Tips on How to— Improve Your Lighting

Place Lamps Closer

The illustration above shows the right and wrong way to place a reading light by an easy chair. If you shorten the distance between you and the lamp one-half, you increase by four times the amount of light on your book or paper. In other places that light is needed, put the lamp as close as practical for better illumination.

Seven Army Fliers Rescued After Seven Days On Crowded Raft

By CHARLES McMURTRY WITH THE PACIFIC FLEET, Sept. 27 (Delayed) (AP)—Seven army fliers, rescued from the South Pacific after drifting on a four-man raft for seven days, saw two members of their B-17 bomber crew die of exposure.

"If we had to lose a bomber, we were damn well glad to get rid of that one," the survivors said today. "We called it 'Spider' because it was hung together with threads. It was one of the first flying fortresses."

The men existed on a sip of water, rationed morning and night, and a bite of chocolate daily.

They were surprised to learn later from a news correspondent that a shark had ripped the bottom of the raft.

and Sidney L. Darden, 26, navigator, Waco, Tex.; Sergeants Joe Gagnon, 23, bombardier, Tupper Lake, N. Y.; Richard Paul Anderson, 23, radioman, Brookline, Mass., and Constantine Russesky, 23, engineer, Shenandoah, Pa., and Private Virgil L. Murray, 23, side-gunner, St. Regis, Mont.

Corporal Lucien De Amour, gunner, of Beverly, Mass., crazed by his suffering, leaped from the raft the sixth night and perished. Corporal James Hosegood, 33, assistant gunner (no address) died of exposure and illness three hours later.

The old flying fortress left its Southwest Pacific base Sept. 11 with two other bombers, and at the turning point in its mission, the cylinder head of the port engine blew out.

"With only three engines we fell behind the formation," Bud Anderson said. "The radio compass failed next. Then thunderheads bounced us up and down to beat hell. It took Van Haur and I both to handle the ship."

"With Darden's navigating we got over the island base about 9 p. m. We could see the shoreline but no lights because of the heavy overcast. We circled and kept calling for searchlights without success. We were afraid to try a landing because you haven't got a praying chance in those dangerous mountains. At 11 p. m. we had only 20 minutes gasoline supply remaining and knew we would be forced down.

"It was a sorta sick feeling not to pick up any light, but we were not afraid of a sea landing. The water looked rough."

"Van Haur made a honey of a crash landing. Meet-planes-break in two but ours held together, probably because it dropped flat."

"There was a big, blinding crash, like someone hitting you over the head, and a great white flash of water."

"Van Haur's window jammed and he and I went out my window. The others used the radio escape hatch."

"All nine were forced to crowd on one four-man raft. We were unable to inflate the two-man raft and another four-man float went down with the plane. We sat, shoulder to shoulder around the edge. Our cramped knees touched. There was no room to move or lie down."

"There were only five quarts of water, rationed a swallow in the morning and a swallow at night. No one cheated. One took his gulp from the can, then passed it to the next fellow."

"The only food was chocolate. It was rationed one-ninth of a bar daily and accepted in the best of spirits. No one asked for more at any time."

"The first day we saw a PBV plane and fired four flares but it did not see us. We were not worried and were confident we would be picked up soon. On the second day we saw nothing. On the third day we saw an army transport plane and fired flares but it did not see us."

"We were attacked by a tiger shark but fought him off with a paddle. The shark returned and I shot him between the eyes when he was close to the boat."

"Another followed the raft all of the fourth day and night, licking at the paddles. His fin made a phosphorescent wake. The fifth morning the shark got up courage and attacked. I shot him in the belly. He had a helluva wingspread. Each shark was about 15 feet long."

"Gagnon ruined the aluminum paddle beating off another shark."

"De Amour complained for three days of a head bump which he had received when the plane landed. He thought he was still on the plane and wanted to go down and check the guns. Darden tried to keep him quiet to prevent upsetting the boat. The boat overturned three times, twice one night in rough water."

"De Amour broke loose the last night and jumped over the side, pulling into the ocean with him Sergeant Anderson, who was custodian of the chocolate."

