Plant An Orchard . . .

Pecans Offer Profitable Vocation For Young Farmers In This Region

Plant a pecan orchard and give it proper care to insure its growth to full potential in a minimum of time. That is the advice of C. E. Smith of Rising Star, veteran orchard owner, to young men interested in a vocation with potential.

Smith enjoys an annual income of $10,000 to $15,000 per year from his 65-acre orchard of improved varieties of pecans.

The success of an orchard depends to a great extent on how much effort goes into its management and care, Smith said. "But I don't know of any kind of business that will earn you a living unless you work," he added.

Smith, who grew up at Midland, moved to Rising Star in 1948 and bought his orchard, which is located adjacent to the city limits on the southwest. He has sandy soil that to 150 pounds of nuts each year that bring in $40 to $60. He treats his whole orchard to a good dose of fertilizer (13-13-13) in late February each year. He puts this into the ground with a spreader.

The orchard averages about 10 or 11 trees to the acre, planted in rows to allow 70 feet between trees. Smith plants no cover crops in the orchard. He plows as soon as he can after every rain during the growing season.

Smith uses sprays to control insects—malathion for case borers and disyston for honey dew, leaf worms, etc. He has a power spraying machine that pulls behind a tractor.

What is the best way to plant an orchard? Smith's experience favors planting pecan seed and grafting buds from improved varieties on the small trees after they are

"Oh, I wouldn't say that," said the Texan. "At our summer place in the hills, I just lean out the window before going to bed and yell, 'Hey, wake up!' and eight hours later the echo wakes me."

Mavericks Upset Bulldogs 27-8 In Battle Friday

The stampeding Mavericks of Eastland defeated the mighty Ranger Bulldogs in a non-conference game in Bulldog Stadium Friday night 27-8.

The Mavericks scored with 9:15 left on the score-board clock in the second quarter of play as Eddie Kincaid, quarterback for the Mavs raced 12 yards for the first TD of the game. The extra point conversion by John Baker was good and the Mavs lead 7-0.

The Bulldogs took possession of the ball on the 30 yard line, but could not get a drive started and were forced to punt. Eleven plays and four first downs later the powerful Mavericks hit pay dirt again as Kincaid raced around the left side of the line for eight yards and the touchdown. The extra point attempt by Baker failed and the score remained 13-0 in favor of the Mavs as the first half ended.

Despite being outplayed in the first half, the Bulldog came back in the third quarter and seemed to turn the tide.

The defense of the Bulldog began to hold the Maverick at bay, but, facing a third down and eight yards to go for the first on their 45, the Mavericks broke it open when George Simms darted 51 yards to the Bulldog four yard line.

A penalty and tough defense of the Bulldogs pushed the Mavericks back to the 11 then Kincaid hit wingback Bobby Williams over the middle for the touchdown.

The Bulldogs got on the scoreboard in the fourth quarter on a two-yard drive by Tom Fox, III. The TD was set up on a pass interference call against the Mavericks at the ten yard line. A pass from quarterback Bill Watkins to Armando Renteria moved to ball to the two yard line, then Fox plowed his way in for the touchdown.

He went over left tackle for the extra points after a penalty against Eastland.

The score stood 19-8 with 11:39 left in the game, and it looked as though the Bulldog might climb back into the game. The Bulldogs were able to control the Maverick attack.

George Simms put Eastland back into business as he returned a punt 21 yards to the Bulldog 35 yard line. He raced over right tackle for the final 35 yards for another Maverick touchdown. Kincaid passed to Simms for the extra points to wrap up the scoring.

Playing heads-up ball for the Bulldogs were Fox, Jimmy Dumith, Bill Watkins, Brad Floyd, Armando Renteria and White Parks.

Dyess Planes Begin Low Level Training Flights Over Region

The Headquarters 516th Tactical Airlift Wing stationed at Dyess Air Force Base has commenced low level flight operations over this region in a new training program, according to an announcement here. The flights began during the past week and will continue for sometime.

The training program necessitates area flights at altitudes of 500 feet during the day and 1,000 feet after dark, the announcement said. The hours of these flights are generally from 8 a. m. until midnight.

The routes flown are selected with great care to minimize disturbances of the civilian communities, the Air Force said.

The areas affected by these training flights are: Abilene, half to an inch in diameter. Planting seed gives you a better root system, he believes, and your production will begin sooner by two or more years. Nursery trees lack all of the important tap root, he added. Water planted trees the first year or two, he said.

