General Urges Uniting of Spirits at Flag Day Event

HIGHLIGHTS OF FLAG DAY, 1967 IN EASTLAND

Mayor Frank Deaton and Gen. H. H. Howze, featured speaker for the day, arrive at the Post Office Building.

Mrs. Marene Johnson, postmaster, greets the delegation of 15 foreign students who attended the event.

The Band leads the parade down Main St. with officers and dignitaries on the reviewing stand.

Gen. Howze visits the Army's Heritage of Freedom display and talks to Sgt. Sears and PFC Thompson here.

An orderly, respectful demonstration FOR America was held Wednesday in Eastland to mark Flag Day.

Citizens, young and old, turned out for the flying of the Colors, a military band, speeches and patriotic ceremonies which began at 9 a. m.

The Citizens March for Patriotism left the Post Office at 9 and marched behind the 36-piece 329th Band from Fort Wolters uptown and around the courthouse.

Gen. Hamilton H. Howze, principal speaker for the day, arrived by helicopter at the Airport at 8:30 and was escorted into town by local dignitaries.

Gen. H. H. Howze, innovator of the highly successful airborne concept, was forceful in his challenge to the Eastland people for militant respect to the flag and patriotism to country.

Following are excerpts from his address:

"If everything else is equal between two armies, the army with the strongest morale and the greatest will to win will be victorious. . . . Israel has shown the will to win, that was demonstrated in the old West of America. The early settlers here were in constant danger and because of it were determined to win. In Israel today, and I've been told this on the highest authority, every one contributes. A heart condition is not considered cause for staying out of the army service. The man who dies of a heart attack while serving his country is no more dead than the able bodied man who is shot and killed. Do we in America need the same sort of threat, the same sense of peril to cause us to unite and stop some of the nonsense going on here today. I decline to offer an answer. I merely offer the question as an interesting thought.

"The president of South Korea is quoted as saying, 'The life span of an anti-American demonstrator in Seoul would be about seven seconds.' There are more foreign people who look upon the American flag with reverence and hope than there are Americans. I will not say that this country has gone bad, but I will say we need a new unity. This flag is a symbol of our country. Who don't we pay more attention to it?"

"Eastland is no different from other places. Col. Fleming has told me that there is evidence that the people of Eastland have the right spirit. The spirit our country needs. Yet we paraded this flag around the square of Eastland a little while ago, and I watched your people closely. As nearly as I could tell, no one responded to the flag. No man removed his hat. No one stood up straight. No man stopped slouching against the building.

"When Woodrow Wilson was president, he said, 'The American flag has no character except what we give it from generation to generation.' 'We have a duty and a responsibility to the flag. I know that things spread from place to place. What you have done today by coming here and saluting the flag, should spread to other places. It is my hope that the citizens of Eastland will never again see the flag without paying attention to it, and to what it means.'

The demonstration parachute jump at the Lone Cedar Country Club noon barbecue was cancelled because of high winds.

Virgil T. Seaberry Jr. was master of ceremonies and Chaplain Eugene Williams, Lt. Col., USAF Retired, and presently pastor of the First Christian Church, was in charge of a dedication ceremony to men in uniform in which all servicemen now in uniform, and prior servicemen, were honored as the official ceremonies began on the flag-draped lawn of the post office.

Wendell Siebert lead in the singing of "America" and Mayor Pro Tem James Reid extended the city's official welcome. A postal official gave the response.

Col. E. P. Flemming Jr.,

commandant Fort Wolters, was in charge of the flag raising, and introduced Gen. Howze, Scouts of Troop 103 and their scoutmaster, Ray Pryor, lead in the pledge to the flag.

A band concert followed and Chamber President Jay Staggs and Jaycee President Dale Bakker extended public thanks.

The Rev. Haston Brewer, pastor First Baptist Church, gave the benediction.

A barbecue luncheon was held at Lone Cedar Country Club at noon.

Some 15 foreign students who are training at Fort Wolters were present and were introduced by Capt. Richard Timmermeier.

Among the distinguished guests were four of the highest decorated soldiers at the U. S. Army Primary Helicopter Center at Fort Wolters. They were Lt. Col. Daniel C. Prescott, deputy assistant commandant of the School; May, Sam A. Banks, chief of the Standardization Evaluation Division; Capt. Branch at UAPHS Flight Thomas G. Piel, an instructor pilot at the school's flight Division; and Sgt. Dixon G. Ament, Headquarters and Headquarters Company, the Troop Command, U. S. Army Primary Helicopter Center.

