President Lauds Mayo Brothers

By United Press
ROCHESTER, Minn., Aug. 8.—Speaking at a program in honor of the famous Mayo brothers of Rochester, President Roosevelt today declared the unselfish service of medical leaders is necessary for his own social program.

The president paid tribute to Dr. William J. Mayo and Dr. Charles H. Mayo.

"Those of us who are concerned with the problems of government and economics," he observed, "are under special obligation to modern medicine.

"It has taught us," he explained, "that with patience and skill and courage it is possible for human beings to control and improve conditions under which they live."

CONSTANTINE, Algeria, Aug. 8.—Heavy detachments of police and troops patrolled the streets of Constantine today, hoping to check another murderous uprising by Arabs.

Inhabitants of Jewish quarters, covering in fear, learned the traditional enemies planned a massed onslaught. The entire city was tense with terror.

Latest estimates of the victims dead and wounded in three days and nights of race rioting reached 400. Twenty-three were dead and 40 more were critically wounded. Four of the dead were children.

Mr. Hickok, who came to Eastland from Toledo, Ohio, to meet with the city commission and Eastland business men for the purpose of discussing plans for the installation of a gas distributing plant in Eastland, was introduced by Horace Conley, manager of the Consolidated Gasoline company.

Mr. Hickok explained in the outset of his talk that the reason he did not have a representative at a meeting of Eastland business men some weeks ago when officials of the Lone Star and Community Natural Gas company were present, was because they were not invited.

The Eastland Fuel corporation's proposal to the city involves, what Mr. Hickok characterized as an entirely new plan, and one that he said had never before been offered to any town other than Cisco, where the Hickok interests are now engaged in installing a gas distributing system. The plan, he stated, had been fully explained heretofore to the people of Eastland.

The Hickok interests, the speaker said, operates throughout Ohio, Michigan, and other states of that section, and has at present 1,468 company-owned filling stations through which gasoline and oil of their own manufacture is retailed. The company has been in existence, he said, for 26 years during which period "we have built up our business by giving service and have never and do not intend to engage in cut-throat methods. We have ample capacity to meet legitimate completion and will gladly do so, but we are not throwing our money away," Mr. Hickok said.

"We are not a monopoly and do not operate as a monopoly," Mr. Hickok said. "Therefore we can operate cheaper and can give you as good or better service for less, because we do not have the large overhead that companies operating as monopolies are forced to carry."

TO SPEND $60,000 IN EASTLAND FOR LABOR ALONE IF FRANCHISE GRANTED, HICKOK DECLARED

OHIO OIL CO. HEAD SPOKE BEFORE C. OF C.

Would Guarantee That Only Local Labor Would Be Used and It Would Be Impartially Divided.

"If the Eastland Fuel corporation is granted a franchise by the city commission of Eastland and permitted to install and operate a natural gas distributing system in the city, we will spend approximately $100,000 for labor and material and about $60,000 of that amount will be spent for labor," A. S. Hickok, head of the Hickok Oil company, parent company of the Hickok Oil Development company and the Eastland Fuel corporation, told a group of Eastland business men assembled at the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday afternoon. "And we are ready to go to work as soon as the franchise is granted," he added.

Mr. Hickok, who came to Eastland from Toledo, Ohio, to meet with the city commission and Eastland business men for the purpose of discussing plans for the installation of a gas distributing plant in Eastland, was introduced by Horace Conley, manager of the Consolidated Gasoline company.

Mr. Hickok explained in the outset of his talk that the reason he did not have a representative at a meeting of Eastland business men some weeks ago when officials of the Lone Star and Community Natural Gas company were present, was because they were not invited.

The Eastland Fuel corporation's proposal to the city involves, what Mr. Hickok characterized as an entirely new plan, and one that he said had never before been offered to any town other than Cisco, where the Hickok interests are now engaged in installing a gas distributing system. The plan, he stated, had been fully explained heretofore to the people of Eastland.

The Hickok interests, the speaker said, operates throughout Ohio, Michigan, and other states of that section, and has at present 1,468 company-owned filling stations through which gasoline and oil of their own manufacture is retailed. The company has been in existence, he said, for 26 years during which period "we have built up our business by giving service and have never and do not intend to engage in cut-throat methods. We have ample capacity to meet legitimate completion and will gladly do so, but we are not throwing our money away," Mr. Hickok said.

