DEPARTMENTS OF STATE ARE CRITICIZED

AUSTIN, May 11.—Several state departments were criticized by an investigating committee today.

Transfer of jack and stallion fund purchases from the department of agriculture to the board of control.

Setting of trial of Mary Lou Howell and Elmer Van Cleave, charged with murder and robbery in connection with the death of L. P. Threet, rancher who lived near Cisco, last year, pending suitable arrangements between Eastland and Callahan county officials.

J. R. Black, prosecuting attorney of the 42nd district, will assist Grady Owens, criminal district attorney in prosecution of the two.

Clifford Doggett, who was tried on same charges that face Miss Howell and Elmer Van Cleave, received 99 years at Baird and the death sentence at Eastland.

SAYS TERM OF SHERRILL AND KINNAIRD OUT

All Parties Enter Exceptions And Give Notice of Appeal.

B. W. Patterson, Judge of the 88th District Court, rendered judgment in the case of D. L. Kinnaird against the City of Eastland and others, Saturday morning granting a mandamus commanding the Board of City Commissioners to hear and determine the election contest filed by Kinnaird involving the result of the city election held April 2.

The court also held that inasmuch as the returns of the election showed the T. M. Johnson, C. W. Hoffmann and H. O. Satterwhite had received the plurality of votes over J. M. Sherrill and D. L. Kinnaird, and that Johnson, Hoffmann and Satterwhite had qualified by filing their oaths of office, they became and are the commissioners unless, and until the Board of Commissioners should determine the election contest in favor of Kinnaird.

The court further enjoined J. M. Sherrill and D. L. Kinnaird from participating in the hearing of the Kinnaird contest because of his being an interested party, he being a contestant in that matter.

All parties excepted to the several orders of the court and gave notice of appeal to the court of Civil Appeals at Eastland and the court fixed the supersedeas bonds required to suspend the judgment pending the appeals, at $200.

Response of Eastland residents that attended "It Happened in Hollywood," Senior class play presented Friday night at the school auditorium, was favorable.

Performances of merit and indications of capable direction of Mrs. Hazel Carter Ammerman were observed by play attenders.

The play was said by some to be the best any group at the school has given in many years.

A large crowd attended and recipients to the class were gratifying, seniors said.

Allred Is Not Expecting to Call Special Session

AUSTIN, May 11.—Gov. James V. Allred announced today that something unforeseen should occur no immediate special session of the legislature is in sight.

The governor said he had discussed with no one the calling of a special session. He said he will sign the oil enforcement bills of this session. Today he signed the bill publishing forgery of an oil tender order. He also signed the resolution by which the centennial appropriation act was given immediate effect and the bill to allow counties to use the first 25 per cent of their share of motor registration fees for soil erosion work.

FUGITIVES ARE CHARGED WITH GUARDS DEATH

CROCKETT, Texas, May 11.—A trio of convicts fled before a posse of officers with bloodhounds today, leaving in their wake the dead Eastham prison guard and their convict leader.

A convict turnkey who was wounded in the break at the prison farm was near death in the prison hospital.

Leon Lusk, Houston county attorney, filed murder charges against the three convicts. He said he would ask the death penalty for each of the men for the slaying of Welch.

Lusk said he would do all in his power to "repay the loyalty" of Turnkey Parker, who has served all except 30 days of a 10-year sentence.

Meanwhile a "quiet" riot broke out among a group of prisoners at Huntsville and resulted in the death of Ernest Young, 50, lifer, who was stabbed to death. Prison officials said they had not determined who attacked Young.

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.—T. E. Kelly, 32, reputed friend and companion of the late Raymond Hamilton, was held in jail today after his arrest near here last night. Officers said Kelly admitted his identity. He will be held for Texas officers, if his story is true.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—His tackle oiled and ready President Roosevelt departed under sunny skies today for his first fishing of the season.

He headed for the 5,000-acre preserve of the Woodmont, Md., Rod and Gun Club.

Eastland Judge to Preside This Week At Court In Dallas

Judge B. W. Patterson of 88th district court is scheduled to preside in a Dallas district court beginning Monday.

Although it was not positive, Judge Patterson advanced his opinion he would preside in the 95th district court.

Petit jurors who have been summoned for service beginning Monday will not be needed, Judge Patterson announced, who stated they would be called later.

NEW WELLS ARE BEING DRILLED IN THE COUNTY

Drilling of two new wells in Eastland county has started and another will begin Monday, according to operators filings in the Texas Railroad Commission office at Eastland.

A. W. Drilling company Inc., of Eastland is drilling J. B. Johnson No. 1, Andrew Kent survey, seven miles southwest of Carbon. Operators contemplate drilling to 2,800 feet for the pay.

Murray and McDavid of Abilene are understood to be drilling No. 2 Mrs. J. E. Jurell, Pumpkin Center field, section 29, block 24. Operators intend to drill to 1,355.

Work is, according to operators application in the commission office, to start Monday on N. A. Moore's No. 3 J. W. Carter, six miles north of Eastland, section 9, block 4, H&TC Ry. survey. Two thousand feet in depth named to be reached.

Olden High Has Annual Junior, Senior Banquet

Seniors of Olden High school were feted Friday night by juniors in the annual class banquet held on Connellee hotel roof at Eastland.

Principal speaker was Judge B. W. Patterson, district judge, who addressed the students and faculty members on "True Life Values vs. False Life Values."

The program includes the following units: Words of welcome, Charlie Butler; response, Frances Hunter; toast to seniors, Jean Adams; response, El Merle Stanford; toast to faculty, Margie Fowler; response, Shelby Smith, principal of the school; address, Judge Patterson.

AMENDMENTS TO BE VOTED UPON LISTED

AUSTIN, May 11.—Laws to curb stock swindling, re-organization of forces for war on crime, submission of prohibition repeal and laws benefiting children stand out among the accomplishments on the legislature.

