A Romantic Footnote To War's Mysteries

History would be a great deal more interesting if we could get at its insignificant footnotes. It is forever hinting at absorbing little stories that would make much better reading than the really important things which get all the space—but in most cases it does no more than hint.

Here's a sample. A few days ago some relief workers were excavating Indian mounds on the edge of the famous battlefield of Shiloh, in Tennessee. They accidentally drove their picks into a grave in which had been buried nine unknown Union soldiers killed in that battle. And one of the skeletons turned out to be that of a girl!

Skeletons, of course, were about all that remained. Each was encased in the remnants of a blue uniform, clearly identifiable as such by the tarnished brass buttons. The girl had apparently been some 17 or 18 years of age. The Confederate bullet which killed her was found inside her skeleton.

And that's all there is to the story—just that tantalizing little fragment, which tells us almost nothing, but which sets the imagination to work frantically.

Where did this girl come from? How did she get there, on one of the bloodiest battlefields of all the bloody wars?

Was she one of those luckless girls who wish they were boys, and masquerade as boys whenever possible? If so, how did she get in the army, in view of the fact that Civil War recruits had to undergo physical examinations just as present-day soldiers do?

Or was she, perhaps, the sweetheart of one of the soldiers, who had obtained a uniform in some manner, disguised herself in it, crept into camp by some hook or crook to be near her lover, and had been caught with him when the unexpected swirl of battle broke over Grant's army?

Has he one of the eight who were buried with her? Or did they get separated in the heat of battle, so that he never knew what happened to her?

These are questions that cannot possibly be answered; but who can read the little story without wishing earnestly that they could be?

These relief workers dug up one of history's most fascinating fragments—but it can never be anything more than a fragment, a footnote to a tale of battle, hinting at much that we would like to see revealed.

The nine skeletons have been buried in a new grave in Shiloh Cemetery, now. The only marker is a tablet, inscribed "Nine Unknown Union Soldiers."

Income Tax In A Nutshell

Exemption Allowed Family Head
A head of a family is defined by income-tax regulations as "an individual who actually supports and maintains in one household one or more persons who are closely connected with him by blood relationship, relationship by marriage, or by adoption, and whose right to exercise family control and provide for these dependent individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation."

Stedham, Mrs. Ralph Wynne, who is Deputy Grand Matron of Section 2, District 3; Mrs. M. M. Miller, Mrs. Lyman E. Forrest, Mrs. Henry Lattimer, Mrs. Frank Arrendale and Miss Letta Woids. Everyone reported a nice time.

Mexican Ranch Is Divided Into Farms

By United Press
BROWNSVILLE, Tex. — The American-owned Las Rucias ranch near Matamoros, Mex., has been subdivided, in accordance with Mexican law, and has been given to Agrarians who moved onto the land several months ago.
Last steps of the distribution of 2,800 acres of the 4,000 acre estate, owned by J. J. Fernandez, were completed recently when the "ceremonies" of actual occupation were carried out by the Agrarians.

Window Cleaner Scorns Safety Belt

DALLAS.—G. C. Smith, who cleans windows in skyscrapers for a living, scorns safety belts because he says he can trust his hands to hold on whereas a belt might break.
For about 10 years Smith has been cleaning windows. Now he is so proficient that it takes him only about three minutes to clean a window inside and out.