"We are not a monopoly and do not operate as a monopoly," Mr. Hickok said. "Therefore we can operate cheaper and can give you as good or better service for less, because we do not have the large overhead that companies operating as monopolies are forced to carry."

Mr. Hickok explained that if the Eastland Fuel corporation was given a franchise and the city commission passed a minimum gas rate of 60 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, which would mean that no company could sell gas in the city for less, his company could operate, give good service and in a reasonable time pay out the plant, which would then be sold to the city for $10, but that without the minimum rate ordinance monopolistic companies could and would, lower the rate to a figure necessary to freeze him out and then doubtless raise the rate again when competition had been eliminated.

"It has been reported," Mr. Hickok said, "that my concern is a Cisco concern and that should be given a franchise in Eastland we would have our main offices in Cisco and operate out of Cisco. This is not true. We have been here 12 years, have 27 families living here to where we have only one in Cisco and, notwithstanding the fact that we have a franchise in Cisco and are now engaged in the construction of a gas distrib-

NEW SETUP IS ANNOUNCED ON DIRECT RELIEF

AUSTIN, Aug. 8.—Relief for destitute families in Texas will be issued hereafter in units of dollars and cents, rather than in units of pounds of beef, pods of okra or vitamins.

Use of itemized grocery orders for families on relief was ordered discontinued today by Adam Johnson, state relief director.

"While we have just so much to allot each person for food needs, we ought not to have the right to prescribe the diet of each relief client, even though it might be for his best interest physically," Johnson said.

Gas Explosion In New York Causes Much Damage

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—A gas explosion that sent a ton of brick and mortar tumbling to the street, damaged four pent houses on the roof of an 18 story building in Greenwich Village today.

Police formed a theory that accumulated gas leaking in one of the pent houses became ignited.

14 BUCK DEER SWAM River When Freed

PORTLAND, Ore.—Practically the only movement on the Portland strike-bound waterfront came when a four-year old buck deer swam across the Willamette River after being released from a log boom, where it had become trapped.

Swimming up the river, the deer became entangled in the logs. The buck struggled for some time, held by its large antlers resting on the logs. The deer first tried to fight off two men who went to his rescue, but finally allowed himself to be released. He then swam across the river and upon reaching the shore hurried into the hills.

PRICES SOAR ON EXCHANGES UPON REPORT

Drought Chief Cause of The Short Crop Estimates Over Entire Belt.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Drought burned the 1934 cotton crop to a new low level since 1896, with one exception, a government forecast showed today.

The department of agriculture, in its first formal production estimate, placed the indicated crop at 9,195,600 bales, well within the taxation free limits of 10,460,251 bales under the Bankhead cotton act, and the smallest crop since 1921.

Texas and Oklahoma suffered most severe reductions in the estimates, but the ravages of the sun will be felt throughout the entire belt, the report indicated.

Immediately after the report, Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace summoned officials to discuss its implications. The estimates were said to be below any anticipated by department officials. It was said despite the short production the Bankhead act would be enforced in every respect.

Drought took severe toll of cotton as well as grains, the report showed. Texas production was placed at 2,382,000 bales, or slightly more than half of the 1933 Texas production, which was 4,328,000 bales.

The predicted national crop was 5,480,000 bales under the average production in the five-year period 1928 to 1932 and 3,852,000 bales fewer than last year's crop.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Cotton futures touched 14 cents a pound on the New York Cotton Exchange today for the first time since 1931 as prices soared $1.50 to more than $2.00 a bale on the bullish government report.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 8.—Cotton futures advanced more than $2.50 a bale today. December went up 55c to 13.70c.

DALLAS, Aug. 8.—Cotton quotations on the Dallas exchange rose more than $2.00 above yesterday's closes today.

FORT WORTH, Aug. 8.—Cotton futures rose to a new high for the season on the Fort Worth cotton exchange today. May closed at 14.02 cents a pound, July at 14.07.

HOUSTON, Aug. 8.—Spot cotton closed here at 13.55 cents a pound today, $2.25 a bale higher than yesterday's close.

