A sampling of their printed product, the "Texas Doodle Pad," complete with $2,000 worth of pages from the Eastland National Bank currency stock, brightened the day for employees of Victor Cornelius printing company Tuesday.

Why Is Music For Everyone?

By SUE BREWER
 God is the master musician. It was he who set the star to pattern of rhythm so perfect that now we can predict years in advance what they are going to do. Even our bodies are tuned. We breathe in and out fast or slow, but with a definite rhythm. Our heart beats in perfect rhythm day in and day out. For those who like culture, music has a cultural effect. Music can open their eyes to literature which has been reproduced into music. To many, music reveals the beauty of nature and art.

Many times when a person is all keyed up, he will sit down and listen to music for relaxation. He finds that while listening he forgets his troubles.

Music can also help a person to make friends. When a person finds someone who likes the same type of music that he does, they have something that draws them together. This gives them some thing to talk about and enjoy together.

The world is filled with music on television, radio, and as our churches. There is some form of music for everyone.

MARILYNN HUCKABAY

If a person were to write a manuscript in the subject of the precious metal, gold, he might use the following sequence: its occurrence in nature, its preparations, its properties, and its uses. Because of its value to the "producer" and to the "consumer", music might also be termed as "precious", and the same sequence might be followed.

The rustling of tall prairie grasses, the rippling of a brook, the sighing of trees, the pattering of rain, the chirping of crickets and birds—all of these may be called "Natural" music; they have existed since time began, but they are by no means the only kinds of music. Man-made music has also had a long history and is also important. We often ignore the "natural" music and listen to only the man-made; thus it often plays a larger part in our lives.

There's music in the sighing of a reed; There's music in the gushing of a rill; There's music in all things, if men had ears.

It has been said that music is the universal language, and indeed it is; people of all nationalities have contributed to this language. Anyone can understand it, whether it is performed by violins or drums, pianos or trumpets, choirs or orchestras.

Music is composed of many technicalities—discards and harmonies, melodies and counter-melodies, notes of all denominations, measures, phrases, time and key signatures, crescendos, diminuendos, and a host of other details—all of which are completely foreign and totally unimportant to the average listener. The most important things to the listener are the emotions the music arouses in him, and whether he likes it.

Since music is written for all moods, dispositions, and ages, it is almost impossible for one not to find at least one type of music he enjoys. It may be sad, happy, cheerful, soothing, sympathetic, nonsensical, philosophical, humorous, tragic, eerie, beautiful, short, long, inspirational, or dramatic. It may also be a combination of two or more of these. For instance, a song might be nonsensical but have an underlying philosophical theme; a humorous song might have enough irony to make it tragic.

Music has been used for worship, for entertainment, for educational purposes, for furthering a cause, for advertising, for consoling or cheering, and for inspiring fighting men. Many times a song has changed the course of history; Rome was burned so that Nero might compose a song about the destruction of a great city.

This very precious commodity, music, should be revered and cherished, for it is important to every person in one way or another. The man that hath no music in himself, Nor is not moved with concord of sweet sounds, Is fit for treasons, stratagems and spoils.

Music is the fulfillment of emotion; it expresses feelings for which there are no words. Who can adequately describe the feeling that comes over one at the finale of a great overture? Who can say how sweet the sweetest, tenderest sounds are? There is no need to say, but if there were, I believe that not even the greatest poet could make his words as meaningful and as expressive as the music.

Music, then, has a deeper and wider scope than the written or spoken word. Music has another advantage over words because it is universal. One word is not understood by everyone, but one clear, beautiful note is the same in any land. Richard Wagner, in his book ethoven, wrote the following words:

"The language of tones belongs equally to all mankind, and melody is the absolute language in which the musician speaks to every heart."

Music is the art form that is not only related to beauty, but is beauty. It can be harsh, rugged beauty or smooth, gentle beauty. It can be pure and true. It can express one thing and all things. Most important, it can be very, very close to God.

Can music be all these things to everyone? Yes, it can, but it is possible only if these people can listen. Listening is not difficult; it is a natural, simple process. Most people have to learn how to listen, and the process of learning never really stops. Once one has begun to listen, he will find music to be a great treasure that will be with him as long as he lives. He will find music to be a complete, emotional, beautiful art for which there will in some way become a part of himself.

Jim Finley Is Student of Week

Jim Finley, a 1965 graduate of Eastland High School, was chosen Cisco Junior College's Student of the Week this past week.

