First Session of Kitchen Chautauqua Meeting Is Held Thursday Afternoon

With many women of this section attending, first of a three-kitchen chautauqua sponsored by the Eastland Daily Telegram merchants opened Thursday afternoon at the Connellee Hotel. Mrs. Johnetta Howard, culinary art, who is the instructor for chautauqua, expressed pleasure in the many preparations and test in the meetings. The school will continue Friday through Saturday. "How can a kitchen kick?" this question is often put up rely and sincerely to Mrs. Howard, the cooking school leader who is in this city under the auspices of this paper to lead the chautauqua, which delves the intricacies and secrets of the average housewife can be the most happiness out of her kitchen. "So there is many a 'kick' that does not come from the bottom of a bottle and truly, a kitchen can kick. What a 'kick' a happy kitchen can give to the average housewife when she learns the many little surprises and hints offered in the cooking school—about how to form and fashion foods that are appetizing teasers and happiness clearinghouses. And that's how a kitchen can kick."

The average housewife. "The Daniel Webster meaning of the word 'kick' is: To strike with the foot, like a mule, or to offer objection to, like a hard to please husband; or to kick over the traces, like an unreasonable wife." "The use I have for bottles, these days, is to keep handy many cooking necessities, as fruit juices, etc., but the slang expression, just the same, that is used with reference to getting a 'kick' out of something good, constructive and happy-minded, like kitchen-happiness, came from the old street parlance with the above mentioned meaning. The meaning, by common usage, has evolved into respectability, however, and many housewives have taken the word into their ordinary, every day vocabulary, and make good use of it. "So there is many a 'kick' that does not come from the bottom of a bottle and truly, a kitchen can kick. What a 'kick' a happy kitchen can give to the average housewife when she learns the many little surprises and hints offered in the cooking school—about how to form and fashion foods that are appetizing teasers and happiness clearinghouses. And that's how a kitchen can kick."

Nears Air Record of Million Miles

If Katherine May appears to display a little feminine vanity, who has a better right? She has held down, or rather up, a job as United Airlines stewardess for six years, "come May 29," and is speedily approaching her 1,000,000th flying mile. So you can't really blame her for pluming herself a bit, as shown above, just before stepping aboard for another trip on the San Francisco-Salt Lake City run.

ELECTION TO LEGALIZE 14 PER CENT MALT AND VINOUS BEVERAGES MAY BE HELD

"BRAINS" OF THE PENSION PLAN NO ECONOMIST
WASHINGTON, March 26.—Robert Clements, resigned national secretary and "business brains" of the Townsend old age pension organization, told a congressional committee he had never made any "fundamental study of economics" in connection with the $200 a month pension plan. "Do you know the difference between economy and political economy?" asked committee counsel James Sullivan. "I don't know that I do," Clements replied. The resigned secretary was the first witness at a politically significant investigation designed to reveal the "inside story" of the Townsend and other plans. Learning forward on the committee table and clasping and unclasping his hands as he testified, Clements said that he had made a detailed study of the Townsend plan and of opinions of economists and other authorities. He added that he had read stories on the ability of the nation to produce and consume, but admitted he had never studied any text on economics or taxation before the Townsend plan conception. An election on whether vinous or malt liquors up to 14 per cent alcohol by volume may be legally authorized by commissioners' court, Criminal District Attorney Grady Owen was advised late Wednesday by Assistant Attorney General Leon E. Moses. No date has been set for the election, County Judge Clyde L. Garrett, for whom with commissioners' court members, District Attorney Owen queried the attorney general's department. It was held by some that the election could not be authorized except on one of the regular meeting dates of the commission. Moses' reply to Owen's query was as follows: "Your letter of March 18, 1936, addressed to the Hon. William McCraw, attorney general, has been referred to the write for attention. In said letter you request an opinion upon the following: "For benefit of the county judge and the Commissioners' court, in order that they may properly determine whether to order an election, please advise with reference to the following: "Eastland county is in dry territory as to all alcoholic beverages. In the early part of this year said county as a whole voted against the legalizing the sale of vinous and malt liquors that do not contain alcohol in excess of 4 per cent by weight. "Assuming that a proper petition is presented to the said commissioners' court as provided by Section 32 of the 1935 acts pertaining to intoxicating liquors, would it now be legal for said commissioners' court to order an election, and for such election purporting to be held in this county, on the question of legalizing the sale of vinous and malt liquors that do not contain alcohol in excess of 14 per cent by volume? "Please base your opinion on the assumption that said election, if held to be legal, is contemplated as a county-wide election." I refer you to section 32 of Article 1 of the Texas Liquor Control Act, wherein it is provided as follows: " * * * After the first local option election held as provided in this Act, in any county, justice precinct, incorporated town, or city, no subsequent election upon the same issue in the same political subdivision shall be held within one (1) year from the date of the preceding local option election in said county, or said political subdivision of said county." You are, therefore, advised that in my opinion it is now legal to submit the issue of legalizing the sale of vinous and malt liquors that do not contain alcohol in excess of fourteen (14) per cent by volume as the only previous question submitted was that of legalizing the sale of four (4) per cent beer. Very truly yours, (Signed) LEON O. MOSES, Assistant Attorney General.

