Tisza Defenses Crushed By Red Hungarian Move

By W. W. HERCHER LONDON, Sunday, Oct. 8 (AP)—Swift Russian tank and cavalry forces crashed the entire axis defense system east of the Tisza river in southeastern Hungary yesterday, racing through 300 more towns and villages in a 28-mile advance that carried to within 83 miles of Budapest, imperilled Magyar capital.

With the seizure of Gyoma, rail town on the Bucharest-Budapest trunk railway, the Russians had advanced 55 miles northwest of Arad, western Romanian jumping-off base, in their rapid campaign to knock out Hungary, last big axis satellite still in the war.

The big rail junction towns of Bekescsaba, Oroshaza, Bekes, and other important points fell in the massive drive, which now has overrun 400 localities and bypassed Hungary's second city of Szeged, at the lower end of a 75-mile invasion arc.

Hungarian troops bolstered by Nazi reinforcements were battling fiercely at the lower end of the invasion line in the 15-mile sector between Szeged on the Tisza river and captured Mako, 15 miles to the east.

At the top of the front moving relentlessly across the plains the Russians announced the capture of Szeghalom, 35 miles west of the by-passed western Romanian rail junction of Oradea, one of two major Nazi escape routes out of Transylvania.

Szeghalom, 21 miles inside pre-war Hungary, is only 40 miles southwest of Debrecen, the flight exit for scores of thousands of Germans and Hungarians fighting far to the east in Transylvania's rugged uplands.

At Nagyszenas, 19 miles south of Gyoma, one Russian spearhead was only 19 miles east of a Tisza river crossing at Szentos.

Moscow dispatches said Cossack cavalry and armored units were slashing easily through axis resistance and by-passing large numbers of bewildered enemy troops. Berlin and Budapest both spoke of a "large scale" Soviet offensive.

Enemy fighter opposition was concentrated in the Leipzig area, where Fortresses were engaged in a brief but sharp attack by more than 50 Messerschmidts and Focke-Wulfs.

Bomber gunners reported destroying 11 German fighters, while U. S. fighters shot down 22, including four jet-propelled planes.

Bookings for slaughtering cattle and hogs began last Monday. The owners urge that these bookings be made in advance, since only 12 head of cattle can be accepted for processing per day. Hogs will be butchered on Tuesdays only, and approximately 30 can be handled in one week.

This plant is one of the most modern plans of its type, having 650 lockers, some of which have a capacity of 300 pounds.

There are special rooms for slaughtering, chilling, processing and curing. There are enclosed receiving pens and the slaughter rooms are white tiled and built to maintain sanitary conditions.

Nazi Oil Supply Is Hit By Air Armada

By HENRY B. JAMESON LONDON, Oct. 7 (AP) — Germany's oil supply, armament works, airplane factories and explosives plants were struck today by the greatest Allied aerial blow of the war, with combined assaults sending from 6,000 to 7,000 Allied planes over the reich.

A U. S. strategic airforce communiqué called the American part of the operation "the greatest coordinated aerial assault of the war."

Heavy opposition was reported from flak and enemy fighters, and the Eighth air force alone reported 51 heavy bombers and 15 fighters missing from daylight operations.

Tonight several German cities were in flames and there was fresh devastation over the length and breadth of German territory from more than 16,000 tons of bombs cascaded down in 24 hours.

High explosives and incendiaries seared Germany, Austria, Hungary and the Nazi western front, as fine weather gave Allied flyers their chance to strike.

British Forces Overrun Most Of Peloponnesus; Strafe Airfields

By WILLIAM B. KING ROME, Oct. 7 (AP)—British invasion forces have overrun most of the Peloponnesus, home of the ancient Spartans, it was announced today, and Allied strafing of Athens' airfields indicated that they would soon cross the isthmus of Corinth to the Greek mainland, scene of their bitter 1941 retreat.

Behind the liberating Tommies came a Greek government-in-exile representative who took over administration of the peninsula and told a crowd clamoring in the north port of Patrai for a peoples' rule that their exiled monarch, King George II, and his government would try "to satisfy your wishes."

Pilots returning from strafing missions, during which they blasted at least a score of planes, said German units were in flight from Greece, leaving their air force without land force protection.

Greek patriots at Patrai said that the Germans had cleared out of the northern part of the peninsula, just as they had fled the southern ports and central regions earlier.

There was no further information on a light force which landed in Albania.

Communications on Greek operations have been far behind the accomplishments, and it may be assumed that second phases of the invasion, the drive to the Greek mainland, is well under way.

(A dispatch from Cairo said the Germans had blocked the Corinth canal, cutting across the Corinth isthmus between the Peloponnesus and the mainland, by blowing two bridges and sinking a blockship. Greek sources in London said fighting had broken out inside Athens and the Germans blocked all roads into the capital.)

An Allied communiqué announced that British ships bombarded the island of Levitha Thursday, then sent landing parties ashore which seized the commander and the eastern half of the island. Levitha is a small island 43 miles west of the Turkish coast.

McAlLEN, Oct. 7 (AP) — Two pilots were killed, one is missing and a fourth parachuted safely from two planes on a routine training flight collided in the air near Corpus Christi yesterday, the Moore Field public relations officer said here today.

Lt. William Ference, Peckville, Pa., and Lt. Robert Landmeyer, Wheeling, W. Va., were killed. The missing man, an officer, has not been identified. Flight Officer Robert Hemphill parachuted safely, and was rescued by a plane from the Corpus Christi naval station.

Chief he says, "Such common hazards as defective heating and electric equipment, misuse of gasoline and kerosene, flammable wood shingled rooftops, careless disposal of matches and cigarettes, and accumulation of flame-breeding rubbish present no insuperable obstacle. But as long as such conditions are permitted to exist, the fire danger will exist. Fire Prevention Week is the time to enlist in the struggle against these enemies that have infiltrated the home front."

Japs Suffer As Bombs Rain Down

By RAY CRONIN Associated Press War Editor As the Japanese boasted about the air power they now have "ready for action" against the United States, the two American commanders in the Pacific Saturday reported widespread aerial strikes against Nipponese island bases ranging from the Kuriles in the far north to points south of the Equator.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur said Southwest Pacific bombers lashed Celebes and the Moluccas with 152 tons of explosives; attacked small shipping at Zamboanga, southwestern Philippines, and bombed airdromes, docks and shipping in waters west of Dutch New Guinea.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported three air raids in the northern Kuriles, during which they sank a cargo ship and fought off 15 to 20 interceptors probably destroying two and damaging two. Yap island and the Truk Atoll also were hit.

American tanks and artillery made some progress against the Japanese fighting from caves on Peleliu's Bloody Nose ridge. Marine planes hit Babelthup island, in the Palau north of Peleliu.

The Chinese said brisk fighting continued in Foochow's northwestern suburbs and that the invaders to the southeast were "being engaged by our forces."

After claiming complete occupation of Foochow three days ago the Japanese changed their tune. Their latest communiqué said only the "outskirts" of the city had been "completely reduced" by the morning of Oct. 4.

In Kwangsi province heavy fighting continued as a fresh Japanese drive was halted about 12 miles west of Hingan and 25 miles north of Kweilin, the Nippon objective.

Meanwhile Preston Grover, Associated Press war correspondent, reporting from a U. S. air base in China under date of Oct. 4, said the loss of a half dozen American forward airdromes in east China was forcing a recasting of strategy. The new strategy, he said, eventually "may call for an amphibious strike against Japanese-held Singapore and the Malay peninsula by Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten's southeast Asia command."

In southwest China, where Allied forces are battling to reopen the old Burma Road for land movement of supplies, the Chinese recaptured an important hill position near Lungling and repulsed a Japanese counterattack. Lungling is Japan's most important remaining base in the Burma China frontier zone.

Howard County 4-H Club Boys Visit Airfield

Lt. L. Duppe and Lt. J. Malone of the San Angelo Goodfellow Field, escorted over 100 district 6 winning 4-H Club boys over the field for participating in the "Feed A Fighter" contest.

Boys were shown the parachute room and given demonstrations on how to fold, unfold, pack it and put one on. Different types of planes were shown and maps of the war in Europe and Southwest Pacific were explained to the boys, who also were taken through the entire mechanic and paint shop of the field.

Harold Simpson of Gay Hill was given a ride in one of the link trainers, and the plane's instruments explained to him. Lunch was served in the officers mess hall, and Lt. Duppe presented each of the "Feed A Fighter Boys" with a certificate from the Quartermasters Corps of the U. S. Army, certifying their help in the war effort.