Proposed amendments which legislators voted to submit include: Prohibition repeal and creation of a state dispensary system.

Increases of salaries of the governor and other state officers. Providing free text books to all children in public, private and church schools.

Creation of pensions for the aged of $15 monthly for persons over 65 years of age. Payments of workmen's compensation insurance for state employees.

Creation of a retirement fund for Texas teachers.

Veterans' Corps of CCC to Be Given A 55,000 Boost

Information has just been received from the administrator of veterans' affairs to the effect that the veterans' contingent of the civilian conservation corps will be increased to 55,000 between June 15 and Aug. 31, 1935.

This will more than double the number allotted to the San Antonio and Dallas offices of the veterans' administration.

In order that we may be able to fill our quota when the time arrives, it will be necessary that we receive many more applications than we have in the past. It will be appreciated if this information can be given wide publicity in your locality and advise any and all veterans interested to communicate with the regional office having jurisdiction over the territory in which they live.

Necessary application blanks will be sent to all those interested with full instructions as to the completion and submission thereof. Of course you know that any honorably discharged veteran of the World war or previous wars who is physically able to do a reasonable amount of work is eligible for enrollment in the civilian conservation corps. Preference will be given in enrollment to those men having dependents who agree to make allotment of three-fourths of their pay to such dependents; also preference is given to those men who have been unemployed for long periods of time.

Application for five canneries in Eastland county have been approved from Austin, H. E. Driscoll, county administrator, announced Saturday.

The canneries will be located at Cisco, Rising Star, Gorman, Eastland and Nimrod.

"The canneries will employ 105 men and 31 women at a total cost of $43,323.10," the county administrator stated.

"This approval is one of the largest for canneries in the state and covers 115,200 man hours of common labor, 28,800 man hours of semi-skilled labor, and 5,760 hours of skilled labor, all over and above the supervision," Driscoll stated.

Teams and trucks and other equipment will amount to $500 and cost of materials, such as tools, kettles, spices, etc., amounts to $1,495.

Cattle Ranges In Texas Improving

AUSTIN, May 11.—April rains left Texas cattle ranges in improved condition, the federal crop and livestock division reported today, but failed to aid drought-ridden Panhandle and West Texas areas.

Ranges were 66 per cent normal on May 7, a five-point increase since April 1.

Certain drought districts in the Panhandle were relieved by snow in April and green wheat used as pasture declined to 59 per cent normal. Calf prospects were described as "fair" and the lamb crop outlook "poor to fair," with losses light to both.

Officers Are Given Hamilton's Reward Correction

AUSTIN, May 11.—Gov. James V. Allred today sent to Sheriff Smoot Schmid of Dallas the $500 reward offered for information leading to the capture of Raymond Hamilton, who was executed at Huntsville. The reward will be shared by the six officers who participated in the capture.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Patman bonus bill forces today claimed their chances of averting a veto of the $2,200,000,000-inflationary measure were strengthened by appointment of Dennis Chavez, Democrat, to succeed the late Senator Bronson Cutting, Republican, New Mexico.

Senator Elmer Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma leader of the Patman group, said he had been informed "Chavez is with us and will arrive Monday ready to vote to override a veto."

The Patmanites, however, still appeared to be a few votes short of the two thirds, majority necessary to override a veto.

Telegram at the rate of 250 an hour poured in on President Roosevelt in response to an appeal of the veteran's lobby. The officials of the American urged all members to appeal for approval.

Senator Huey Long, Democrat, Louisiana, vigorous Patman supporter, was attempting to find time on a broadcasting chain for a radio appeal tonight. Veterans leaders said Father Charles Coughlin, was expected to make another appeal to deluge the White House and capitol with telegrams urging enactment of the measure.

Thomas said it was impossible to predict when the bill will be released from the senate, where it is being delayed until Patman forces are at full strength.

Another Band to Play at Highway Fete at Eastland

Another band to play at the Highway 89 Airline celebration to be held in Eastland May 30, was added to the list Saturday by Milburn McCarty of Eastland, celebration general chairman.

The celebration chairman announced that North Texas State Teachers College band of Denton has given notice that they will be on hand for the Memorial Day fete.

Securing of the Denton college band marks the second of well known Texas musical groups to have announced they will be at Eastland.

Last week arrangements were made for the appearance of the Hardin-Simmons University Cowboy band of Abilene.

Other bands of the county and section will also be on hand for the celebration activities.

Two Oil Companies Barred from Making

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Oil Administrator Harold Ickes today barred two major companies—the Texas Company of New York and the Continental Oil Company of Oklahoma, from bidding for federal oil business.

Ickes announced his action in letters to the secretary of the navy and Admiral Christian Peoples, head of the procurement division of the United States treasury.

"That both of these companies failed to comply with decisions of the Petroleum Labor Policy board, is the basis on which the companies are barred," Ickes said.

Farm Mortgages Law Is Voided

FORT WORTH, May 11.—Federal Judge W. H. Atwell today ruled the farm mortgage act is unconstitutional because it constitutes a complete striking down of private contracts.

As Science Advances, Will We, Also?

Trying to figure out what the future is going to be like is always good clean fun, and it is especially attractive if you are more or less dissatisfied with the present.

For an imaginative chemist can see things that would stump a Jules Verne or an H. G. Wells. He can show us a future that is like a magic wonderland; and—which is more to the point—he can also persuade us that he knows what he is talking about.

Thomas Midgley, Jr., chairman of the board of the American Chemical Society, took a little flier into the future at a recent convention of chemists in New York. He foresaw some startling things.

A century from now, he predicted, the discovery of new sources of energy will have made inter-planetary travel possible. It will also have revolutionized industry to such extent that two hours will be the maximum length of the working day.

