Eight Hear J. E. Hickman Over Class Lesson

Reports show that vacant houses are filling up fast in Eastland, that certainly is a good sign and is encouraging from every stand- point. It is not unlikely that the houses that are being rented are those who have jobs of some kind and on somebody's payroll. One thing of course that may keep those houses that are not rented, vacant, is the fact that they need repairs and modern conveniences. A man with a job expects to have a reasonable comfortable place to stay after getting off the job for the night. That applies to any body. Good houses at reasonable rent usually don't go begging for tenants.

Pledged in Building Homes for American Farmers

By United Press SHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Fed- chief administrator Hopkins said the administration's aid in providing "decent homes in families" and a "higher ion for those who ought to be, irrespective of their ec- status."

Bryan, Jr., Leads Attack on EPIC

Leading a nation-wide war against spread of Upton Sinclair's EPIC plan, William Jennings Bryan, Jr., above, has rallied 125,000 Californians into his League of Loyal Democrats and soon will carry a plea to President Roosevelt to aid his cause. Bryan brands the EPIC plan "the very essence of communism."

Eastland community had a "million" dollar rain Monday. Dilt come just when we wanted it, but certainly not too late at that, in fact just in time. Cooler weather prevailed, but not from the north, which means if east winds are this cool at this time when it does get in the north there's going to be a scramble for cover and heavies and we dont mean may be.

Light Bulb Burns Steadily 26 Years

FORT WORTH.—An electric light bulb has burned continuously for 26 years at the Palace theatre here. It was turned on long ago with two other lights in the hallway leading from the dressing rooms to the stage. Its mates flickered and burned out in time. Other globes were inserted, they to be outlived by "Old Faithful."

Officers of the association are: Estes Burgamy, president; Ellen Pearson, secretary; Truett Fulcher, reported, all from Eastland, and Gaines Shults, vice president, Breckenridge.

Rev. Johnson Holds Funeral at Albany

Rev. H. E. Johnson, pastor of the First Christian church of Ran- ger, was called to Albany Tuesday to conduct funeral services for the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Pannell. The funeral services were con- ducted at the First Christian church of Albany, with interment in the Albany cemetery immedi- ately following the services at the church.

WAR HERO IS HEADING DRIVE ON MOONSHINE

HARRISONBURG, Va., Nov. 20.—A sharpshooter who crawled through the mud of No Man's Land on a special mission, today was the hero of a new battle—the govern- ment's drive to crush the Franklin county whiskey ring—biggest moon- shine conspiracy ever disclosed. Thomas Bailey, treasury opera- tive and ex-lieutenant of infan- try, is leader of the federal force which today was presenting evi- dence of the conspiracy to a fed- eral grand jury. Ten witnesses were heard yes- terday. About 100 more remain to complete the story of graft and corruption that sent a flood of moonshine liquor pouring down from the mountain wilds.

Children of Relief Clients to Receive Toys at Christmas

Many relief kiddies who receive Christmas toys this year will owe part thanks to Ranger firemen, who are sponsoring a toy man- ufacture-repair project. The toys will be distributed to children of families on the relief rolls, says County Administrator H. E. Driscoll. Nine firemen and five relief clients are employed on the project, Driscoll stated.

Gainesville Citizens Plan a War On Rats

GAINESVILLE, Texas.—Evi- dently citizens here do not believe in following the story of the Pied Piper of Hamelin as the best means of getting rid of rats. Like the city fathers of Hamelin when rats infested that communi- ty, the business men and public- spirited citizens here called a meet- ing to adopt a plan to exterminate rats and mice. The Red river, a few miles away, offered a drowning place for rats, just as in the Hamelin case, in event a Pied Piper were chosen. The idea didn't advance very far. Instead, the leaders chose to make the federal government heir when rats infested that communi- ty, the business men and public- spirited citizens here called a meet- ing to adopt a plan to exterminate rats and mice.

Fifteen From Eastland In John Tarleton

STEPHENVILLE, Nov. 20.—One hundred and twenty-seven Texas counties and five other states are represented in the John Tarleton College student body this year. The college has a total registra- tion of 899, the largest it has ever had at this time of the year. Louisiana, Missouri, Colorado, and Oklahoma have one student each in Tarleton, and New Mexico has two. Fifteen students from Eastlan's County are enrolled as follows: W. C. Jordan, Carbon; Melvin Lawson, Cisco; Carl L. Siddall, Cisco; Latrelle McGuire, Desde- mona; Penelope Robert, Desde- mona; Romalee Wright, Desde- mona; Everett Davis, Eastland; James Pipkin, Eastland; Russell Sanderson, Eastland; Hazel Woods Eastland; Aubrey Bennett, Gor- man; Mary Cockrill, Gorman; Lew- is Gray, Gorman; Louise Perry, Gorman; and Waldene Lasy, Pi- onceer.

