Callahan Discovery Flows 37 Barrels In One-Hour Test

The Abilene area's first Ordovician pool discovery, Hal Barches et al No. 1 Tom Poindexter, north of Oplin, was opened Wednesday afternoon for a one-hour gauge to flow 37 barrels into tanks, ranking it as a promising producer.

On a 24-hour basis of flow, the well would rate a potential of 888 barrels per day, but owners did not consider it as an official gauge.

The well, during its one hour flow, built up 120 pounds of back-pressure on the tubing as it was run into tanks.

The Hughes No. 1 Poindexter is the first Ordovician producing well to be discovered between the Eastland county Van Farmer pool and the Crane county Waddell area, discovered during the summer of 1937.

Production is from a sandy lime, tentatively identified as the Simpson, middle Ordovician at 4,368-89 feet.

OFFICERS SEEK TEXAS SLAYER NEAR M'KINNEY

By United Press MCKINNEY, Texas, March 3.—Officers searching today for the youth who killed motorcycle patrolman Marion Taylor last night, said they had identified him as an army deserter.

The killer, they said, was a Wolfe City youth, who was wanted in connection with a Greenville filling station robbery.

Bloodhounds were brought here from the Oklahoma Penitentiary at McAlester, to join the search, but they lost the trail several miles northeast of here. The killer was the object of one of the biggest man hunts in North Texas history.

A reward of $500 was posted for capture and conviction of the killer. The City of McKinney offered $250 and Collin County the same amount.

Henry Jackson, Dallas taxi driver, was kidnaped by the same gunman. He described the man whom he picked up in answer to a call at a residence in Dallas. He said the man ordered him to another address in the city, then drew a gun and told him to drive to Sherman.

In McKinney Taylor tried to stop the cab, then chased it on the motorcycle. The gunman ordered the taxi stopped and alighted then fired six shots at Taylor.

WAR MEASURES GET ATTENTION IN THE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—The House naval affairs committee today favorably reported the $1,000,000,000 naval expansion bill as controversy broke out around another war measure, the May bill to take the profits out of war.

The favorable report on President Roosevelt's measure to strengthen American war fleets by 20 per cent, placed war profits and naval defense measures as major problems before the House.

Chairman Andrew May of the House military affairs committee, urging adoption of his bill, warned against seeking to write a measure making taxes in advance of conflicts. May's program urged a program of "pay as you fight."

The naval expansion program provides $1,113,546,000 for constructing 46 war vessels, 22 auxiliaries and 950 airplanes to give the navy an air force of 3,000 airplanes.

Before voting 20 to 3 to report President Roosevelt's program the committee adopted a "policy" amendment showing the intent of Congress that the United States shall have a fleet able to protect both coasts at once.

Beforehand the House debated the 1938 revenue act, which its sponsors admitted would reduce government income by 22 or 23 million dollars annually.

CALIFORNIA'S FLOOD DAMAGE RUNNING HIGH

LOS ANGELES (by radiophone to San Francisco) Mar. 3.—Southern California's worst flood in 50 years began to subside today.

A disastrous 96-hour cloudburst took at least 40 lives, caused property damage exceeding $25,000,000, left 8,000 homeless and isolated the entire area.

Worst hit were Los Angeles, Riverside and Long Beach. More than six inches of rain poured down in the vicinity in the last 24 hours for a total of 11 inches since the storm started.

Rainfall continued today, but forecasters expected the rain to slacken by tomorrow.

The flood burst a dam on the Santa Anna River at Riverside and transferred the semi-dry Los Angeles River into a rampaging torrent and flooded dozens of communities.

Except for a single Postal Telegraph wire all radio communication was down. Land was the chief contact with the outside world.

Railroad and bus lines were entirely out of commission and air travel was stalled.

Red Cross announced it was caring for 8,000 to 10,000. Stations to care for the refugees were set up in Los Angeles, Maywood, Canoga Park, North Hollywood, Monrovia, Long Beach, Riverside, Sierra Madre, Santa Ana and Bell.

These communities were the worst hit. Relief workers reported the refugee situation was increasingly alarming.

The movie colony was marooned and a student and policeman were drowned when a rowboat overturned near Hollywood High school.

Movie stars were marooned in their homes in the hills and canyons. Mableine Carroll was unable to leave her home.

Those at work yesterday in studios stayed there. Shirley Temple spent the night at her studio. Louise Hovick, the former Gypsy Rose Lee of New York burlesque, removed her evening dress and waded from her home to an automobile. Franchot Tone thumbed a ride to his studio on a bakery truck. Myrna Loy borrowed her gardener's ancient Cadillac, which rode well above the flooded street.