FOR VARIETY, SOW ANNUALS

For Variety, Sow Annuals
If variety is the spice of life, surely annuals must occupy the same place in our gardens. We have our trees, lawns, perennials, and shrubs always with us, but the annuals, different in shape, size, color and fragrance, lend an atmosphere of diversity, which is but a few short steps to diversion.
Annuals, then, give that perpetual newness to gardens which is the basis of all recreation. Like m'lady's hats, they change with the season, and provoke as much interest and conversation. With the hundreds of species and varieties to choose from, no garden need be without a continuous yearly change of color, appearance and fragrance, and with such a change a renewed interest in the home surroundings.
They may be used for almost any purpose. Annuals for bedding, edging, border or rockery are in perfect taste. They are particularly useful in out of the way places where spring bulbs have withered away, to fill gaps in the perennial border, to complete a color arrangement which has gone awry. There are annuals for shady spots, dry spots, wet spots, for early spring, mid-summer fall and late fall.
Get out your seed catalog these cold winter days and pick out a half dozen varieties new to you. Study their characteristics and habits and plan to use them in some location where their size and color will blend into your garden picture.
The ordinary run of annuals need little care. For the most part, they will grow abundantly if planted in good soil and given sufficient moisture. The one precaution is to sow them sparingly, and thin out when the seedlings are still small.
Many gardeners find that specializing in one or two annuals gives them much pleasure. In this way they really get acquainted with a certain family and when new varieties are developed are avidly interested in giving them a try, thus bringing into the garden the variety of contacts which is so important where continued interest is desired.

DESDEMONA

Mr. and Mrs. Style McEntire and baby, James Edward, and their mother, Mrs. J. E. Derrick, attended the pictures how at Ranger Saturday night.

Rev. H. H. Nance and family, W. H. Whitworth, Tom Nabers, Mrs. Ed Parks, Mrs. John Arnold, Mrs. Mattie Henry and Misses Edra Parks, Latrelle McGuire and Agatha Genoway went to Brownwood Friday and attended an educational rally of the Cisco and Brownwood districts.

A party was given Thursday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Barron. The party was given by Mrs. Barron in honor of Mr. Barron's birthday. Those who were there would not tell how many candles were on the cake, which had been beautifully decorated. Games of "42" and "checkers" were enjoyed. The gifts were opened and the hostess assisted by her mother, Mrs. R. K. Glanton and Mrs. Hugh Abel, served pineapple whip, birthday cake and coffee to the honoree and Messrs. A. C. Robert, C. A. Skiping, A. B. Henslee, Ford Reid, E. E. Mullins, George Patterson, Arnold Anderson and Rev. H. H. Nance.

J. W. Griffin, former postmaster here, and his daughter, Mrs. Charles Ice, both of Brownwood, visited friends here Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Williams visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Williams Sunday. Mrs. Lillie Burns, also of Ranger, came down with them.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sneed drove to Gorman on business Thursday night.

A marriage of much interest to hosts of friends of the bride, was that of Miss Dorace Rae to Mr. J. C. Goswick, which took place in Dallas on Tuesday, Jan. 29th, at 6:00 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by the pastor of one of the Baptist churches of Dallas. After the marriage the couple visited with the groom's relatives who live in Dallas, then came here and stopped for about two hours with the bride's parents, and left about 2:00 o'clock for their home at Abilene. The bride is one of the two attractive daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Roe and has made her home here since she was a small girl. She graduated at our high school and then attended Simmons College at Abilene and later took work at the State Teacher's College at Denton. For two years she taught in the grammar grades of the most popular teachers. She resigned this summer in order to accept a position in Abilene in an insurance office where she could be with her sister who has had a position there for more than a year. The groom is auditor for the Wooten Hotel Corporation.

The Methodist ladies are sponsoring a supper to be given at the hotel Saturday night. Everyone is invited to attend.

SILKEN SPINDLES

By Laura Lou Broobman © 1935 NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Gale Henderson, pretty and 23, works in a silk mill. She and her 19-year-old brother, Phil, support their invalid father.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Brian Westmore sketched slowly, hands in pockets, the tip of his cigaret glowing in the darkness. As far as the bend in the river where the big cottonwood hung out over the ice he went, then turned back. He had made the trip three times within the last half hour.

Brian moved forward—and then swung back. There was another figure behind the girl, the figure of a man. A minute later the two started across the ice and Brian saw that the girl was not so tall as he had thought, nor so slender.

The men at the mill, heads of departments and their assistants, were all older than he was. When Brian wanted to make a suggestion he was aware of this, aware, too, that they were experienced and he was not.

He'd tried getting acquainted with some of the younger men, the assistants, but that hadn't turned out very well either. Gale Henderson was the only one about the mill who had really treated him like a human being.

He passed the place where they had had their campfire the night before. The shore was dark and lonely now. And there was no slender figure wearing a short skirt and leather jacket skating toward him. There was no one at all in sight.