This, he added, was only a starter. We shall be raising chickens the size of pigs and they will be laying eggs the size of footballs. People won't go to war any more, because defensive weapons will be strong enough to make any offensive impossible.

Television will be perfected to such an extent that delegates to national conventions will attend by staying right in their own homes—which ought to be a break, in several ways.

All this adds up to something remarkably like a pipe dream. But the odd thing about it is that none of these predictions is impossible. A century from now Mr. Midgley may look like an exceedingly conservative and cautious prophet.

And that emphasizes the strange new condition under which the race is laboring these days. Its greatest problems are no longer connected with the struggle to master the physical environment; they have to do with the intangibles—things like economics, social organizations, and international relations.

We know, nowadays, that eventually we shall abolish disease and hunger and all manner of scarcity, and that we can equip ourselves with almost any kind of mechanical gadget that seems desirable. The big question is what we are going to do with ourselves after we make those advances.

Shall we learn how to get along together so that they all make the life of the average human being happier, freer and richer? Can we adjust ourselves to an age in which the only problem will be the problem of human relationships?

Politics, Also, Works By Cause and Effect

If the unexpected twists and turns of politics sometimes seem confusing, it is well to remember that nothing ever happens in a vacuum. There's a reason for everything, and the law of cause and effect operates just as inexorably in politics as it does in physics.

Recent news dispatches provide an excellent illustration.

Seventeen thousand people jammed a great hall in Detroit to cheer enthusiastically when Father Coughlin called on them to "drive out of public the men who have promised us redress and failed."

On the same day, Senator Huey Long told Washington correspondents that he doesn't "give a damn for party labels or platforms," and that he will support some such man as Senator Borah, Senator Norris, or Senator Nye for the presidency in 1936.

Now these two developments are extremely significant. They bespeak an upsurge of indignation on the part of the public—an impatient anger at the delays and failures of existing political organizations. And when you try to find the reason for this anger, you learn something interesting.

On the day that these two developments occurred, a legislative committee investigating alleged relief graft in Ohio questioned Francis W. Poulson, state Democratic chairman. Mr. Poulson admitted that the party collected campaign funds from firms which did business with the state relief administration; and when he was asked if these firms contributed for the purpose of getting more business, he asked, "Did anyone ever make a political contribution for any other purpose?"

A committee member found this shocking. Mr. Poulson replied that "only the most naive could believe that people would give money to a political party just because they wanted to play Santa Claus."

All this is worth some extended thought. Remember, first, that every political party finances its campaigns by means of contributions. That's true of all campaigns—

THE DOORSTEP COMES TO THE WOLF

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON — Economic recovery has been only partial. But the American big business man's recovery of his morale appears to be complete.

Hang around the U. S. Chamber of Commerce convention a curious correspondent had no trouble learning the frame of mind which lay behind the fusillades directed against the Roosevelt administration by speaker after speaker for this great lobby of industry and commerce, which broke definitely with the administration.

Most of these men believe the New Deal contains some threat to the free right to make unrestricted profits. Anticipating business recovery on a rapidly rising scale, they want no interference with their privilege of making whatever money they can.

The average member of the Chamber reacts with special violence against the administration's moves against the "power trust." It makes no difference to him that a public utility is a publicly granted monopoly, as distinguished from a competitive private enterprise.

HE sees the great TVA project as the spearhead—the camel's nose under the tent—for the government's entry into other lines of business.

And he sees Roosevelt's proposed elimination of electric utility holdings companies as the beginning of an effort to bust up other huge combinations of corporate power and wealth.

He resists government regulation because that, too, threatens profits—in the case of hours and wages. He resents what he considers the administration's encourage-county, city, state, and national. The money is collected from individuals and corporations.

Remember, secondly, that we have here an experienced politician openly stating that no one ever contributed to such fund unless he expected to get some sort of favor in return.

Can you begin to understand, now, the tremendous amount of pressure that is eternally assailing all our units of government, from Washington down? Is it surprising that the ordinary voter's wishes are so often ignored? Is it any wonder that the voters are getting fed up?

This cynical disclosure in Ohio makes it easy to see whence comes the discontent which provides a following for such men as Father Coughlin and Senator Long.

To Squelch Hitch-Hiking

The Pennsylvania state highway patrol has declared war on the hitch-hiker. Capt. Wilson C. Price announces at Harrisburg that anyone caught thumbing a ride in Pennsylvania hereafter will be jailed or fined, and he adds:

"A hitch-hiker and a panhandler are the same, except that the panhandler whines for a dime and the hitch-hiker wants a ride that is often worth a $10 bill."

This stand may seem a little harsh, but there are plenty of motorists who will applaud it. For, when all is said and done, the average hitch-hiker has a colossal nerve.

As Captain Wilson remarks, he is a panhandler on a big scale. It is hard to feel very indignant over a plan to squelch him.

Cities where everybody works and nobody shirks are easily raised from the dead.

"Changing Country Life" Is the Subject A&M Short Course

By United Press COLLEGE STATION, Tex. — "Changing Country Life" will be the theme for the Twenty-sixth annual Short Course at the Texas A. & M. College July 28 to August 2.

Phases of the housing problem as related to rural families, soil erosion work, and agricultural adjustment will furnish features of the program.

Demonstrations in doing various types of farm work will be stressed rather than talks and lectures.

In addition to programs for farmers, ranchmen and rural home makers, conferences are scheduled for rural pastors and laymen of the state, agricultural editors, superintendents of rural schools, members of the beekeepers association, producers of state registered and certified seed, and members of Epsilon Sigma Phi, national fraternity for Extension Service workers.

A newspaper staffed by 4-H club boys will be printed daily during the Short Course week.