Clean-Up Week Urged By Health Department Head

AUSTIN.—The State Department of Health will sponsor a Clean-Up Week, March 29 to April 5, according to Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer. He urges that every citizen in the state co-operate in this campaign to improve the appearance of the property, and promote the general welfare of the citizens. This is Centennial year and thousands of persons will visit Texas, and Texas will be on parade for the approval of these visitors. If all property holders will repair and paint their buildings, and replace all weeds and rubbish with flowers and shrubs, a more favorable impression will be made on our visitors. Every effort should be made to have the best sanitation possible under local conditions. The Centennial visitors will be in all parts of the state. City officials can help in this sanitation program by having a pure milk and water supply and by applying all known methods of preventing the spread of communicable diseases. During this week special campaigns will be held to prevent fires, and to promote health among the Mexicans, and among the negroes. All should join together and make Texas the healthiest and most beautiful, and the cleanest state in the Union.

HOUSE GROUP ACCEPT TAX PROPOSITION

WASHINGTON, Mar. 26.—The house ways and means committee voted today to accept its tax subcommittee recommendation for a first year $799,000,000 tax bill as the basis for public hearings to start next week. The subcommittee report presented proposals for a $591,000,000 tax on corporate undistributed profits and a $100,000,000 "windfall" tax on uncollected AAA processing levies. Left out of the report as a basis for consideration in hearings was the processing tax suggestion made by the President in his message to congress. The report revealed for the first time the sub group was recommending railroads be placed under the new graduated corporation surplus tax, but be allowed to retain their present privilege of making consolidated returns. Experts said the railroads would probably not pay higher taxes than their present privilege of member predicted they might pay less.

NEW DUSTER SWEEPING OVER THREE STATES

KANSAS CITY, March 26.—A severe dust storm swirled over south central Kansas and the Texas and Oklahoma panhandles, moving northeast at a swift pace. Weather observers predicted it would be one of the worst dust storms this year. At Topeka, Kansas, huge dust clouds obscured the sun. Visibility was limited to one mile. At Wichita the brown fog enveloped the city and reduced visibility to half a half. At Anthony, Kansas, airplane pilots reported zero ceiling and visibility. The dust was so thick motor car headlights were turned on and residents used handkerchiefs as breathing masks. Canadian, Texas, reported one-fifth mile visibility.

Hitler Is Putting Out Propaganda For Big Election

BERLIN, March 26.—Election propaganda was dinned into the ears of Germany's 67,000,000 people today. It started at them from windows, replaced the news in their newspapers—all but formed the words, "vote yes" in their alphabet soup. It was the beginning of a campaign for Sunday's election, nominally one to name a new Reichstag, but actually intended to show the world Germans are united behind Adolf Hitler. Ballots will have no place for an unfavorable vote, by order voters are to put a cross in a circle to show their preference for the unopposed government candidates. Yet propaganda reached heights today, which even the Nazi political chiefs had not previously attained.