Attending from Howard County were Burrell Hull, Coahoma; Harold Simpson, Gay Hill; Lloyd Lewin, Knott and Durward Webster, Howard County Agent.

Boys unable to attend were Fred Phillips and James Coates.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Lamun have received the certificate of award for the Purple Heart, given posthumously to their son, Pvt. David Lamun. David, a graduate of Big Spring high school and a former John Tarleton student before his enlistment in the infantry, was killed in action in France on July 3.

By ROBERT EUNSON SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Oct. 7 (AP) — Doughboys of the U. S. First army cracked German defenses wide open along a six-mile front north of Aachen today and swept up six German towns in a high-powered three-mile drive that countered witing resistance.

The Americans over-ran Beggendorf, Basweiler, Herbach, Merktstein, Hofstadt and Alsdorf as they hammered to a point five to six miles inside Germany in the onrush that was described by an American staff officer as a definite breakthrough. The U. S. troops are meeting less artillery fire and weaker opposition, field dispatches reported tonight.

Tanks, infantry, artillery and supplies poured into Germany through the gap torn by the Americans. Planes and tanks battered at the enemy as the U. S. advance units pressed ahead.

Thus two great American armies, the First and Third, were cementing their assault lines from Holland to northern France, but for the moment at least it was the First army which was driving toward the industrial heart of Germany along the Rhine and Ruhr.

The power drive, rolling over the bitterly fought Ubach sector nine miles north of the historic invasion gateway to Germany at Aachen, overran the German town of Basweiler, severing one of two main roads leading 39 miles northeast to Dusseldorf at the doorway to the rich Ruhr valley.

While this momentous fighting was raging, other doughboys in almost division strength were rolling through the forests 25 miles southeast of Aachen in a new punch that had already carried through the first mine fields and dragons teeth of the west wall against negligible resistance.

Between these two sectors, First army troops fighting within 25 miles of Cologne in the Hurlgen forest 10 miles southeast of Aachen hammered forward three quarters of a mile, cleared the last of the west wall's pillboxes and were tackling the earthworks beyond.

On the Third army front, the Americans wrested the northwest and southwest corners of the great Fort Briant from the German garrison, fought 100 yards down an underground passage leading to the main fortifications, but then found their way barred by steel and concrete bulkheads.

But this key fortress guarding Metz on the west was hotly pressed, German batteries could no longer depress their guns, so close were the American attackers, and one force seized positions atop artillery emplacements next to the main battery in the center of the fort.

On the southern end of the front, the U. S. Seventh army in gains of from five to seven miles closed on Le Thillot, 18 miles north of Belfort, from three sides and were only six miles west of the 2,398-foot Bussang Pass which leads through the heart of the Vosges to the Rhineland.

The most significant American gains were made along the main highway 65 running northward from Florence to Bologna. It was here that the doughboys drove the Germans from positions around Loiano and advanced two miles beyond.

To the east another Fifth army thrust north from the mountain village of Sassoleone carried to within 10 miles of Castel San Pietro, which lies on the all-important Bologna-Rimini highway and rail routes.

City Officials Report All Pipe Will Arrive Here In Needed Time

City officials report that all pipe for the new water well system is now in transit and will be in Big Spring by the time it is needed. Wells No. 10, 11 and 12 have been drilled, cased and tested. Well No. 11 test pumped at 430 gallons, and No. 12 tested at 230 gallons, but No. 10 tested at a capacity too small for use. Well No. 1 is complete except for pump foundation and pumped at 385 gallons per minute. Well No. 2 has been drilled, cased and gravel filled but not test pumped. No. 4 has been drilled, cased and ready for the test pump which will probably be placed Monday, and No. 7 is ready to be reamed. Drilling has been completed on well No. 9 and the pump has been placed ready for preliminary test before placing casing.

All pipe is laid in the well floor except 2,400 feet of 12 inch 70 feet of 10 inch pipe and 100 feet of 8 inch. There has been laid 600 feet of 14 inch, 3,200 feet of 10 inch, and 3,900 feet of 8 inch. All pipe is on the ground.

S. C. Cooper, city engineer, announced Saturday that pumping from Powell lake will begin Monday morning. About 50 per cent of the water consumed by the city will be pumped from that source and the remaining 50 per cent will be taken from the old wells.

Seven miles of 14-inch pipe have been placed on the line from the well fields to Big Spring. One and a fourth miles of the same size pipe has not been placed and is not on the ground. Of the 16-inch pipe, 7-3/4 miles have been placed and 1-1/2 miles have been

German Divisions Build New Defense

By NOLAN NORGAARD ROME, Oct. 7 (AP)—The Germans, with eight divisions reported opposing the stubbornly advancing American Fifth army, have again failed to stabilize their front in central Italy and apparently are trying to build a new defensive line farther north, Allied headquarters said today.

The Americans drove forward two miles past the captured town of Loiano to a point only 12 miles from the great communications center of Bologna, at the edge of the wide Po valley sweeping across the north of Italy.

The most significant American gains were made along the main highway 65 running northward from Florence to Bologna. It was here that the doughboys drove the Germans from positions around Loiano and advanced two miles beyond.

To the east another Fifth army thrust north from the mountain village of Sassoleone carried to within 10 miles of Castel San Pietro, which lies on the all-important Bologna-Rimini highway and rail routes.

Big Spring - Week - Joe Pickle

Now that Fire Prevention Week has rolled around again, the occasion is ripe for reminding Big Spring policy holders that this business makes sense. It ought not require any special argument, for Big Spring today pays about 40 per cent more than it ought to be paying for its insurance simply because we have permitted some bad fires to occur.

What's the matter with us here? Our special gifts campaign for the community war chest of Howard county has lagged badly. Dallas had its quota two-thirds rased at a kick-off meeting last week. There isn't any sound reason why we should not do equally as well in proportion to our population. It's up to everybody to give promptly and liberally this week to pull our campaign out of the doldrums and avoid prolonging our obligation until it becomes an agony.

Fire Prevention Week Begins

Today begins Fire Prevention Week. The week will be begun with the pastors of the churches of Big Spring reading a letter on the importance of fire safety from Fire Chief H. V. Crocker. Chief Crocker and Fire Marshal F. W. Bettie will present programs at the service clubs and essay and poster contests will begin in the public schools next week.

Despite the fact that there is little bombing and sabotage in America, fire losses have soared. The great majority of these fires, according to the National Fire Protection association, is caused by carelessness. Fire damage for Big Spring from August of 1943-44 has been approximately $20,000. Insurance premiums paid during 1943 amounted to $80,800.80. At present Big Spring is operating under a penalty of 15 per cent, and only care in the prevention of fires can bring that amount down. Chief Crocker stated that a majority of the runs are made to the western and northern sections of Big Spring, but that the damage rate is higher in the southern areas. Marshal Bettie and Chief Crocker will conduct programs at the Rotary club on Tuesday, Lions club on Wednesday, the Kiwanis club on Thursday and on Friday they will be at A. B. Club. In addition the city of Big Spring will sponsor trailers at the moving picture theaters beginning Sunday. In a statement from the Fire

Chief he says, "Such common hazards as defective heating and electric equipment, misuse of gasoline and kerosene, flammable wood shingled rooftops, careless disposal of matches and cigarettes, and accumulation of flame-breeding rubbish present no insuperable obstacle. But as long as such conditions are permitted to exist, the fire danger will exist. Sherlock Holmes Meets Trouble In Spider Woman

The bizarre plot and thrilling dramatic episodes, superb interpretations of their famed characters, expertly paced direction enhanced by top-notch camera work, have been blended effectively in Universal's "Spider Woman," latest in the series of Sherlock Holmes detective stories which is at the Lyric today and Monday.

Basil Rathbone and Nigel Bruce co-starred respectively, as Sherlock Holmes and Dr. Watson, the unerring Baker street sleuth's loyal companion. Gale Sondergaard appears as the cunningly ruthless Adrea Spedding, Holmes' dangerous adversary.

A competent supporting cast, deserving special mention, includes Dennis Hovey, Arthur Hohl, Mary Gordon, Alec Craig and Vernon Downing. Each is outstanding in his respective role.

The characters in "Spider Woman" are based upon the well-known fictional persons created by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. The story deals with a succession of mysterious "pyjama" suicides which the great Holmes deduces to be diabolically contrived murders.

In solving the crimes, Sherlock runs into many baffling problems set in his path by the psychopathically brilliant Adrea Spedding whose lethal activities are rewarded by the victim's life insurance policies.

