Oil Discovered On University Lands Just 12 Years Ago

AUSTIN.—It was just 12 years ago that oil was discovered on land belonging to the University of Texas. In that 12 years it has proved the way for a rapid advance from a small campus, dotted with wooden shacks, to one of the best equipped college plants in existence.

When oil was struck on land leased by the university, the land income grew to such size that regents visioned a comprehensive building plan. Despite all the wealth piling up, only a small annual income upon it was immediately available.

Trail of Traveller's Checks Leads Agents From El Paso To Dallas and Back.

EL PASO, Texas, June 8.—Department of justice agents turned today to the task of unraveling the mysterious disappearance of four persons whom they believed were murdered and their bodies tossed on the desert or into the Rio Grande.

The four are Mr. and Mrs. George Lorus of East St. Louis, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Herberer of Duquoin, Ill., who were last seen in Albuquerque, N. M., on May 2.

The hunt turned to El Paso, where four travellers' checks were cashed May 23 and 24 by a man who spent the night here.

He left a trail of checks in practically every town between El Paso and Dallas, where he abandoned the Lorus car on May 28.

Because of dates on some of the checks, department of justice agents believed he doubled back from Dallas to El Paso, probably to pick up the luggage of the victims.

quently report that they have renewed assurance hope and courage, qualities that have been reflected, in turn, in improvement in their homes and business surroundings.

Members of the Board of Lectureship carried Christian Science messages to the four corners of the globe, it was disclosed at the meeting. They lectured in the British Isles, Continental Europe and Scandinavia, Australasia, Hawaii and the Orient, Africa, Bermuda and the West Indies, Mexico and the Canal Zone, the United States, Canada and Alaska.

Holand R. Harrison, manager of The Christian Science Publishing Society, reported a distinct improvement in the quality of articles submitted for publication in the religious periodicals, attributable, he said, to greater spiritual progress in the field.

Commenting on an encouragingly higher circulation trend for all periodicals, particular attention was paid to The Christian Science Monitor. "The average daily net paid circulation of the Monitor for the six months ended March 28, 1935, was 136,608—the highest sustained average over any six months' period in the history of the paper," he said.

An outstanding development in the dissemination of news by this international daily paper is the presentation of "The Monitor Views the News," reported on by C. Augustus Norwood, Manager of Committees on Publication. Nearly 200 stations in North America were asserted to be outlets for this service furnished by co-operation of the Monitor, Committees on Publication and radio stations.

Originally the main duty of the Committees on Publication, as set forth in the Church Manual, was the correction of impositions on the public in regard to Christian Science.

Mr. Norwood added that "Christian Science is now so well known that published misstatements calling for corrections are comparatively few." And that "reports of our Lesson-Sermons in the Christian Science Quarterly are each week reaching millions of people through newspapers, including four metropolitan dailies of New York City."

Report of the Annual Meeting of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, At Boston, Mass., on Monday, June 3rd

BOSTON, Mass., June 8.—A call to renewed activity in the daily application of Christian Science was issued today at the annual meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., by The Christian Science Board of Directors.

Church officers in their reports divulged marked growth of the movement throughout the world, and increased demand for the writings of Mary Baker Eddy, Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science.

George Wendell Adams, speaking as chairman of the Board of Directors, stressed the need for interest not only in problems of individuals, "but also in the general welfare of the world. Truth and Love hold guard over the world as well as over the minutest occupant of it," the directors said.

"In these days of unrest, with rumors of vital disagreements among nations, we should turn often in prayerful expectancy that nation shall not rise up against nation, but that Love, God, will be acknowledged as supreme in the affairs of men. In reality, men and nations do not envy and hate each other; because they have one heavenly Father they respect and love each other."

Referring to the new Christian Science Publishing House which increased demand for Christian Science literature made necessary. Mr. Adams asserted that while wholesome activity in the movement continues, "the putting up of buildings, however beautiful and necessary they may be, does not in itself lay the foundation for spiritual enlightenment which is essential to meet the demands of humanity. To be enduring, growth must be the result of earnest, active spiritual effort."

The election of A. Barry Bacon as the new President of The Mother Church was announced. Mr. Bacon succeeds Dr. John M. Brewer, associate professor at the Harvard Graduate School of Education.

New Readers elected to serve in The Mother Church for the next three years are Ralph B. Schofield and Miss Florence Siever Middaugh.

Edward L. Ripley and Ezra W. Palmer, both of Brookline, Mass., were re-elected treasurer and clerk of the church, respectively.