"Then Hosegood, who seemed as well as any of us, suddenly took sick and died the same night."

"Gagnon rigged up a hook and line, using tinfol for bait, and caught a small flying fish. We cut it into seven pieces and ate it raw, head, tail and fins."

"We saw planes all the next morning and thought we were close to something. We felt so good we all started bawling from relief when a scouting plane dipped low to show it had sighted us. The last drop of water was gone and the chocolate also was gone."

"The scouting plane from this task force flew over the nearest destroyer and messaged: 'Men adrift on float. Follow me.' The plane then directed the destroyer to the rescue."

nights cold. The fliers had only flying jackets and khaki trousers. Worse than the hunger and worse than thirst was their cramped position with no chance to rest, relax or sleep."

"I didn't sleep a wink all week and doubt if anyone else got an hour's sleep all week," said Darden. "If we dozed and fell forward we banged our head on someone's knees. If backward, a cold wave splashed our back and shocked us awake."

Despite the nerve and mind-torturing ordeal, the condition of the fliers was pronounced by the ship's doctor as "surprisingly good, both mentally and physically."

Since the announcement of meat rationing, farm families are probably planning to produce more meat at home. A few lambs will help to supply the family table with good meat and they will also supply wool for warm comforts and help with mowing the lawn.

Lamb adds a nice variety to meals and is a delicious and valuable food. One animal will furnish about 40 pounds of meat—leg of lamb, shoulder roasts, lamb chops, and stew or ground meat for patties.

Navy Given Billions In New Appropriation Bill

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—A $6,286,956,621 appropriation bill, swelling the country's cost of arms to more than six times the bill for World War No. 1, was sent to the house floor today with approximately 90 per cent of the new expenditures earmarked for the navy.

In approving the omnibus second supplementary national defense bill, the house appropriations committee authorized 14,611 new naval planes to complement an unprecedented aircraft carrier building program now under way.

Simultaneously, the bill would furnish fresh financial reserves for the war projects of a dozen different government agencies — rubber for the war machines to roll on, air lanes to carry the allies' message of victory, homes for war workers.

The $5,599,974,309 set apart for the navy would raise its spending credits for the fiscal year of 1943 to $30,827,952,283, while the measure as a whole would increase the total voted for defense and war since 1940 to $220,000,000,000. A total of $2,862,000,000 was voted to finance construction of the 14,611 naval planes and to help meet the president's production goal of 60,000 planes this year and 125,000 in 1943 for both the army and navy.

In discussing those goals, Under Secretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal told the committee that the number of man-hours required to build big planes had been cut almost in half, while Commander G. W. Anderson of the navy bureau of aeronautics reported that "peak" production probably would be reached about December of next year.

In addition to the naval allocations, the measure carried $5,000,000 for the Office of Civilian Defense, $25,000,000 for the Office of War Information, $500,000,000 for war housing, $19,000,000 to produce rubber from the guayule plant, $19,303,000 for the War Manpower Commission, $5,200,000 for the Office of Defense Transportation, and $5,000,000 to promote friendly relations between this country and other nations in the western hemisphere.

In granting the Office of War Information an even $25,000,000—approximately $2,000,000 less than it had requested—the appropriation committee declared that "wars are conducted on the three important fronts of military operations, economic controls and

New Home—Handsomely redecorated is the J.W. Fisher building at 307 Main street which will be formally opened Friday morning as the new home of the J. C. Penney company store. Callers will find an attractively designed exterior and interior, improved to the Penney specifications, and making possible display of the store's many departmental lines. The store is 50x134, with a 28-foot basement. (Kelsey Photo).

J. C. Penney Company Opens New Store Friday Morning

With open house starting at 9 o'clock Friday morning, the local J. C. Penney Company department store will celebrate the opening in their new location at 307 Main street, with thousands of dollars worth of specially selected merchandise to go on sale for the event, according to C. W. Norman, manager of the store.