Dog and Hog Have A Furious Battle

TYLER, Texas, Nov. 20.—One of the strangest animal combats ever reported here occurred when a dog and a hog got into a fight. The dog and the hog were en- gaged in furious struggle when Jesse Ashcroft, farmer, rushed out to the hog lot and killed the dog. It was thought the dog had rabies.

Three More Suspects Nabbed In Urschel Kidnaping Roundup

Suspects in the $200,000 kidnaping of Charles Urschel, Oklahoma City oil man, these three prisoners are shown as they were arraigned in Portland, Ore., and held under heavy bond. Left is Mrs. Clara Davis, alias Clara Feldman, purported wife of Albert Bates, who drew a life sentence in the case; center, Edward Feldman, her son; and right, Mrs. Betty O'Neil Feldman, Edward's wife. U. S. agents charge that more than $6000 of the ransom money was recovered with arrest of Alvin Scott and Miss Margaret Hurtienne, captured just before the above trio.

Investigation of Relief Expenses Seems Assured

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—An investigation of relief expenditures appeared assured today after a speech by Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, listing specific in- stances of what he asserted was "shameless waste" in administra- tion of relief funds. Borah, striking hard and going into more details than in any of his previous demands for an inquiry, asked a strict accounting of every dollar spent. Borah said that in one mid-west city "of perhaps 200,000 popula- tion there are 806 administration employes in the central office at a cost of $1,500,000 a year."

Disarmament Is Urged at Meeting

GENEVA, Nov. 20.—Hugh Wil- son, United States minister to Switzerland, today outlined to the steering committee of the world disarmament commission an American plan for governmental control of traffic in arms. The proposal included a permanent commission to forward the effort to effect disarmament. It was designed really as a substitute for a world disarmament agree- ment, regarding which delegates long have been in despair.

Gasline Pumps Give Wrong Measure

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 20.—Ap- proximately 66 per cent of the gasoline pumps in filling stations near here have been giving incor- rect measure, according to J. A. Kinard, district inspector for the Texas weights and measures de- partment. The pumps inspected were be- tween Pecos and Anthony, N. M. The inspector ordered adjustments for 397 out of 691 gasoline pumps inspected.

Relief Clients to Get Relief On the Hoof

CENTER, Texas, Nov. 20.—Rel- ief clients here will receive some federal aid on the hoof. Three hundred goats are being shipped out of Austin and will be given to the destitute. The goats are to be slaughtered, the hides dried and returned to relief of- ficials to prove that the animal has been used for food.

Comfort Seeking a Founder's Memorial

KERRVILLE, Texas.—The town of Comfort, 900 population, near here in the northern edge of Ken- dall county, is seeking plans for a memorial to honor the founder of the community, E. Altgelt. Com- fort, a town composed of people mostly of German descent, was founded over 75 years ago. The proposed memorial stone would be placed at a highway intersection.

CONSTITUTION REVISION IS BEING URGED

EL PASO, Nov. 20.—The El Paso Herald-Post today called editorially for a new constitution with which to launch Texas as its second hundred years as a state. "A new century, a new constitu- tion" was urged as a slogan upon forces favoring the "junking of the old constitution and the writing of a new one." The newspaper disclaimed credit for the proposal, which it said "has been advocated many years by many prominent Texans."

Shouse Explains The Liberty League

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Jouett Shouse, in the first extended state- ment since its formation, today presented the American Liberty League as a "balance wheel" to maintain the nation on the path of true democracy. Addressing the bond club of New York, Shouse emphasized there was no intent to fight the president "tooth and nail." "Wherever possible," he said, explaining he spoke primarily for himself, but in expression of the general views of the league di- rectors, "the league will endeavor to advance and to uphold measures of the administration which is can approve."

District Relief Meet on Thursday At Stephenville

Approximately 20 employes of the relief set-up in Eastland county will attend a one-day relief meet of the tenth district of the Texas relief commission in Stephenville Thursday, H. E. Driscoll, county administrator, will serve as program chairman for the gather- ing. The meet is one of six weeks holding, arranged for benefit of administrators, case supervisors, zone relief directors and certifying officers of 22 counties in the dis- trict. Expected at the meeting are H. L. Davis, field supervisor, Austin; Mrs. Val M. Keating, social service consultant; Harold West, field supervisor, and S. A. Baugh, assist- ant state director. A representa- tive of the state auditing and re- habilitation headquarters at Austin will be in attendance. Explanation of new orders are expected to be made at the meet- ing by representatives of the state relief headquarters.

Clyde Moon Gets Three-Year Term In Penitentiary

Clyde Moon, formerly of Desde- mona, who plead guilty of the theft of Herman Woods' automo- bile, in the 88th district court Monday was assessed a three year term in the state penitentiary. Moon waived a jury trial. The Gor- man resident's car was stolen in Eastland on the square. Moon was returned to East- land from Henderson, where he faced charges against him in that vicinity.

FEAR IS FELT KIDNAPED MAN WAS KILLED

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.—Police expressed fear that William (Big Bill) Weiss, abducted from his home Oct. 26, had been slain "by underworld gunmen." The ransom of $100,000 was de- manded, and reported paid, but lack of word from Weiss led to in- creasing fear that he had met a "horrible death" said to have been "threatened" in the kidnaper's note to his family. Weiss was the alleged master mind of a pre-repeal alcohol racket.