First Snows Of Season Are Reported From Vosges Segment Of Tight Fight

Associated Press War Analyst
The first light snows of the season are reported from the Vosges segment of the tight-fisted Allied - Nazi battle front. Their fall hints ominously at an early winter in Western Europe which might dim Allied hopes of knocking out German defenses on the Rhine before a weather stalemate develops.

Snow in early October is not unusual in the Alpine mountain spurts jutting northward to flank the upper Rhine. There have been other inconclusive portents, however, to suggest that the time factor is running heavily against the probability of decisive action in the west in the weeks of possible maneuver weather that remain.

Even so, it would be risky to write off the Allied offensive against the Siegfried line, particularly against its northern sector, at this stage. It still falls short of the full scale operation that General Eisenhower has the men and equipment at hand to organize.

The Allied commander has yet to reveal his full hand. Rain severely handicapped close support air operations during the first five days of the first army drive to create the Libach dent in enemy defenses north of Aachen. As the sun broke through again, Allied plans came swarming over the battle zones anew. Given only a few days of suitable flying conditions and they could conceivably tip the scales decisively in Allied favor and open the way for a full dress offensive.

While the outlook in the west remains uncertain, there seems every prospect that in the Balkans and on the great plains of Hungary and northeastern Yugoslavia a fresh disaster is stalking close at Nazi heels. German retreat from Greece and the whole southern arc of the Balkan peninsula is in full progress to escape the deadly Russian drive up the Danube valley that ominously threatens Budapest and even Vienna. In Italy the last gothic line defenses of the Po valley are bending almost to the breaking point. Neutral sources report that the Germans are frantically ripping out war plant machinery in northwestern Italy for shipment north of the Alps.

Twentieth Century Fox Brings Public Thrilling Navy Sequence

Out of the welter of motion pictures devoted to killing the stories of our various fighting services, it remained for 20th Century-Fox to bring us what is by far one of the most thrillingly exciting and heartwarming human epics of them all, in the screen's first great drama of our aircraft carrier force in action. The film, "Wing And A Prayer—The Story of Carrier X" opens at the Ritz theatre today.

Starring Don Ameche, Dana Andrews and William Wyler, the picture is a stirring salute to the gallant Navy men of the sky whose home is a flat-top. The screen is flooded with the rousing humor, adventure and drama of life aboard an aircraft carrier. But more than that, it reveals the amazing story behind the strategy that paved the way for spectacular victory over the Japs at Midway.

In the first hot flush of indignation against the treacherous Jap sneak-attack on Pearl Harbor, and with the country asking, "Why don't we fight back?" and "Where is our Navy?" an unidentified aircraft carrier is sent into the Pacific for a rendezvous with its planes. But when the planes land aboard the flat-top, the rarin'-to-go flyers are told that their orders are to avoid combat with the enemy—to run away and not fight back—and the carrier, with its bewildered and frustrated crew sets out on an apparently aimless course through Jap-infested waters. It is against this setting of suspense and drama that the saga is unfolded, reaching a smashing climax that scores a new high in film excitement.

In casting the picture, producers William A. Bacher and Walter Morosco have drawn heavily on 20th Century-Fox's top line of male stars. Don Ameche as Commander Harper who is all Navy; Dana Andrews as the easy-going squadron commander; William Wyler as the ex-movie star, and Charles Bickford as the carrier's skipper. All turn in rich and compelling performances that stand among their best. In the supporting cast Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Kevin O'Shea, Richard Jaeckel and Henry Morgan, call for special mention.

Director Henry Hathaway has kept the story moving at an excitingly brisk pace, with the dramatic action artfully peppered with brilliantly conceived humor. The film owes its telling authenticity to Lieutenant-Commander R. L. Middleton who was assigned by the Navy department to serve as the picture's technical advisor. Lieutenant-Commander Middleton was one of the officers on the aircraft carrier "Lexington" when it went down.

Mark "Wing And A Prayer—The Story of Carrier X" as a picture that must be seen for it is one of the best screen entertainments of the year.

Notre Dame Irish Tromp Tulane 26-0

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 7 (AP)—Hard-hitting Notre Dame crushed game but untested Tulane, 26-0, today with a show of explosive power that left little doubt the Irish will make a rugged defense of their national collegiate title this season.

Bob Kelly, star of the Pitt game, scored one touchdown. It came in the second period and started the Irish on their way. Kelly, who lugged the ball 13 times for 77 yards, speared a 28-yard touchdown pass from Quarterback Frank Dancewicz on the first play of the second period.

California Ties Trojans At 6 All In Surprise Game

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7 (AP)—The vastly underrated Golden Bears of the University of California fought to a 6-6 tie today with Southern California's Trojans and gave 40,000 spectators a highly exciting afternoon by missing a touchdown and victory by the margin of one foot in the fourth quarter.

Sharp, unerring tackling by the line and secondary was the weapon by which California stalled the Trojan running attack, and not once did the home club generate a sustained march to threaten the Bear goal line.

California, supposedly punchless on the attack, nevertheless marched promptly to its one touchdown in the second quarter after recovering a Trojan fumble on Southern California's 35.

In 12 plays, with Jed Garthwaite, George Quist and Jim Muir punching the line, Coach Stubb Allison's boys went to a first down on the one, and from here Quarterback Muir sneaked over.

The touchdown tied up the ball game.

Mighty Randolph Downs Texas 42-6

AUSTIN, Oct. 7 (AP)—Randolph Field's array of former college and professional football stars out-powered and out-passed the University of Texas 42 to 6 before a crowd of 19,000 at Memorial stadium today.

A former Texas star, Pele Layden, came home to exhibit the game's most spectacular play and rob the Longhorns of what promised to be a touchdown. He intercepted Zeke Martin's pass, intended for Jack Halfpenny, on the Randolph Field three yard line in the fourth period, and dashed 97 yards for a touchdown.

The Ramblers took off on a scoring drive that brought the game's first touchdown within two minutes. Three plays later Leicht intercepted a Texas pass for Randolph's second touchdown.

A pass from Martin to Hubert Bechtel, Texas Tech's gift to Texas, set up the Texas score, making it first down on the Randolph 24. Evans in a hard run took Martin's pass over his shoulder to score. Little Billie Andrews came in to drop kick the point, but failed.

Randolph's next score was on a pass from Dudley to Leicht after Texas was put in the hole by a fine Rambler kick.

In the third, Randolph added a touchdown after a fast drive down field started by Jack Russell, former Baylor end. Dudley passed over the goal to Harry Burrus, former Hardin-Simmons end.

Then Randolph blocked a Texas punt, which was recovered on Texas' 28 by Burrus. John Good-year, formerly of Marquette and the Washington Redskins, made the touchdown. Layden's long run wound up the scoring.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 7 (AP)—The famed passing game of the Second Army Air Force Superbombers, spearheaded by Tulsa's Glenn Dobbs, was smothered today by a rampaging Iowa Navy Seabawks line that starred former pros Perry Schwartz and Jim Poole and Tackle Vic Schleich as the Navy football club won a 12 to 6 victory.

The Seabawks presented a line that from end to end outplayed the Superbombers forward wall, and ripped a wide hole through which Bernard Merles, former Iowa ace, raced into the open in the third period, cut back to pick-up his blockers and went 33 yards for the winning score.

MICHIGAN POWERS 28-13 OVER GOPHERS

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 7 (AP)—The Michigan powerhouse proved too much for Minnesota and the Wolverines trampled the Gophers, 28 to 13, here today to return the little brown Jug, traditional trophy, to Ann Arbor.

The terrific line plunging of Bob Wiese, of Jamestown, N. D., the Michigan fullback, as the difference between victory and defeat for the Gophers Wiese personally accounted for three of the Michigan touchdowns after advancing the ball to scoring position.

NAVY SMASHES PENN IN EASY 55-14 WIN

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 7 (AP)—Navy's gold mine of football talent paid big dividends today as the Midshipmen crushed Penn State's Mitten Lions, 55 to 14, and bounded back into the national collegiate gridiron picture after a disappointing defeat in the season's opener against North Carolina Pre-Flight.

For the Sailors it was a startling reversal of form as they drove determinedly and aggressively to one touchdown after another and had Commander Oscar E. Hagberg, head Navy mentor, so desired the score could have been much higher.

Gorgeous George Walmsley Leads Rice To Bare 14-13 Win Over LSU Tigers

HOUSTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—Paced by gorgeous George Walmsley and Bob Nemir, the scrapping Rice Owls staged a magnificent 70-yard touchdown drive in the fourth quarter to defeat Louisiana State, 14 to 13, Saturday afternoon.

Some 10,000 fans cheered wildly as Walmsley, fleet freshman from Baytown, climaxed the march by bursting through left guard for the final 16 yards.