A maid in uniform answered his ring and said yes, that Vicky was in. Brian said, "Where is she—in the living room? I'll go in—"

sent you, Brian, to keep me from spending a poke evening alone." She turned toward the other man, "Good night, Greg," she went on. "Give me a ring, won't you, tomorrow about 4? Don't call me earlier because I'm going shopping with Claire."

Greg Harmon said, "No—got to be on my way. Got some thing to see about. All right, Vicky, I'll call you."

She shook her head. "Greg's getting to be a problem, Brian. Honestly, I don't know what to do. Just because I've gone around with him a little—playing golf and riding horseback and now and then going to parties—he seems to think I haven't any right to go with anyone else. It's ridiculous!

"It's nothing that would be so terribly hard—at least I don't think it would be. Just to take me to a few parties and be seen with me in places. Oh, it's the very thing! Would you, Brian? Would you do that?"

him that evening. Brian Westmore said slowly, "Of course, I'll help you, Vicky. Of course I will." (To Be Continued)

"Anne of Green Gables" Romance

Their adolescent romance at first menaced by an old family quarrel, Anne Shirley and Gilbert Blythe finally win happiness in "Anne of Green Gables," RKO-Radio Picture from M. L. Montgomery's beloved novel. Anne Shirley portrays her screen namesake and Tom Brown has the role of Gilbert.

"The Mighty Barnum"

Barnum denounces his manager for his attentions to Jenny Lind. Wallace Beery, Adolphe Menjou and Virginia Bruce in a scene from 20th Century's "The Mighty Barnum," released through United Artists and at the Lyric Monday and Tuesday.

DANCER MARGO IN RAFT SHOW, NEW FILM FIND

Already famous in Mexico, Spain and a few select places in the United States, Margo, the petite Mexican dancer, brings her unique talents to the screen in the principal featured roles of Paramount's "Rumba," starring George Raft and Carole Lombard and coming Friday to the Lyric Theatre.

Margo is one of the many film finds of that famous screen writing and producing team, Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur. She made her film debut in their "Crime Without Passion," but appeared in a dramatic role which did not afford much scope for her dancing interpretations.

Daughter of a prominent Mexican family, Margo learned her dancing in Spain and Mexico and made her professional debut at Agua Caliente. Later she appeared at the Ambassador Cocoanut Grove in Los Angeles and the Waldorf-Astoria in New York, where she was engaged when Hecht and MacArthur "discovered" her.

In "Rumba," Margo, Carole Lombard and Iris Adrian are the dancing partners of George Raft and appear in versions of the eight separate Rumba steps which are introduced in the picture.

Over one hundred expert Latin-American Rumba dancers, assisted by an equally large Hollywood chorus, dance to the fascinating and syncopated rhythms of the Rumba in the picture.

Directed by Marion Gering, "Rumba" tells the dramatic love story of a beautiful heiress and a tempestuous dancer against the tropical background of Havana. Lynne Overman, Monroe Owsley, Gail Patrick and Akim Tamiroff appear in principal supporting roles.

Henry's In McBee Alleged Murder Make Their Bonds

Raymond Henry, who was indicted by a recent grand jury on a charge of murder in connection with the death of H. L. McBee, was released from Stephens County jail at Breckenridge Thursday, officers said.

Mrs. Henry was released Wednesday. Bail bond of the pair was $3,000.

M. E. Tyler, Rising Star laborer, former charged with murder in connection with the case, was released after grand jurors reported no indictment.

The scientist who drank heavy water and lived has nothing on many Americans who have survived bootleg liquor.

BENEATH THE TROPIC MOON

To the rhythm of jungle drums and the humming of guitars, the elaborate choruses of Paramount's "Rumba," coming Friday and Saturday to the Lyric Theatre, step the paces of their native love dance, the scene is Havana, and George Raft and Carole Lombard are starred in the picture which features a Ralph Rainger dance score and over a hundred Latin-American Rumba dancers brought to Hollywood especially for the production. Marion Gering directed this production.