Merkel, Rotan, Aspermont, Hamlin, Stanford, Throckmorton, Haskell, Rule, Winters, Ballinger, Coleman, Talpa, Cisco, Eastland, Comanche, Carbon, Albany, Anson, Nolan, Christoval, Paint Rock, Tuscola, Tye, Sylvester, Roby, Girard, Clyde, Buffalo Gap, Baird, Lueders, Seymour, Benjamin, Knox City, and Old Glory.

Pecan Orchard . . .

Smith's orchard includes peach and apple trees that are being replaced with pecans as the fruit trees die out.

This country produces good peaches and apples, he said, adding "you have about three days to market a peach crop when it ripens as compared with several months for pecans, and your fruit yields is not nearly as dependable."

Smith believes that the Comanche pecan, which was developed by Louis Romberg at the U. S. Pecan Experiment Station at Brownwood, is the best for this region. It is a large, round papershell pecan with a delicious meat and it does well in dry years.

Most of Smith's trees are of the Burkett variety, although he has 15 or 20 different varieties for experimentation. All budding has been to Comanches lately and he will continue to emphasize this variety, he said.

The Texas Pecan Growers Association recently ran an evaluation check in the Smith orchard. Using their formula for placing values on pecans, they concluded that Smith's orchard is worth around $1,500 per acre. Improved orchards with good management practices grow in value with the years, Smith said.

Smith's son, Carl, assists his father with the orchard work. "I'm getting a little old for all the hard work that goes into producing pecans," the elder Smith said. Carl is a plumber by trade and works in that profession in the Rising Star area as well as helping in the orchard.

Smith has long been active in the Eastland County Pecan Growers Association, and the state organization. He cooperates in experiments with A&M Extension Service station and with County Agent De Gordon. A spraying program using four different kinds of chemicals has been carried out in his orchard this year.

Did you know that if you take the exact height of your son at exactly age two, and double it, that's how tall he'll be when he's full grown?

It's true, give or take a full grown inch. If your son is 3' tall when he's two, he'll be between 5'11" and 6'1" at age 20. (Sorry, it doesn't work for girls.) When child specialists came out with this news many mothers couldn't remember their sons' exact second birthday height.

But mothers who kept records in C. R. Gibson Baby Books had all the exact measurements. Along with inoculation dates, a health record and all the little treasures every mother wants to keep. C. R. Gibson Baby Books won't let you forget one precious thing. Choose one for yourself, or as a shower or a new baby gift.

Such as the work-saving convenience of an all-electric kitchen. The year around comfort of electric heating and cooling. An abundant hot water supply from a fast, efficient, electric water heater. Plus the work-saving cleanliness that is one of the most enjoyable features of a home in which flameless electricity does everything. Let us tell you more about Total Electric living and our low rate for Total Electric homes.

F. N. SAYRE

You say people are afraid to get involved?

Many telephone people have made it their business to get involved in other people's problems. They've saved hundreds of lives in the process, often risking their own safety. Over the years, 240 Southwestern Bell employees have been awarded the Vail Medal, an award recognizing acts which exemplify the company's highest traditions of service. Among our Vail Medal winners are employees who... pulled a mother and her son from the rushing waters of a turbulent river... carried a baby from a blazing trailer home... dragged a man and woman from a burning car. The list goes on and on. And we're proud of them all. They're the kind of people you can count on to get involved.

Report Is Given On Workshop For Aging In Region

Delegates to the Aging Workshop in Brownwood on Sept. 10 and 11 report a most informative program was conducted. Those attending from Eastland County included Mrs. Ruby Springer, Ranger; Mrs. Viola Gattis, Seranton; Mrs. Arlin Bink, Cisco; Mr. H. A. McCanlies, Cisco; Mrs. Janet Thomas, County Home Demonstration Agent; and DeMarquis Gordon, County Agricultural Agent.

The registration committee reported 32 counties represented and some 158 individuals. Everyone was certainly made aware that aging is a challenge and it is every citizen's responsibility to assist in making these years enjoyable and meaningful. With the average person retiring at 65, he can expect and look forward to 15 years of leisure time. Workshop speakers spotlighted special activities and projects being conducted throughout the state. Of interest was the success story of multipurpose centers in operation that serve as a community gathering place which provides recreation, hobby skills through organized classes and many educational programs.

The workshop was sponsored by the Governor's Committee on the Governor's Commission on Agricultural Extension Service.