Paramount's lot was flooded and Sylvia Sydney, George Raft, Dorothy Lamour and Ray Milland rode from one set to another in rowboats.

Bank Accounts of State Officials May Be Scanned

Hill's motion did not include Mrs. McCraw's account. The motion was pending when the committee recessed.

McCraw yesterday told the committee they were welcome to all accounts.

Bank records of State Land Commissioner William McDonald were scanned by the committee. McDonald invited the committee to make the inquiry open when Sen. Albert Stone of Brenham proposed an executive session. Committee attorney Royce Stout remarked, "you've made a lot of money since you were elected, haven't you?"

"I haven't made any money I shouldn't have made," McDonald replied sharply.

And So Europe Has Another Dictator:

Rumania's King Carol, who can turn more shades than the most versatile chameleon, has set himself up, finally, in a dictatorship as tight as any in Europe, and the outcome of his step promises to be more interesting to watch than the usual run of totalitarian stridings—if it isn't more tragic.

To understand Carol's doubtful position it will help to go back a few years and review the background.

Early in the days when oil was first found to have a value and effect upon the relationships of nations, Rumania was found to be rich in that natural resource, and several powers, including the United States, fought wholeheartedly if not too sportingly over it. Rumanian government officials were corrupted enthusiastically, right and left.

By 1918 the Germans had invaded part of Rumania and the government moved to Jessy. Carol was an officer in the army and died his retreating troops out the country's back door. The troops, history tells us, were laden more heavily with champagne than arms.

In this inverse defense of his country, Carol met zesty Zizi Lambrino and married her, over the protests of Queen Marie who was so upset she sailed for America to arrange for a national loan. This marriage lasted until Carol met Princess Helena, daughter of the King of Greece. The first marriage was annulled and Carol married Helena.

Eighteen months later Carol met Magda Lupescu, the wife of a Rumanian officer, and was off again. Magda divorced her husband and when Queen Marie sent Carol to London to get him out of this new entanglement, he skipped off to Milan and was joined by Magda.

Then King Ferdinand died and when Carol did not return, his 6-year-old son ascended the throne under a regency. But there was still oil in Rumania, the report goes, so Carol was financed, returned and nudged his son off the throne. The rest is more modern.

Lupescu followed Carol back and reportedly was the power behind the throne, but that didn't work so well. Half Jewess, Madga is hated by the Jews, feared by the Gentiles and resented by the army.

With the country's economic structure in had shape, Carol backed Goga as his premier. Goga started a pogrom against the Jews. They controlled 80 per cent of the nation's industry and simply quit work. All industry and business stopped. France, Czechoslovakia and Russia looked askance at the new government. Goga was a clay pigeon who had to go, and Carol now took the last step into a dictatorship.

His country is on the verge of economic disaster, his army hates his girl friend, his international friendships are estranged, his political parties are eyeing each other's throats and Carol's.

What happens can't help being interesting—if it isn't tragic.

'GRANDMA—WHAT BIG EYES YOU HAVE!'

Wheat Growers Are Advised by E. Cook Of New Provision

In order to meet performance in the 1938 agricultural conservation program, wheat growers who have planted for harvest in 1938 an acreage of wheat as great or greater than their customary wheat acreage must file with the county agricultural committee not later than Mar. 15, an application for designating part of their acreage as a cover crop to be turned under before mature grain is produced, according to information received by County Agent Cook from the state A. A. office.

Such acreage of wheat designated by the application to the county committee cannot be harvested for grain or hay but may be pastured until a date approximately six weeks before the normal time of harvest, at which time an approved soil-building practice must be instituted.

Application forms for designating winter wheat as a cover crop can be gotten at the county agent's office. Wheat growers may either call or write for these. They cannot be filed after Mar. 15th.

"Since individual farm allotments may not be established for all farms by Mar. 15," says Cook, "it may be necessary for some producers to designate their excess wheat as a cover crop without definite knowledge of the acreage in their farm allotments. It is estimated that the general soil-depleting allotment for 1938 will be from 80 to 84 per cent of the normal general crop acreage for the farm, except that where restoration is designated, such allotment may be less than 80 per cent. Therefore, it is suggested that for farms where wheat seedings equal or exceed the normal general soil-depleting acreage, the acreage designated as a cover crop be an amount ranging from 16 to 20 per cent of the normal general soil-depleting acreage for the farm, plus any amount seeded in excess of the normal general soil-depleting acreage. The smaller percentage should be applied in areas where there is a low amount of abandonment, and a small percentage of normal idle cropland. A larger percentage should be designated in areas having higher abandonment and a greater per cent of normally idle cropland."

