STATE ARGUES BRONAP CASE AGAINST BRUNO

FLEMINGTON, Feb. 12.— Attorney General David Willentz today charged Bruno Hauptmann with the Lindbergh baby to death or insensibility, even before left the nursery.

The attorney general's declaration came during a dramatic summing up of the government's case against the Bronx carpenter, in which he had played the array of "witnesses" brought to testify for him.

In a sense his charge was a reversal of the theory that the child died by accident while the kidnaper was descending his ladder from the nursery window.

Willentz elaborated his declaration with the statement that "it is fair inference that Hauptmann intended the child to kill the child."

It was his intention to show that a murder was "deliberate, intentional and with malice aforethought," but it came as a surprise view of his opening statement to the jury the baby was killed during the commission of a felony—a burglary.

Throughout the morning that riddled with sensation, one of the most dramatic mornings of the year, he exercised his talking ability in the deepest scorn for Edward J. Reilly's array of witnesses, who had come "in answer to a radio appeal" to Hauptmann's defense.

BRECKENRIDGE, Feb. 12.—Two Eastland county youths, 18 and 19 years old, sat alone in the 90th district courtroom Monday morning waiting to hear the verdict of a jury before they could sum up the profit and loss of their decision on Jan. 12 of "going on a hi-jacking."

The youths, farm boys, whose confessions pointed to suggestions from others, at that time had for their career of crime, which included hi-jacking the Pittman Filling Station in Breckenridge and a station at Metcalf Gap, according to their confessions, the sum of four or five dollars each and a few weeks in jail here, while they wondered how much more the jury would add on the red side of the ledger.

GHASTLY MEMORY OF LINCOLN ASSINATION HAUNTS WOMAN, BACKSTAGE AS BOOTH FIRED FATAL SHOTS

Huron, S. D., Feb. 12.—On this day when millions of Americans are thinking of the humble birth and towering life of Abraham Lincoln, a little old lady of this town is thinking overpoweringly of his tragic death.

The pangs of 70 years has not dimmed the picture of that horrible moment for Mrs. Nelson Armstrong. As a young actress she was backstage in Ford's Theatre the night Booth's murderous pistol shots cut through the light comedy of the play to present a sudden and stark tragedy.

He was always ready for gaiety when with the company, and never struck anyone as particularly serious."

Recalls Puzzling Remark
The play presented that fateful night of April 14 was "Our American Cousin"—a fill-in while Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" was being rehearsed, for the Ford's Theatre company was at that time specializing in Shakespeare.

Burned Into Her Mind
Here is the way the events of that night burned themselves into the brain of the child actress so that the little old lady still remembers them:

"Everything backstage was going along in routine fashion despite the fact that we were conscious of President Lincoln's presence. The knowledge circulated backstage just as he arrived, soon after the curtain rose. We weren't too excited over that, as he often came to Ford's Theatre during the war, for relaxation.

Heard Booth Fleeing
"Just at that moment we heard the clumping footsteps of someone running through the stage scenery, down to the rear entrance, out the door, and into the alley.

"That was Booth, though of course we didn't know it then. "We rushed onto the stage. All was wild chaos. The first thing I saw was a number of men being lifted up from the stage into the president's box.

Winter Events Vary With the Weather

New England weather prophets are muttering in their beards these days. All bets on the weather are off in Vermont because a Burlington hunter shot the groundhog just before groundhog day, while in Maine a flock of wild geese was seen heading due north during one of the coldest spells of the winter, leading people to suspect that something is wrong either with the winter or the geese.

But these incidents are only samples of the general midwinter topsy-turviness.

The Japanese government announces that it will seek to restore friendship between Japan and China, and on the same day starts 4000 men heading for the borders of Chahar province with all the implements of war.

Lupe Velez and Johnny Weissmuller have undergone their 11th reconciliation and the State of Nevada has filed suit to collect taxes on ten steamships operated out of the port of New York.

The chief of the fire department at Marblehead, Mass., has resigned because he can't induce his firemen to go to fires with him any more, and a merchant in Birmingham, Ala., has won a $500 verdict against his lodge brothers because they kicked him in the pants while giving him a fraternal initiation.