Britain to Back Pledge to Help France, Belgium

LONDON, March 26.—Former Secretary Anthony Eden assured the house of commons today Britain would be strictly loyal to her pledge to help maintain the security of France and Belgium. At the same time he insisted there is no military alliance of Britain with those countries. Eden's address opened debate on foreign policy. He appealed to Chancellor Adolf Hitler to make constructive proposals to the League powers so the Rhineland dispute could be adjusted peacefully. Sweeten said the filing of charges would be withheld pending determination if handwriting of the extortion note and a letter written by the suspect was that of the same person.

Reveal An Ancient Tribe Once Lived In The South

MOBILE, Ala.—Thirteen bones of prehistoric persons, discovered recently in Franklin county, have been placed in the same museum of Natural History at the University of Alabama. The skeletons were found walling a crevice in the side of a stone cliff near old Burleson office. Those 13 that could be identified were the skeletons of a man, a woman and an infant. An undetermined number of infants had been placed there, jumbled together as if by a bear. The exact age of the bones is unknown. Dr. Walter B. Jones, geologist and director of the museum, says that they probably date to one of the prehistoric stages of bluff-shelter people once abundant in the Tennessee valley. However, two earthenware vessels found in the same show only slight similarity to the typical eastern valley pottery. This gives rise to the belief that skeletons may be those of a earlier than the ones now known. This layer of stones covered skeletons when they were discovered by W. A. Barksdale, of Ala. The museum plans to search for other ancient remains at areas.

Girl Admitted She Was Not Assaulted A Witness States

NEW YORK, March 26.—Vera Stretz, pretty blond art student, admitted the night she killed her lover, Dr. Fritz Gebhardt, he had not attempted to assault her, a prosecution witness said today. The evidence, striking at the self-defense plea planned for Miss Stretz, threw the court into an uproar. Detective John Kaiser, one of the officers called to the hotel where Gebhardt was shot, said Miss Stretz told him in answer to a question that she had not shot the doctor for robbery or assault.

We hope to approve applications before July 1," Carpenter said.

Congress Has Only One Major Measure To Credit So Far

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The present congress, which began its labors almost three months ago, today had only one major deal measure to its credit. Two "must" proposals, the tax program and the $1,500,000,000 relief appropriation, remained to be acted upon before senators and representatives can go home. Enactment of the soil conservation program, designed to replace the invalidated AAA, is this session's only major achievement.

AUSTIN, March 26.—A new appeal for Texans to contribute to the Red Cross fund for eastern flood sufferers was made today by Gov. James V. Allred. "Texas is shamefully behind. More than 50 per cent of the national quota has been raised, but Texas' contributions total only $13,000, or 18 per cent of the state objective. Our neighboring states have far outtrunked us. In the past when Texas suffered other states have responded generously. Texas cannot afford to fall down now," the governor said.

Luck Nor Riches Stay The Wheel of Fate

The wheel of fate usually comes around full circle if you wait long enough, and although it doesn't always pay off as you expect it to, payoff usually is perfectly logical.

When a polo pony kicked Serge Mdivani to death at Palm Beach the other day this queer, sometimes grisly logic was exhibited in all its perfection, as a glance at Sunday-supplement history will make clear.

These Mdivani brothers—Serge, Alexis, and David—sprang from the Russian province of Georgia. They hailed, indeed, from that same Batoum that produced Josef Stalin, dictator of Russia.

There was more than a faint flavor of the synthetic about this title. The word, prince, makes an American think of royal courts, kingly parents, and luxurious palaces; and somehow the populace—at least in its upper, more gullible reaches—got the idea that these brothers from Russia were something very special in the way of aristocrats.

Anyway, like so many other immigrants the brothers came to America to seek their fortunes, and they did exceedingly well at it. They developed a talent for marrying—not for staying married, but for marrying—and they found America an ideal land for the exercise of their talents.