"We're glad to announce that we're opening at a new location in a bigger, better store," said Norman. "It's proof to our customers that we're doing our best to make shopping at Penney's even more comfortable and convenient than ever before."

The building has a frontage of 30 feet with a depth of 134 feet on the main floor, a balcony 28 feet deep and basement storage space. New display fixtures and modernized decorating throughout form a background for the new merchandise, all in larger assortments and more conveniently arranged.

The local store is one of 117 Penney stores in the state, the first of which was opened at Wichita Falls in 1917. With 1,600 stores, the company is represented in every state in the Union.

Penney first opened a store in Big Spring on August 31, 1931, and Norman became manager in April 1936, coming here from Dalhart, where he held a similar position with the company. He is a veteran of 30 years department store experience, and joined the Penney company in 1928.

Expanding business necessitated larger quarters and the ten complete departments are now handled by a personnel of twelve clerks.

The new store, formerly occupied by the J. & W. Fisher company, has been remodeled throughout, the balcony lengthened and the entire front changed, employing a yellow and black tile design. The new heating system is a gas and air circulating ceiling unit.

Founder—J. C. Penney was born in Hamilton, Mo., where he first store in Kemmerer, Wyo., in 1902, as one of three partners. Out of this humble beginning grew the present Penney Company with stores in every state in the Union. Starting with little cash, but a definite policy of square dealing, Penney has proved, through the phenomenal growth of the company, the soundness of his policy.

the dissemination of psychological information. The United States, with the other United Nations, must adequately pursue all three if victory is to be attained."

Along with the report, the committee made public a transcript of testimony—carefully edited to eliminate information of value to the enemy—of numerous high-ranking government officials.

Included in the public portions was testimony by Rear Admiral J. H. Towers, until recently chief of the bureau of aeronautics, that the navy now "has considerably more pilots than required for our general needs; that non-rigid airships—blimps—were proving "extremely valuable" in combatting the submarine menace; that the navy is building numbers of 12 and 20-man gliders for use by the marines; that the bill would provide funds for 72 new blimps which would "give us about 120 patrol airships, 12 at the ten different stations."

War Board News

A weekly column contributed by members of the Howard county USDA War Board.

SHIP 'EM SOONER AND AVOID THE JAM!

Interest Light In Rat Poisoning Drive

Orders for rat bait were exceedingly light. Evidently farmers of the county are discounting what we had to say about the destructive nature of rats and the danger to farm people of a typhus epidemic. Some were thinking about their poisoning chickens and pigs last spring when they exposed poison.

However, the number of rats on farms of the county had been greatly exaggerated. Of the 12 farms where demonstrations were held, only two had very many rats.

Farmers have been working at the rats in various ways and with varying degrees of success, but they did not see fit to join in a campaign of poisoning them.

Drying Good Way To Preserve Food

By ALMARINE NUNNALLY, H. M. Supervisor
The greater number of methods used to preserve food, the more interesting our daily meals can be made. Usually there is one method of preserving each food that has been found to more nearly keep the original quality of the fresh product. For example carrots and root vegetables are best stored fresh, tomatoes canned, strawberries frozen, and mature beans and peas best dried. But interest is added if we might also have corn dried, brined, canned or used in mixed pickles.

Drying is economical, takes less equipment and materials, may be stored in fewer containers, and can be transported easily. Food driers are easily made, and may cost very little. If you do not have any wooden scraps around the place, try using a small fruit box, make the sides about 3 to 4 inches deep, put screen wire on the bottom, and get a piece of window glass to cover the top. The window glass absorbs the sunshine and gives more heat. Then build a small four-leg frame which is slanting slightly downward at one end. This is to hold the box with the glass cover and at the same time slant the box so that it will receive most of the sun's rays. Of if you had rather hang the box in the sunshine or over the stove, then put hooks on the top of the box, so that wires can be attached to them.

All food used should be of good quality, fresh, ripe, firm and clean. One decayed fruit or vegetable can give the entire lot an undesirable flavor. Successful drying depends on the removal of water by the dryness and circulating of air. The construction of food driers and for drying various foods are found in bulletin No. C-170, entitled "Drying Foods at Home." This can be obtained from the county home demonstration agent or the Farm Security Administration.