If this mobilization keeps on, Europe's problem will be the "forgotten woman."

STOCK car manufacturers again are interesting themselves in automobile racing, which is not the least reason why another era of prosperity is imminent for that risky business.

Fifteen new cars will participate in preliminary trials for the 500-mile race at Indianapolis on May 30. That is more new creations than have been built for the mad whirl around the 2 1/2-mile brick track since they went back to the 91 cubic inch motor in 1926.

The Memorial Day race at Indianapolis annually plays to America's largest sports crowd. With an advance sale more than double that of last year at this time, President Eddie Rickenbacker expects a new attendance record. The present mark is 155,000, established in 1930. Wild Bill Cummings was flagged the winner before 138,000 persons in 1934.

A feature of this year's running of the famous fixture is to be the return to the races of Pete De Paolo, who came out of a high-handed apprenticeship to capture the victory in 1925 with an average of 101.13 miles an hour, a mark that stood for seven years.

Reasons That All Hard Luck Should Be Out of His System

DE PAOLO earned a quarter million dollars on the strength of his victory of a decade ago, but time has dissipated his once imposing bankroll and brushed a few flecks of silver on the temples of the diminutive driver. A veteran at 36, Pete is as sound as a rock and more mature in his judgment than he was on the afternoon that he skyrocketed to fame and fortune.

Youthful Burglar Presents a Problem For Houston Police

HOUSTON, Tex.—Police were nonplussed over disposition of a nine-year-old bandit who armed himself with a .45 calibre pistol and "had a lot of fun" burglarizing homes.

The child, the pistol stuck in his belt and a hunting horn about his neck, cheerfully and naively told officers he burglarized one house ten times, another four times and a third once.

He said he would walk up to the door and knock. If anyone answered the door he would ask for "Jimmy" or "Billy," but if nobody came to the door he would go around to the back door and break in.

"It was lots of fun," the lad said, smiling.

Officers turned the child over to R. C. Roebuck, juvenile officer. A policeman said he didn't believe the "kid knows he violated the law."

Summer Sweethearts

By Mabel McElliot © 1935, NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Katharine Strykhurst, beautiful, 20, is discontented and restless because her wealthy father, Victor Strykhurst, and her aristocratic stepmother, Betrine, refuse to let Katharine undertake any sort of work.

Katharine rides daily with Michael Heatheroe, young westerner who runs a riding club. She assures herself she is not interested in Michael, but feels a pang of jealousy when Sally Moon, local coquette, calls at the club for lessons.

Zoe Parker, Katharine's friend, returns from Europe where she has been taken to forget her love affair with Gibbs Larkin, of whom her parents disapprove. Zoe accuses Katharine of being in love with Michael.

Now Go On With The Story CHAPTER III
Long ago Katharine Strykhurst had decided to shut love out of her life as much as was humanly possible.

Her mother had died when she was nine. People say, "Children don't understand." But some children do. Katharine still remembered that day with a shudder—nurses hurrying to and fro in the old stone house; her father's racked sobs. She understood only too well. The lovely, fair-haired, gracious mother had gone. There was no one in her place. Katharine was by nature a lonely child. A succession of governesses only intensified this loneliness. Many nights her pillow was wet with childish tears. Later her father had brought her a pet; a little Chien terrier she dearly loved. When he was run over by a tradesman's car, Katharine had dried her tears and had said angrily and stoically to herself: "All right, I won't love anybody or anything again."

She had tried to keep that promise. The entrance of her stepmother into her life, when Katharine was 13, had not really meant much. Katharine had been polite to the well-dressed, pleasant-faced Bertine. She had never called her mother. The second Mrs. Strykhurst, who had a good figure and a sense of humor, hadn't tried to "win Katharine over" by fair means or foul. Now, after more than seven years, they were friends, if not completely allies.

So, this fine summer morning, when Zoe Parker, wrapped in thoughts of the man she loved, accused Katharine of being a victim of the grande passion, it is small wonder that the tall, fair girl in riding clothes turned on her companion almost angrily, denying it.

"I never heard anything's ridiculous," Katharine said. "All right, all right," Zoe soothed her, smiling. "I only thought you looked at him so . . ."

Katharine flushed to the roots of her hair, in which gold shimmered and deep waves were burnished. Back at the entrance to the stables Michael was deep in a conference with one of the men; something about that limp of the dapple gray's.

"You can't see a man and a woman together," Katharine began hotly, "without imagining . . ."

"Well, honestly, Kay," cried Zoe, nettled in her turn, "anybody's think falling in love was a disgrace."

"Well, leave me out of it, won't you?" Katharine said with cool dignity.

"I can't. You're one of the blooming human race," Zoe cried, with a peal of laughter. All at once both girls were restored to their normal selves. Michael, hearing the sound of laughter, glanced up and smiled. Something caught at Katharine's heart. There was something so—so darned attractive about that tall, rangy, lean young westerner when he smiled. Those little laugh wrinkles about his eyes . . .

"There, that's better!" cried Zoe. "Now, can you ride over to the Ride and back? It only takes 15 minutes. I want to talk to you."

"All right," Katharine agreed, ashamed of her earlier flare of temper. There was just no use flashing out at Zoe. She was the most amiable person in the world, if a trifle silly . . .

"But my car's here," she protested after deliberation. "I'll have to stop by again and pick it up."

Would Michael think she was making excuses to see him? Men were so terribly conceited. After the other day when he had so rudely seized her wrist and spoken so sharply, when they were taking shelter from the storm in that way-side cabin, she scarcely knew what to think of Michael. He had apologized, had muttered something incoherent; but they had both been self-conscious, riding home later.

Katharine assured herself that if things were going on this way she would have to give up her morning rides, much as she adored them. But this morning, tall westerner had been casual and unself-conscious, as usual. It was going to be all right, Katharine had thought with satisfaction. They could just be comrades. People who said that friendship—and merely that—was impossible between a man and girl were just crazy.