A New York gentleman is taken in by the police for begging, and he explains in court that he was simply standing in the street with his hat off so that the breeze would make his hair grow, and could be helped if well-meaning strangers dropped $3 worth of nickels and dimes into his hat while he was doing it?

Meanwhile, a St. Louis girl, who couldn't take time off from her job to go to the marriage license bureau, sends a girl friend off with her fiancé to get the document, and learns to her horror that the two not only obtained the license, but got married with it.

The sheriff of Robertson county, Tenn., running shy of deputies, has taken to arresting people by telephone and reports that so far no one has refused to come in to the jail and be locked up on request. Another telephone angle gets into the day's news when a New York phone girl has her ex-sweetie arrested for calling her up 135 times in one evening.

And, to cap the climax, Chicago detectives arrest two colored men for trying to operate a "rent a gun and shoot it yourself" agency, seizing the 28 revolvers with which the men were equipped and lodging the men in jail.

To all of which you may add whatever moral seems to you possible in the circumstances.

Human nature is pretty much the same everywhere. It resents being driven in any way.

YES—ISN'T IT?

Income Tax In A Nutshell

Losses on Stock Transactions

No gain or loss is recognized for income-tax purposes as a result of the exchange of stock or securities in a corporation solely for stock or securities in another corporation in pursuance of a plan of reorganization to which both corporations are parties or as a result of the exchange of stock or securities in a corporation solely for stock or securities in the same corporation in connection with a recapitalization. Where money or other property is received along with such exchanges, no loss is recognized, although, a taxable gain may result. The statute also prohibits the deduction for any loss from the sale or other disposition of stock or securities where the taxpayer, within a period of 30 days before or after the date of sale or other disposition, acquires or enters into a contract or option to acquire substantially identical stock or securities.

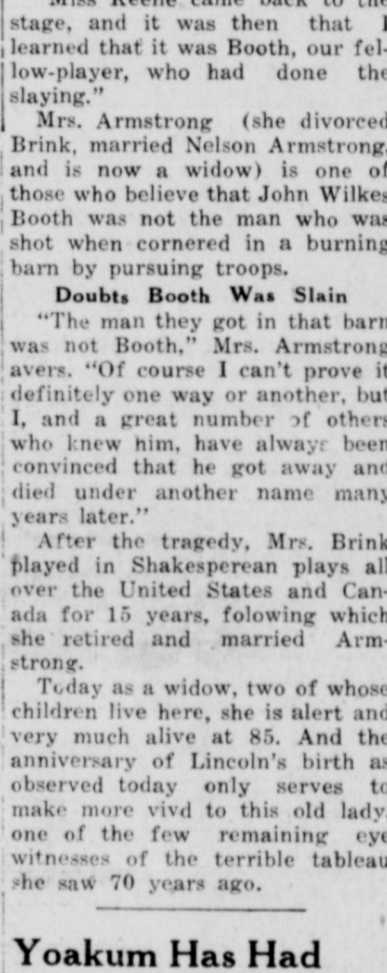

Two important changes are made by section 112 of the Revenue Act of 1934. Under section 112 (g) of the Revenue Act of 1932 no taxable gain was recognized as having resulted to the recipient stockholders of a corporation from a distribution of stock or securities in such corporation or in another corporation, a party to a reorganization, without the surrender of the stock in respect of which the distribution was made. These provisions are entirely omitted from the Revenue Act of 1934, thus giving such distributions the status of dividend distributions paid in property.

The other important change is in the definition of the term "reorganization" as contained in section 112 (g) of the Revenue Act of 1934. In section 112 (b) (1) (A) of the Revenue Act of 1932 the term "reorganization" is defined to mean "a merger of consolidation (including the acquisition by one corporation of at least a majority of the voting stock and at least a majority of the total number of shares of all other classes of stock of another corporation, or substantially all the properties of another corporation)." The corresponding provisions of section 112 (g) of the Revenue Act of 1934 define the term "reorganization" as "(A) a statutory merger or consolidation, or (B) the acquisition by one corporation in exchange solely for all or a part of its voting stock; of at least 88 percentum of the voting stock and at least 80 percentum of the total number of shares of all other classes of stock of another corporation; or of substantially all the properties of another corporation." The remaining provisions of section 112 (g) (1) are substantially the same as the provisions of section 112 (b) (1) (B), (C), and (D) of the Revenue Act of 1932.

faced the business session, when a

Valentine party was planned for tonight, Tuesday.