It is not only important that we dry, can, brine, kraut, care and pickle as much food as possible from our fall gardens, but that we store as many foods as possible. Root vegetables, onions, potatoes, pumpkins, winter squash, corn for hominy, and various types of beans and peas can be stored for family use during the coming winter. And don't forget that dried snap beans and peas, corn and green okra are easy to dry at home, as well as fruit.

The war makes food production and preservation more important than ever. If you produce an additional amount for market, you will be doing something to help the combined effort to help win the war.

Rain, Cool Spells Contributed In Sept. Weather

September, according to the U. S. department of commerce weather bureau's recapitulation, ran pretty true to form, meteorologically speaking. Most important, it brought 1.66 inches of moisture, which followed ideally on the heels of August soakers. What fell came from thunderstorms, and it is possible that parts of town received even more precipitation. Some very fresh weather put in its appearance, the mercury shrinking to 48 degrees on Sept. 27. The hottest for the month was 83 degrees on the 17th, and average maximum was 82.6 degrees while minimum was 60.2, a pretty mean figure. Autumnal weather brought three fogs, one of them a dense affair on the 8th. For all the fog and drizzles, the month turned up a mild sandstorm, too.

Yanks Join RAF In Egypt Raids

CAIRO, Oct. 8 (AP) — United States fighter pilots escorted RAF fighters-bombers on a raid behind the German lines yesterday, part of an exceptionally heavy air blasting of the enemy, it was disclosed today.

On 12 trips over enemy territory during the day, the RAF was said to have caused heavy damage to German airports, convoys and troop concentrations.

Long-range British fighters struck deep behind the lines, bombing and machine-gunning troops and trucks and firing German boats moving east along the coast on the way back.

Appetizing Meals Are Possible In Spite Of Meat Rationing

OMELET WITH MUSHROOM HERB SAUCE: Try this and you'll never miss that extra meat.

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE, Wide World Food Editor

Meat rationing will be no bugaboo if you are an alert homemaker.

You will be able to handle the meatless meal problem at any and all times with a minimum of worry if you plan in advance an array of good-tasting, health building alternates. You can even quicken the family's food interest with surprise dishes that are budget-balancing.

Learn to work wonders with such good American standbys as cheese, eggs, beans, peas, nuts and other meat alternates, in the nutrition-for-victory program. Here are some starters for you:

CREOLE SCRAMBLE is a boon when the family comes home hungry and dinner preparation time is short. Simmer 1-4 cup each chopped onions, green peppers and celery in 4 tablespoons fat, heated in frying pan. Add 6 eggs, beaten, 1-4 cup catsup or chili sauce and 1/2 cup water. Cook slowly and stir constantly until thick and

Omelet With Mushroom Herb Sauce

Drain one 4-ounce can sliced mushrooms. Flour mushrooms in 2 tablespoons flour and brown in 2 tablespoons butter; add liquid drained from can, with enough water to make one cup. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce is creamy. Add 1 tablespoon parsley, finely cut, and 1-2 teaspoon each of finely cut watercress, chives, and tarragon. When under side of omelet is smooth and brown, spread half of omelet in pan with mushroom sauce, fold over other half of omelet and turn onto hot platter.

creamy. Stir in 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon paprika and 1/2 teaspoon minced parsley. Heap onto hot platter and surround with hot seasoned canned lima or green beans.

Cheese takes over VEGETABLE FONDUE, a baked dish filled with minerals, vitamin and plenty of taste appeal. To serve 4, melt 4 tablespoons butter, add 5 tablespoons flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt and 1-4 teaspoon each paprika and celery seed. Stir in 1-3 cups milk and 2-3 cup thinly sliced or grated cheese. Cook slowly, stirring constantly until a creamy sauce forms. Add 3 egg yolks and beat a minute. Stir in 1-2 cups cooked kidney beans, 1 tablespoon minced onion and 3 beaten whites. Lightly pile in buttered baking dish. Bake 50 minutes in a moderately slow oven. Serve in same dish and pass tomato sauce.