"Rabbit Fever" Is Carried By Quail

SAN ANTONIO.—Here's a new worry for the quail hunter. It is tharemia, or "rabbit fever," which is carried by wild game in- cluding rabbits, quail and musk- rats, and also by sheep, rats and mice, according to Dr. Harvey G. Beck, professor of clinical medi- cine at the University of Maryland who attended the sessions of the Southern Medical association here. In most cases humans contract the disease by skinning rabbits, picking and dressing quail, or handling the carcasses of other dead animals. Cases of humans being stricken with the disease have been recorded in nearly every state, Dr. Beck said.

Japan Insists On Naval Equality With America

LONDON, England, Nov. 20.—Japan, in naval limitations negotia- tions here, has conceded the right of Great Britain to a large navy than hers, but has insisted on ab- solute equality with the United States, it was reported today. The Japanese, it was revealed, had in effect conceded Great Brit- ain's right to the largest navy afloat, because of the size of its empire. They insisted, it was said, that Japan's navy must be the same size as that of the United States.

NEXT STEP IS PLANNED FOR MOVEMENT

Three Advantages Outlined In New Building Program. WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.— Spending by big corporations for plant modernization is a factor in predictions here today that busi- ness will pull upward. There is also the impetus of co- operation between the white house and the United States Chamber of Commerce. Corporate spending is sought as a shot in the arm measure. It would serve to maintain the mod- erate business upturn expected now to develop around a good Christmas retail business. The advantages of the corporate spending plan are explained as in- cluding: 1. Quick large scale re-employ- ment. 2. Creation of an outlet for durable goods. 3. The next new deal step planned in development of the co- operative movement launched by the chamber is to find among the first 20 American corporations an executive and board of directors willing to spend $25,000,000. New deal contact men believe two or three such spenders can be found. Prospects among cor- poration executives will be canvassed.

Texas Pecan Men Are Indignant Over Relief Distribution

STEPHENVILLE, Texas, Nov. 20.—Indignant pecan growers of the Brazos valley are determined to find out if the federal govern- ment actually meant to say "nuts to you." The growers' complaint is that the federal government has given financial assistance to pecan grow- ers east of the Mississippi river while little has been done for the Texas growers. Their complaint is supported by the fact, they say, that the Brazos valley is one of the largest pecan growing sectors in the nation. Drouth this year greatly damaged the crop and aid is needed, growers said. The growers, after their protest and organization meeting here, plan to bombard Washington with requests for aid.

Negro Is Guarded After Confession Of Girl's Murder

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 20.—A giant negro laborer, alleged con- fessor of the criminal attack and murder of two young white girls, was lodged in the Richmond jail today for safe keeping after being threatened twice with mob violence. The negro, Phillip Jones, was brought here by officers shortly after midnight. Mobs had threat- ened the prisoner at Roanoke and Clifton Forge, scene of the at- tack and murders. Bodies of the victims, Alice Hill, 13, and her sister, Ellen, 9, were found near a farm yesterday.

Grand Jury Will Probe Garrison Fatal Shooting

Investigation of the fatal shoot- ing of William Seaman Garrison will be made by the 91st district grand jury which convenes Dec. 3, District Attorney Grady Owen said Tuesday. Jep Lowe, charged with murder in connection with the shooting, is at liberty under $5,000 bond. Another reason Princess Marina might have for selecting only 13 costumes for her trousseau is that she'd like to devote a little of her time to Prince George.

Baseball Shows How Human Japanese Are

It is an odd thing that professional baseball players should succeed where statesmen and diplomats have failed.

While Babe Ruth and his all-star crew from the American and National Leagues tour Japan and enjoy a public acclaim, a national friendliness, which is as amazing as it is sincere, the statesmen are looking ahead nervously to the coming "disarmament" conference, wondering how much longer the fabric of world peace will be able to stand the strain which conflicting American and Japanese naval rivalries are putting upon it.

Now it would be perfectly silly, of course, to suppose that because of Japanese enthusiasm for our game of baseball the difficult problems surrounding the clash of opposing national policies are going to be swept away. International mixups aren't straightened out so easily.

And yet there is something about Japan's welcome to the American baseball team which makes a person stop and think a little.

Ordinarily we see the Japanese in the light of their Manchurian adventure, with the shadow of great naval ambitions falling across their shoulders. They become grotesque caricatures symbolizing ruthless and pugnacious greed. Given a little bad luck, we could easily put them in that gallery labeled "the enemy."