Zoe piloted the little car skillfully up the hilly road winding westward in a zig-zag pattern away from Innicoek. From the rise you could look back and see the village, lying sleepy in the morning haze, and a line of blue beyond that marked Long Island Sound. Church bells rang in one of the steeples three miles beneath them, and somewhere a cow moored, long and satisfyingly.

Zoe ran the car into the shadow of a pin-oak and shut off the engine.

"Nice up here!"

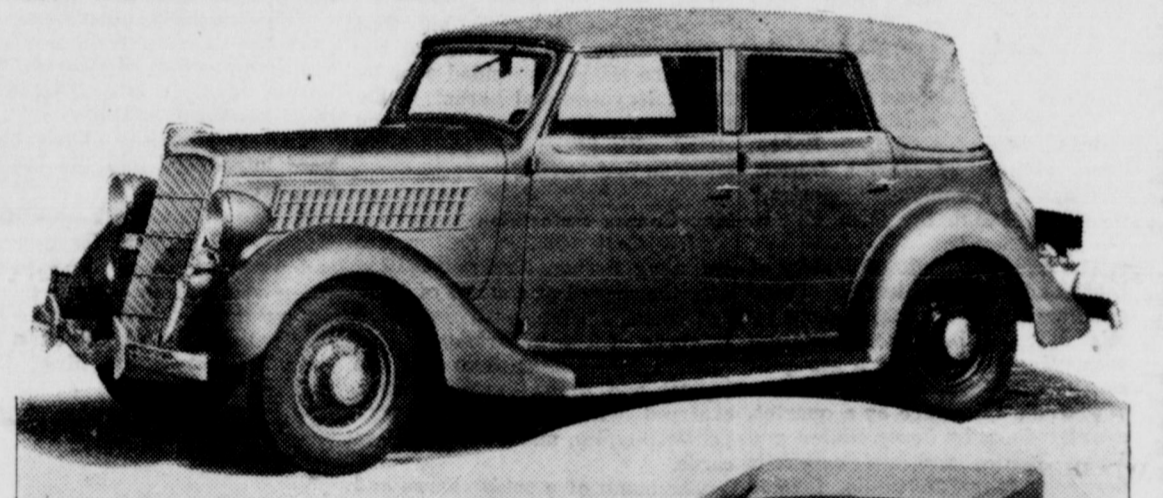

"I love it," Katharine agreed. There were farms on either side of the River Road; unpainted barns and rail fences hemming in fields of clover and rows of sprouting corn. Some day, in the not far distant future all this would be taken over by a suburban development company. There would be Moorish villas and golf tees where all was rustic simplicity now.

Katharine dreaded these inevitable "improvements." But mean-

Ford Shows New All-Weather Sedan

A NEW all-weather Ford V-8 convertible sedan, a dual purpose car, available for use either as an open phaeton or a snug enclosed sedan, is announced by the Ford Motor Company. Top photo shows the new body type with top in place; below, the top down, windows lowered, and center door pillars removed.

The top, of tan-colored cloth, can be lowered and folded snugly, covered by a boot, back of the rear seat. The two center pillars are removable and may be stowed away in the car. Converted in this fashion into a phaeton-type body, the car may be driven with the four door windows lowered out of sight, or raised into position as a protection against excessive wind. The window glasses are enclosed in chrome plated frames.

The body is equipped with de luxe appointments, including robe rail and ash tray in the rear compartment. Seat cushions and backs are finished in genuine leather or bedford cord, according to the purchaser's choice. The interior finish is in taupe throughout. The cars are available in all standard colors including gun metal, the new color introduced this year.

The luggage compartment back of the rear seat is even more spacious than in the sedans, providing plenty of room for stowing baggage while traveling.

April Production Of Automobiles Reaches New High

April production of Pontiac automobiles reached the high point of the year with a total of 18,749 cars, according to A. W. L. Gilpin, vice president and general sales manager of the Pontiac Motor Company.

"This figure brings our total production of 1935 models up to 70,558 cars," said Mr. Gilpin, "a figure which is 92 per cent of the total for last year of 1934 models. The entire 1934 model production was 76,553 cars.

"At the present rate of operation the 1934 model total will be passed before the middle of May. The number of unfilled orders on hand will put us over the 1934 total with several thousand to spare."

General Motors will spend $3,500,000 in the next few months upon expansion of production facilities for Pontiac automobiles at Pontiac, Mich.

Expansion of the Fisher Body corporation plant which supplies bodies for the Pontiac car will cost $2,500,000. In addition $1,000,000 will be spent in enlarging the Pontiac motor division plant.

The enlargement will include new buildings, machinery and equipment. Construction work has been started.

The rapid increase in the demand for Pontiac cars has exceeded the expectations for this year. This is bound to result in further demands being made upon the plant during the next year. We are moving to meet this expected increase in business.

Muirhead Motor company is distributors of Pontiac automobiles in Eastland and Cisco.

Utility Head Is Sure Industry to Aid In Recovery

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The Electric and Gas industries could be one of the leaders in the drive for business recovery if accorded fair treatment and the cooperation instead of the competition of government, S. R. Inch, President of the Electric Bond and Share Company brought out in a statement presented to the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

Mr. Inch filed his statement and charts in opposing the passage of the Wheeler-Rayburn bill, now pending in Congress. Mr. Inch's charts showed specifically how electric rates were lowered following acquisition of local electric systems.

His charts also graphically pointed out that pent up billions could be spent for construction and for electrical appliances during the next five years by the electric and gas utilities and their customers.

"The way back to recovery is through the re-establishment of business confidence which will permit private tax-paying capital to go to work again," said Mr. Inch.