"I chose Jim," Mrs. E. C. Lloyd, journalism instructor, explained, "because of his exceptional dependability in doing his assignments and his outstanding creativity as a cartoonist and reporter on our staff."

William Bugg, English instructor, said Jim's artistic talents were well represented by the decorations at the annual awards presentation ball. Without his efforts to get the job done, and to get it done well, our ball would not have been the success that it was.

This versatile sophomore is majoring in advertising and minoring in journalism.

Jim has been a member of the student council for the past two years and has held the offices of President of the Press Club, business manager of the Press Club, and staff cartoonist and reporter.

Upon graduating from CJC this month he plans to continue his education at Texas Tech.

Joe Culpepper Graduates From Ford Institute

Joe Culpepper of Hood King Motor Company, Eastland, has graduated from a course conducted by the Dallas Ford Marketing Institute.

The course is one of a number offered at the Institute to dealers, their personnel and Ford Motor Company employees by professional, full-time instructors.

Subjects range from management and merchandising courses for dealers and their department managers to selling courses for salesmen. In addition, there are courses for selected Ford Motor Company personnel.

The Institutes employ the latest personnel development techniques and equipment, and stress group participation in simulated selling or management situations.

Ford Marketing Institutes are also located in New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Atlanta and Detroit. Since the first Institute was opened in 1959, more than 91,000 persons have attended courses.

PERSONALS

Victoria Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wilson, ranked in the top ten out of twenty-three local area piano students who were auditioned recently. Ben Karnes' class was judged on all phases of musicianship by Mrs. Bill Maye of Stamford, and each entrant received a medal and certificate for memorized work.

The auditions are sponsored annually by the National Guild of Piano Teachers. Over 70,000 students from over the USA participate in this event which was founded by Dr. Irl Allison at Hardin Simmons University in the 1930's.

Visiting recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Davis were several nieces, and nephews. They included Mr. and Mrs. John Luttrell of Caddo; Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Jones and children of Odesa; Mrs. Ima Thompson of Cisco; Miss Penny Henderson of Baton Rouge, La.; and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Pettiet of Fort Worth.

TIDBITS . . .

invited to attend a memorial service there at 2 p. m. Sunday, May 28. It is one of the many long neglected cemeteries recently fenced, repaired and cleaned. Located five miles south-east of De Leon on the Proctor Road, it is the final resting places of many pioneer citizens of this section.

The publisher of a prize-winning weekly says that a typical issue of his newspaper is composed of ninety per cent advertising.

"Fifty per cent is paid for by local merchants and forty per cent is contributed by the newspaper to community institutions," he said. The publisher indicated that nearly all of his news stories and editorials involved the promotion of community welfare -- that is, stories on schools, libraries, government, civic clubs, churches, agriculture, industry, recognition of individuals, and countless charity drives.

Because of the amount of free publicity given institutions, it is sometimes difficult to understand why editors sometimes reject certain publicity as an effort to obtain free advertising.

In fact, it is sometimes difficult for an editor to make the distinction. A compromise is often the result. The construction of a new office building may be worthy of news coverage. But specific information on conditions of rentals should be the subject of paid advertising.

News stories and advertising are never a substitute for one or the other. The news story is controlled by the editor and contains only what he or she regards as being in the public interest.

Advertising is controlled by the private business. It contains specific details on buying conditions, which leads to commercial action. Advertising may report information which is not acceptable in news coverage.

Mrs. Horton Reports On Trip To Mediterranean, 65-Day Cruise

(Editors' note: Mrs. James Horton left April 4 on a Grand Spring Cruise to the Mediterranean. She started the 65-day cruise from New Orleans, aboard the Stella Polaris of the Swedish Lines.)

Our first real surprise was the port of Tenerife in the Canary Islands. There are seven of these islands. We spent the day and drove up to elevation of 2000 feet across the ridge and onto the other side of the island. Here is truly a vacation paradise with many beautiful modern hotels with landscaping of tropical plants and trees facing the beaches. There were rubber plants, bird of Paradise, poinsettias, hibiscus and almost every kind of flower—calla lilies, stock, snapdragons, pansies, etc. After a superb lunch and program of native dancing we drove back to the ship through such banana plantations as I've never seen.

This group of islands belongs to Spain. The people are busy and wholesome looking. Wages are small. We watched young women and men packing bananas by the carload. They wrap each bunch with padded paper, then put them into cardboard boxes so they are not bruised. They export one half million tons of bananas each year.