Alexis married Louise Van Alen, was divorced and married Barbara Hutton, who likewise divorced him. Serge married, in succession, Pola Negri, Mary McCormic, and this same Miss Van Alen. And David married Mae Murray.

Now all these ladies were blessed with more wealth than was ever dreamed of in the native Georgian health of the Mdivanis. And although most of these Mdivani marriages wound up in the divorce courts, it was only natural that a good share of this wealth should stick to the princely fingers. So presently the brothers found themselves living on an elaborate scale, amid refinements unknown to Batoum.

Here is where the law of compensation began to work.

Grown wealthy, the brothers took to the pastimes of the wealthy. Alexis went in, among other things, for swift and expensive automobiles; Serge tried his hand at that pre-eminent sport of the wealthy, polo. And one day Alexis drove his swift, expensive automobile off the road and was killed; now, polo has taken the life of Serge.

Had they stayed in Georgia there would have been no polo or fancy autos for the brothers. There would not have been any Sunday-supplement American brides, either, with their solid American dollars; but the point is that, if there had not been any of these things, Alexis would not have been killed in an auto smash-up and Serge would not have died on a polo field.

The payoff on the wheel of fate may be unexpected and long-delayed; but it does have a fiendish way of being... logical.

Germans recently celebrated the 216th birthday of Baron Munchausen who, Dora recalls, was the one who was always trying to place Sharley.

Salt Lake Yields Luxury Liner Hidden Five Months

Mystery which shrouded the disappearance last Oct. 6 of this Standard Oil Company luxury liner and its three occupants ended with divers' discovery of the plane on the bottom of Great Salt Lake. The ship is shown being raised after having been towed 23 miles under water by tugs. Bodies of two occupants of the plane, which crashed while en route from Oakland, Cal., to Salt Lake City, were found on an island in the center of the lake.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON—Our diplomats and the foreign diplomats and the foreign correspondents here are still betting against a European war in the next few months. But the odds have shortened.

Factors figuring in the guessing are relative preparedness and unpreparedness, the extent of sentiment for a "preventive" war, and the chances of an "incident" which might touch off the powder keg.

It still seems impossible to discover any statesman or other authority who doesn't believe there will be a war within the next two years.

Chief factor making for peace in the near future is the insistence of England in maintaining her policy of postponing the conflict as long as possible and refusing to join France and Russia against Germany—which, it is commonly believed, would also mean Japan—at this time.

And again it is the consensus of international opinion, based on information that Hitler won't be "ready" for another year or two.

What shortens the odds is rather convincing evidence that the French have come to believe that it would be safer to fight Germany now than later, when she completes her rearmament. Reports that the French general staff has reached this conclusion are commonly credited here.

And there is a strong suspicion that Soviet Russia has also become sold on the "preventive war" theory.

THE British still seem to hold the key. They want to carry out their big program of rearmament before letting themselves in for any hostilities and they are still further unprepared from the important standpoint of the psychology of the British people. They are definitely afraid of a German air attack on London, which might be launched and achieved before a defending air force could warm up and leave the ground.

For a time, at least, British foreign policy seems likely to aim at keeping France from getting too close to Russia.

It appears that Hitler, when he sent his troops into the Rhineland and denounced the Locarno treaty, was certain he could get away with it and avoid war. He has friends in England who presumably were able to give him an accurate sizeup of what British reaction would be.

That explains why some international dopsters are willing to believe that Hitler's bold move was chiefly a gesture timed for its effect on the annual vote of confidence which he receives in the so-called German elections.

ANOTHER theory is that the Nazis hoped to frighten France, feeling that she needed a good scare following ratification of the Franco-Russian defense pact. But that theory assumes that Hitler isn't very bright, and there's an increasing tendency in Washington to regard him as a very smart man.

The Rhineland-Locarno gesture was staged one week ahead of Hitler's original schedule. The reason, as seen in Washington, was the fact that France secretly had asked England for a very definite statement as to just what she would do in case Germany invaded the demilitarized Rhineland. Hitler acted before England answered.