He brought out that the Wheeler-Rayburn bill would destroy all holding companies and handicap and restrict the local electric companies to the point where local service would be impaired and present law rates endangered.

Mr. Inch also advised the Senate Committee that passage of the Wheeler-Rayburn bill would cause millions of men, women and children investors in utilities to lose billions of dollars.

"This legislation as now proposed, I think, will inevitably destroy tremendous values of sound investment, dislocate two major industries—gas and electric—and endanger new fears as to the future of private capital in all lines of business in this country," said Mr. Inch.

 elected President
Thursday Afternoon Club
 The Thursday Afternoon club held its last business session for this season in the community clubhouse, conducted by their retiring president, Mrs. F. M. Kenny. Mrs. W. K. Jackson, the club reporter was given a vote of thanks in connection with the Eastland Telegram.

All officers were given the same compliment and rising vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. W. A. Martin, who, as delegate, gave a complete report of the district convention at Alpine.
 Mmes. F. V. Williams and R. M. Colie volunteered to assist Mrs. Leslie Gray, chairman, and Mrs. H. O. Satterwhite, with the lawn festival, the closing event of the club season, to be held on the lawn of Mrs. Kenny, the retiring president, May 23.

To the regret of many friends the resignation of Mrs. W. B. Pickens as the incoming president of the Thursday Afternoon club, was tendered by Mrs. Pickens, and formally accepted.
 Mrs. E. Roy Townsend was elected president of the Thursday Afternoon club.
 The minutes were taken by Mrs. Ben Hamner, secretary. There were 20 members present.

Mrs. W. P. Leslie Hostess
 Mrs. J. C. Merritt the house guest of Mrs. W. P. Leslie, here from Colorado, Texas, to be the speaker of the Martha Dorcas banquet, Thursday evening, was tendered a delightful little breakfast party by her hostess at her charming home, at 10 o'clock Friday morning.
 Two tables were employed, one carrying the yellow color motif, in its centering of a potted bowl of pansies, and the place cards and other detail.
 The second table was developed in rose color in the sweetpeas in silver bowls, and the blue and pink appointments.
 The menu was of strawberries with whipped cream topping, and the breakfast plate of broiled chicken, new potatoes, browned tomatoes on lettuce, jelly, hot rolls, and coffee.

Guests for this delightful affair were the honoree, Mrs. Merritt, Mrs. J. E. Hickman, Mrs. James Horton, Mrs. J. M. Perkins, Mrs. Bert McGlamery, Mrs. C. W. Price, Mrs. C. C. Robey, Wayne Jones, Mrs. Dan Childress, Mrs. Ray Lerner, Mrs. E. R. Stanford, and hostess, Mrs. Leslie.

Smile, Brother, Smile

What's-a-matter, Al Jolson? After the success of "Go Into Your Dance" with your wife, Rubzy Keeler, at the Lyric Theatre, you ought to be grinning from ear to ear. Some people are never satisfied. Others in the cast are Glenda Farrell, Helen Morgan, Patzy Kelly, Benny Rubin and Gordon Westcott.

was a brilliant affair with 250 patrons seated about five long rose laden tables, crossed by the speakers table seating, Mrs. C. C. Robey, toastmistress; Mrs. I. N. Griffin, president, W. M. S., and Mrs. W. P. Leslie, hostess, and the speaker, Mrs. Merritt.

Waiters from the Hi-Y club were Ralph Mahon, Wendell Seibert, Marshall Coleman, Wesley Lane, Arthur Brown, and from 9:49 class, Messis, Dwyer, Wayne Jones, P. L. Crossley, president of the class; R. L. Perkins, and Judge J. E. Hickman, class teacher.
 The program opened with the welcome extended by Mrs. Robey, class teacher of Martha Dorcas, and hymn ensemble, "America," with invocation by Mrs. E. R. Stanford.

The luncheon plate of variety of cold food, was delicious. Piano numbers were given throughout by Miss Maurine Davenport, closing with "May Night," and a group of readings by Mrs. Ammerman.
 The solo tap dance by a quartet, a waltz duet, by Jerry Railey and Patsy Sparks, and an acrobatic dance by Mary Jo Colie, formed a pleasing group.

A reading about "Mother," and the Harmony Girls from Drago studio, who sang "To You," were beautiful numbers.
 A clever restage was the presentation of a handsome handkerchief by Mrs. Dave Wolf, to the mother present who had the greatest number of children, and which was accepted by Mrs. G. M. Harris.

An attractive violin solo by Wilda Drago, ushered in the Virginia reel by Clara June Kimble, Margaret Fry, Carolyn Doss, Mary Lou Harbin, Carolyn Cox, Maxine Coleman; Wendell Seibert, Ralph Mahon, Marshall Coleman, Parker Brown, Clyde Chaney, Wesley Lane.
 A voice duet, "The Old Spinning Wheel," by Mmes. Lula Roach and I. N. Griffin, had organ accompaniment by Mrs. J. M. Perkins.

At close of program Mrs. Leslie presented Mrs. Merritt, who gave an outstanding address that will be long remembered.
 The evening closed with toasts, by Maifred Hale to "Our Mothers," and by Mrs. W. E. Coleman to "Our Daughters."

Mrs. Arthur Vaughn Hostess
 Mrs. Arthur Vaughn was a delightful hostess to the members of Busy Bee Sewing club, at her home Friday afternoon.
 Knitting, sewing, visiting and the radio, whiled away a quick hour, when refreshments were served of salmon salad on lettuce, toasties, pickle, tomato and cheese ball combination, small cakes, and iced drink.