They cheered even louder when Frank Lawrence, who had been held out of the game because of a broken nose, came in to kick the precious extra point.

In the middle of the first period, the Owls cashed a break to score the game's first touchdown. Taking advantage of the wind, the Tigers gained repeatedly on punt exchanges and had the ball on the Rice 41. Y. A. Tittle, freshman passer from Marshall, Tex., replaced Gene Knight at tailback for LSU. On the first play, Andy Lay, fumbled Tittle's handoff and alert Johnny Cox pounced on the ball on the LSU 4. Russ broke through a big hole outside the Tiger left tackle and raced 33 yards to the 43. Walmsley allthrew through the center for four and then Bill Scruggs passed to Bob Smith in the end zone for a touchdown. Frank Lawrence converted and Rice led, 7-0 at the half. Sandifer of LSU squirmed off left tackle for 14, in the third period, first down on Rice 13. Sandifer circled right end for nine yards to the Rice four. Rowan hit left guard for touchdown. Lay's conversion failed. Rice 7, LSU 6.

First downs put the ball on the Owl 29 in the fourth. Cason ran 13 to the Rice 16. Cason passed to Lay, who squirmed to the five. Scruggs stopped Lay after a yard. Cason's pass behind the line to Rowan netted two yards. Cason shot off Rice's tackle for touchdown. Lay converted. After the kick off, Nemir bulled his way 34 yards to the Louisiana 32. Nemir made first down on the 19. Walmsley darted through left guard for a touchdown. Crippled Frank Lawrence came in to kick the extra point and Rice led, 14-13. The game ended with that score standing.

Clemson Noses Out North Carolina 13-7

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 7 (AP)—Clemson's Tigers, bouncing back from a 51-0 licking by Georgia Tech, nosed out N. C. State here today before some 5,000 sweltering fans.

The Tigers pushed over the winning score on a line smash by Sid Tinsley midway the fourth quarter to break a 7-7 tie and mar the Wolfpack's unbeaten record. It was the first Southern conference game for both teams.

Bobcats Appear Class Of 3-AA In Sandie Win

All the boys said about district 3-AA being the toughest in the state this year appeared to be true and more on the basis of developments Friday evening.

Defending state champions, the San Angelo Bobcats, looked like the class of the district in handling the Amarillo Sandies a 13-7 defeat. It was the first loss of the season for the Sandies and the fifth in five seasons. Big George Graham ran 50 yards off tackle for the first Bobcat score and Sam Callan intercepted a Sandies' pass immediately afterwards for another 50-yard touchdown center. Marshall Gettys blocked an Angelo punt and fell on it for Amarillo's score. Angelo gained 155 yards to 77 for Amarillo on rushing.

While Odessa showed considerable power behind its fast-charging line to plaster Big Spring 34-6, the new darkness in district competition appeared to be Midland. Sports critics lifted eyebrows when the Bulldoggs soundly whipped Pampa earlier in the season and Friday Midland left them bugged with a 32-6 win over Plainview. M. C. Hale went 36 yards for one counter, 85 yards for another, and 74 for a third.

Lamesa took another wallop, going down before Lubbock by a 40-0 count. The Tornados, however showed slight improvement over last week when they were pounded by Odessa.

Sweetwater beat Ballinger Thursday night 18-6 and lost some of its prestige. However, Ballinger is a tough class A aggregation and Sweetwater cannot be counted entirely out on the showing. Abilene was ticketed to play Brownwood Saturday night.

Forsan Buffaloes Top Garden City 27-14 For Win

Forsan's victorious Buffaloes continued their winning spree by running riot Friday afternoon over the Garden City Bulldoggs 27-14 on the losing team's home grounds.

Forsan scored first when Milliken passed to Painter in the end zone after a nice run by Gresset had placed the ball in a scoring position.

Forsan scored again in the second when Gresset circled left end for thirty yards and paydirt, and then added the extra point on an end sweep.

Bronaugh, Buffalo fullback, circled right end for twenty-five yards and a touchdown in the second with Painter passing to Milliken for the extra points and 20 points for the half.

Wetzel, Bulldog fullback, cut through center for forty yards and paydirt after Garden City had staged a sustained drive in the third quarter.

Forsan retaliated after the kick-off and moved down to the 12 yard marker where Milliken hit Painter with a pass for the last Forsan touchdown. Milliken hit Smith for the extra point.

Wetzel again broke through center for the last Garden City tally and raced 30 yards for the final host-team score. Wetzel added the extra point.

Milliken and Wash stood out for the winners with Wetzel the star for the losers.

Pete Cook Highlights Game With 89-Yard Sprint For Local Score

Pete Cook turned in the most thrilling run of the evening, dashing 89 yards after an off-tackle smash from his own 11, to give the Big Spring Steers their lone six points against the Odessa Bronchos who smothered the local offense and ran wild over a battling but outmanned defense to score a top-heavy 34-6 win over the local eleven in Steer Stadium Friday night.

Sparked by Pat Kelly and George Cook the visitors found no trouble against a maverick eleven that held them to 13 points in the first half but crumbled in the third quarter to let the ponies run wild for three touchdowns and an easy win.

Noted difference in the Friday night and the game a week ago was the fact that more reserves for the locals and less for the visitors saw action. Coach Clayton Hopkins seemed determined to keep the host team from scoring and Cook's fourth quarter dash surprised a starting lineup of the invaders for the lone local tally. Against Lubbock the local eleven met no such severe punishment as was dealt last night by a heavier, more experienced team which left the Steer squad riddled with injuries and bruises.

Leo Rusk turned in his usual brilliant performance, giving his foes plenty of trouble, but he was not alone in his fight against superior foes. Tommy Clinkscales, who has more ability and fight than his weight indicates, turned in one of the top games of the evening against an opponent who outweighed him 30 pounds. Also seeing more action than he had previously was John Cooper who went into the tackle slot filled by L. B. Bryan and aided the forward wall greatly in their underdog battle. Also showing up well were Kenneth Hueft and Joe Cunningham at the ends, and Gerald Harris at the other tackle post. It was the fourth game of the season that saw Harris turn in another 60 minutes of sterling play, not missing a game, which equals his season's record of full-time in each game. He is the only man on the squad boasting such a record.

For the visitors it was seven men in the forward wall and a stiff secondary defensively sparked by ends Rex Partridge and Paul Fly who were in the Steer backfield on every play. The tackles showed stiff-necked resistance all evening and very few times did Steer ball-carriers break through their positions. The guards, Tommy Tucker, a converted fullback, and Jack Marcel, were also outstanding in the fast-charging line of the Bronchos. Tucker, however, found a tough opponent across the line for his opening performance at the guard spot in big Rusk who knows all the answers and did a lot of teaching to his apprentice opponent last evening.

In the first quarter, Pat Kelly went over from the 15 and Bates missed the kick. The Steer defensive stiffened for the rest of the first half and it was not until two minutes before the half-time rest that Kelly again plunged over from the nine after a sustained drive led the Bronchos to this point. Bates made his kick good for 13-0 at the half.

In the third the Bronchos broke loose with a scoring barrage when George Cook went over from the 11 and Bates added the point. Later in the same quarter Bates drove over from the 10 and again converted. In the closing minutes of the period center Glenn Taylor snared a Steer pass on the 45 and raced the same number of yards to paydirt. Again Bates kick was good to bring the Bronco total to 34, all the scoring for them in the evening.

In the fourth quarter, against a starting lineup that had played most of the game, the Steers were backed down to their own six. Rusk punted out to the other 40 for one of the best kicks of the evening, but Odessa was offside and the Steers accepted the five-yard gain. Expecting another punt, although the locals were not in punt formation, the Bronchos were quite surprised when Cook crashed into right tackle with a jar that shook both ends, ran over a secondary defender who grabbed Cook but could not hold on as he was bowled over, and then looked up to see the hard-charging fullback race 89 more yards to the double-stripe, with time enough to write that letter home.

This was the highlight of the game and even brought grudging applause from the Odessa section. The attempted extra point missed the crossbar and the evening's scoring was over.

Williamette Drops 40-6 Win To Huskies

Cards Pound Browns For Twelve Hits And 5-1 Win

By ORLO ROBERTSON

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7 (AP)—The Cardinals finally showed their vaunted hitting power today, riding to a 5 to 1 victory over the Browns on the strength of 12 blows to draw champions at two games each in the first all-St. Louis world series.

Throttled by the Browns' pitchers in the first three games, the National league champions launched an attack that sent Sig Jakucki, Brownies' starting pitcher, to an early shower and continued at a lesser tempo against two relief hurlers.