Heart's Role In Affection Minor

PALO ALTO, Cal.—If you are in love and want to demonstrate it to the beloved one, don't make a melodramatic clutch with both hands at the region of your heart, advises Dr. Calvin P. Stone, Stanford professor of psychology. If the object of your affections happens to be a modern up-to-date young woman with a thorough knowledge of the latest tendencies of medical science, she may think you are merely suffering from heart trouble.

Instead, whatever gymnastics you feel impelled to perform, concentrate them on the region of the pituitary gland at the base of the skull, says Dr. Stone. The heart may get a little kick out of being in love, he says, with a manifestation of increased blood action, but the real impulses of the emotions of courtship, marriage and love come from the pituitary gland.

Even the increased heart action, he says, is probably due only to the increased secretions of the pituitary gland, and this is what has caused the world in the past to think it was the heart that was responsible for the whole affair.

Move Is Started To Get State Park

By United Press. WAXAHACHIE.—The movement for establishing a State highway park a mile from Foreston, near Chambers Creek, is steadily gaining momentum.

At that point, a marker to Gen. E. H. Tarrant and Captain Smith's memory is to be set up.

'GAS' TAX $9 PER CAPITA SALEM, Ore.—A tax of $9.15 for each man, woman and child in the state was collected on the 183,002,862 gallons of gasoline sold in Oregon last year. This was a consumption of 186 gallons per capita. Oregon levied the first gasoline tax in the United States—1 cent a gallon in 1919, growing to 5 cents in 1935.

BURLINGAME, Cal. — Giant eucalyptus trees bordering El Camino Real will be blown together with 17,000 feet of cable. Any blow over by a storm will thus be kept from falling on the highway.

HAPPY HOMES

Modern homes lighting, with its emphasis upon beauty, relaxation and health, produces a more happy and cheerful environment in which to live. The blues thrive in shadowy, dismal corners inhabited by antiquated lamps with closed-top shades. Frayed nerves become more ragged when the eyes meet glare and harsh contrasts. Good home lighting helps to make home a happy place in which to live.

BODY AND MIND

When the eyes are punished by poor lighting pass along their afflictions to the rest of the physical systems. The action of the muscles of light, is definitely slower under lower than under higher light. The focusing muscles of the eyes become three times as tired under one foot candle of light as under one hundred footcandles. Fatigue becomes a handicap to good scholarship. Actual scientific research has established this fact.

Eyed as Edward Hints Marriage

When King Edward VIII, in a message to the House of Commons, seemed to hint that at last he might marry, delighted, well-informed Britons turned eyes on eligible, charming Princess Eugenie, above, 26-year-old daughter of Prince George of Greece, and cousin of Princess Marina, wife of the King of England's brother, George. In the royal message mentioning "the contingency of his marriage," King Edward asked Commons to renew the civil list, providing the royal household and personal expenses.

U. S. Files Aid Kin In Death

WASHINGTON.—Many respectable persons are buried unclaimed in potters' fields because their fingerprints have never been filed with the government, the Department of Justice reports.

received by the bureau of investigation, Department of Justice, from police agencies and coroners' offices in every part of the country. Of these, identification of 536 was definitely established and the addresses and names of relatives were furnished.

The fingerprint contributors of 729 cases of the 2,030 prints were without information of any kind relative to the identities of the deceased persons, whereas the identity of the other 1,301 had been tentatively established. A comparison of the 2,030 sets of fingerprints with more than 5,600,000 on record in the identification division's files provided positive identification of 173 of the first group and 353 of the second.

Death came to most of the 2,000 persons in the routine course of life. Some were killed by trains or automobiles, while several were found dead from natural causes and misfortune.

One typical case, in which reference to the bureau's identification facilities identified the dead person, occurred on Dec. 24, 1935. An unidentified man was killed by a train near Oakland, Cal. Fingerprints were forwarded to the Department of Justice by the coroner's office there. The department, after a search of files, disclosed that a record of the man's name was available in Berkeley and Oakland files.
