THE READERS WRITE TEXANS FOR TRAFFIC

SAFETY thank you for the support the Eastland Tele gram gave the remedial traffic safety legislation recently passed here in Texas.

Your newspaper and the "See, the Spanish a magnificent job of informand the reasons why it was being recommended by Gov-ernor John Connally and TEXANS FOR TRAFFIC SAFFITY so that the readers could form their own opinions

Once the newspaper readers of Texas understood the nature of the proposed legislation, they expressed over whelming support for it with the result that it will soon become the law of the land. Our next project will be to acquaint the drivers of our state with the provisions of he newly enacted laws, and hope that we can count apon your assistance.

Sincerely, Lloyd F. Palmer.

Mrs. Lucille Boyd and daughter, Jolene, Corpus Christi, were guests last week of Mrs. Frona Grugg, Marvin Grubb, and Mrs. Carl Johnson. They were joined by Mrs. Elwood Webb of Abilene last Wednesday and all enjoyed a sight seeing tour of Old Fort Griffin, then on to the historic Putnam ranch to visit their cousns, the Carrol Putnams.

A dignified service is available to all, regordless of circumstances. We welcome those from all walks of life.

The major cause of poisonof the best way to prevent It is a good idea to leave the ectuous bacteria from salad dressings out of such picnic favorites as potato salad and cole slaw until you are ready to eat. Foods with salad dressings are particularly susceptible to poisoning bacteria. If a premixed salad must be taken, store and carry it in small containers rather than in a large one.

Never carry hot foods, such as fried chicken, baked beans, macroni and cheese, or casseroles, unless they are packed in an insulated container — or are thoroughly chilled first, refrigerated, and then reheated at the picnic.

Be careful of leftovers cream sauces and other foods which are not reheated to the boiling point — they are po-tential sources of food poisoning. Another thing to be a-ware of is that foods which have been handled a lot, such as salads, sandwich fillings and casseroles, are more susceptible to food poisoning bacteria than are many other

If you are a collector of antique glassware — you are probably aware that cleaning and stain removal are often major problems. It is sug-gested that the following solutions to be used.

Minerals in water often re-sult in such cleaning problems as lime deposits and surface discolorations. To remove the lime deposits from the bottoms of pitchers, bottles, or decanters, put tea leaves on the stained surface and fill the container with a vinegar solution. For surface discoloration on decanters, rub the glass with half a lemon, or wash it with vinegar, or partially fill with uncooked rice and vinegar and shake vigorously.

A well-known research laboratory offers this method of removing hard water deposits which have dried in designs and etchings. Soak glassware in a solution of one part muriatic acid and four parts water. This acid, available at drug or hardware stores, should be handled with rubber gloves. After soaking in the solution, rinse the glass thoroughly and dry.

Vinegar cruets often becomes stained and should be rinsed with dibuted ammonia hefore washing. Stains in flower vases can be cleaned with a chlorine bleach solution. To brighten glass coffee makers, use a teaspoon of baking soda in the rinse water.

Glass is never permanently stained. It has a hard, smooth, non-absorbent sur face that cannot be penetrated by stain, and the surface discolorations can be removed with these treatments.

Flat-sided containers for freezing are more space-saving than cylindrical and tubshaped cartons.

Precooked dry beans that cook in 20 to 30 minutes are now on the market in most states. Old fashioned navy bean soup or popular baked beans can be ready for the table in less than an hour from start to finish.