A free-fall parachute jump was highlight of the noon luncheon at which an Army man and a local citizen jumped.

Mrs. Ruth Lewis, 48-Year Resident Rites Wednesday

Mrs. Ruth Geraldine Lewis, 55, died Monday in Eastland Memorial Hospital after a long illness.

Funeral was held Wednesday at 2 p. m. in Arrington-Hamner Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Eugene William minister of Eastland First Christian Church, officiating. Burial was in Eastland Cemetery.

Mrs. Lewis was born Nov. 8, 1911, in Oklahoma City, Okla. She had lived in Eastland the past 48 years. She was married June 4, 1942, to William Earl Lewis in Cisco. She had been an employee of Lone Star Gas Co. in Eastland 25 years.

She was a member of First Christian Church.

Survivors include her husband; a daughter, Mrs. Neil Hurt, Prescott, Ariz.; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Bagley of Eastland; two brothers, Bill of El Paso and Jack of Houston; three grandchildren.

Tornado Alarm

The tornado alert for the City of Eastland is one long (two minute) siren blast, followed by a series of thirty-second blasts.

A spokesman for the police and fire departments reports "After the two-minute blast, the siren goes on automatic and will continue to give thirty-second blasts until it is shut off manually. When Eastlanders hear one long siren, followed by a series of short sirens, they are being advised to take precautions against a possible tornado in the area."

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Morton last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Rayburn Miller and Mary of Troy, Mr. and Mrs. Harvel Mashburn of Austin, and Mr. and Mrs. Micky Iglehart of Odessa.

DEAR ABBY: I'll bet the people who spend fortunes on TV advertising would be sick if they knew how few people are actually sold by it. In the first place, you get all the products mixed up. # Heavy Rains Cause Flooding, Big Old And Road Damage In County of rain which came in successive mornings in county was blamed for personal injury damages estimated "thousands" and county's peanut production back by was general over with amounts of seven inches in flooding, particularly the mid-section part of the county road-closings due to bridges on several days. Americans were in condition at Eastland Hospital following a one-car Monday on the same road where had been washed eight miles east of trailer truck was skinned and overturned Eastland and other wreck involvements was also reported Monday, between

Cisco and Eastland. At mid-afternoon Highway Patrolmen were investigating accidents north and south of Cisco. Rain was blamed for the crashes in most cases. "The worst in seven years, and worst ever the old-timers say," was the report of Texas Highway Department employee Roy Taylor in commenting on the highway damage caused by the high flooding water.

The bridge over the Leon River on U. S. 183 between Cisco and Rising Star was washed out by high water, and resulted in the closing of that highway Monday. High water was reported on South into the city limits of Rising Star.

Kent Word, 83-year old native of the Leon River area just south of Cisco, described the flood there as the worst he had ever seen. A bridge was damaged, but repaired and open on FM 1027, southwest of Carbon with another on that road being watched closely. A bridge on the old Nimrod road (569) was also out, and two bridges were out on the new Carbon - Kokomo road.

Water was slapping the bottom of the Leon Bridge on Highway 6 between Eastland and Carbon Monday, and the worst of the flooding was believed yet to come with high water still to come from the south of Cisco area, it was reported by E. E. McAlister, Soil Conservation Service Manager.

Water was running four feet, six inches above the morning glory at Lake Leon at 4 p. m. Monday. Lakekeeper James Johnson reported, "With the big water still to come," he said.

The lake had five inches of rain itself Monday morning and some two and a half inches Sunday. Damage doesn't appear to be apparent yet, he said, but "water is lapping at a lot of cabins" with those on the island being threatened quickly.

The Old Staff road from the lake is overrun with water, clear up to the highway, he said.

Water first started going over the morning glory during the last rain about two weeks ago, he said, and was only about three feet over at 7 a. m. Monday, indicating that the water was coming in fast.

Eastland had almost two inches of rain early Sunday and almost four inches early Monday in a long-extended thunder storm which brought fright to many.

In the middle of the weather alert (which was for high wind, rain and possible hail, with chance for isolated tornadoes), a fire was reported at the Tom Staggs home at the corner of Seaman and Conner at 1:10 a. m., resulting in the blowing of the fire siren which caused a lot of people to wonder if the tornado alarm had been given. (There was no fire. Someone had seen the heavy rain against an outdoor flood light which had been left on and thinking they saw smoke, turned in a "house alarm" alarm, it was reported.) The tornado alarm was not given.

The alert which covered Eastland County had been due to expire at 1:30 a. m. but, the severe weather continued through the morning as another storm blew in from the southwest. The first one moved out to the northeast.