NOW COME THE FINALS IN THE DOG DAY MONTH OF AUGUST

Approximately a million Texas democrats cast their primary ballots July 28. Now the finals will be voted Aug. 25. Peace prevailed everywhere in all the 254 counties. Order was maintained everywhere the state over. Of course, the closing speeches of the campaign on the eve of the election were a bit hectic, but regardless of this it was the quietest campaign in the history of Texas and less interest was manifested from the opening to the close of the Big Parade.

Now it will be for a million democrats to go to the polls in the last week in August, cast their ballots and save the commonwealth again as it has been saved perhaps 100 times in less than 100 years. A new legislature will be elected this year. There are many grave problems to be solved by the lawmakers as well as the governor to be elected in November. There should be a law enforcement legislative program. There should be a state police force organized. All the red tape in the handling of the units of law enforcement should be cut away. There should be an organized army known as the state police ready for duty at all times and their activities directed by a commander-in-chief who will place law enforcement above all else—regardless of political lineups or political affiliations.

There is a state highway patrol organization. Its members have performed splendid service in guarding the highway. There is a ranger force. For almost 100 years the rangers were the pride of all Texans. Their chief and their captains were courageous and clean and unconquerable. Conditions have changed. Today Texas has a vast population. It has many large cities. It has many growing cities which are not ranked in the first class. There is a new civilization. Even the most obtuse must admit that the old civilization has passed out. There is a new Texas in the making. It should be held sacred and property rights secure. It should be a Texas where criminals will be run to the earth and ever the majesty of law vindicated for the protection of all alike.

It is important that the lawmakers to be elected in November should have the qualifications as well as the courage and patriotism to face the big job cut out for them. It is important that there should be harmony all along the line in the new administration. It should be important that men who believe in the rights of the state and the traditions of the fathers should ever be on the firing line of service and duty in order that some day Texas may take its place at the head of procession of American commonwealths.

The vision of some advertisers needs broadening out.

Farmers Must Turn Scientist In Next Decade

By United Press

EAST LANSING, Mich. — Mr. American Farmer must turn "scientist" and "classify" every acre of his property if he is to succeed in the next few years.

That is the conclusion of Dr. George S. Wehrwein, professor of Agricultural Economics at the University of Wisconsin, who declared that "one-half the valuable land is needed to produce food for the present population."

"The time has come," said Dr. Wehrwein, "to survey the land resources of the United States, to classify the lands for the purpose for which they are most suited, and then to use the lands only for those purposes."

"The remaining areas should be devoted to forestry or to recreational purposes. The country does not need to plant all this land to trees and some of it would not produce forests even if the trees were planted. Use the land for hunting, fishing, or any other form of outdoor recreation."

Dr. Wehrwein pointed to the Wisconsin zoning law which permits any county which elects, to zone the land within its boundaries and classify it for three purposes, agriculture, forestry or recreation.

Emphasizing the need for "intelligent approach" to the land question of the future, Dr. Wehrwein said eight Wisconsin counties now have zoned their land and 15 others plan the same action.

The plan interlocks with the attempt of the federal government to classify lands as "marginal," "sub-marginal," or otherwise.

Dr. Wehrwein said the question of remedying the ills incident to the early land "booms" the coun-

HOUSTON.—Plans for the issuance of 1,500,000 memorial 50-cent pieces for the American Legion of Texas are nearing completion.

Models for the coin, authorized by the Connally-Patman bill have been completed by Pompeo Coppini, noted sculptor of San Antonio and New York, and have been approved by the fine arts Commission of Washington as well as the design units of the American Legion Texas Centennial committee.

The models are scheduled to go to the United States mint at Philadelphia within the next month or so. If accepted by authorities of the mint, they will be sent to the treasury department for final approval.

Making of the master die to be used in producing the coins will be finished within another week, according to advices received by A. Garland Adair of Austin, Legion committee chairman.

It is hoped the coins will be ready for distribution during the state convention of the American Legion at Mineral Wells.

Coppini donated his services in designing the models. On one side of the coin appears the goddess of progress and liberty. Her left

Under the left wing of the figure appears the face of Stephen F. Austin and under the right wing that of General Sam Houston. Above the wings are the six flags under which Texas has lived, and around the rim are the words, "Texas Independence Centennial."

The reverse side of the coin contains the American eagle and other requirements for silver money, superimposed over a large lone star.