More Milk, Less Cost Results By Trench Silo Use

His trench silo has cut his feed costs at the same time it has increased his production of milk at least four pounds per cow per day, according to records reported to the county agent by S. O. Montgomery, Ranger dairyman.

Since Jan. 1, his 35 dairy cows have produced 24 pounds of milk per cow each day as compared with less than 20 pounds produced before silage was used. The grain ration he is using is costing $1.20 per hundred pounds as compared with a ration formerly fed costing $1.35 per hundred pounds. Montgomery's hay bill was also much higher in the past than is his silage cost.

Montgomery first filled his 130-ton trench silo in 1936 with whole hulled corn. In 1937, he floored and walled the trench with second-hand lumber and filled it with red top cane which was ground with a hammer mill powered with an old automobile motor. Before using the mill he removed the screen and hammers and left only blunt knives, with which the mill is equipped to cut the silage.

Letters From Our Readers

An open letter to the leaders of the move to legalize 4 per cent beer in Eastland county:

Gentlemen: Since now for the third time within the scope of two years the beer issue in practically the same form is before the voters of this county, it is evident that the elections in the past have not been decisive and that confusion or indifference exists in the minds of the voters as to the wisest course to follow; since, also, the basic principle of a democracy relies on an informed citizenship and ballot; since it is the American way to employ free speech and open discussion to clarify issues and persuade the populace; and since the time for the vote on March 12 is so short; therefore out of the due consideration to an issue of such import to the welfare of the county and out of interest helping present to the people facts and clarify the issues, invite you to meet us in discussion or presentation of sides of the issue now before voters of Eastland county. More specific, we suggest first three nights of next one night each in Cisco, East and Ranger, speakers and speaking time to be arranged through the editor of the paper in which this request appears being willing thereto.

We invite you to this discussion on the principle that only aroused and informed electors is the will of the people made known on this recurring issue, and we sign as citizens taxpayers of this county and our respective towns.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

ON Nov. 11, 1918, the "war to end wars" came to a close, and the world rejoiced. Yet, 20 years later, nations are fighting it out on two major fronts, and not one single year has passed since the World War Armistice without one or more conflicts.

For Love of Polly

etc.

Yesterday arriving safely in America, Polly leaves Jerry for the home in Connecticut to see her mother and father. Will she come back, she wonders?

CHAPTER XXVI
The war was not over before Christmas. Nor before the spring came. It grew fiercer and flamed inland along the frontiers.

On the day that Polly's son was born in her father's house in Connecticut, the clipper Gray Gull was having a reckless try at an armed British merchantman almost twice her size.

had better be ignored than fought over... Cabell had replied by requesting his father's lawyer to send him at once a small inheritance he had had from a relative's estate "since I am of age and the money is mine." This amount was transferred to him at a Wilmington bank and it was now almost spent.

It was during their stop at Wilmington that Jerry and Cabell had the recipe for taking a British merchantman which they were now about to put into practice: "You cut out your ship after dark," a reckless young Carolinian told them. "Don't attack the first brig you see. She's apt to be the lookout. Wait for a straggler. When you've picked your laggard, sail round her and cut her from her pack. Then take her." There followed advice more explicit from the young man who sailed a Baltimore clipper as light as the Gull and who was not troubled with New England caution. He had already taken four prizes, he said, and had divided the spoils among a grateful crew.

entering the Channel. This much was to the Gray Gull's advantage. AND now luck came at last. The hindmost ship was lagging. From her lanterns, fore and aft and quarterdeck, they could judge her size. A large merchant ship, about 500 tons, tall sparred, three masted and square sailed.

The Gray Gull, with Jerry at the helm, came up on her slowly and silently, sailed to leeward of her for a time, passed her and all but crossed her bows; wore ship and crossed her stern, then came up to starboard. Looking up, they could see that she was lightly manned and that those who sailed her were celebrating some event in the cup that cheers.

excitement that had brought them to Texas. Q. When did the government begin printing postage stamps? A. The government did not begin printing postage stamps until 1848. Before that time postmasters in Texas and elsewhere collected cash for postage and either marked on mail packages the amount of postage collected or attached stamps they had printed for the purpose.

do. In 1848, Maj. Walter P. Lane, while on a scouting expedition in the United States-Mexican war, had the bones exhumed, brought to La Grange and placed in a single stone vault, with the bodies of the 35 who fell in the Dawson massacre. An imposing monument has been erected there to their memory. J. L. Behind the Scenes in Washington

WASHINGTON.—The likelihood that an anti-New Dealer will capture the governorship in Roosevelt's home state of New York, usually considered the second most important political job in the nation, is casting a shadow in Washington.