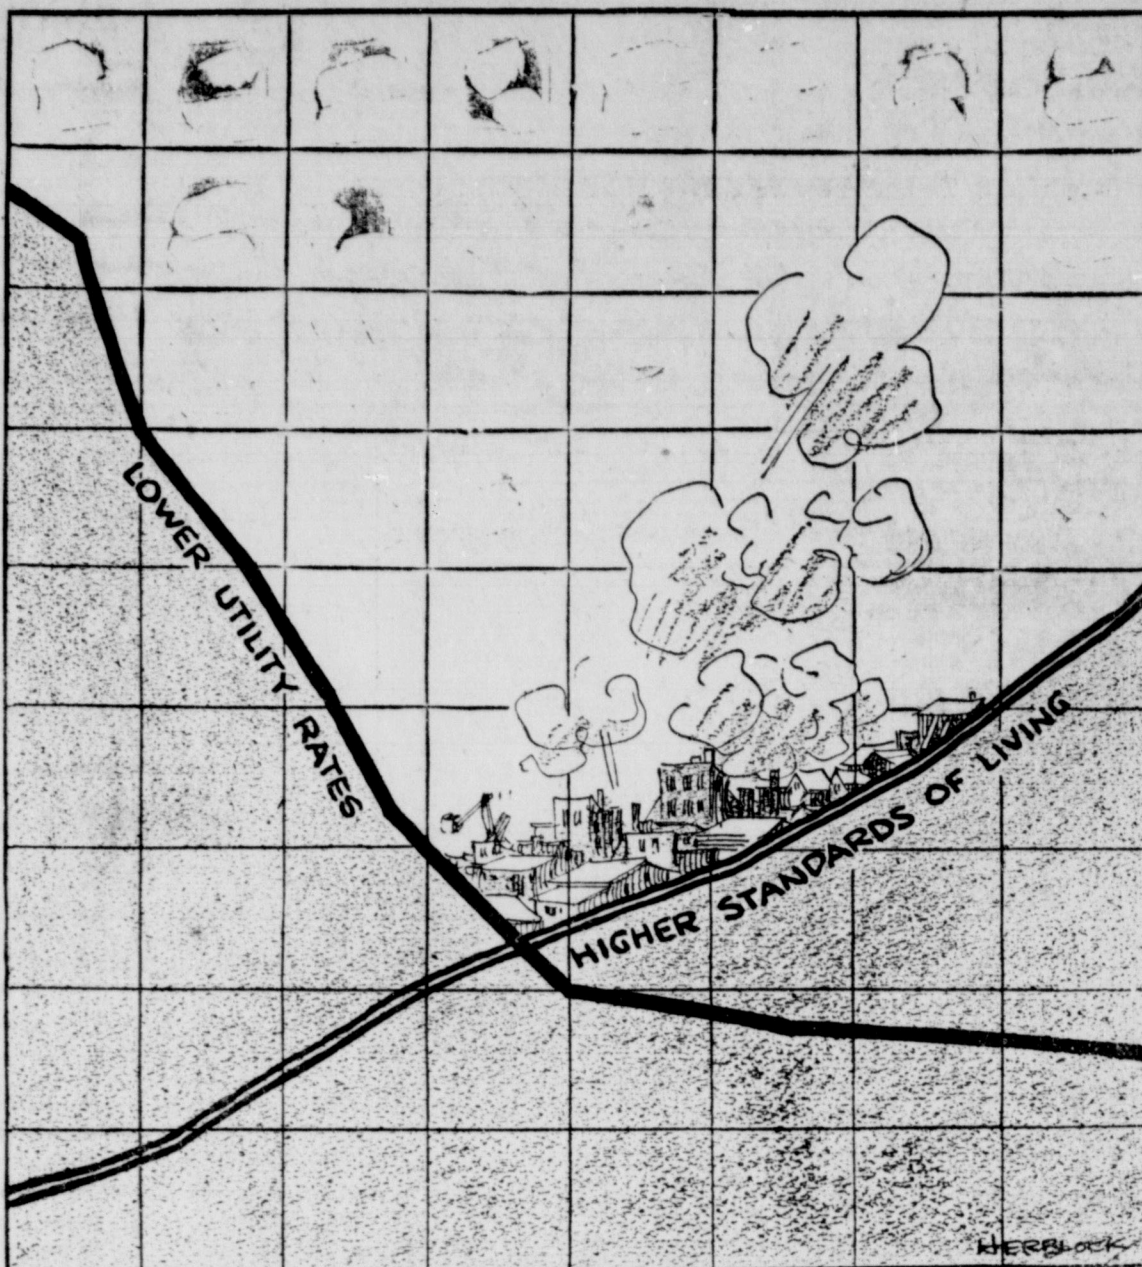

And then we read about this tour of the American baseball team; about 65,000 Japanese turning out to see a single game; about a great popularity contest to choose the 50 most beautiful waitresses in Tokio to wait on the American athletes at the dinner table; about enormous crowds clogging the streets to see and cheer the players—and, in familiar fashion, to ask for autographs.

Reading those things, we suddenly discover: Why, these folk are like ourselves. They like the same things we like; if we got to know them, we could like them first rate, and they could like us.