Bullock Quilting Club Recruiting New Members

Those attending were Mrs. Carrie Cooper, Frankie Beck, Mae Miller, Beatrice Gibbs, Opal Wells, Lela Cross, Zella Redell, Jewel Franklin, Margie Lester, Kathaleen Maxwell, Florie McDowell, Christy Ware, Patsy Patterson, Aquilla Sudderth, Oral Templeton, Lillie Boney and little Miss Karen Petree.

The prize, a gift of cosmetics, was presented to Opal Wells for being responsible for the greatest number of new members.

Telephone Checkup Time

A PAGE FOR AGED:
Elderly men and women who live alone are now able to combine their wish for independence with the security that they will not be forgotten.

Local Committees on Aging in many areas of the state are serving as coordinators for a telephone checking service. Older people may request to be called at a specific time each day as a safeguard against neglect in sickness or accidents. If the subscriber does not answer his phone, a designated neighbor (or the police) is notified to make an immediate investigation to see if the subscriber is safe and well. If the subscriber knows that he will not be able to receive a call, he should notify the caller that he plans to be away from home.

Many older people have no regular contact with relatives or friends and the call from the TELEPHONE REASSURANCE SERVICE may be the only means of discovering accidents, sickness, or other emergencies that would necessitate immediate help for the subscriber.

The service may be initiated with a minimum of effort by distributing application forms for callers and subscribers to golden age clubs and other senior groups. Churches and civic organizations may be contacted for assistance both in locating individuals who may want to be called and in supplying a ready list of volunteers to make the calls.

In several cases of potential subscribers who could not afford a telephone, a church, relatives or other organization has underwritten the cost of the telephone.

Such a service requires practically no budget and yet it can mean the added support so badly needed by many of our aging citizens who want to continue living in their own homes.

1969 Oldsmobile On Display at Pipkin Motors

Oldsmobile, for 1969, is introducing completely re-styled '88's and '98's, a longer and sleeker Toronado with a major change in rear end appearance, and power train improvements designed for greater economy and performance in F-85 models.

"These styling and engineering advancements, as attractive as they are, compete for the customer's attention this year with a wide range of new safety-related product improvements," Bruce Pipkin, owner Pipkin Motor Co., has announced.

The 1969 Oldsmobiles go on sale Thursday.

He said they included side impact bars inside the doors of '88's and '98's, a more uniform rate of energy absorption in all Oldsmobile steering columns, head restraints as standard equipment, larger rear view mirrors and a sloping interior header bar from roof to windshield to reduce the likelihood of head injury in case of accident. "Styling changes in every 1969 Oldsmobile," he continued, "enhance their traditional appearance of top quality and emphatically designate series identification. Interior appointments are designed to stress luxury and elegance to a previously unmatched degree. "From a marketing standpoint," Pipkin said, "Oldsmobile has further simplified its medium price class line up. All cars in the '88' family are Delta 88's. These cars with wheelbases increased to 124 inches are richly designed, longer looking and have more Delta 88, the Delta Custom and a newly-created top-of-the-line hardtop coupe, the Delta 88 Royale.

we were able to save the taxpayers at least $8,000 in measurement costs. This is a substantial savings in Eastland County alone.

Farming and ranching is our biggest Eastland County industry and must be a healthy and vigorous industry to support our food and fiber needs. Farm programs are designed to preserve and protect our farm income, conserve our soils and water, making an end result of better foods and fibers for our entire population. Farm programs not only help our farm economy but also our non-farm population and economy. We believe that farm programs are designed for all people.

We believe that our news media in Eastland County is indispensable and does an excellent job of furnishing information to the population.

We want to say thanks to you for helping us serve our farm people. It makes our job much easier.

Very truly yours,
Jesse G. Meredith,
County Office Manager,
Eastland County ASCS.

ON DISPLAY AT PIPKIN MOTOR CO.

The all-new '98' Luxury Hardtop Sedan, companion model to the '98' Luxury Sedan, will incorporate the new 127-inch wheelbase which is standard on all 1969 '98's." An optional feature is the divided front bench seat with independent controls for driver and passenger positioning.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

The County ASC Committee, county office staff, and I want to thank you for the excellent public service that you performed in getting the information on "producer certification of acreage" to our farm people in Eastland County.

This spring, we were faced with the almost impossible task of informing producers of cotton, wheat, feed grain, and peanuts of the change in determination of acreage in 1968. This task involved securing timely and accurate acreage reports from more than 900 farms in Eastland County.

We were more than pleased with the results and secured these reports on all but eight farms. By using this method