No one professes to be able to see very clearly into the future up there. But it is significant that Assistant Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, Roosevelt's candidate for the governorship who is about to become solicitor general of the United States, is making no active effort for the Democratic nomination.

Politicians here are increasingly inclined to believe that Gov. Herrington, this may sound queer to those who remember how Roosevelt had to beg him publicly to get on the ticket in 1936, but Lehman yearns to be a U. S. senator.

he is very likely to be drafted by his party as its white hope. Attorney General John Bennett is seeking the Democratic nomination and has so much support among county chairmen and other politicians that he is likely to be nominated by the Democratic convention if neither Lehman nor Farley step in. Few believe, however, that Bennett could beat Dewey.

Farley himself would like to be a candidate, it seems, but the bitterness between old line Tammanyites, the American Labor Party and his own Democratic group in New York discourages him as much as it confuses the whole picture.

Jackson, the only pro-Roosevelt New Dealer on the gubernatorial horizon, is receptive but not eager. He is speaking to the Young Democrats in New York City on the 24th, but has discouraged proposals from New Yorkers, who sought to organize Jackson-for-Governor clubs. Well pleased with the important post of solicitor-general, he will have to be pushed by Roosevelt before he rolls up his sleeves and actively enters the messy New York fight.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

Men who dine without women do not starve. The 'Friends of Escoffier' met for a simple but elegant dinner recently at the Waldorf—two hundred and ten men, most of them the outstanding chefs in the United States. There were also a few journalists of note present. The simple but elegant dinner closed with souffle chaud Escoffier, accompagnée de fruits rafraichis aux liqueurs et de quelques gourmandises—being in English, a hot souffle served with fresh fruits, marinated in liqueur and surrounded by raspberry and lemon ices.

Souffle Chaud (Serves 8)

One-half cup flour, 1-4 cup sugar, 1-2 cup cold milk, 2 cups scalded milk, 1-4 cup butter, 5 egg yolks, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla extract, 1-2 teaspoon almond extract, 3 egg whites, 1-3 teaspoon salt. In place of the vanilla and the almond extract 2 teaspoons cognac may be used.

Tomorrow's Menu
BREAKFAST: Prune and apricot compote, creamed finnan haddie on buttered toast, hot cross buns, coffee, milk.
LUNCHEON: Boston baked beans, brown bread, sliced tomatoes with chives, pumpkin tarts, tea, milk.
DINNER: Poached haddock filets, tomato and mushroom sauce, potato balls, buttered new carrots, endive and grapefruit salad, chocolate eclairs, coffee, milk.

liqueur use fat ripe strawberries. Sprinkle with kirsch and chill. Serve in glass bowl. Arrange balls of water ice around the bowl and place in center. Pass the hot souffle and the seed berries on the same tray. Each serving consists of hot souffle and iced fruit on the same plate.

At his 'Friends of Escoffier' dinner, 197 of top men were married. A vote was taken, "should ladies be invited to the next meeting?" Three said yes, against 207 no's. This strictly male feast began with strong clear chicken soup. Great Lakes trout with spinach puree folded into it served with Bermuda potato balls with chives was the entrée. Fat partridge, stuffed with liver and truffles, buttered celery knob and egg plant stuffed with tomatoes constituted the main course. For salad there was a bowl of dandelion and chicory salad with fine herbs served with slices of Virginia ham. The hot souffle with iced fruits, cafe Mazarin and cognac brandy brought this meal without women to a singularly happy close.

FLYING BLIND

In thick weather, it is often necessary for airplanes to "fly blind" . . . to depend on instruments rather than vision and charted landmarks. Almost uncanny in their accuracy, such instruments are nevertheless second choice in the navigation of the air.

Shoppers who trot off down-town to the stores without first consulting the advertisements of those same stores are likewise flying blind. And needlessly so. The advertisements in this paper are put here for your guidance, for your safe landing in the Ports of Value.

Study them in comfort of your home . . . map your course before you put on your hat and drop the latch-key into your handbag. Compare the products offered, their prices, their general advantages. Then set out on your shopping-trip prepared for what you will see, what you will wish to have sent home.

Let the advertisements serve as guiding beacons of buying. It's the smart thing to do.

STOP LOOKING AND LOOSEN

Sandy McHoots knows a bargain when he sees it. He's Scotch through and through—and "doesn't like to spend a muckle." Yet he lives in elegance and comfort. How can this be?

The truth is, Sandy reads the advertisements. Where he has to buy, he buys wisely!

Scotch or not, make a point of looking up advertisements in this newspaper. Things you need are spread before you (perhaps reduced!) . . . luxuries you've always wanted are here at prices within your reach. You'll get the values you're after if you'll stop and look before you loosen!