Mr. Schofield, who will conduct church services, was born at Howden, Yorkshire, England. He was educated at Eton College, where he first experienced the healing influence of Christian Science. Entering business in London, he worked with a firm of marine insurance underwriters at Lloyd's. During the World War he served as captain of infantry with a British regiment.

In 1907 he joined First Church of Christ, Scientist, in London and has served that church as First Reader and chairman of its board of directors. Since 1919 he has devoted all his time to the public practice of Christian Science, and in 1930 was elected to The Christian Science Board of Lectureship. Miss Middaugh, the Second Reader, is a native of Colorado and was educated in the schools of Denver. She has been a student of Christian Science for more than twenty years, and a member of The Mother Church since 1918; she has had membership with branch churches in Denver and in Los Angeles, Calif., and has served as soloist in Christian Science churches during 16 years, six of which were with The Mother Church.

Mr. Bacon, the new president, was born in Pontiac, Mich., but when quite young his parents moved to Washington, D. C., where he spent his boyhood and received his education. Entering the retail business world, he located in Boston, where he has steadily advanced and is now president of one of the oldest specialty department stores in New England.

He became interested in Christian Science shortly after coming to Boston through the severe illness of a member of his family. In the year 1900 he was made a member of The Mother Church, and has served it actively and faithfully. He is also president and a director of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Marshfield, Mass.

In his address Mr. Bacon asserted the modern need for accepting the Bible axiom, "By their fruits ye shall know them."

"During the past four years of the so-called depression," he said, "when the whole world has struggled under unemployment, lack, want, and woe, Christian Science has come to the rescue of many, and through the application of this Science, they have been healed of erroneous conditions. In the midst of this period the building of our new publishing house was wisely undertaken. Thereby many people were given employment, much money was put into circulation, and an example of courage and perseverance in right-doing was presented with resulting benefit."

The fruitage of Christian Science in healing all summer of disease and disorder, was attested in selected testimonials read by Mrs. Marjorie C. Hulock, of Detroit, Mich. Among some of the healings reported were pernicious anemia, epilepsy, mental instability, rheumatoid arthritis, atrophied limbs, defective eyesight and distressing stoppage of speech.

William W. Davis, executive supervisor of Christian Science Charitable and Benevolent Institutions, reported increased guests and associates at both the Pacific Coast and Chestnut Hill Sanatoriums as well as abundant loving support to the Christian Science Pleasant View Home. "After being our guests for short periods, business men and women, church workers and home workers, frequently report that they have renewed assurance hope and courage, qualities that have been reflected, in turn, in improvement in their homes and business surroundings."

Youth Taught Wages of Petty Crime

Twenty-four boys from a New York settlement house were crowded into patrol wagons and taken to prison the other day. They had done nothing wrong; the whole stunt was arranged by settlement house workers and city officials to give the lads a look at the wages of sin.

So these lads went to prison, handcuffed and everything, and sat for a few hours in cells, and found out what it feels like to be "mugged" and fingerprinted and to have steel doors clang shut behind them; and they emerged, presumably, convinced that the life of a law-breaker is not so pleasant as it is sometimes painted.

As a means of persuading youth to watch its step, a program like this ought to be all to the good. It might occur to a cynic, however, that the lesson could really be carried somewhat farther. A little more of an object lesson might help the lads to understand the real nature of America's crime problem.

As a first step, they could be taken to the lair of some big-shot racketeer and watch him contributing to a politician's campaign fund, receiving the thanks of the politician, and chatting shummily with a judge and a police captain whose appointment that politician controls.

Then they could go down the line a bit and see the big shot in action; see him providing election booth sluggers for the politician on election day, passing out bundles of banknotes to various political leaders in return for the favor of being permitted to operate his illicit business without restraint, and so on.

After that they might watch the big shot when the law tries to catch up with him.

They could observe the politics-hampered cops failing to turn in the kind of evidence that results in convictions. They could see a district attorney, mindful of his debt to the political boss, purposely fumbling the ball so that the grand jury would return a no bill.

They could see the judge mentioned above setting a low bail figure, accepting worthless bail bonds, and granting to the big shot's lawyer a long series of continuances and postponements.

Lastly, they could see the big shot in prison with the politically dominated warden permitting him to loll at ease in a cozy hospital ward instead of a cell and to receive visitors from the outside without hindrance; and to wind things up they could see an unscrupulous governor and parole board tapping the big shot on the wrist and turning him loose.

All this might not make a very pleasant picture for these lads to witness. But it would help them to understand why large-scale crime remains a problem in America.