And that, in turn, is apt to make us wonder whether there really needs to be that mutual suspicion and jealousy which—not to mince words about it—has shoved us a dangerous distance along the road to war. If a handful of professional athletes can give us a vision of international friendship, shouldn't there be some way of translating the vision into reality?

THE TENNESSEE VALLEY

'Dusting the Covers of Texas History' for The Texas Centennial Celebrations of 1936

San Antonio de Valero was not the only mission founded at the presidio of San Antonio. It was in February, 1720, that Captain Juan Baldes reported to Miguel de Aguayo a site had been selected for a new mission, where the water was taken from the San Antonio river for irrigation of the fields. Three leagues away was Mission Valero.

Indian chiefs, friars, and the entire exploration party claimed possession of the site selected. Weeds were pulled, stones thrown, and branches cut from the hillside, water lifted out of the stream, and sand was sifted through the fingers, all to denote the land and water rights of the company. Besides the land for grazing purposes, the fertile fields, and river, there was ample room for a church and pueblo, quarters for the soldiers, a hospital, convent, and cemetery.

The Indians who came to inhabit the Mission San Jose were quickly influenced by Spanish culture. Spanish visitors coming to the pueblo were probably surprised to find some of them playing guitars, violins, crude harps, and flutes. They appreciated the beauty and melody of the savages singing in "four voices." Their dances were as skilled and beautiful as the European dances.

While the young women carded and untangled wool, spun, and made blankets and sheets, the old women spent their time fishing in the San Antonio river. For the holy fathers they must get fish—large, delicious fish that would please them. Indian men cultivated the soil, reaped the harvests, and saw that the good things to eat never ran low. Old men made arrows for the soldiers and warriors from the flint rock they found beside the river and up in the hills. Boys and girls attended school, and daily went to their prayers.

Life was peaceful and profitable at the pueblo those days. There was an occasional disturbance, when some Indian slipped off into the woods to join his tribesmen in their native war dances. Punishment was rather severe for such a sin, and it was not often that one dared take the risk of being caught.

The mission proper had not been erected immediately, and after the adobes were built, and the Indians accustomed to living in the pueblo, then steps were taken to build the mission church that remains standing today in San Antonio. Building the church and subsequent civilization at San Jose is another story in the chapter of permanent culture of Texas.

Hospitalization Not Available For Relief Clients

Letter has been received by H. Sciscoll, county administrator, Adam R. Johnson, state relief officer, stating that under provisions of Section 25, House Bill 1, hospitalization for relief clients is not available in counties that maintain a city or county hospital, under which classification Eastland county would be because of the fact that a city hospital is maintained in the county.

Letter from Johnson says: "County Administrators and Supervisors: Section 25, House Bill No. 1 of legislative act under which the relief division of the state is in control is now functioning as follows: 'The board of control is hereby created to use two and one-half cent (2 1/2%) or so much of any moneys as may be necessary of the Texas relief bonds authorized for the payment of hospital services, and such services shall be available to persons who are eligible for relief under the terms of this act, in need of hospital services and who are unable to bear such expense. Provided, however, that the amount authorized to be expended for such services shall not exceed two dollars and fifty cents ($2.50) per patient. Such hospitalization shall be authorized only in those counties where special care is essential to the preservation of life and health, and the same cannot be adequately secured. And provided further, that the provisions of this section shall not apply to counties having, operating or operating county or municipally supported hospitals. Beginning on date of receipt of letter you are not to authorize expenditure of hospital bills for county residents providing your county operates a hospital, or for residents of any city which operates a hospital in which city residents are not admitted and no city hospital you may provide for persons on relief rolls where special care is essential to the preservation of life and health. You will note that you may not expend the two dollar and fifty cents ($2.50) per patient authorized previously, and that you use two and one-half cent (2 1/2%) or so much thereof as may be necessary of state funds for hospitalization (no federal moneys may be used for hospitalization).'

"Yours very truly,
(Signed) ADAM R. JOHNSON,

Famous Book By Martin Luther Is Owned By Texan

By United Press
SAN ANTONIO—While devout adherents over the world were still celebrating the 451st anniversary of Martin Luther's birth recently, there came to light here a rare book written by the noted reformer and giving a graphic account of his personal adventures with the devil.

The book is a first folio of Aischyren, or "Tabletalk" and is one of the two known copies in the United States. It is one of the few copies in existence in the world as most of them were hunted out and destroyed during the counter reformation.

The book is owned by E. Raba, a local photographer and collector who learned from correspondence with Dr. Hugo Munsterberg of Harvard that that institution also possesses a copy of the book. It contains much that is not in William Hazlitt's translation and describes Luther's encounters with frightful devils of Poltergeisten.