We walked blocks through a botanical garden that specialized in trees from all over the world. They also had many of our familiar Texas cactus on exhibit. After dinner on the ship a group of us enjoyed watching the natives from tables at a sidewalk cafe. Then to our home on the ship.

Two ports—Ceuta, Spanish Morocco and Gibraltar; Two continents—Africa and Europe;

Three countries—Spanish Morocco, Morocco and England, all in one day.

It was rush, rush but all truly wonderful. We docked at 9 a. m. at Ceuta where large, red buses were waiting to drive us through this small Spanish village, all white, past a deserted Spanish fort, fishing boats by the hundreds, palm trees, etc. The Stella Polaris is a small ship and can dock at ports where larger ships cannot.

We crossed the carefully guarded frontier into true Morocco and drove eighteen miles to Tetuan, a white city of 125,000 population. The natives here are very colorful. Women wear long garments with various colored scarves covering their faces. They are very, very poor. As we walked blocks through their open-air market place among building 600 years old we saw many children and much uncleanness. Eighty percent of these people are of Arabian descent. The King's palace is a place of beauty and cleanliness. Floors were freshly scrubbed with lysol water. The walls were tiled to seven feet and then alabaster was carved as fine as lace up to and including the ceilings. There were many beautiful flowers and the roses in the gardens were as large as saucers. This is truly a city of contrasts.

Back to the ship in time for one o'clock lunch. We docked at Gibraltar at three p. m. It is twenty miles across the strait from Africa. Gibraltar Rock is nearly 1400 feet high. A sightseeing trip to the top included beautiful St. Michael's cave, the famed Barbary apes, and many tropical plants. Shopping in Gibraltar is unusual. It is a free port which means no tax and no duty. There are many beautiful things for sale from all over the world. The main street is the shopping center. It is a very narrow street nearly a mile long. This peninsula is owned by England but is truly the end of Spain. We drove about one third of the way up to a beautiful hotel overlooking the bay. Then back to the ship—all passengers very tired from one grand full day.

This beautiful little country of Tunisia in North Africa has a population of four million. It has been an independent nation since 1956, but its antiquity dates many centuries before Christ.

The capital, Tunis, is six mile inland from the port Tunis has 450,000 population and is all white business buildings and residences. Many hills afford beautiful views as the water from the Mediterranean juts inland in so many sections of the countryside.

Our buses took us along broad boulevards and shady and flowers were most luxuriant. The Phoenicians and Romans are common talk as they had so much to do with the founding of this part of the world. As early as 814 B. C., they began coming and warring and destroying one another.

Carthage is an example: we drove 9 scenic miles to this city of ruins. But Carthage and 43 other lesser-known destroyed cities have yielded rich archaeological treasures. The museum in Tunis was filled with statues, marble pillars and tile mosaics that told their early history. I believe the tile mosaics were the highlight of this exhibit as they line the walls of room after room in the old palace. These tin tiles formed pictures of animals, fowls, etc., long ago extinct in this part of the world. They were tile pictures of life in the first century.

Their original place was on the floors of these historic homes and public buildings. Excavations are still in progress, and as I think of home and Eastland it makes our history seem like only yesterday...

sprayed your pecan trees May 15 and 20 and have gotten good results. They were spraying their trees Tuesday which seemed to be the optimum time for that orchard.

Twenty five people attended the spring field day of the County Pecan Growers last Tuesday in Ranger. Tom Denman did an excellent job of discussing the nut casebearer and other pecan insects. Tom is a horticulturist at the West Cross Timbers Experiment Station near Stephenville.

The proper use of D-Syston, a systemic insecticide to control aphids, was discussed. Tom said there were many reports of the improper use of this material. This insecticide is applied in the ground underneath the trees and should only be applied by a qualified person.

After the morning session, the Commercial State Bank of Ranger sponsored a luncheon at the Paramount Hotel in Ranger for those attending.

Have you ever seen large, high quality peaches that ripened by May 15 in this area? Tom Denman brought four boxes of ripe peaches with him to the field day Tuesday. He sent two boxes home with Bob Walsh so that he could show them on his WBAP-TV program. Another box was sent to Texas House Speaker, Ben Barnes, and the fourth box was passed out to the folks attending the field day. Most everyone said they were the best early peaches they have ever eaten.