Announcement of Poetry Contest Winners Feb. 13

Winners in the "Texas" poetry composition contest conducted in Eastland public schools will be announced Feb. 13, Mrs. Nora Frances Mahon, chairman of the event, announced Thursday.

Eighty-four poems were entered. Winners of the contest and those receiving honorable mention will be guests of the Civic League, club sponsor on the announcing date.

The high school entered 68 poems; special mention was given by the judges to the second and third places, and ten honorable mention.

Entrants were five girls and eight boys. Judges for this group were members of the Abilene Poetry Society, Mrs. Maud E. Cole, president; Mrs. John Leeson, and Miss Alvin Lindsey.

The Junior Hi had three entrants: Judges were Miss Verna Johnson, chairman, Misses Doris Powell and Maurine Davenport.

The South Ward school, ten entrants, Judges, Mrs. Earle Johnson, chairman, Mrs. Poe Lovett, and Miss Ethel Boles.

The West Ward school, three entrants, Mrs. Earl Conner Jr., chairman of judges, Miss Mary Carter and Mrs. Bert McGlamery.

Mrs. Mahon, general chairman of contests had as her committee, who helped place the contest in the schools, and interested the students, Misses Verna Johnson, Doris Powell, Mary Carter; from high school; Mrs. Earle Johnson, Misses Boles, Lois Nelson, Wilma Beard, Junior Hi; Mmes. Earl Conner Jr., C. W. Hampton, and Miss Reva Seaberry of South Ward school; Mrs. A. E. Herring, Miss Maurine Davenport, and Mrs. T. L. Amis, of West Ward school.

These committees have been at work in the school for several weeks on this project, which is in line with the stimulating of interest in The Texas Centennial in cooperation with the Eastland County Centennial Board, of which Mrs. Jackson, president of the League is a board member.

The students understood in the beginning, that there would be but one prize for each school for first place in the contest, but honorable mention was just as valuable to the winner as though it were a gift.

Mrs. Mahon will address the schools next Tuesday, thanking them for their interest and cooperation and will invite those mentioned and the teachers to attend the League meeting.

Mrs. Maud Cole, president of Poetry Society of Abilene, chairman of judges for Eastland Hi contest stated to Mrs. Mahon: "This was a joy to us to read these lovely poems. They are all above the average for high school and many of them as good, if not better, than college verses I have had the privilege to judge. Please extend our compliments to the winners, I mean all of them, not just winners, I find in the group much talent."

The Civic League will meet next Wednesday, February 13, at 3:00 p. m., sharp; program opens 3:30 p. m. Community clubhouse. All invited.

Multiple Color In Dyeing Is No Longer Mystery

PHILADELPHIA. — Scientific research at last has solved the problem of multiple color dyeing. It is called "checker-board dyeing," according to Elmer C. Bertolet, head of the department of chemistry and dyeing of the Philadelphia Textile Society.

Speaking here recently Bertolet explained the latest development in the science of textile dyeing. Colorless material may now be dipped into a vat of dyestuffs and changed into a vivid design of two or more colors. Likewise a group of different fabrics may be inserted into the same dyeing vat and each one of them emerge a different color.

The discovery of the checker-board dyeing came as a result of long chemical research with dyestuffs and of the fibers employed in making textiles.

Man Drives Sixty Miles Without His Back Seat Driver

ODESSA, Tex.—A tourist couple, middle aged and of kindly appearance, were caused no end of embarrassment when the husband, after a short stop, resumed the trip, unwittingly leaving his wife behind.

Traveling westward by automobile with all their worldly possessions and family pets, they stopped at daybreak at a point west of Odessa to exercise their pets.

When the man, who had been driving, had again stowed away the pair of Irish terriers, the full-grown Scottie and the mammoth Persian cat, and had climbed into a large box holding three terrier and three Scottie puppies, he started off without looking for his wife in her accustomed place in the back seat and drove rapidly away without her.

When he stopped for gasoline at Pecos, some 60 miles nearer California, he discovered the oversight and after hectic telephoning persuaded the sheriff at Odessa to start a search for her. Later his wife telephoned him from Monahans that the Odessa sheriff was bringing her to Pecos and his chief concern became greatly altered.