In the famous Warburg castle where Luther wrote the first German translation of the Bible, the book describes Luther's experience as follows:

"As I traveled away from Worms and was taken prisoner at Eisenach, and conveyed to the Warburg castle in Pathmo, I was in a room far removed from everyone, and no one came to me except two noble lads who daily brought me meat and drink. 'They had purchased a sack of hazelnuts for me, of which I ate daily, and had them locked in a chest. As I went to bed one night, I went into the room, put out the light, and lay down to sleep. Hazelnuts began to strike on the balcony and on the bed, but I did not inquire into the cause. 'Just as I went to sleep again, such a noise was heard on the steps as if one were throwing casks, and although I knew full well that the stairs were guarded with chains and iron, still the casks rolled down. 'I sprang up, went to the stair and looked—then I spoke: 'Is it you, so be it, and commanded myself to Christ, of whom it is written: Omnia aubrescista, pedibus eius, and Psalm VIII says, and returned to bed. '***That is the best way to drive away the devil; when one calls on Christ and holds the evil one in contempt, he cannot beat it."

Pet Mink Was Not Really a Pet

By United Press
FORT WORTH, Nov. 19—A pet mink named "Bonnie" escaped from her cage in the zoo here recently and now the zoo keeper is after her with a shotgun.

Trouble is that Bonnie wasn't such a pet after all. She dug a deep hole under the zoo chicken pen and made nightly raids on the chicken roost.

Zookeeper Hamilton Hitterson couldn't drown or smoke her out, so he is laying for her with a shotgun.

RECKLES and HIS FRIENDS—By Blosser

Texas Woman May Own Valuable Violin

By United Press
CLEBURNE, Texas, Nov. 19—A violin which the father of Mrs. A. B. Self, Cleburne, bought years ago at an auction sale in Dallas, is believed to be a genuine Strad.

Mrs. Self's father paid $35 for the "fiddle" at the auction and later gave it to his daughter.

Not long ago Sam Peacock, owner of a barber shop and one of the best fiddlers in town, saw the violin and offered to swap his shop for it. He was convinced it was a Strad.

Mrs. Self became interested and had a Fort Worth violin dealer look at it. He said it was a fine violin and if not actually a Strad was a very good imitation of one.

Mrs. Self has refused all offers for the instrument and has locked it up in a vault until she can find out its true value.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
When CHARLES MORDEN, reporter for The Blade, is found dead DAN BLEEKER, publisher, employs SHILLINGY GRIFF, criminologist, to solve the murder. Morden had been investigating the affairs of FRANK H. CATBY, wealthy and prominent, following the arrest of an impostor claiming to be Catby and accompanied by a girl called MARY BRIGGS.

The day following Morden's death Catby dies of poisoning. Griff learns Morden had visited the apartment of ALICE LAMPTON, a pretty and unemployed. He confronts Alice with KENNETH HOOVER, accuses the pair of killing Morden, and they are arrested. MRS. BLANCHET MALONE, for whom MRS. CATBY and CARL RACINE, detective in her employ, have been searching is located but refuses to talk.

Griff and Bleeker go to the hotel where Mary Briggs, now known as Stella Mockley, is staying. They find CHARLES FISHER, Catby's lawyer there. The girl tells them the man who impersonated (this was PETE MALONE and that he frequently telephoned FRANK BLISS, Catby's chauffeur.

Griff leaves to question Mrs. Malone and Griff and Bleeker go to the office of EDWARD SHILLINGY, killed on the night of the impostor's arrest. Shillingy's secretary tells them the man who (this was CINNATI REP) LAMPSON, gangster, was Catby.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXI
AS the two men climbed into the taxicab Bleeker poured forth eager questions which, for the most part, the criminologist answered in short, terse sentences.

"What was Catby's interest in Lampson?"

"I doubt if he had any."

"Why was he poisoned then?"

"He took the dose of poison deliberately," the criminologist remarked.

"Why?"

"So that he would have an alibi."

"An alibi for what?"

"Why, for his whereabouts when Morden was murdered."

"He knew, then, that Morden was to be murdered?"

"Yes."

"But why did he take poison to give himself an alibi?"

"He wanted to be ill in bed. He got an overdose of the drug he took."

"You mean it was administered to him purposely?"

"Yes."

"By whom?"

"That," Griff said, "remains to be determined."

"What are your plans?"

"We are going to try to prevent another murder."

"Mrs. Malone?"

"No."

"Oh, you mean the chauffeur?"

"No."

"Who then?"

"The young woman, Stella Mockley."

"Why should she be murdered?"

"Because she is too dangerous a witness to leave at large."

BLEEKER stared for a moment at the criminologist, seated on the point of making some retort, then dropped back to the cushions of the cab and remained silent until the cab had taken a position in front of the hotel where they had located Stella Mockley.

"You've got your gun? The one that I gave you?" Griff asked.

Bleeker nodded. "Do we wait here?" he asked.

"Yes."

The men were silent for fully 15 minutes. Then Bleeker said, "But it's been proven that Cincinnati had a gray Cadillac coupe with a dented left rear fender."

"Exactly," Griff said.

"Then it must have been Lampson or one of his men who killed Shillingy."

Griff shrugged his shoulders. "I am very sorry," he said, "but I would much prefer to think. We can talk later."

"But," Bleeker said, "I feel that you owe me..."