This is a new variety released only last year. The name of this variety is Spring Gold. Peaches of this quality would be worth a lot of money around May 15.

Telephone Industry Due Install No. 5,000,000 Soon

TIN—While the nation celebrates the install of its 100,000,000th telephone recently, the Texas telephone industry is looking forward to making its 5th installation sometime this year.

A national observance of a specially installed conference call link between Lyndon B. Johnson, president of the United States, and representatives in 50 states and Puerto Rico. While Johnson listened, the president received a gold telephone and a commemorative plaque in a presentation from H. I. S. chief executive officer, the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., and J. H. Holderness, President United States Independent Telephone Association, half of the American telephone industry.

In brief ceremonies at the Capitol building here, Governor Connally received a gold Trimline telephone from Bill Holman, Austin division manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, and a hand-illuminated scroll from Claud H. Gilmer, president of Rock Springs and Nueces Canyon Telephone Company, Rock Springs, and president of the Texas Telephone Association. The presentations were made in behalf of the Texas telephone industry.

In his remarks, Gilmer said that sometime this year, one of the 134 Texas telephone companies will place the state's 5,000,000th telephone in operation.

Gilmer said "Texas' phone growth, particularly during the post-World War II era has been phenomenal." He cited these figures to reflect the pattern of this growth.

At the end of the war, there were only 916,775 business and residential phones in service in the state. By 1955, about a decade later, there were 2,550,428 and by 1965 4,503,680.

Since the end of 1965 the total phone figure has climbed to 4,564,590, or more than five times the number in service at the end of World War II.

In 1947, only 54.5 per cent of the state's telephones had been converted from manual to dial service. Since that time, manual service has virtually been eliminated in Texas with 99.99 per cent of the state's telephones now having dial service.

Gilmer said the Texas telephone industry employs more than 36,000 men and women to install, service and maintain the state's sprawling and complex communications system. These employees were paid more than $195,000,000 in wages and salaries last year to make a sizeable contribution to the economy of the state.

Gilmer who said the Texas telephone industry paid $35,000,000 in local and state taxes last year, added: "As an employer, taxpayer

Brady Rodeo Is For Three Days This Weekend

BRADY—Many of the nation's leading cowboys will compete in Brady's first annual professional rodeo, it was announced Friday by Rodeo Association co-chairmen Frank Corder and Frank Lohn.

The three-day contest with an expected prize money payoff of more than $3,500 in purses and entry fees, opens Friday night May 26th and runs through Sunday afternoon, May 28th.

A colorful street parade, May 26 at 4 p. m. in downtown and purchaser of goods and services, the Texas telephone industry has been privileged to play a role in the industrial and economic growth of this dynamic state.

"With this growth, we have been able to provide the finest quality of communications services at the lowest possible cost to the customer. We shall continue to do so in the future."

town Brady will start the rodeo weekend. More than 200 riders from at least six riding clubs will be in the parade.

The action begins at 8 p. m. May 26 in the G. Rollie White Downs Arena with the final performance at 2 p. m. May 28.

A special act will be the matched calf roping vying McCulloch County Sheriff Luke Vogel against any county sheriff in the State. At present the only challenger is Coy Carter, Sheriff of Parker County.

The rodeo clown will be Buck LeGrand, 35 year old Oklahoman, who doubles as a bullfighter. He started in 1949 and has worked many of the rodeos produced throughout the nation including the Madison Square Garden San Antonio and Houston.

No rodeo would be complete without special acts. Brady's affair will feature Leon Adams of Stuart, Okla., who performs the "only two acts of its kind in rodeo" - Roman riding brahmas and Roman riding three horses.

Rodeo co-chairman Corder said contestants entries will be accepted until 6 p. m., May 25.

State Capital NEWS

AUSTIN—The proposed constitutional amendment to phase out bulk of the state's 47 cents per $100 valuation property tax levy by 1977 is near legislative approval.

Senate has passed it and the House Constitutional Amendment Committee has recommended it. Proposals would go to the voters in November, 1968.

If measure is approved, all but 10 cents of the state ad valorem tax (that which is earmarked for state college construction) would be wiped out by December 31, 1976.

While this may be cheering news to property owners, it must be noted that the $47,900,000 in revenue must be made up from other sources.

A new voter registration plan, product of a long study, came out of committee for Senate consideration. It immediately ran into criticism.