Before the call, he was distressed over the plight of his wife. After the brief conversation, however, his distress shifted to the ordeal of the coming reunion. Waiting with the terriers and the Scottie in the family automobile, he kept repeating "My wife is red headed and a very, very capable woman." "This is going to be awful," and "I'll never live long enough to hear the last of this."

When last seen headed for California about noon, a "new deal" had been inaugurated, the red-headed lady was driving, and the big, kindly man, slumped on the back seat, was dispiritedly repeating explanations in a dreary monotone.

"THE MIGHTY BARNUM" IS COMING TO TOWN

P. T. Barnum, the self-styled "Prince of Humbugs," comes back to a hearty life Monday at the Lyric Theatre, in the person of Wallace Beery, who plays the matchless showman in Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "The Mighty Barnum," for 20th Century Pictures.

The screen play, which maintains the comedy mood best suited not alone to Barnum's extravagant exploits, but to Beery's most popular type of characterization as well as written by Gene Fowler, famous biographer, and Boss Meredith, one of Hollywood's ablest scenarists.

The story opens with Barnum's entrance into the sideshow business exactly one hundred years ago, having acquired a few reptile monstrosities and an aged negro named Joice Heth, purported to be 160 years old and erstwhile nurse of the infant George Washington, he left his failing Bowery grocery, rented a livery stable and opened Barnum's American Museum.

The famous midet, General Tom Thumb and his bride Lavinia, the Cardiff Giant, the Bearded Lady, the Fiji Mermaid, Woolly Horse and all the rest of the "natural oddities with which Barnum staggered New York a century ago are also seen. His splurge from the grotesque to the sublime with the sponsoring of the American debut of Jenny Lind, the lovely Swedish nightingale, at Castle Garden, plays a big part in the picture, with Virginia Bruce charmingly interpreting the golden-voiced Jenny.

Adolphe Menjou, Rochelle Hudson and Janet Beecher are also importantly in the cast in this Joseph M. Schenck presentation which Walter Lang directed for release through United Artists.

ARRAY OF NOTABLE TALENT IN "ANNE OF GREEN GABLES"

Despite the fact that the title role is carried by a sixteen-year-old girl, an all-veteran cast brings RKO-Radio's version of the celebrated novel "Anne of Green Gables" to the screen.

Anne Shirley; Tom Brown, O. P. Heggie, Helen Westley, Sara Haden, Gertrude Messinger, Murray Kinnell and Charley Grapewin comprise the cast. Each has a background of years of acting experience although youth predominates in this roster.

Miss Shirley, who plays the Anne Shirley of L. M. Montgomery's story, has been acting before the cameras since she was three years old. That means thirteen years of screen experience, during which she played important roles in scores of films.

Brown, at twenty-one, has almost that many years of acting experience to his credit. He was carried before stage footlights by his mother when he was six months old, and has been a part of the theatrical business ever since.

Heggie made his acting debut some thirty years ago in Australia. He has been featured and starred on the London and New York stages. Ever since the screen became audible he has been a ranking character favorite in pictures.

A founder-member of the New York Theatre Guild, Miss Westley has played featured parts in more than forty of that organization's productions. She is now one of the Guild's managing directors. Roles in several recent films, among them RKO-Radio's "The Age of Innocence," have spread her fame as a character comedienne to the screen.

Sara Haden's mother was an actress, and she followed in her footsteps, her experience including Broadway and London stage successes. Recently, her work in pictures has won critical and audience acclaim, her work in support of Ann Harding in "The Fountain" winning exceptionally high praise.

Like Anne Shirley, whose "bosom friend" she plays in the film, Gertrude Messinger started acting at the age of three. She has been playing featured roles in pictures ever since.

Murray Kinnell and Charley Grapewin both are character veterans with brilliant stage and screen records.

Relatives From Kentucky

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Kilborn had a visit of two days with Mrs. Kilborn's first cousin and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. James Bursell of Danville, Kentucky who have been touring Texas on a round of visits with both his and her relatives.

This is the first time Mrs. Kilborn has seen her cousin and they were happy in renewing contact with family affairs.