The largest crowd of the series, 35,455, saw Stan Musial, Cardinal rightfielder, pace the offense with three hits—a homer, double and single—a performance that drove in two of the winners' tallies. Danny Litwiler, Cardinal leftfielder, held hitless until today, Johnny Hopp and Walker

Cooper also connected with two blows each in the most potent hitting yet displayed in the series, heretofore dominated by the pitchers.

Harry Brecheen, slim southpaw from Broken Bow, Okla., making his first appearance in the series, pitched a steady game for the Cards, scattering nine Brownie hits over eight innings and leaving ten baserunners stranded. He was the first Cardinal pitcher to go the route since the series started.

The Browns pecked away at the Yanks and lost one, but they were unable to break through for a score until the eighth. The American leaguers had men on the bases in every inning, but Brecheen tightened in the pinches and received great support in the field. The Cards have played errorless ball in every game of the series so far.

The Cardinal victory set the stage for another clash tomorrow between the opening game starters, big Mort Cooper and Denny Galehouse. Galehouse won the first decision, 2 to 1, although Cooper and his reliever, Blix Donnelly, held the Browns to two hits. The Redbirds were not long today in showing the power which their supporters at the start of the series had predicted would overthrow the American leaguers.

Sports Chute

By BILL

For the benefit of local Sunday morning quarterbacks as well as the other sports fans of Big Spring I am beginning this week a column in which I can stick my nose unfamiliar (with local citizens) neck out and cause gossip far and wide on Herald routes on the ignorance and eccentricity of all sports' writers in general, and one William Barnett in particular. What will be accomplished henceforth by this heading I have no idea, and to be frank, am afraid to give it too much thought.

A few comments on Friday night's Steer-Broncho game are well in order. The locals were very evidently outclassed from the opening kickoff, but credit should be given a game bunch of youngsters who never let down for sixty minutes but kept plugging away at anything and everything that came before them, and Coach Clayton Hopkins's Odessa team certainly threw just that at them.

This corner was very much disappointed on one score of the game, and that was the fact that Odessa threw all she had at the locals even after they had built up a 34 point lead, which would have taken nothing less than the mighty Randolph Field Ramblers to overcome. It is to be admitted that Big Spring certainly asked no quarter, and probably Coach John Dibrell has made no mention of the fact to anyone in my knowledge, but it has always been my opinion that football was a game of clean sport, and that 7 points are no disgrace against any team, especially when they have already run away with the game.

Lubbock certainly did not exhibit such a practice with a 25-point lead but Coaches J "Mule" Davis and Dixie White showed they had no intentions of trying to severely drub the locals over a reasonable amount of points by letting their reserves, who were untired previously, play themselves out of the holes the Steers pushed into. That is what I class as coaching and the correct way to play in high school football.

Congratulations of the week go to little Tommy Clinkscales, diminutive guard on the Steer eleven. Tommy showed that size is not all there is to football during the clash Friday night by giving his 170 - pound (this was the weight listed in the chart but who knows?) opponent across the line 60 minutes of fast action and a lot of trouble. Tommy showed up well and fans are certainly promised an outstanding player in the future from the little left guard. He knows how to take it, and he does more than his share of giving.

Cotton Clover, a very rabid Odessa Bronco fan, told me before the game that Tommy Tucker had been shifted from the fullback slot to the guard position opposite Leo Rusk. He said that he had promised Tucker a treat if he would outplay the big local star. It looks to me as if Tucker will have to do without the treat, unless Cotton just gives it to him to keep his spirits up. I paid particular attention to the guard positions Friday night, and I never did see Rusk back up a step. He was through the line on every play, but the ball carries were running to the inside of him, giving cause for the gains made through the center of the line. At any rate, I was not very surprised at the outcome of the two-man battle and stand ready to put Rusk up against any and all comers... no matter who he may be.

With the opening of junior football Thursday afternoon it is my hope that local citizens who can drift over to the stadium between 3:45 and 6 p. m. will do so. Those youngsters will be taking their football seriously and some pretty classy action may come off there. It will be a big disappointment to those kids if there are not a few on-lookers to give them a little encouragement.

In about three to five years some star will step out on the local gridiron and folks will wonder from whence he came. Thursday afternoon will be the beginning of this, and others like him, star and if it is not encouraged some of it might die out entirely. I hope that we can all give the young set of Steers a pat on the back and keep them going after it. The program is worth a lot, both for future football and future men. No one will get hurt out there, and a lot of good is going to be done. See you soon, ...

Arkansas Razorbacks Tie Frogs 6-6 But Are Clearly Best Team

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH, Oct. 7 (AP)—Arkansas battered Texas Christian's fighting Frogs in the shadow of their goal posts for most of three quarters here today but all they could gain was a 6-6 tie in the opening Southwest conference football game.

The Razorbacks rolled up 15 first downs to 5 for the Frogs, gained 238 yards rushing to 98 and got 86 yards in the air compared to 36 for TCU—meaning Arkansas gained 324 yards to 134 for their opponents and still could get no more than a deadlock.

TCU scored midway of the first period with a 46-yard drive. First it was Jesse Mason, who whipped around right end for 15 yards. Then Joe Kucera rapped left tackle for six and passed to Mason on the Arkansas 14. Two off-side penalties did not count the Frogs. Kucera, back to pass, saw no receivers but did see an opening in the Porker line, so he went to the Arkansas nine. Kucera passed to Merle Gibson for the touchdown. Harry Mullins missed the extra point.

It was the fourth period before the Porkers finally hit paydirt—the hard way, as usual. It was a surge of 62 yards with Gordon Long, Paul Anderson and Mike Schumchik, brother of Frank, carrying the mail.

From the 38-yard line Lou Bayne tried right end for one yard, then Anderson raced around the same position for 16. A pass failed but the next one — from Long to Schumchik—carried to the Frog 10-yard stripe. Long shredded the line for six and Tommy Donoho in three tries went over. Albin Houdek, fighting Frog guard, dashed through to block the try for extra point—and that was the ball game.

Ohio State Downs Iowa Easily 34-0

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 7 (AP)—Playing in spurts, Ohio State's Buckeyes racked up their second straight football victory and their first of the Western conference season today with a 34 to 0 conquest of Iowa's badly outmanned Hawkeyes.

There never was any doubt about the outcome from the opening kickoff when Ohio State marched 67 yards for a touchdown but the Hawks stalled a flock of Ohio State drives just when touchdown territory appeared in sight.

Ohio's drive at the start of the game made it two weeks in a row for the Bucks to score the first time they got the ball in their possession.

Officials Trace Pyote Mystery

PYOTE, Oct. 7 (AP)—Discovery of an empty purse led Pyote Army Air Field officials today to believe that robbery was the motive behind the attack which ended in the fatal wounding of S-Sgt. Randall A. Weir, 25, of St. Bernard, Ohio, and injuries to Addie Maureen Borders, 30, of San Angelo, the commandant of the post said today.

Two facts were made public by the investigating board of officers named to probe the incident. The purse belonging to Miss Borders, which was missing, has been found empty.

Medical examination shows that the girl was not attacked.

Weir and his woman companion were assaulted Thursday night while walking toward her home in the civilian area after they had attended a camp show. It is now believed that more than one assailant participated in the attack.

Weir died yesterday morning of his injuries, a skull fracture inflicted by a blunt instrument which has not been found. His body was forwarded today to St. Bernard, where his father lives.

The investigation is continuing, and no official statement has been issued.

Plans Laid For Oil Facilities

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—Plans for spending more than $352,000,000 on domestic and foreign refining facilities as soon as materials are available have been drawn up by the petroleum industry in this country, deputy Petroleum Administrator Ralph K. Davis said today.

He submitted this estimate to the war production board and suggested that "immediate attention to this pent-up demand should be appropriate."

The planned expenditures amount to $176,789,385 for domestic refinery construction and $176,155,000 for foreign developments. The latter figure, Davis said, does not include any estimates for the rebuilding of facilities in areas now enemy-occupied.

In his letter to W.P.B. Davis said that oil refinery operations have been increased "by some 800,000 barrels of crude oil daily."

It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin... for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use.

"Wickedest City" Also Was Fastest Growing In Nation

(Editor's note—Here is another of the Texas oil romance series linked with the observance of the 25th anniversary of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association.)