He broke off as Griff suddenly shot out his left hand and gripped the publisher's knee. Bleeker followed the direction of the criminologist's eyes. Stella Mockley was just leaving the hotel, stepping into a taxicab which came forward in response to a signal from the doorman.

"Did you know that was going to happen?" asked Bleeker.

"I surmised it," Griff said.

He leaned forward and addressed the cab driver in a low tone. "Follow that other cab," he said, "but first let me get up in the front of the cab with you."

"What's the idea?" asked the cab driver.

"Never mind the idea," Griff told him. "It's important that you follow instructions. I want to be up here where I can see what's going on."

He climbed into the front of the cab. Bleeker leaned forward and said authoritatively. "It's all right, I'm Bleeker, one of the publishers of The Blade. This man is a detective."

"Okay by me," the cab driver said. "Just so I get the meter."

"You get twice the amount of the meter," Bleeker said. "But don't lose that other cab."

They swung out into traffic moving at a reasonable rate of speed. The cab ahead turned to a side street and made time. The driver shortened the space between them. Bleeker leaned forward and tapped on the glass.

"This is the same street where Shillingy was murdered," he said. Griff nodded.

A CAR swung around a side street behind them.

"Pull into the curb as though we were stopping," Griff told the driver. "Let that car behind us get ahead."

The other car slid smoothly by with constantly accelerated speed. It was a gray Cadillac coupe with a dented left rear fender.

"Quick!" Griff shouted springing to the running board of the taxi cab. "Go after that car. Give it everything you've got."

He reached to the shoulder holster which was suspended under his left arm pit and pulled out a heavy caliber automatic.

"Step on it!" the criminologist implored. "Grantically. He's got too big a head."

The gray Cadillac drew abreast of the first taxicab. It swerved into the right, until its right running board was crowding against the running board of the cab. The lone figure in the driver's seat shifted its position.

"Look out!" yelled Griff.

The first cab slowed. Flame spat from the side of the gray Cadillac. Griff pressed the trigger of his weapon. The automatic crashed out three shots. The taxicab in which Stella Mockley was riding was braked to a sudden stop. The gray Cadillac swept on, wobbling slightly. There were two more flashes of fire from the Cadillac. Two more thundering shots from the criminologist's automatic. The Cadillac swerved sharply, climbed a curb, crossed a sidewalk, crashed through shrubbery, swung drunkenly back to the street, slammed against a lightning fixture and went over on its side with a crash.

Griff swung from the running board with the grace of a brake-man jumping from a moving rail road coach. He was just abreast of the first taxicab.

AS the criminologist's feet touched the pavement, the cab in which he had been riding swayed and swerved as the driver applied the brakes. Bleeker tugged with the catch on the cab door.

"Are you hurt?" Griff shouted to Stella Mockley.

She seemed as one in a daze. For a moment she didn't answer, then her hand fumbled with the door catch. Griff jerked the door open.

"He hit me once," she said. "I don't think it's serious."

Griff inspected the streaming blood. "Just through the upper shoulder," he said. "We'll get you to a hospital. You'll be all right."

She pitched forward in a faint into the arms of the criminologist. Griff carried her across to the taxi cab, put her in the rear seat.

"Stop beside that Cadillac," he said, and jumped to the running board.

The cab moved slowly forward. "Listen, boss," said the cab driver. "I don't know what this is all about, but..."

They came abreast of the Cadillac. Griff jumped to the pavement. Bleeker was behind him. A figure lay twisted under the steering wheel of the wrecked Cadillac. Griff produced a flashlight. The beam struck the calm features. It needed but a glance to see that the man was quite dead.

"Good heavens!" Bleeker exclaimed. "It's Charles Fisher—the lawyer!"

Griff's voice was quick with impatience. "Who the hell did you think it was?" he asked.

There was the sound of a siren as a police radio car came roaring down the avenue.

"Around that corner and to a hospital," Griff told the cab driver. "and make it snappy."

Thursday Afternoon Club

The Thursday Afternoon club is making unusual plans for its Thanksgiving luncheon to be held in the community clubhouse at 1 o'clock Thursday, Nov. 22.

The quotation of year book program reads, "Every noble life leaves the fibre of it interwoven in the work of the world," by Ruskin.

Hostesses for the club luncheon are Mrs. Ray Lerner, Mrs. Clyde L. Garrett and Mrs. Julius B. Krause.

Martha Dorcas Class

Mrs. Mack O'Neal president, opened the meeting of the Martha Dorcas class Sunday morning held in the Methodist church, with ensemble hymn led by Mrs. P. R. Cook, with Mrs. C. J. Germany at piano.

The hymn, "God Will Take Care of You," prayer by Mrs. C. C. Robey, and voice solo by Leslie Cook, with Clara June Kimble at piano, prefaced the brief business session.

The class planned a box supper, to be given 6:30 p. m., on Thursday afternoon of this week, in the lower assembly room, with each member to take a filled box.

Truth Seekers Class

Mrs. L. G. Rogers, president, conducted the business session of the Truth Seekers class of the Baptist church Sunday morning.