Mrs. F. M. Kenny Outlines Study

Mrs. F. M. Kenny had a co-workers meeting at her home Tuesday for a noon luncheon and the group planned the mission study for the fiscal year of the Womens Missionary Society of the Methodist church.

This course will open in March under the leadership of Mrs. Kenny.

The chairmen of the departments, who were appointed by Mrs. Kenny mapped out the year book at this session; the study will be "Orientals in American Life," by Albert W. Palmer.

Chairmen present were Mmes. Frank Crowell, Turner M. Collier, D. J. Jobe, E. C. Satterwhite, Wayne Jones, and P. L. Crossley. Guests were Mrs. I. N. Griffin, president of the missionary society; Mrs. E. R. Stanford, wife of the pastor; and Mrs. W. E. Kimble of Gorman, who holds a similar chairmanship office in the W. M. S. of the Methodist church of that city.

Mrs. Kenny will give a preface to the study at the regular meeting of the W. M. S. in the Methodist church, 3:00 p. m., February 18.

The luncheon table, centered with flowers, seated the group to whom a menu of two courses was served.

Eugene Sallee Auxiliary

The Eugene Sallee Auxiliary, one of several auxiliaries of the Womens Missionary Society of the Baptist church, held their usual meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of their director, Mrs. S. A. Green, with business session opened by their little president Miss Marzelle Wright.

The study was preceded by the song, "Standing On The Promises."

Mrs. Green brought an interesting lesson on "Selfishness," based on the 19th Chapter of Acts.

The session was closed with sentence prayers by Katrina Lovelace, Georgie Mae Bishop, Marzelle Wright, Eleanor Rae Drinkard, Mary Shepherd, and Mrs. Green.

Child Conservation League

A program that center about the "story hour" was presented by the Child Conservation League at their session Wednesday afternoon, opened by Mrs. J. F. Collins, vice president in the absence of their president Mrs. Wayne Jones.

Minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Garner Kinard, and Mrs. H. R. Brezeale was appointed temporary secretary. In the business period plans were made for their social evening at 8:00 o'clock on February 21, when the husbands of members will be guests.

The party will be held at the residence of Mrs. Wayne Jones, for whom an assistant committee was appointed in Mrs. Turner M. Collier, chairman, Mmes. D. L. Kinnaird and J. Atchley.

The program opened with the subject "What the story hour means to the child," interestingly presented by Mrs. E. E. Layton.

The types of stories that influence character, covered a wide field in discussion by Mrs. D. L. Kinnaird.

The development of the modern story teller, was explained by Mrs. Garner Kinard. Piano solo by Mrs. Kinnaird, closed the program.

Those present, Mmes. Grady Owen, J. Atchley, Turner M. Collier, J. F. Collier, D. L. Kinnaird, E. E. Layton, Garner Kinnaird; Mrs. H. R. Brezeale, and her sister, a guest.

Mrs. Carl Hill Hostess

The Bridge Luncheon club was entertained this week, by Mrs. Carl Hill, at her home, with three tables laid in maderia linen, and the valentine motif carried out in the attractive place cards, and the vases of red carnations, centering a big red heart, on each table.

The menu of creamed chicken in heart shaped patties, potatoes and peas baked apples tinted red, hot rolls, olives, and coffee, had last course of cherry pie with whipped cream topping.

Bridge afterwards had high and second high score favors in game awarded Mrs. Charles Fagg, and Mrs. Frank Hightower, who received a cheese tray and a pottery vase.

Consolation favor, a large heart shaped confection, decorated, went to Mrs. Ben Hamner.

Guests of the meeting were Mms. W. H. McDonald, Frank Hightower, Mrs. T. C. Wynn of Big Springs.

Members present, Mmes. Roy Birmingham, Jack Ammer, C. W. Gebe, Ben Hamner, James A. Jarboe, Charles Fagg, Ben Sears, J. F. Collins, and hostess Mrs. Carl Hill.

Returns to El Paso

Mrs. R. D. Goodman has returned to her home in El Paso after a visit with her mother, Mrs. P. L. Parker.

While here Mrs. Goodman was feted with a number of social entertainments.