Disillusioned Women

The outlaw usually gets most of his publicity before the law catches up with him. Once he is safely locked away in prison he drops out of sight, and that, in some ways, is too bad. If his dreary, monotonous years behind the bars could get the same attention his lawless forays got, he might lose a good deal of his glamour in the eyes of impressionable youth.

This thought pops up when one reads a brief news dispatch telling how former underworld "gun molls" have settled down to the use of mop and broom in the federal detention prison at Milan, Mich. Here are such women as Kathryn Kelly, Evelyn Frechette, Winona Burdette, and others whose association with big shot public enemies made them front page celebrities.

A day-dreaming, empty-headed youngster might have seen something romantic in these women when they were in their hey-day. But to look at them now—clad in drab prison uniforms, mopping floors and working in the fields—ought to be convincing evidence that the glamour of crime is pretty phony.

In the selection of city officials, men should be selected who dare to do right and they should have the backing of every honest citizen.

If information is desired about any city, write to the secretary of the chamber of commerce of that city. You will find him a man with eyes open and a willingness to serve you.

What some governments need at the present time is not only the theoretical study of administration, but a kind of study combining theory with practice, resulting from the cooperation of experts with men of practical experience.

In some cities a whole lot of citizens think the home city is big enough and spend a lot of their time puzzling their minds about how to make a village out of it.

Value of Money Presents Puzzle

DALLAS.—E. M. Baker, federal referee in bankruptcy here, is wondering about the answer to a puzzler, the question mark of which is "what is the value of money?"

As referee Baker presents the puzzle, a salesman stopped at a hotel and asked the manager to put a $100 bill in the hotel safe. The salesman left next day on a trip of several weeks. The same day, the manager of the hotel used the $100 bill to pay a groceryman. The groceryman, in turn, paid a debt to a wholesaler concern, which later paid a debt of its own with the same bill.

The bill passed through a number of hands, and finally was given back to the hotel manager by a guest in payment of a bill for $100. The original owner of the bill, the salesman, returned to the hotel, asked for and was given the same $100 that he had left there. The hotel manager gasped when the salesman rolled the bill up, stuck it in a fire and lighted his cigar with it.

"What on earth," the manager asked in consternation, "did you do that for?"

"That was a counterfeit bill," the salesman said.

Referee Baker lets his listeners draw their own conclusions about the different transactions in which the $100 bill figured and then asks: "What is money?"

If a book is planned about that four-billion work-relief project, it might be titled "Mutiny Over the Bounty."

