, Billy Shoopman, Wesley Lane, Orville Harrell, Fred Davenport, Billy Doss, Roger Arnold, Parker Brown, Raymond Lovett, Clyde Chaney, Osgood Hunter, Albert Martin, Bob McGlamery, John Hart, Raymond Pipkin, Milan Williams, B. H. Brogdon, Marshall Coleman, Ralph Mahon Jr., Miss Hunter, hostesses: Misses Kitley and Schmidt, honorees, and Mmes. F. O. Hunter and J. L. Cottingham.

Linger Not Club

Little Miss Doris Collie of Amarillo was the honor guest of the charming little Linger Not club, entertained by Elizabeth Ann Sikes, Friday afternoon.
 Mrs. R. E. Sikes, mother of the young hostess, served a fruited punch and small cakes, as the girls entered the home.
 The program was opened by the hostess, and some clever dances and readings were given by various members.
 A delightful time was had by Doris Collie, Edna Clarke, Eloise Johnson, Kathleen Collie, Donese Parker, Mary Jo Collie, Virginia

Wanted to Wait In Jail For Wedding

GREAT FALLS, Mont.—Alex Zwanetzek waded indignantly when the judge here proposed to sentence him to 30 days in jail on a vagrancy charge.
 "I want 90 days, or nothing," the laborer demanded.
 "My girl friend is doing 90 days in jail now. We're going to be married when she gets out. I haven't anything else to do, and I want to stay in jail 'till her time's up!"
 The court granted Alex's request and he strode away to his cell.

CARD OF THANKS

We deeply appreciate all the kind expressions of love and sympathy extended us during the illness and death of our son and loved one. May God bless each of you abundantly in our sincere prayer.
 Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sparr and Relatives.

SURE! We'll Put You Up For The Night

How many times has the above expression been used in Texas, in the last hundred years? And it carried with it the sentiment for real hospitality, perhaps little to offer, but willing to share. This sentiment is closely akin to Hilton Hospitality, we have everything in the way of service, accommodations and comfort to offer, and always at never changing rates of $2.00, $2.50, and $3.00. Pay any one of our eight hotels a visit, and enjoy Hilton Hospitality.