Wednesday a party was given in her honor by her sister, Mrs. W. M. Durham, in Comanche.

WASHINGTON.—The Virgin Islands are a couple of small isolated spots which for a long time have been acting like big bad spoils. You can't tell where they'll spread next.

Apologies by Secretary Ickes to Jim Farley, Honner Cummings, and Pat Harrison for his department's bungling distribution to the press of a magazine article criticizing them inferentially along with their friend, Federal Judge T. Webber Wilson, sitting in the Virgin Islands, was but the climax of a whole string of irritations.

What between noble attempts to rehabilitate the poverty-stricken islands and incessant warfare between Wilson and his political backers on one side and Gov. Paul Pearson, supported by Ickes and other liberals, a prodigiously disproportionate amount of New Deal time has been spent in worrying about those islands.

President and Mrs. Roosevelt, Rex Tugwell, and many others have been interested. Alternating complaints against Pearson and Wilson have resulted in investigation after investigation by Ickes. Dismissals have resulted.

The administration political machine under Farley has been constantly irritated because the idealistic Pearson, a Hoover appointee, was retained by Ickes. Except for Wilson, a lame duck ex-congressman from Mississippi, the islands have been kept out of the hands of the politicians.

THE latest amusing note on the situation concerns departure for the islands of Morris L. Ernst, New York lawyer, who will investigate for the American Civil Liberties Union charges that Wilson, in his campaign against Pearson, acted as prosecutor, jury, and judge to railroad a public works employe to prison.

Wilson's chief distinction as a congressman was his sponsorship of a national board of magazine censorship which would have censored every line of copy entering a magazine under penalty of long imprisonment and large fines for anyone who avoided the censorship.

Ernst, on the other hand, is this country's outstanding legal crusader against literary censorship and has won many court cases involving attempted suppression of books and magazine issues.

WASHINGTON gossip probably is no dirtier than the gossip anywhere else, but it's often difficult for celebrities to act like human beings without the more inveterate dirt-tossers figuring out something more or less sinister.

The latest latest insinuations are based on the sequence of events in which Mr. John Boettiger was mentioned as Mrs. Anna Dall's future husband, the government investigated the alleged movie trust, the movies hired Mr. Boettiger, the alleged movie trust was indicted, and Mr. Boettiger thereupon married Mrs. Dall.

Of course Mr. Boettiger was previously a Washington correspondent for the New Deal's most virulent journalistic foe, so there seemed to be something graceful in his retirement from that job.

That Reminds Me

In looking over the list of the different committees we see the names of men and women who we know are good workers and who have the confidence of the people. They are folks that shows that Hamilton could pick them for their ability and that they were selected according to their knowledge of the work in hand. He is to be commended for his selection. The only way that the proof will be in the pudding is not to let him down now that he has made the appointments.

And now we come to a major issue, that should be gotten right now. No business, no group, can do anything without some capital behind it. It takes money to do things, and that doesn't mean that any extravagant expenditures should be tolerated nor that they are even in mind. Every firm in Eastland, every professional man or woman should be a member and a contributor to the Chamber of Commerce. Not a figure that some one else sets but what each individual business can afford to pay and what they think new industries or the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce in attracting business to Eastland means to them. But by all means make it a business to become a member. The membership committee of the Chamber of Commerce should lose no time in making the rounds and placing their side of the question before the business and professional men of this community.

Eastland is right now badly in need of a first class furniture store. No one can tell this writer that any man or group of men who can properly finance a good furniture store in Eastland cannot make not only a good living but a profitable income each year. Just putting in a furniture store and expecting the people to flock to it is little short of common sense. It takes a live dealer who will tell the people know that he is in business, one who carries the kind of stock that it takes to run a good furniture store, and a man who is directly interested in the community in which he operates. With that kind of background the people of this community will support it, and do it gladly because most folks would rather trade at home and they don't get much kick running all over the country looking for furniture when they want it. Some body that knows the furniture business is passing up the best bet we know of—right here in Eastland.

Tailors meeting in New York have decreed brighter clothes for men, but the men don't happen to be women.