CORN PUDDING is a delicious meat alternate when made like this: Mix together 3 cups canned corn, 3 beaten eggs, 4 tablespoons melted butter, 2-3 cup cracker crumbs, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon white pepper, 1 teaspoon minced onions and 1 3-4 cups milk. Four into buttered baking dish and cover with 1-2 cup buttered crumbs. Bake 45 minutes in moderate oven. Serve in baking dish.

RICE RING is tops, with mushrooms in it. Mix together 3 cups boiled rice, 1-2 cup soft bread cubes, 2-3 cup hot milk, 2 eggs (or 4 yolks) 2-3 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon each minced parsley, onions and celery, 2 tablespoons melted butter, and 2-3 cup browned or canned mushrooms. Pour into buttered ring and make 50 minutes in pan of hot water in moderate oven. Up-mold carefully. Fill and surround with savory cream sauce (about 2 cups) with 1-2 cup nuts added. This dish combines nutrition with flavor and meal interest.

Wonders Of Alaska Revealed In Burton Holmes Lecture

Lots of Big Spring folks knew much more about Alaska today as a result of a magnificently illustrated talk on the country by Burton Holmes, first on the Community Entertainment series held Wednesday evening at the city auditorium.

A medium sized crowd heard the famous traveler draw a word picture of Alaska, bought by the United States from Russia for $7,000,000 and ridiculed at the time as "Seward's (secretary of state) Icebox."

Since then, said Holmes, Alaska has returned the United States 808 times the purchase price in revenues.

Talking while remarkably sharp color pictures were projected on the screen, Holmes carried his listeners on an imaginary voyage from Seattle, Wash.

The trip was long on scenery, striking and at times enchanting, but despite seeming repetition, Holmes managed to keep it from being tiring. Some of his views of glaciers and particularly of one glacial pool seemed like a view out of fairyland. Breath-taking were some of the pictures of Mt. McKinley, looming majestically at 20,700 feet, and the perspective on eternally frozen rivers in the wastes on an air trip from Dawson down to Skagway.

The Holmes junkie, of which most seemed to have felt they also were passengers, floated past Ketchikan, Sitka, Petersburg, Juneau, up past Nenana and to Fairbanks, then down the river to join the great Yukon and then up to dip over the Arctic circle and push against current southeastward to Dawson in the Canadian Yukon province where part of the fabulous gold rush centered. From there there was a train and rail hop down to Skagway and back home.

Holmes eschewed war talk, except to observe that it seemed a pity that it took a war to make the United States build a road to the territory which should have been built long ago.—J.P.

Officer Called In Inquiry On Rubber

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—A senate subcommittee today called an army medical officer for questioning about South American natural rubber resources in a session which Senator Thomas (D-Okla.) said he would insist be closed for "the protection of the witness."

Senator Thomas disclosed that the witness, Major Wendell S. Dove, was the man he told the committee last week had information that "all or a substantial part" of United States rubber needs could be obtained in South America.

Although the meeting was announced as an open one, Thomas said he was certain Chairman Gillette (D-Iowa) would agree to a secret session "in order to avoid any criticism of the witness by his superiors in the war department."

Major Dove, he said, returned recently after 15 years in South America.

Hollywood—Meet Bette Davis, A Very Busy Person

By BOBBEN COONS HOLLYWOOD — After the war Bette Davis' pink-and-white portable dressing room may be itself again.

All this went on while she was re-decorating her house and making a movie and studying the maps for several bond-selling tours of her own.

You won't believe it, but Sidney Lanfield swears it happened. The other morning his manager called on his "Meanest Man" set and Sidney wrote a check for $1,000—insurance policy—plus a check for Lanfield's state income tax payment.

Just before day's end, he saw a studio personage approaching. Scouting a cash collector at 50 paces, he yelled: "If you're after money, stay away! I'm cleaned!"

The gentleman whipped out a list. "What I want," he said ominously, "you've got."

"And what is that?" remanded Lanfield weakly.