Bill would require personal registration with tax assessor-collector or authorized deputy at a public place sometime next year. Voters could register by mail for the big 1968 elections. Once registered in the 1968-69 sign-up, they could renew eligibility by simply signing and mailing back to tax offices a form card between October 1 and January 31 each year. A special supplementary registration period would be held August 15-September 15 during general election years.

Sen. Barbara Jordan of Houston assailed the bill as more restrictive than the present law. She hit sections prohibiting roving deputies and outlawing husbands registering for wives and vice versa. Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells acknowledged he will have a problem passing his measure in the Senate as it stands.

Both houses have passed the bill giving the 17-county Trinity River Authority navigation powers and additional tax leeway to further their longtime goal of barge traffic.

Bill by Sen. Charles Wilson of Lufkin and Rep. Rayford Price of Palestine increases tax exemption for long-lines trucks and buses. Railroads earlier got an exemption as direct competitors of barges. Counties of TRA are Anderson, Chambers, Dallas, Ellis, Freestone, Henderson, Houston, Kaufman, Liberty Leon, Madison, Navarro, Polk, San Jacinto, Tarrant, Trinity and Walker.

Texas' first major occupational safety bill, designed to cut the soaring industrial accident toll, has been signed into law.

It creates within the State Department of Health a division of occupational safety to be administered by a three-member board, assisted by a safety engineer and an advisory committee. Board would conduct a continuing educational, promotional and enforcement campaign.

Bill creating appraisal service districts and boards for tax appraisal and assessment of property for taxations is unconstitutional, as it eliminates county tax assessor-collector from duties. So ruled Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin.

In a variety of other recent opinions, Martin held that: In writing a single-year budget, the Legislature can spend only funds in sight during that year.

Starr County cannot pay telephone bills for a U. S. tick inspector.

"Texas Treasure Hunt", a soft drink promotion (featuring "lucky" pictures under bottle cap corks) is not a lottery.

Texas Education Agency can allocate money to political subdivisions to carry out the state plan for vocational rehabilitation if they have the power to provide vocational training. (Amarillo Hospital District can spend money for medical and hospital care under vocational rehabilitation districts or school districts to administer program.)

Proposed transfer to two voting precincts from one justice precinct to another in Bexar County will not create

Homecoming Set For Next Sunday At Long Branch

The annual Long Branch homecoming will be Sunday, May 28, according to Rev. C. O. Clement, pastor. The all-day affair will begin with Sunday morning worship services and Rev. Clement will be speaker.

A noon lunch will be spread and the afternoon will be spent visiting, according to Rev. Clement. The public has been invited to attend.

vacancy in either of the offices.

Harris County cannot retain payment of fine assessed in felony case transferred from Harris County to Brazos County on change of venue.

Disability benefits under teacher retirement system may be reduced when person receiving them becomes engaged in gainful occupation.

Rising Star Man Completes Basic

Army Private Johnny N. Jones, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam W. Jones, 407 W. Pioneer, Rising Star, completed nine weeks of advanced infantry training May 12 at Fort Polk, La. His last week of training was spent in guerrilla warfare exercises.

During his guerrilla training, he lived under simulated Viet Nam conditions for five days, fighting off night attacks and conducting raids on "enemy" villages. He was taught methods of removing booby traps, setting ambushes, and avoiding enemy ambushes.

Other specialized training included small unit tactics, map reading, land mine warfare, communications and firing the M-1 rifle, M-60 machine gun and 3.5-inch rocket launcher.

In October 1951 there were 265 religious bodies in the U.S. J. Edgar Hoover became director of the FBI in 1924.

Large Crowd Attends Nimrod Homecoming

Approximately 200 persons attended the annual homecoming of the Nimrod-Monroe Cemetery Association which was held Sunday in the Nimrod Baptist Church.

Rev. Charlie Price, pastor, delivered a sermon based on Isaiah 1, comparing the sins of America today to the ones Isaiah was preaching about.

Lunch was spread at noon in the Nimrod Neighbors Progressive Club, and the afternoon was spent in business session and singing.

Visitors were present from Los Angeles, Calif., Grandfield, Okla., Harlingen, Snyder, Beaumont, Amarillo, Coleman, Fort Worth, Littlefield, Colorado City, Lamesa, Hale Center, Gatesville, Cross Plains, Abilene, Cottonwood, Okra, Cisco, Putnam, Sabanno, Pleva, Hill, Scranton.