A discussion of the plans of the groups was presented by the captains, Mrs. Howard Gaston and Mr. C. H. O'Brien.

The lesson, "The Christian as a Church Member," was brought by the class teacher, Mrs. Clyde L. Garrett, who spoke on the church as an institution, through which the Christian life must function.

Booster Bible Class

In the absence of the president and vice president, the Booster Bible class was opened by Mrs. Ed. F. Willman.

A nice letter was received from the class protege at Waco orphanage, thanking the class for the generous and comfortable supply of winter clothing he had received from them.

Announcement was made of the illness of Fred Patterson who has pneumonia, and that Annette Bender, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bender, is rallying from an operation for appendicitis performed at the local hospital.

Miss Mabel Hart was presented as a guest. Thirty members were present.

Home Makers Bible Class

The Home Makers Bible class of the Baptist church was opened by their president, Mrs. W. P. Palm, with prayer led by Mrs. T. L. Amis.

There was no business at this meeting, and the lesson was brought by Mrs. Ray Lerner on the current subject, "The Christian as a Church Member."

The speaker brought out our duty as such, and our award according to the study of the "Sermon on the Mount."

Alpha Delphian Called Meeting

Fort Worth Plans To Plant 2,000 Trees

By United Press
FORT WORTH, Nov. 19.—A campaign to replant more than 2,000 trees bordering Fort Worth's streets which died last year of drought and root rot, is being launched here by R. C. Morrison, city forester.

The trees should be replaced as soon as the first frost falls, Morrison said.

Hackberries, cedar, elms and sycamores are the favorite shade trees grown here.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE

NEA Service Staff Writer

A FOOD chemist in one of the state universities has been experimenting with dates and he declares that six medium-sized dates furnish as much working energy as a large baked potato or three half-inch slices from a baker's loaf of bread.

Well, dates are rich in iron and other minerals, too, so they are a worthwhile addition to the diet of growing children.

Three dates add approximately 100 calories to a dish of cereal and many children whose diets are inadequate in the matter of vitamins and minerals need extra calories.

Sandwiches for the school lunch may be made with dates and the children adore them. Make a filling of chopped dates and nuts, moisten with cream and put between thin buttered slices of Graham or whole wheat bread.

For a change try dates in place of raisins in your rice pudding, flavor delicately with cinnamon and vanilla.

Several salads use dates effectively. Chopped apple, nut and date salad with French dressing made with lemon juice is fine on crisp, finely shredded cabbage. Large dates stuffed with a mixture of cream cheese and finely chopped sautéed nuts make a hearty bridge salad. A tart whipped cream dressing is good with date salad and tiny hot buttered rolls may be served with it.

A good dinner salad combines orange sections with dates, nuts and French dressing.

gar, 1 egg, 1 cup milk, 1 tablespoon flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla.

Pour boiling water over dates. Drain and dip in cold water and remove stones if necessary. Chop coarsely and stew in a very little water until soft. Mix and sift flour, sugar and salt and add to stewed dates. Stir well and add well beaten eggs. Mix and add milk and vanilla. Turn into a deep pie dish lined with plain pastry. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about forty minutes. When firm to the touch the pie is done. Serve cold with a topping of whipped cream.

A very simple pie filling is made by cooking 1-2 pound dates with 1 cup water until the mixture thickens. Turn into a baked pie shell and cover with 1 cup cream whipped until firm and sweetened with 2 tablespoons powdered sugar and flavored with a few drops of vanilla.

Either of these desserts should follow a meal which is lacking in calories. They make excellent luncheon desserts because of their high calorie content.

Here's the ABC of COLDS-CONTROL

- A To Help PREVENT Colds
At the first sneeze or nasal irritation, quick—a few drops of Vicks VapoRub. Its timely use helps to prevent many colds—and to throw off colds in their early stages.
- B To Help SHORTEN a Cold
At bedtime, just rub on Vicks VapoRub, the mother's standby in treating colds. All through the night, by stimulation and inhalation, VapoRub fights the cold direct.
- C To Build RESISTANCE to Colds: Follow the simple rules of health that are part of Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. The Plan has been clinically tested by practicing physicians—and proved in home use by millions. (You'll find full details of this unique Plan in each Vicks package.)

HIGH FINANCE AND LOW LIVES RUN RIOT IN PAT O'BRIEN FILM

A comedy drama that travels far from the beaten path in its riotous fun making is promised in the First National production, "I Sell Anything," which is scheduled as the feature attraction at the Lyric Wednesday.

The story by Albert J. Cohen and Robert T. Shannon is one of swift action, snappy dialogue and unusually amusing situations. It pictures, in humorous vein, the business of manufacturing fake antiques and the method of auctioning them off to a credulous public.

While the story is largely comedy, there is an underlying romance in which Pat O'Brien, Ann Dvorak and Claire Dodd, as the principals of the all star cast, form the three sides of the love triangle.

Pat, portraying a magnetic chap with a glib tongue whose compelling manner and rapid fire talk net him a comfortable income as an