A telephone pole at Carbon was reported struck by lightning at Carbon early Monday, as was a large tree near Desdemona.

Gilbert Meredith of the Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service office reported that from 20 to 25 percent of the county's irrigated peanuts had been planted and were up prior to the weekend storms. "A small percentage of these will need re-planting," he said.

Only about 20 percent or less of the dry-land peanuts had been planted last week, he said, and will probably have to be re-planted.

Planting in the county is unusually late this year, he said, with an acreage of 38,771 allotted on 923 farms.

"Most peanuts throughout the Southwest have been planted except right in this area," Bob Green, assistant manager of the Southwestern Peanut Growers Association reported. If the crops are put in by July 1st, Meredith said, it'll be the first of November before the 120-day season will be ready for harvesting.

Crop and equipment damage was heavy, with Pete Hallmark of near Carbon reporting his irrigation pump "gone", and in one area, three tractors and a hay bailer were submerged in water.

There didn't appear to be any serious flooding in the northeast part of Eastland, where serious flooding has caused evacuation and serious damages in recent years.

Several homes, including some trailer houses were being threatened by high water in the extreme south part of town Monday where water was standing "lake-like" on the south side of Highway 6.

Stock pens were submerged and barns were deep in water on the south side of Burkett St. (Highway 6), as water backed up northward from the Leon River flooding between Carbon and Eastland.

Many homes were near flooding and stood in danger of serious damage should the "crest of the flooding" continue to increase.

Flooding and damage were also reported from the Sabano River in the South part of the county, where an attempt is being made to set up a flood-control district.

Lake Cisco gained some four feet of new water during the weekend and water was still running in, Mayor W. W. Sawyers reported. Nearby Lake Bernie began overflowing into the creek that empties into Lake Cisco around noon Monday.

THE LEON RIVER, three miles south on Cisco, was at a record flood stage when this picture was made at 10 a. m. Monday. Highway 183, shown here, was closed to traffic for several hours.

JUST OVER 100 years ago the broad prairies surrounding Albany, Texas, were the home of bands of Comanche, Kiowa, Apache, Tonkawa and Kickapoo Indians. The Fort Griffin Fandangle depicts the Indians as they must have been before the white man came. The carefully authentic sets and Indian attire were designed and made in Albany, as were all props and costumes belonging to the musical historical production scheduled for June 15, 16, 17 - 22, 23, 24.

Landowners Contributing To Helicopter Training

Several land owners in Eastland County have already given permission for portions of their land to be used in an expanding helicopter training program at Fort Wolters, it has been announced.

Several others will be contracted in the near future for consideration of "loaning" take-off and landing spots for the "copter" trainees, Thelma J. Coats, acting information officer at Wolters, reported.

"The land that we wish to use lies east of a line from Breckenridge to Eastland, southeast to Desdemona, and east to Stephenville through Lingleville. In this area, T. C. Fambro and Sam Fambro have already agreed to the use of their land for helicopter training," the information officer said.

The requirement for helicopter pilots has increased to the point where we are required to almost double our training area in the vicinity of Fort Wolters. To provide our students with adequate training in landings and taking off from "confined areas" and hill tops or "pinnacles," we will need about 600,000 acres of ranch land. The response of the land owners has been tremendous and we have already signed up approximately 400,000 acres in the vicinity of Graham, Breckenridge, Ranger and Stephenville.

"We are interested in remote landing sites where the students can make approaches to areas surrounded by trees and hill top areas. This provides the practice needed for our students to become proficient in landings in this type area. We locate these areas where they will not interfere with grazing cattle, feed pens, tanks and houses. In most cases, the helicopters do not land in these areas so there is no damage done.

"We mark the areas with painted tires and these are put in place by helicopter. All areas selected are subject to approval by the landowner. We sign an agreement with the landowner, whereby we agree to pay for or repair any damage done by our aircraft. The landowner is free to cancel the agreement at any time.

We are in the process of personally contacting the landowners in your area for permission to use their land. Anyone interested in this program may contact the Facilities Branch at Fort Wolters (FA 5-2581, Ext. 507 or 508). Major Louis Rochat will be more than happy to explain our program to all those who are interested.

Maj Rochat was in Eastland Tuesday helping arrange Flag Day.

Some 185 landowners in eight counties surrounding Fort Wolters currently donate 335,000 acres of land for use as practice fields for pinnacle (hilltop) and confined landing spots.