"The wickedest city in the world"—such was the description that newspaper feature-story writers bestowed on Borger, in the Texas Panhandle, back in 1920. Crime was more rampant there than in any other boom town in the history of Texas. Nearness of boundaries of other states caused criminals to jump back and forth over the lines like small boys playing leapfrog. Gangs would loot a bank in Oklahoma, dodge over into the Panhandle oil fields to be swallowed up in the swirl of thousands of strange faces; then they would pull a bank robbery in Texas and duck back into the Sooner state oil fields.

Borger's jail consisted of a big room down the middle ran a long chain to which the prisoners were handcuffed. The police force consisted of 33 men and, even so, conditions became so flagrant that Governor Dan Moody sent Texas Rangers, 10 of them, including Captains Frank Hamer and Tim Hickman, into the area; and, still later, the governor declared martial law, and 114 officers and men of the National Guard moved in for a short time.

Just a few of the stirring incidents of the boom days: The night police chief and another man were fatally wounded in a gun battle on Main Street, during a filling station holdup, two masked bandits shot a woman and as she lay dying, her husband and her little son, as well as four other persons, were held at bay; in a gun fight in the oil fields, two deputies were killed and a suspect was declared to have participated in a $35,000 Pampa bank robbery.

After a disastrous fire, 12 buildings lay in ruins and 15 men were in jail because of looting that included the smashing of a jewelry store window and the theft of $2,000 in diamonds. In a fire one night a man burned to death and another was shot—yes shot! Those who discovered the flames ran out in the street shouting to arouse the town and a stray bullet wounded a driller.

A masked bandit entered a theater through a rear window and, pointing a rifle, ordered the assistant manager to hold up his hands. Instead, he broke through a door and ran into the audience, shouting "Police! police!" That ended the robbery attempt and almost broke up the show.

The climaxing crime was the assassination of the district attorney as he was closing the garage at his home one night, the slayer being concealed in the shadow of a nearby, unoccupied house.

But there was much on the constructive side in Borger's story: The city was founded on March 8, 1929 by A. P. (Ace) Borger, who had been in the real estate business in Oklahoma, and by John R. Miller, attorney, who became the first mayor. From a bare space on the wind-swept plains, 20 miles from a railroad, the new town grew until, in a short time, it had

Dewey Pictures Administration As Engaging In Double Chatter

By GARDNER BRIDGE
CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 7 (AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey pictured tonight the democratic administration of President Roosevelt as engaging in double talk through speaking on one hand about government ownership of factories and simultaneously disavowing communist supporters.

The republican presidential nominee, making his answer to president Roosevelt's address of Thursday night, related in his prepared text that the president had "softly" denied that he welcomed the support of any persons or groups committed to communism or fascism.

But, asked Dewey, "Doesn't this soft disclaimer come a trifle late" in view of the recent statement of Earl Browder in New York that "The Election of my (Dewey's) opponent essential to his aims."

In an address prepared for his second visit to the West Virginia capital in four years, Dewey asked:

out of one side of its mouth about government ownership of our factories, while out of the other side of its mouth it softly disavows its communist supporters?"

Earlier, after a press conference, the New York governor, as a visitor to the nation's greatest bituminous coal producing state, declared himself for legislation to stabilize the industry.

"I have long favored legislation to prevent the return of ruinous cutthroat competition," he said without specific reference to the now-expired control acts under which the industry operated for years.

He also said, in answer to a question put after the press conference, that he was confident that goal has a secure future.

Dewey in his prepared address asserted that it has become "dreadfully clear" that President Roosevelt's administration is "too tired for the job ahead."

Our Peculiar Challenge

Mechanics Of Peace

By FRANK GRIMES

Herald Writer

One of the obvious difficulties of making any world organization to maintain the peace fit into the American system of government is deciding just who is to order our armed forces to crack down on an aggressor.

Only congress can declare war. In this age of high-speed action and sudden treacherous assaults, we could be whipped before our cumbersome machinery could unravel itself and get going.

It is true that we often have taken warlike actions without benefit of congress.

Almost every president up to the time of Roosevelt II sent one or more expeditions into Latin American countries to quell uprisings and secure American lives and property.

Wilson sent Pershing across the Mexican border on the hot trail of Pancho Villa. We don't recall that our part in the Boxer trouble in China had the approval of congress. It fell within the chief executive's command in chief's sphere of routine duty.

But a great many Americans beside isolationists recoil and retch at the notion that any single individual should be empowered to commit American military forces to a given action that might embroil us in a major war, without reference to congress.

At the same time, they realize the necessity of having enough flexibility to permit of the use of these forces instantly.

Perhaps the only solution would be to put this matter of when, where, whether or how to use American forces in the hands of a special body of men empowered by congress to make the decision.

Such a body might be composed of, say, the secretary of state, the chief justice of the United States, the speaker of the house and the vice president in his capacity as presiding officer of the senate.

The chairman might be someone picked at large, not an office-holder. This five-man council would serve in an emergency capacity.

Suppose an aggressor takes a step like Japan took in Manchuria in 1931 or Mussolini in Ethiopia or Hitler when he remilitarized the Rhineland.

Each of these acts of aggression could have been halted in their tracks had a strong league of nations been functioning. The present world war could have been prevented had any one or all three of these acts of aggression been slapped down at once.

If our portion of military strength must wait for a formal decision by congress, the aggressors would laugh at us, for they could get their dirty work done.

If we were properly prepared, and if we acted quickly enough, one good backhanded slap would be all that would be necessary.

Such a step by the council need not necessarily

Big Spring is faced now with a peculiar challenge.

There is more at stake in meeting our community war chest of Howard county quota of $28,900 than merely in succeeding in an honorable and worthy undertaking. We are face to face with the issue of whether we are on a par with other progressive cities and counties who have found that the chest idea is the best practical solution for fund raising.

While the figure is an imposing one, it is entirely within reason. It represents only a slight increase over the amount which was raised for all participating agencies last year. The amount is easily within the reach of an unselfish people.

This campaign carries with it more justification of support than any we have ever attempted in Big Spring and Howard county. It carries with it as the deserving characteristics of the National War Fund—with the USO, seaman's relief, war prisoners aid, refugee relief, allied relief and many other agencies; the good points of the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, which are now doing the most marvelous bit of work they have ever done here; and the charitable, moral and spiritual values of the Salvation Army. Worthy is a mild word for the war chest.

The campaign also involves more common sense than we have employed before, for it eliminates the lost motion and duplication of four distinct campaigns. It will save hundreds and perhaps a few thousand man hours for those public spirited volunteers who are called upon repeatedly to make contacts in behalf of our privately supported welfare agencies.

So please think seriously now about giving your maximum amount when you are asked to have a part this week. The objective of two days pay is suggested for convenience of those who work for salary. In any case the old slogan of "let your heart decide" is applicable here.

Let us square off and meet this challenge with a response befitting the calibre of Americans we have in our city and county. Let no one be little enough to permit others to carry all the load.

commit this nation to war. It would be preventive or punitive, like Pershing's foray into Mexico, or like the joint action in the Boxer Rebellion.

Any world organization lacking this flexibility, this quick decisive striking power, and lacking full American participation, won't be worth the paper it is written on.

wishes to cut it off, there's a cry of "Thank you, Mr. President."

The Thrill That Comes Once In A Lifetime Today And Tomorrow

Ernie Pyle: Withdrawal Of American Forces From Sbeitla Valley Magnificent

Editor's Note.—In this, the 23rd of a series of Ernie Pyle war dispatches that are being reprinted while Ernie takes a rest, he continues with his account of the American retreat in Tunisia in the spring of '43. BY ERNIE PYLE THE TUNISIAN FRONT, March, 1943 — The withdrawal of our American forces from the vast Sbeitla Valley, back through Kasserine Pass, was a majestic thing in a way. It started before dawn one morning, and continued without a break for 24 hours. It had no earmarks of a retreat whatever, it was carried out so calmly and methodically; it differed in no way, except size, from the normal convoys of troops and supplies.

I left Sbeitla in the middle of it. Vehicles were so well spaced, it was not difficult to pass them on the wide gravel road. And, since I was not required to keep line, I could go forward and back to get a good view of the entire movement.

Our planes were in the air almost constantly that day. So far as I have heard, the Germans did not do a single road strafing job on our withdrawing columns. They missed a magnificent opportunity. Why they didn't try is still a mystery to me.

First, before daylight, came the kitchen trucks and engineers to prepare things ahead. Then came rolling guns, and some infantry to set up protection along the roads. Then the great vast bulk of long supply trains, field hospitals, command posts, ammunition wagons, infantry, artillery, and finally — when night came again — the tanks started and moved on until the next dawn.