The next meeting will be in the city park, a picnic supper, May 24, with husbands as guests.
 Present, Mmes. J. C. Creaner, Ira L. Hanna, D. A. Masner, J. V. Freeman, James Beale, Myrl Griffin, Ernest Daniels, Dee High, R. L. Ferguson, Joe Kraemer Jr., and guests, Mmes. Raymond Seale, Glenn Mitchell, W. E. Mitchell of Ranger, and Mrs. E. L. Gunn of this city.

Mother's Day Tea
 The officers of the Home Makers class, of the Baptist church were hostesses to an invitational tea, in the community clubhouse Friday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock.
 Guests were met at the door by Mrs. E. E. Layton, and received by the president of the class, Mrs. W. P. Palm, and hostess officers, Mmes. S. D. Phillips, Ray Lerner, R. W. Chalkey, J. S. Armour, Claud Maynard, Victor Cornelius, and Myers.

The clubroom was brilliant in its decorations of tall floor baskets of roses, and crystal bowls of blossoms.
 Mrs. White presided over the registration book, and Mrs. Ben Hamner over the program, which opened with numbers by the rhythm band and a talk by Mrs. T. L. Amis, "Mother of the Bible Folk."
 Voice Solo, "Mother Dear," Mrs. W. P. Palm; Mrs. Hunter at piano.

Mrs. G. M. Hart paid tribute to "Oldest Mother," and Mrs. W. B. Creatham to "Youngest Mother," and Mrs. W. H. Munton to the "Mother Farthest Away."
 Corsages were presented these mothers by Mmes. Lerner, Phillips, and Maynard.

Thanks were extended Roger Moorhead for furnishing the program for the occasion, and to all who gave the lovely flowers.
 The tea table laid in imported lace, centered with roses had the silver ice pitchers presided over by Mmes. Maynard and Lerner. Table appointments were in crystal and silver with green lighted candles on table and buffet.

Mrs. Conner Entertains
 Mrs. Earl Conner Sr. was a charming hostess Friday evening with the second of a series of planned social affairs, with that of a luncheon at 1 p. m. Friday.
 Four tables were arranged in crystal and green appointments, centered with bowls filled with yellow poppies, matching the place cards.

The menu of a salad course and last course of strawberry shortcake, whipped cream topping and coffee was followed by contract.
 High score favor in game, a green pottery vase, was awarded Mrs. W. S. Poe, and cut-for-all, a hunting scene framed, went to Mrs. C. C. Terrell.

Guests present, Mmes. J. M. Perkins, James Horton, B. M. Colie, J. F. Little, C. C. Terrell, Adoue Parker of San Antonio, George A. Davison, Alen D. Dabney, W. K. Hyer, John Turner, Milton Lawrence, E. R. Townsend, W. S. Poe, Mrs. Long of San Antonio, W. E. Chaney, Miss Geraldine Dabney.
 The entire home was beautifully decorated with varied colored flowers.

Recital Wednesday Night
 Mrs. A. F. Taylor will present one half of her piano pupils and the South Ward glee club, in a recital, Wednesday night, at Methodist church, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Chapel Program
 The high school chapel program day, had a piano solo by Olivette Kiflough and trumpet solo, "The Isle of Capri," and "When I Grow Too Old to Dream," played by Clyde Chaney as accompanist to the singing of Virginia Garrett, with Clara June Kimble at piano, Leo Wolf and Catherine Collum, in a duet duet, "For I Love You Dear," gave a composition by Prof. Collum, who was at the piano.
 Wendell Hunter and John Kley played a piano duet, "In Schubert's Day."
 Principal Palm announced that the Hardin-Simmons Cowboy band will present a program in high school auditorium, 1 p. m., next Monday and that charges for adults would be 25 cents and students 10 cents.

 Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Little left Saturday for a week-end visit in Comanche with his parent.

JOLSON CO-STARS WITH RUBY KEELER IN MUSICAL
 The sensation of the year in the film world is the teaming of Al Jolson, famous Mammy singer who first introduced the talking pictures, and Ruby Keeler, his wife, former Broadway musical comedy star who leaped to fame in the movies in two years, in First National's latest, and said to be its greatest, musical spectacle, "Go Into Your Dance," scheduled as the feature attraction at the Lyric theatre now.
 Spectacular dance ensembles were staged by Bobby Connolly with scores of Hollywood's most beautiful chorus girls. One of the most unique and striking numbers is a mammoth replica of the unitary staircase crossing the globe in four directions representing the evolution of the tango from the pampas and throughout the world. The dance, with a hundred beautiful girls, is led by Jolson and Miss Keeler, who sing "A Latin from Manhattan."

Al Jolson has the role of a Broadway entertainer, who is barred from the New York stage because he quits his shows without notice, his weakness being wine, women and the "ponies." He winds up in Caliente at the race tracks, waking up with a headache and without a job.
 There is a talented supporting cast which includes Glenda Farrell, Helen Morgan, Barton MacLane, Sharon Lynne, Patsy Kelly, Benny Rubin, Phil Regan, Gordon Westcott, William Davidson, Joyce Compton, Akin Tamiroff and Joseph Cregan.

"Go Into Your Dance" is from the screen play by Earl Baldwin.