Fort Wolters honored these "good neighbors" recently with an old-fashioned Texas-style barbecue at Lover's retreat, located three miles east of Palo Pinto on U. S. Highway 180.

The estimated area of Russia is 8,524,750 square miles.

learn new skills or further develop their current skills. But our men have proved that they are highly capable and willing to just this." He said that training during the first week has been "excellent and is a tribute to every man in the division." This year, for the first time, the division is using the new M-48A1 tank. Also, for the first time since its callup during the Berlin crisis in 1961, the 49th's tankers are operating on a tank course in which all three guns—the 90 MM main gun and .30 and .50 caliber machine guns—are used. Special emphasis is being placed on air mobile training exercises, in which entire platoons, numbering over 20 men, are being flown into mock-enemy territory on the CH37 helicopter, also new to the division's inventory, and deployed on simulated tactical situations. This corresponds directly with current tactics in Viet Nam. Also in parallel with the Viet Nam, environment, reconnaissance patrol training has men of the 49th further developing their skills in observing and scouting a "main objective" without being detected. Infantrymen are also moving over a squad attack course, sharpening the techniques of camouflage. Still others are attending the ENTAC Missile School, learning the functions of a new anti-tank guided missile device that can be mounted on a jeep, and is considerably more potent than the recoilless rifle. Additionally, classified instruction schools are underway for battalions in the 49th with nuclear cap- in the 49th with nuclear abilities. All of our units have been superb thus far," Gen. Scott re-emphasized.

Ski Boats Must Install Mirror
AUSTIN—Subscribers and readers of TEXAS PARKS & WILDLIFE magazine are alerted to State laws requiring that all ski boats MUST have rear view mirrors. This fact was contradicted in the June issue of the magazine in an article "Legalize Your Boat." It stated that "...all motorboats towing persons on skis... are required to carry an observer or to be equipped with a rear view mirror...." The Parks and Wildlife Department reminds readers of the monthly magazine that, in fact, no such prerogative exists under the Texas Water Safety Code. The law states the following: "Every motorboat towing a person or persons on water skis, aquaplane or similar device shall be equipped with a rear mirror of a size no less than four inches (4") in measurement from bottom to top or across from one side to the other. Such mirror shall be mounted firmly so as to give the boat operator a full and complete view beyond the rear of his boat at all times." The use of an observer is not required.

$7 Passport Admits You To All Parks
AUSTIN—Texans planning outdoor vacations to visit Federal recreation areas this summer are reminded that Golden Eagle Passports, costing seven dollars, may be obtained from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department office in Austin. A valid Golden Eagle Passport will admit the purchaser, regardless of his mode of transportation and without further payment, any number of times, to all designated Federal areas collecting entrance or admission fees. Persons wishing to participate in this official program of the U. S. Government, designated as "Operation Golden Eagle," may obtain a passport by mailing their seven dollar check, made payable to "U. S. Bureau of Outdoor Recreation," to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas, 78701.

RED CROSS URGES CAUTION FOR DECREASE IN DROWNING DEATHS

A six percent increase in drownings in 1966, from 6,800 to 7,200, moved the American Red Cross to emphasize new safety precautions that will lessen the chance of tragedy in the water. These warnings were issued as the opening of the swimming and boating season neared. Last year was the third successive one in which there was an increase in the drowning rate, according to A. D. Taylor, Safety Services Chairman for the Eastland County Chapter. It was the first year since the early 1930's that water fatalities have exceeded 7,000, he said. "Since the Red Cross and other organizations became active in water safety instruction a half-century ago, drownings have declined from 10,000 a year when few people were participating to last year's 7,000 with some 100,000 people involved, Mr. Taylor said. "That record is good but it is not good enough, he added. Mr. Taylor pointed out that about 60 percent of people who drown do so because they are in the water involuntarily—they have fallen in by accident. "Had they been able to swim, most of them could have saved themselves," Mr. Taylor declared. "Therefore, the first and foremost water safety precaution is 'learn to swim'. If you can swim, learn to swim better." Other swimming safety tips are these: Always swim with a companion—never alone. For long distance swimming, have someone in a boat accompany you. The pyramids in Egypt are believed to have been built about 3000 B. C.

Movie On Mourning Doves Is Available

AUSTIN—The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department this week released a 25-minute, color, sound motion picture entitled "The Mourning Dove in Texas." The film shows the life history of the mourning dove and pictures Department fieldmen gathering up-to-date information about the bird through banding, trapping and censusing operations. Prints for club or organized group showings may be obtained by writing to the Film Librarian, Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin.