The whole thing was completely motorized. Nobody was walking. It was hard to realize, when you were part of it, that this was a retreat — that American forces in large numbers were retreating in foreign battle one of the few times in our history. We couldn't help feel a slight sense of humiliation. Yet, while it was happening, that humiliation was somewhat overcome by our pride in the orderliness and accomplishment.

It simply could not have been done better. Military police patrolled the road with jeeps and motorcycles to see that there was no passing, no traffic jams, no loitering.

Matter Between Two Barcelonians

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD—It's now a matter between two gentlemen of Barcelona. In this corner, if he's willing, Senor Salvador Dall. In this, and he is willing, Senor Xavier Cugat. And Tommy Dorsey can get in too, for all Senor Cugat cares.

Senor Dall, you may recall, made some unkind comments recently about women in art. He said there weren't any. He said they were mere imitators of men in art, literature, music. Senor Cugat read of this, and he did a slow burn—slow for a gentleman of Spain. It was really a fast burn, but by the time I got around to watch the conflagration it had simmered down to articulate protest.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

However great the temptation to drag the campaign down to the level of a brawl between the Challenger and the Champ, neither Mr. Dewey nor Mr. Roosevelt can afford to yield to it. The situation is such that the day after the votes are counted it will be imperative that they come together, forget all the nasty things that have been said, and agree to collaborate. What is more, it is a certainty that this is what they will do, their wild men to the contrary notwithstanding.

Mr. Willkie and Mr. Roosevelt did just that in the desperately dangerous winter of 1940 - '41. The coming winter of 1944 - '45, though not so desperate, will be a time when the decisions that have to be taken will be as momentous, as fraught with the issues of life and death, as any this generation has lived through.

During the next months the agreements will have to be reached and the decisions taken which will determine whether the coming victory over Germany is to lead to a durable settlement or only to another armistice. And during these same months in the war against Japan we shall be deep in the enormously intricate problem of aligning and deploying and supporting the forces of Britain, China, and the Soviet Union on the solution of that problem will almost certainly depend the length of the war, its cost in American lives, and how lasting it will be the settlement.

The situation is one where there can be no interruption, not even a period of hesitation and uncertainty, in the continuity of strategy and diplomacy. In the conduct of this war even a relatively small operation has to be planned three months before it is executed, and great operations like the invasion of Europe, or the final reduction of Japan, require very much longer.

Thus, for example, the agreement which Secretary Hull made at Moscow a year ago were a pledge to perpetuate the war-time alliance by transforming it into the general organization which is being worked out now at Dumbarton Oaks this political agreement was the necessary foundation to the military agreements, made subsequently at Teheran, of which here were French civilian refugees on our road, but not enough to hinder traffic. Most of them walked, carrying brown suitcases and bundles. I noticed they did not carry much, so they apparently had faith in our coming back. There were few Arabs among them. The Arabs are permanent. They get along, whoever comes to take charge of their country.

French artillery and infantry also were withdrawing. They did hinder traffic, after we were safely back at Kasserine Pass and the road grew narrow and poor. Across the soft sand French horses and horsedrawn ammunition carts by thousands lined the roads.

We well knew the French were the best fighters in the world. But this delaying stream of high-wheeled carts, toiling along so last-century-like, seemed symbolic of France's whole disaster.

The big fine French hospital just outside Kasserine was evacuated too, and the French supervisor gave away everything he had to American soldiers.

I chatted with one soldier—Sergeant Donald Schlavene, 666 Fourth Avenue, Brooklyn — who had just been given an alarm clock, a silver letter opener, a basket of eggs, three dozen olives and a bottle of peach brandy. A truckful of soldiers passed as we were talking. Seeing the bottle, they began yelling at Schlavene, who apparently had no hoarder's blood in his veins. He ran after the truck and gave his bottle to the other soldiers.

So here were the makings of a good feud, what with Dall here and Cugat opening a night club engagement with his orchestra. I suggested as much. Senor Cugat, what would you do if Senor Dall walks into the club one evening? "A conga drum, perhaps, on his head," he said. "That would make a good Dall painting, no? But I do not like the traditional night club setting for a Hollywood duel. A parking lot would be more original, yes?"

And where does Tommy Dorsey come into this? Senor Cugat lost his smile. You may recall that Bandleader Dorsey was involved in a slight altercation on an apartment house balcony some weeks ago, resulting in a maze of varying accounts of what went on to produce those slashes on Jon Hall's face. Well—"Bandleaders should be careful," said Senor Cugat, "how they get mixed up in things like that. Such things give us all a bad name with the public. I know, I sent my man to ask for an apartment for me, and when he said I was an orchestra leader the landlady said: 'An orchestra leader? Indeed, NO!'"

"Did this apartment have a balcony, Senor?" "Did it have a balcony! It had the same balcony — it was the same apartment house!"

Problem Of The Interregnum

the results—so far only as regards Europe—are now visible. It is evident that if between the Teheran conference of 1943 and the great European campaign of 1944, there had been any break in policy, or any period of uncertainty about its execution, the consequences would have been very serious indeed.

Mr. Dewey's action in sending Mr. John Foster Dulles to the State Department, and Secretary Hull's response, are a recognition that in the crisis of war a way must be interpreted, I think, as unbroken. Mr. Dewey's action must be interpreted, I think, as x x x a symbol to the country and the world that the great lines of our foreign policy will not be changed and this view was the whole confirmed by Mr. Dewey's Louisville address.

Secretary Hull's response, and more than that the restraint which it is said he has imposed upon Democrats who wish to malign Mr. Dulles, is a recognition that while the President and he can form a foreign policy, and can negotiate treaties and agreements, all their work will be in vain and will not become the settled foreign policy of the United States unless the republican party, or at least the main body of them, really ratify it. When we say ratify, it is more than a question of the two-thirds vote in the Senate. The Monroe Doctrine, for example, was stated by a democratic president and was never formally ratified by any one vote of congress. But it became the foreign policy of the United States by almost universal consent.

The problem is soluble, should Mr. Dewey be elected, only if he turns at once to Mr. Roosevelt, and to the seasoned administrators who are in charge of the war, and then offers and demands a kind of collaboration which transcends all party lines. This is Mr. Dewey's greatest task. To make up his mind how he will master this difficulty and to convince the country that he understands it and has mastered it.

Washington— Little Change Noted In Conferences

Third of Four Articles on Presidential Press Conferences.)

By JACK STINNETT WASHINGTON — War has changed presidential news conference mechanics. Attendance today ranges from 80 to 100 more, depending on how strongly news noses smell the prospects of an important story.

The president holds his conferences on Tuesdays at four and Fridays at ten. These hours were selected to divide the news evenly between morning and afternoon newspapers. About twenty minutes before conference time, the reporters start drifting into the White House grounds and making their way toward the west or executive wing.

William J. Donaldson, Jr., superintendent of the House press gallery, who probably knows the faces of more newspaper men and women in Washington than any other person (he doesn't bother with names, calling everybody "Raskob" but don't let that fool you into trying to sneak by him) invariably is chief greeter. He's flanked by White House policemen and Secret Service guards.

and a few "specials" who are White House regulars, it's first come first served.

In a ring behind the president are the Secret Service guards. As the first comers arrive, the President, lolling back in his big leather chair, in shirt - sleeves in summer and invariably puffing away on his long cigar holder, starts a private chat, frequently filled with wise cracks and often demonstrating an amazing knowledge of trivialities that have been press corps talk but not news.

With the cry from the rear, "All in," the conference opens. The President states or reads what he has to say. After that come questions and answers. It's hard to imagine anything as informal as that being the chief executive of a great nation and a group of reporters as these conferences. On most occasions it's very apparent that the President enjoys it.

Whenever there's a lull in the news conference or possibly when by prearrangement, the President

Once inside the reporters drift around the lobby, piling hats and coats (in winter) on the great cracked mahogany table that dominates the anteroom. Minutes before conference time, they start crowding up at the door that leads through a little corridor - like room to the President's office. By conference time, the line looks like Saturday night at a sell-out movie. The President almost invariably is late.

The door opens and the line moves through and spreads out against the rope that spreads from the President's gadget - laden desk to the walls. The rush is to get next to that rope because executive press association men out, you've got to hand it to the team which has absorbed 43 years of kicking around in the American League. They won their title the hard way in beating the Yanks four straight—and anybody who does that deserves to play in the world series. If moral support out here in Texas counts, the Browns are practically in.

The VFW Iron Lung fund is picking up steam daily. Several, among them Pancho Nall, Champe Philips and Agnes Currie, not only have given but have gone out and interested others in giving. How about you? Mail your check today.