"A pint of blood. Red Cross bank, you know."

FBI Doing Remarkable Job Of Rounding Up Aliens

By JACK STINNETT WASHINGTON—When the Federal Bureau of Investigation picked up more than 60 enemy aliens in Baltimore the other day, it added another note to one of the more amazing chapters of World War II.

Without any serious witch-hunting and with comparatively little publicity, the FBI and cooperating agencies have arrested more than 10,000 enemy aliens since Pearl Harbor.

Never in the history of law enforcement in this country has any similar round-up taken place. In the hysteria of World War I, such wholesale arrests would have been a prelude to riots and internal strife.

What has made the present control of fifth columnists and saboteurs possible? On the enforcement side, we can quote Hoover: "Years before Pearl Harbor, we began the careful cataloging of names and activities of persons who would fight against America rather than for America."

The FBI sent two missions to England to study police procedure under actual wartime conditions.

of or any regulation made in the interest of aiding the war effort, isn't it just as much crime against us as individuals as it is against the nation. Isn't the person who disregards these regulations harming us just as much as the next fellow, and certainly as much as the officers? And if a man deliberately violates wartime restrictions, does any man owe him the respect of withholding his name or car number from officers?

Civilian Defense and Wartime Traffic schools were being held long before December 7, last year. When war came, the "national police system" was a going concern.

Manhattan— Broadway Bonanza

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—Broadway is having a new gold rush, with Saturday night crowds comparable to those of New Year Eve's. Summer business in the night clubs and theaters was far above the average, but with the advent of fall flow of spending money has become a Niagara.

Small hotels felt the influx of spending visitors sooner, of course, but now the class hotels are filling up and getting more of that lucrative private-party business.

One of the curious things about Berlin's ballad, "I Left My Heart at the Stage Door Canteen," is that said heart was entrusted to a girl named Eileen—but to the best of anyone's knowledge, no girl named Eileen ever was a hostess at the American Theatre Wing's unusual night club for service men.

Johnny Doughboy To Get His Ham And Eggs Canned

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — The boys in the military service need not be without their accustomed ham and eggs, regardless of where their duties may take them, for H. J. Heinz company and other food concerns are canning this typical American breakfast dish in the form of army rations. This canned product is one with which the housewife has never had an opportunity to become acquainted.

Long before the war began, army quartermaster corps experts at the Chicago quartermaster depot were experimenting in the preparation of canned rations that would furnish the armed forces with balanced diets, regardless of where they might be. Flavor, as well as nutritive values, was considered.

Since the outbreak of war, chefs in the Heinz experimental kitchens and the company's food scientists and technologists have worked diligently with representatives of the quartermaster corps to devise a formula for a ration of this kind. Other food companies engaged in similar efforts. Eventually, a product known as chopped ham and eggs was found satisfactory and within a short time cans will be rolling from the filling rigs of many commercial kitchens.

Ham and eggs were never canned before. The canning of this popular dish is another example of the ability of the army quartermaster corps and the food industry to meet the requirements of global warfare. Veterans of World War I recall the hard-tack, bully beef and stew of their days on the battlefield, but the army, with the cooperation of the food industry, is giving the new warrior a more appetizing, more nutritive and a more varied diet than was available a quarter of a century ago.

tails of the events of the past twenty-four hours. Of the tall, mysterious stranger, however, she prudently said nothing.

"Egad, Kelland will be a crazy man. He adores that girl."

"Oh, Pete will find her all right," and automatically ate the food Hulda set before her.

Pete called just as she was ready to leave for the office.

"We can't find her, Julie," his voice came wearily across the wire. "Personally, I don't think they'll find her, now."

"You mean—alive?"

Pete didn't answer for a moment. "I'll tell you later. Picked up a few new angles. Will you tell Kelland as much as you think wise?" Julie drew a long breath. "Yes, of course."

"Good. See you later."

"Bye." Slowly, Julie replaced the receiver. To tell a man, already stricken, that his only child had disappeared, dead, perhaps, or even worse!