A Discussion of Rayburn-Wheeler Bill by Peter Molyneaux

Texas Electric Service Co. J. E. LEWIS

DESDEMONA

The Desdemona Eastern Star chapter had public installation of officers Friday night at the Masonic hall. Fruit punch and cookies were served to the guests as they arrived. After a short time spent socially downstairs all went up to the hall where the first number was an entering march by the retiring officers. The invocation was then given by Rev. H. H. Nance, which was followed by the singing of "America." The retiring worthy matron, Mrs. Roy Ashburn, gave a welcome address and a tribute to her officers, giving original verses of poetry about each one who had served so well while her during the year. As the closing act of her year as worthy matron she presented a gift from the chapter to R. J. Krapf, who was closing his tenth year as worthy patron and who is so proficient in the secret work of the order that he has on many occasions assisted in conferring degrees at other towns. The installation of officers was then had with Mrs. W. C. Bedford as installing officer. Mrs. R. J. Krapf as installing marshal and Mrs. Mattie Henry as installing chaplain. Those installed were: Mrs. Clarence England, worthy matron; R. J. Krapf, worthy patron; Mrs. Fred Welder, associate matron; Clarence England, associate patron; Mrs. Roy Rushing, secretary; Mrs. J. E. Heeter, treasurer; Mrs. A. C. Robertson, associate conductress; Mrs. T. L. Acrea, marshal; Mrs. M. P. Williams, chaplain; Mrs. Gid Tarpley, warder; Mrs. R. J. Krapf, sentinel; Mrs. Roy Ashburn, Adah; Mrs. Gifford Acrea, Ruth; Mrs. I. N. Williams, Esther; Mrs. C. W. Maltby, Martha; Mrs. D. E. Lewis, Electa. A ceremony of the gift of emblematic flowers to the five star points was sung by the following girls dressed in organdie dresses of the colors for each station: Anita Ashburn Gaynell Parks, Evelyn Moore, Geraldine Moore and Iris Reid. A ceremony of presentation of flowers and good wishes to the incoming matron and of flowers and a past matron's pin to the retiring matron were beautifully rendered. Mrs. C. W. Maltby then gave a reading, "Others," which was very appropriate. The closing number was a song by Jack Hanson and Junior Merrill, with Miss Latrell McGuire, accompanied by Miss Nell Robert played for the march during the program. A large crowd attended. Mrs. Claud Lee entertained Thursday afternoon at her home at the Red-Cup camp. The occasion was the social meeting of the Methodist Missionary society, and also a surprise birthday party for Mrs. D. E. Lewis. A number of contests and games were enjoyed at the close of which a lovely collection of gifts was presented to Mrs. Lewis. Refreshments of delicious home-made ice cream and devil's food cake were served. Those present were Mmes. H. H. Nance, Mattie Henry, Charles Lee, W. C. Bedford, Lee Dabney, Jack Hewitt, E. I. Winters, Robert Snead, Gifford Acrea, the honoree, Mrs. Lewis, and the hostess. Rev. and Mrs. Z. C. Chambliss returned to Fort Worth Monday, after having filled his pulpit here Sunday. They were accompanied by Mrs. Sherrod Stover, who visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Stover. Rev. Sherrod Stover had gone to Oklahoma to fill his appointment. Mr. Robert Dawley and baby, of Caddo, have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Henslee, this week. Rev. and Mrs. H. H. Nance left Monday for Georgetown to attend the Methodist assembly. The "21" Study club met at the clubhouse on Tuesday last week. In the absence of the president, Mrs. A. B. Henslee, who had illness in her family, the first vice president, Mrs. Mattie Henry, presided. The roll was called by the secretary, Mrs. W. E. Barron, and seven members responded by telling one thing that would make the home more attractive at small cost. Several matters of business were attended to after which Mrs. David Parks led the program, which was as follows: "The American Table and How it Grew to Fit Our Changing Needs," a magazine article read by Mrs. W. C. Bedford as substitute for Mrs. W. H. Davis, who was out of town; "The Home as a Social Center," a talk by Mrs. C. W. Maltby; "Proper Furniture for the Living Room," a magazine article read by Mrs. S. E. Snodgrass. The club adjourned to meet again on June 11 for a parliamentary program and a silver tea. Men Still Go Down to the Sea But In New Style

GALVESTON, Texas.—Men still go down to the sea in ships, but not in the manner they once did. Sailors still "sail before the mast," but the mast is a sturdy 100-foot matter of ordinals, and costs more to build and install than many an old wind jammer cost overall to build and launch. The forecastle, or "fo'c'sle," in the old sailing ships, got its name as a joke—the crowded, filthy hole where the exhausted men lived. Nowadays, the fo'c'sle is "aft" and the sailors have modern tiled shower baths, good food served in a saloon kept spotlessly clean by a steward who serves their meals in shining china. Mighty changes have come about on the sea. The language is much as it always has been. Sailors still use marlin-spikes, but for splicing wire cables instead of ropes. The dreaded belaying pin has its place in the carpenter shop tool rack. Occasionally it still is used as a defense weapon, even as in the days when Joseph Conrad made the sea romantic. There are old men who can tell of sleeping with ice in their bunks on the North Atlantic. To them, work on modern freighters is play. They work four hours and are off for another eight. Pinchle, once the sailor's game, is disappearing. Many modern youths, with fraternity pins or keys on their oil dungarees, keep the watch on deck awake with spirited drangles over the merits of the Culbertson bidding system in contract bridge. The sea hasn't "gone soft." Far from it. The life always has attracted adventuresome men, along with ambitious riff-raff from farms and city slums. But the depression has put men afloat who originally would become engineers, surveyors, skilled craftsmen. On the sea they find outlet for the restless natures that strong spirits have in all such vocations. Sailors still fight; sailors still drink and brawl, but differently, and for different reasons. When they fight today, usually it is because someone has offered an affront that to an old-time sailor would have gone unnoticed. If you go into a sailor's fo'c'sle today you find literary and scientific magazines along with detective stories. The sailors lie in their bunks—which have good lights, electric fans and adequate ventilation—and read such books. When they go ashore in Hanava, Colon, Hong Kong or Marseille, they do their share of night-club roistering. But they also pay a visit to the Y. M. C. A. or one of the sea-libraries before sailing time.