Congratulations to Lloyd Robinson on winning the top prize in the pig show here this week. The work these club boys are doing with registered swine will pay bigger dividends than the knowledge they get out of the experience. It will eventually promote better animals—and it is just as important to have well bred pigs as it is to have well bred cattle.

Relatives of prisoners of war met last week. They didn't form an organization. There really wasn't any need for they are bound together by hopes and common burden stronger than any organization could group them. It's a fine thing that they have decided to meet at more or less regular intervals at Red Cross headquarters.

Don't miss out on the opportunity to inspect the Big Spring Locker Co. Monday. You'll be surprised at the completeness of the unit and impressed with its potentialities as a community asset. Marvin Sewell and Jim Kinsey are due commendation for their set-up.

The mystery of what Odessa was doing to the center of our line Friday night is exceeded only by the mystery of where Pete Cook came from on his 89-yard scoring run.

Test Abandoned, Another Spudded In Oil Activity

One wildcat was abandoned, another spudded, a third was due to be located and one well was completed to highlight local oil developments last week.

Cosden No. 1 W. L. Foster, section 32-31-1n, T&P, extreme eastern Howard outcrop, was finished at 2,900 feet with a potential of 116 barrels on a 24-hour test. The well had an oil-gas ratio of 200-1. Cosden was moving in on its No. 2 W. L. Foster, 330 feet from the north and east lines of section 43-31-1n, T&P.

Skelly No. 1 W. L. and R. L. Wilson, scheduled 8,000-foot wildcat in north central Howard county, was abandoned at 4,735 feet in lime due to running low on all geological markers. No shows were logged. Location was in section 16-27, H&TC.

John I. Moore No. 1 Cosden, C NE NE 38-32-1n, T&P, set surface string at 160 feet and prepared to rig for rotary on a 5,500-foot exploration. The test is adjacent to Cosden's refining plant.

Lilly Oil Co., was due to make location north of Coahoma of a test, possibly on the McKinney tract.

Northern Ordnance No. 1 Clayton & Johnson, southern Borden wildcat in section 32-31 4n, T&P, recovered sulphur water on a drill-stem test from 9,449-9,499 feet, plugged back to 5,877 feet, and set seven-inch string at 5,660 feet to test oil stains. Top of the Ellenburger had been picked at 9,450 feet, 6,969 feet below sea level.

Northern Ordnance No. 1 Spaulding, section 7-33-2n, T&P, wildcat in the Knott area of northwest Howard county, plugged back from 6,940 feet and planned to test sands around 6,850.

Warren Oil Co. No. 1 Chester L. Jones, northwestern Mitchell county wildcat seeking the Vincent pays, set seven-inch string at 1,575 feet. It is located in section 9-25, H&TC.

In eastern Howard county the Ray Oil Co. No. 3-B Read was at 1,575 feet in anhydrite in section 42-28-1n, T&P. Cosden No. 3-A Read, section 48-30-1n, T&P, was at 894 in blue shale.

Two New Pools Loom In Western Permian Area

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 7.—Promised opening of a lower Permian lime field in eastern Upton county by Humble Oil & Refining Co. No. 1 J. M. Parrott and of a Delaware sand pool in west central Ward county highlighted West Texas development this week.

Humble No. 1 Parrott, drill-stem testing for 65 minutes from 7,537-99 feet, showed an estimated 22,000 cubic feet of gas in 15 minutes and recovered 200 feet of oil and gas-cut drilling mud, 500 feet of foamy, amber colored, free oil and 20 feet of water. It cored from 7,599 to 7,611 feet, recovering five feet of sandy shale and one foot of lime with a slight oil odor, and made a Schlumberger survey. The wildcat is in the C SE SE

3-EL&RR, 2 1-2 miles west of the Reagan county line and 12 miles northeast of Rankin.

Topping the Delaware sand at 4,970 feet, 2,315 feet below sea level, Lion Oil Refining Co. No. 1-B University, Ward county wildcat three miles west of Pyote, filled 900 feet with free oil testing 34.5 gravity in five hours after swabbing dry at 4,980 feet. It deepened five feet and was swabbing. Shooting was expected to follow.

The prospect is in the C NE NE 43-18-U, 24 miles southeast of the Wheat field in Loving county, the nearest Delaware producing area. Champlin No. 1-B University, southwestern Andrews county wildcat five miles northwest of the Embarras Ellenburger field, was gun perforating 5 1-2 inch casing opposite the lowest promising zone in what was reported to be the Silurian. The pipe was cemented at 8,533 feet, three feet off bottom. The test stopped short of the Ellenburger, its objective, owing to lease expiration Nov. 2. One and one-quarter miles southeast of the Champlin wildcat, Stanolind No. 1-D University, indicated Devonian lime discovery. It recovered 1,400 feet of heavily oil cut mud on a one-hour drillstem test from 8,298 to 8,350 feet. It drilled ahead below 8,355 feet in shale and lime, slated to explore the Ellenburger. Location is in the C NE SW 5-11-U.

The Texas Co. No. 1-L University in southern Andrews county, C NW SW 41-9-U, 1 1-8 miles west of the Emma pool, showed sulphur water through perforations between 5,310-30 feet.

Stanolind No. 3 Sealy-Smith Foundation registered a daily flowing potential of 128 barrels of oil plus 12 per cent basic sediment and water to become the third completed producer in the North Monahans (Tubb) field in southeastern Winkler county. It topped the Clear Fork lime pay at 6,095, drilled to 6,396 feet and plugged back to 6,300. Location is the C NW NW 49-A-G&MMB&A, quarter mile south of No. 1 Sealy-Smith, the discovery.

The Monahans Ellenburger field in northeastern Ward county gained its third producer in Shell No. 4 Sealy-Smith, which flowed 197 barrels of oil in 10 hours after treating from 10,198 to 10,225 feet with 5,000 gallons of acid in two stages. It is near the C NE NE 39-A-G&MMB&A.

Showing salt water on a drill-stem test from 6,530 to 6,690 feet, The Texas Co. No. 1 R. V. Tunnel, southeastern Lysan county wildcat C NW NW 45-1-EL&RR, was abandoned.

Shell filed notice of the plugging of its No. 1 Fayette Tankersley estate, southeastern Irion county wildcat in section 12-GC&SF, at 8,357 feet in lime.

Byrd-Frost, Inc., of Dallas staked location for No. 1 H. Giesecke, slated 3,000-foot cable tool wildcat in Pecos county two miles south of the Wentz pool.

Atlantic Refining was cleaning out the southwestern Upton county producer on its own land for completion after the flow had declined from around 35 to 10 barrels hourly. The Devonian lime was acidized through perforations from 5,400-20 and 5,370-08 feet. The well is the first on the Upton county side of the Crossett pool, Texas' first Devonian lime producing area, C W W 47-35-H&TC, quarter mile northeast of Texaco No. 1-A Chas. W. Hobbs estate in Crane county, the discovery.

Iron Lung Now Past $600 Mark

Contributions poured in to the iron lung fund initiated by the Veterans of Foreign Wars post here as the total made a jump of more than $100 to pass the $600-mark over the weekend.

Pancho Nall turned into a one-man committee and enlisted aid from more than a score of liberal donors. The Central ward sixth grade with Billy Bob O'Brien as spokesman raised $2 toward the fund and individual givers ranged from school children to entire families.

Gifts should be brought or mailed to The Herald for acknowledgement and deposit in the special fund.

Green Named To Community Group

Utilization of trained specialists connected with the University of Texas and all other state educational institutions was asked by community representatives in rounding out a two-day planning conference in Austin Friday.

J. H. Greene, Big Spring, was named on the conference committee which drafted resolutions which asked that trained help be made available to communities in the solution of their problems. Moreover, the university was requested to offer a two-week course each summer on "community building."

The conference stressed the importance of gearing machinery to effect plans and visions which have been in the making in communities of the state.

Participating in the conference from here with Greene was Jack Y. Smith. They returned Saturday evening.

Contained in EM's columns are war bulletins, post and section news, sports, photographs, maps and cartoons. A popular column full of facts is entitled, "Soldier You Should Know." Another feature of the new EM is a serialization of Shine Phillips' book, "Big Spring."

Major Harry F. Wheeler is editorial advisor of the newspaper, while S-Sgt. Francis continues as editor. Other staff members are: associate editors, Sgt. Edward Jensen and Pfc. Barbara Francis; staff artist, S-Sgt. Franklin B. Coffman; sport editor, Pvt. Herb Tannenbaum; mechanical superintendent, S-Sgt. Jack Rambo; and circulation, Sgt. Edwin Todd and Cpl.