UNIVERSAL SERVICE for the Universal Car

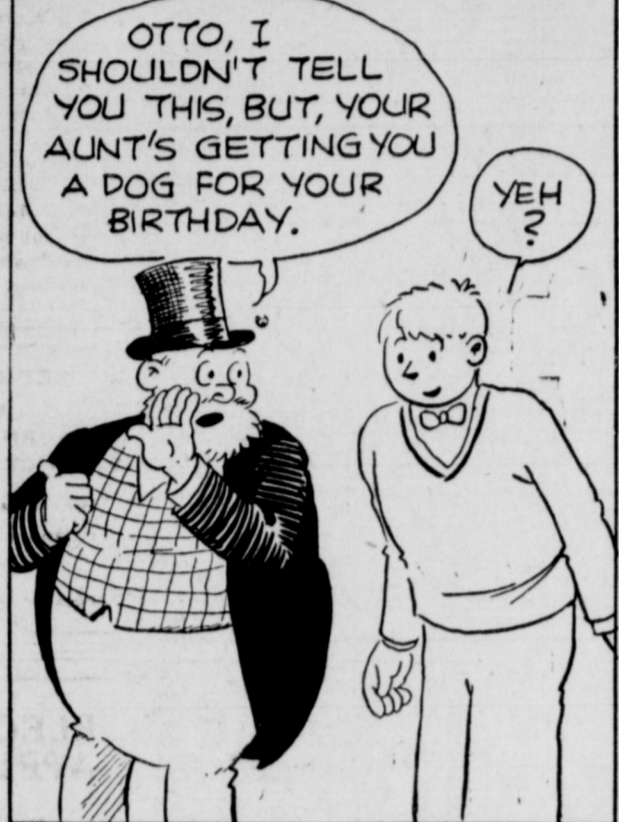

IN THE very beginning the Ford Motor Company realized the importance of good service. It was first to standardize tools and equipment and establish low flat charges for parts and repairs.
 Today in any community you can see how far Ford has progressed toward the goal of providing service as good as the car.
 The thousands of modern Ford dealerships are within reach of most of the millions of Ford owners. Other thousands of dependable garages and service stations—identified by the Ford sign—provide supplementary service and Genuine Ford Parts.

 When you buy a Ford you can get the kind of service a good car deserves. One of the features is precision workmanship. You can exchange a used Ford engine, carburetor, distributor and other assemblies for "FACTORY EXCHANGE" units at much less than the usual replacement or repair cost.
 This is "Universal Service" in every respect, broadening constantly through the addition of Ford Neighborhood Service Stations, where you can get extra-quick service—gasoline, oil, lubrication, repairs.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Davis have been busy this week reminding people of the cemetery working to be held here Friday, May 10. It is expected that a good crowd will be present and help to beautify the resting place of loved ones. Mr. and Mrs. Davis donate water for flowers and shrubs at the cemetery. A basket dinner will be had and some who cannot come and work will send dishes of food for the dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Anderson had as their week-end guests her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Garrett of Breckenridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Harless had as their guests Sunday, Mrs. Haile and son, William, and daughter, Theresa, of Ponca City, Okla. Mr. Harless, who is a brother of Mrs. Harless, was superintendent of the Transcontinental Oil camp here for a number of years and William and Miss Theresa attended school here. Their many friends were delighted to see them.

Friends here received news a few days ago of the marriage on Jan. 12, 1935, at Santa Rosa, N. M., of Miss Jimmie Lee Woodard to Mr. A. W. Smith. The bride is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Woodard and has lived here all of her life except for several years when her parents were homesteading land in New Mexico. The parents of the groom homesteaded an adjoining section of land and the romance began during those years. The immediate families of the bride and groom knew of the marriage but did not announce it as Miss Jimmie Lee is a senior in Santa Rosa high school and will graduate next week. Her

Then again "Go Into Your Dance" will be featured today, Monday and Tuesday featuring Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler.

Texas Securities Law Will Curb Stock Swindling

AUSTIN.—A concerted effort drive out of Texas the swindling and fraudulent dealer of stocks and securities will be made under the terms of a new law known as the Texas securities law, recently passed by the legislature. This measure replaces the present outworn and outmoded Texas blue sky law.

Before securing a permit the salesman will be required to tell something of his past history and associations. If it can be established that he has been guilty of fraudulent practices no license will be issued.

The new law is designed on the theory that stocks or securities in themselves do not commit fraud but salesmen sometimes do.

The law seeks to regulate and control the human element.

In no case does the state attempt to say to an investor that, "This is a good stock," or "This is a worthless security." The law recognizes the fact that all investments are speculative in varying degrees.

The public is cautioned against the smooth-talking, suave type of salesman who does not present satisfactory and sufficient credentials. The files of the state will be open for inspection to determine not salesmen or dealers. This information is available to those who seek it.

In certain cases the matter used in connection with the sale of securities must be referred to the secretary of state, usually every type of security used in business within the scope of the law by virtue of its extensions.

No longer will it be common to see a salesman of securities who is not a resident of the state. Among other things of securities are defined as securities. Secretary Gerald C. Mann said.

The law was passed by the legislature at the insistence of Representative W. O. Dallas and sponsored in the Senate by John Hornsby and E. M. Davis of B-

GENERAL ELECTRIC

BEAUTY, STYLING, ALL THESE FEATURES—AND A GENERAL ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR USES 10% TO 50% LESS CURRENT

8 Point Temperature Control • Automatic Interior Light • Foot Pedal Door Opener • Ice Tray Lift • Flexible Rubber Ice Cube Tray • Food Containers of Transparent Glass

STAINLESS STEEL SUPER-FREEZER. Cannot chip or rust. Gives all 4 zones of temperatures — fast freezing and extra cold storage for frozen foods.

SLIDING SHELVES. Bring all food in plain sight and easy reach. Adjustable in height.

How long will a refrigerator last?

Performance Protection for only $1 a year (included in price) It will cost $50 to $100 more to operate most electric refrigerators than it will a G-E.

PERFORMANCE, after all, is most important to you than all other features combined. Look to the mechanism. It costs less to own a General Electric.

G-E mechanism is entirely sealed-in and requires no attention, not even oiling.

The only refrigerator mechanism with forced-feed lubrication, the greatest contribution since G-E introduced sealed-in-steel mechanism and all-steel cabinets.

Price as low as $95.00

All G-E Refrigerators have the "ageless" sealed-in-steel mechanism with 5 YEARS Performance Protection