Three Juveniles Put On Probation

Three juveniles were placed on probation by County Judge Walton S. Morrison Wednesday after a complaint of raising a disturbance in the bus station was charged against the youths, none of whom was over 12 years of age.

The youngsters will be on probation until the first of the year. Every effort is being made, Judge Morrison said, by county and city authorities to keep children off the streets late at night.

35-Mile Limit Set In Texas

AUSTIN, Oct. 6 (AP)—By order of the state highway department Texas motorists must reduce maximum speed to 35 miles an hour on 23,000 miles of state arteries.

The highway commission order, issued as a result of an office of defense transportation order, will become effective as soon as signs announcing the new top speed limit replace those on which are now posted the 60-mile limit created by statute.

Under state law the highway department has authority to reduce the general 60-mile limit and the 35-mile maximum was decreed as part of the tire conservation program.

The department order affects arteries carrying 71 per cent of Texas' vehicle mileage and between 85 and 90 per cent of its ton mileage, engineers reported.

State law stipulates a 30-mile maximum in towns and cities.

Proration Hearing Called For Oct. 19

AUSTIN, Oct. 6 (AP)—The railroad commission has ordered a statewide oil and gas proration hearing for Oct. 19.

The commission will then hear evidence upon which to base production orders for November.

Five Components In Balanced Diet

Five food components are necessary in an adequate diet, the Big Spring Farm Security Administration reminded the public.

In planning meals, housewives should balance them so that a liberal amount of protein, calories, phosphorus, iron, and vitamins are included in each meal, they pointed out.

Proteins, they explained, are vital for the building and repairing of body tissues, calories and phosphorus for bones and teeth, iron for blood, and vitamins for the growth and maintenance of health.

Gasoline Stores Show A Decline

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—Total gasoline stores declined in the week ended Oct. 3 as did gas oil and distillates but residual fuel oil supplies showed an increase, the American Petroleum Institute reported today.

Total finished and unfinished stocks decreased 189,000 barrels during the week and stood at 80,361,000, compared with 80,550,000 at the end of the previous week and 79,923,000 a year ago.

Distillates, or light fuel oils, were down 195,000 barrels to 45,750,000. Last week's figure of 45,259,000 was set by the institute at 45,945,000 on a new basis. Residual, or heavy fuel oil, stocks increased 93,000 barrels to 79,036,000.

Refining companies operating at 80.8 per cent of potential capacity ran a total of 3,890,000 barrels of crude oil to stills daily, an increase of 77,000 over last week, when the percentage was 79.4 and the daily figure 3,802,000. A year ago the total was 4,082,000.

Daily average gross crude oil production in the United States decreased 224,530 barrels during the week to a total of 3,684,500, compared with 3,909,750 a year ago. Total estimated gasoline production was 11,581,000 barrels against 10,954,000 last week.

Makes It Family Affair—Ackerly Mother Now Ready To Be WAAC

With her husband and two sons gone to the army, Mrs. Maude V. Wood of Ackerly felt pretty useless as a housewife with no family to take care of, so she decided to become a member of the Woman's Army Auxiliary Corps. She is now awaiting orders to proceed to Des Moines, Iowa.

James M. Wood was the first of her sons to go and is now stationed at Brownwood in the medical division and has two stripes to his credit. Next came Tommy M. Wood, who enlisted in the air corps on the 12th of December and is "somewhere in England."

That just left Mr. and Mrs. Wood to hold down the household but Mr. Wood, who was a contractor, finally decided he ought to help too. He's Private William M. Wood now and stationed in Toledo, Ohio.

Somehow home wasn't like home after he left and Mrs. Wood decided maybe she would feel like she was doing a little something to help if she were accepted into the WAAC's. Before her marriage she had taken a business course in typing and stenography and with a little practice she felt she could do all right.

She received her o. k. from the Lubbock board on October 1st and expects to be in Des Moines soon with the woman's army training for the part "where I'm needed most." The WAAC's "will be as near to a home now as I could have," Mrs. Wood said, "and I'll feel like I'm taking chances with my boys and my husband."