Longest Case In History of State Ended In Houston

HOUSTON.—A ruling for the plaintiffs by the supreme court of Texas recently ended the longest case ever tried in state courts. The case—Palmetto Lumber Company vs. J. P. Gibbs—required 24 weeks in court and resulted in 4,500 typewritten pages of verbal testimony. A district court's opinion in favor of the lumber company was upheld by the supreme court. More than a week was required to read the "briefs" in the case, the plaintiff submitting 1,070 pages and the defendant 1,341. A. C. Ford, plaintiff's witness, gave testimony for 31 days. Exhibits filed were 501 bound pages for the plaintiff and 967 for the defendant. There were approximately 1,000 sheets of loose exhibits. The Palmetto Lumber company entered into a contract with Gibbs in 1907 to borrow $196,000 to purchase and divide a tract of timber. The contract provided that the company would pay such expenses and interest, carrying charges and taxes. The company dissolved in 1927, 10 years after contract, and asked for division of profits, but was told interest had consumed its share. The firm's suit asked for an accounting and $1,100,000.

Capacity Crowd At Church Meet

The Friday night service at the church of the Nazarene proved to be the most interesting service during the meeting with a capacity crowd present. "God's Remedy for Present Day Ills" was ably presented by the evangelist. The speaker chose for his text 2 Chron. 7:14. "If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land." The preacher said, "For a number of years the world has been bankrupt, now she is bankrupt and admits it. That our nation is financially depressed no one will deny. But she is more—she is morally unhealthy. There is a cause for this. We have been money-mad. The was over greed. Then came the oil rush with high prices prevailing in every line. Men and women alike forgot their farms, homes and families and sought positions with high salaries. God's order was, 'seek first the kingdom of God.' But Americans went pleasure wild! With a crave for popularity. This led to our sad plight—a moral breakdown! The results are inevitable. But what is the cause of even all this? The answer is clear. We have left God out of our thinking, our planning, our Program. The church world has torn away the altars of God's mercy seat. The homes have done away with family altars. We have not taken time to read God's Word and pray. Thus we are in the fog, we are lost, drifting we know not where. But God offers a remedy. See it outlined in the text above. Nothing else will solve the problem. Let us pray and seek His Face." Services today at the regular hours. Worship with us.

DEAREST DAUGHTER,

Thanks so much for sending that delightful little note, remembering my birthday. And please don't feel that its being so short made it any the less welcome. Besides, I know what it is to have "shoppers headache"—to feel all worn out and dragged down, with your feet as heavy as lead from walking around all day. But, my dear, why do you do it? I know you and Bob have something of a struggle to make ends meet. It won't always be that way, because I know Bob's a very ambitious young man—ambitious for you as well as for himself. But take an old lady's advice, dear. Look for bargains—no matter how wealthy you become. But don't make an expedition of it. Make it a tour. You get a newspaper. Look for real bargains there, before you set out. Then you'll know where you're going, and you won't wear yourself out. I know, because I do it. Give my best to Bob, and give Bob, Jr., a great big kiss from his grandma.

Lots of love, Mother

Crowds, Interest Grow for Church Of Christ Meet

We had a large attendance at our first service with the best of interest on the part of all. Evangelist Banister gave an instructive lesson on Christians Being the Salt of the Earth, or rather being the saving force of mankind. Also being the light of the world, or rather letting the life of Christ radiate out from our lives. At evening hour there was a substantial increase in attendance and interest over the night before. Bro. Banister taught with power a lesson bringing to our minds how our salvation is dependent on the blood of Christ and then how we might contact Christ blood. One lady was baptized after the services. We want to insist on all that can to make their plans to be present at all of these services. Day services 12:15 to 12:45, night services 8:15. A Pittsburgh executive says more soap is being sold in his city than anywhere else in the world. In fact, you wouldn't know the old place. Small fire causes $4000 damage to federal treasury. After lighting his cigar, some work-relief fund executive was probably careless where he threw the dollar bill. CLARKSFIELD, O.—N. W. ly on his toes for the best interest of the county he serves and never misses an opportunity to render the kind of service expected from the people as well as those in relief authority in the state and nation. From time to time there has been some criticism from those on relief along the idea that the local administration has something to do with continuing or curtailing relief work. There is one fact certain without money nothing can be done and when relief shuts down from the head office in the state and in Washington, the local administration cannot do anything about it and can only sit back, sweat blood with his distressed fellows and feel the same keen disappointment that they do. Somebody has got to run the job and we should be appreciative and satisfied with one that has the interest of the people at heart—yet abids by orders from above. These faculties in a man are worth while in any community and Driscoll has them.

Wouldn't it be fine if we had a nice swimming pool in Eastland—everybody should be for it. Why not put our heads in a huddle with the proper authorities and see what can be worked out. Mayor C. W. Hoffmann has indicated his interest in such a project if he be satisfactorily worked out, the more we think of it the we believe like other folks do the High School hill across the City Hall would be ideal, about it?