The class will create a Sunshine Fund to be used for providing flowers, cards to the sick, and other purposes, each member to contribute a sum of money, according to the suggestion of Mrs. Robey.

The lesson was brought by Mrs. Robey on "The Source of Spiritual Power" and dealt with repentance; the subject discussed was "Be baptised in the name of Jesus Christ for remission of sins, and ye shall receive the Holy Spirit."

The lesson was largely in the nature of a round table discussion, closing with the class prayer in union with the twenty members present.

Mr. Coleman led a responsive reading, "Death and Life," followed by the reading of scripture, a preface to the program subject, "King of the Kingdom."

This was put on as a chain program, with different subjects taken up without interruption, but each dealing with the sole thought of the subject and given by Carl Garrett, Marzelle Wright, Irene Williams, Terrell Coleman, Mrs. R. L. Young, Curtis Terrell.

An intermission brought a voice duet by Virginia Garrett and Elbertine Bagley, "He Is Coming Again."

The Lord's Prayer led by Mrs. Ed Willman, preface the lesson by Judge W. P. Leslie on subject, "Spiritual Power," based on second chapter of Acts.

The speaker said, the power came upon Peter, and wrought a complete change. The highlight brought that as times change, we are obliged to change our minds. Each church has its own spiritual value, but no one church contains all of the good powers. That solution of our social condition will not be won by Democratic or Republican power but by the followers of Jesus Christ.

Present: Messrs and Meses. Ed F. Willman, M. H. Kelly, Cecil Hibbert, Joe Kreamer, W. W. Kelly, Mmes. P. L. Crossley, T. M. Collie, E. L. Foster, J. C. Patterson, Galand Poe, L. Y. Morris, Neil A. Moore, Miss Minnie Lay, and Judge W. P. Leslie.

are for their acts from misdeameors to murder. Somewhere the sages have fallen down on the job.

Funny thing in many instances these days over the nation we find parents trying to outdo their children, and in the scuffle the kids just have to make out for themselves. The petting parties, and the big night out are certainly not the monopolies of the youth of today.

Back in the old days the elders usually had their functions after the kids had been tucked in bed. When the kids had their elders were there to see that they had the right kind of a good time, but that's old stuff today.

The kids go one way, and the elders the other, and neither know at what hour the other came in, and don't particularly care. Of course that doesn't happen in all cases. There are still those who cling to the old methods, but they have a terrible lot of competition to fight and its almost an impossibility to overcome it. But at that the world is a sweet place to live in and we haven't lost confidence in our fellow man or woman, nor in the aggregate of the youth of today. All we can do is sit on the side lines and watch the rest of the world go by, and we like it.

A University of California scientist has developed a vaccine for prevention and cure of the common cold, leaving us little with which to dread the winter.

According to latest reports, the government is encouraging some railroads to go into bankruptcy. That's strange. They needed no encouragement heretofore.

Post Mortem On Girl Dead For 2500 Years Revealed Secrets

COLUMBUS, O.—Dr. Frank A. Riebel and Dr. Norris Lenhan, young Columbus surgeons, have performed a post mortem on Naskhonsun-Pa-Krodu, Theban mummy, a prized possession of Ohio Archaeological and Historical Museum.

The young lady, also known as Nittip I, had been dead for 2,500 years.

The operation showed:

That Nittip was 35 at death; that her death was of natural causes, but sudden; that she was childless; that aside from two childhood illnesses, she enjoyed comparatively good health.

H. C. Shetron, curator of the museum, said the examination sets at rest a notion that Nittip was a glamorous woman of an exotic kingdom. She was a spinster, mistress of her father's household, who spent most of her time keeping house.

How Much Would You Pay For a DOLLAR BILL?

THIS IS A TRUE STORY: It started with a half-serious wager, and it teaches a lesson.

Two business men were visiting a famous resort. One offered to bet the other that he could not sell real dollar bills for 50 cents apiece. The other accepted the challenge and went to work.

"How do you do," he said to a passing stranger. "Will you give me 50 cents for this dollar bill?" The stranger paid no attention.

The salesman tried again, and again. But nobody bought—and finally he had to admit that he'd lost his bet.
