For several years the attorney general's department has held that suits must be brought in Travis county district courts.
 The supreme court declared this error, when it ruled that suits must be brought in Travis county district courts.

TWELVE OF BLACK LEGION RETURNED TO JAIL AFTER A HEARING IN COURT
 By United Press
 DETROIT, May 27.—Examination of 12 members of the Black Legion, charged with the kidnaping and murder of Charles Poole, 32, was adjourned today for six days despite objections of their attorneys.
 All were ordered returned to county jail after Judge Ralph Libby refused to entertain motions for bail.
 Wayne county prosecutor, Duncan McCrea, who is investigating reports of widespread terroristic activities of the Legion, requested the adjournment in order that his office might pursue the inquiry.
 He promised the court that "within four or five days I expect we will be able to bring other defendants into court and have a hearing for all of them at one time."
 "John Doe" warrants, charging 12 others with the murder of Poole, who "knew too much" about the inner workings of the band, have not yet been served.
 Meanwhile inquiries into the Black Legion were to be extended statewide in efforts to determine whether other mysterious deaths, tortures, bombings and arson could be attributed to the vigilante group. Today's examination called to satisfy the court the defendants should be held on charges of murder and kidnaping, brought brief testimony of only three witnesses, two relatives of the slain man and the medical examiner who performed the autopsy on his body.

'DROWNED' BOY FOUND SAFE IN RANGER HOUSE

Considerable excitement was created in Ranger Tuesday afternoon when a group of young boys, who had been swimming in a stock tank in the eastern part of the city, reported that Houston Pugh, 9, who had been swimming with them, had not returned from the swimming hole and it was feared that he had drowned.
 When the report was received a number of men gathered at the tank and grappled for the body for some time. When all grapping measures failed and those who had entered the tank failed to locate the body, the dam, which had recently been constructed to impound the water in the tank, was cut and the pond drained. When this failed to reveal the body a search was started for him in the nearby houses.
 At 9 o'clock that night the boy was located in a home in Lackland addition, where he had stopped to dry his clothing. He explained that when the other boys left, he remained in swimming for a time and got dressed to return home just as a hard downpour started. His clothing got so wet that he stopped at the house to let them dry and to wait until the rain stopped. He did not realize that any search had been conducted for him.

 At Houston, Buffalo Creek continued to rise slowly to fill its banks in the heart of the city, but all danger was believed passed.

Shelterbelt Plans Are Abandoned

By United Press
 WASHINGTON, May 27.—The $100,000,000 great plains shelterbelt project, designed to prevent deterioration of farmlands by planting a wide strip of trees from Canada to the Gulf, today was confined to the limbo of projects tried and found wanting.
 Widely acclaimed as the salvation of millions of acres of farm lands when it was proposed by President Roosevelt two years ago, the project is to be liquidated this year. The nearly $3,000,000 already spent on it is to be written off as an experimental work found impracticable.
 The program laid down by Mr. Roosevelt envisioned millions of young trees planted in a strip 100 miles wide extending through Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and into the Texas Panhandle.

Tax Payments in State Reducing Delinquent Taxes

Payment of over $3,985,400 of State and County taxes in Texas has removed the names of thousands of farmers from delinquent farm tax sales in the State to half the 1933 level, according to A. C. Williams, president of the Federal Land Bank of Houston.
 Some 28,900 Texas farmers refinanced their debts through the Federal land bank and Land Bank Commissioner since the Farm Credit Administration was organized, and in many instances, the loans included funds to pay back taxes owed by farmers to local tax authorities.
 The total amount loaned for the purpose equals an average tax payment of about $140 per farmer refinanced.
 The $3,985,400 covers tax payments in connection with $139,850,000 of land bank and Commissioner loans made in Texas from May 1, 1933 to January 1, 1936. About 2.8 per cent of this amount was used for tax payments.
 Payment of back taxes as a result of Federal land bank refinancing has provided timely assistance to the various counties to pay school teachers, county officers and meet other local government expenses.

MAYOR STATES TUESDAY, JUNE 2, IS DEADLINE

Records Given Opportunity To Pay At City Office On All Nights This Week.
 "Records at the city hall disclose increasing number of taxpayers taking advantage of their taxes before the deadline which is Tuesday, June 2, thereby saving penalty and interest which the city commission intends to add to the taxes when they are turned over to the attorneys with instructions to file suit as quickly as possible," Mayor C. W. Hoffmann announced Wednesday.
 "The city commission has decided to keep the tax collectors office at the city hall open until 9 p. m. the balance of this week, including Saturday, in order to help accommodate the taxpayers desiring to pay their taxes," Mayor Hoffmann continued.
 "The city commission met in extra session last Monday night, and some sixty tax payers met with them for the purpose of discussing their tax problems, and in each case satisfactory arrangements were made concerning their taxes. The city commission will meet again next Monday night, June 1st, at 8:00 p. m., and any tax payer having difficult problems to solve concerning their taxes will find the city commission very glad to discuss their taxes at that time."
 "Up to this time the delinquent tax payers of the city have shown their willingness to cooperate with the city commission, which is very pleasing to both the tax payer and the commission as everyone knows it is an unpleasant task to have its tax payers sued, and very few tax payers want to be sued as it adds penalty, interest, and court costs to the amount which they now owe, but the city commission is very definite in having suits filed for the collection of delinquent taxes that are not taken care of by next Tuesday, June 2nd."

War Insurance Only Half Way to Peace

If a man owned a factory and spent huge sums to pay for fire insurance, but refused to lay out a dime to remedy the defective wiring, faulty flues, and other defects...

There never has been a factory owner like that and there never will be. But mankind as a whole seems to be bent on making a very similar record in regard to the danger of war.

A current bulletin from the League of Nations association in New York illustrates the point.

The League of Nations budget for 1936 has just been revealed. During this year the league will spend slightly more than 9,237,000, all told.

Similarly, the cost of supporting the league from 1920 to the present moment is substantially less than the cost of maintaining Japanese troops in Manchukuo in 1934.

This, then, is the way the world is willing to spend for peace. For fire insurance, in the form of armies, navies and air fleets, it will pour out billions of dollars...

If there is anything logical about a world that lays out its money that way, the logic is not visible to the naked eye.

A good deal has been said lately about the "death" of the league. Certainly the league has proved unable to check the Japanese in Manchukuo, the Italians in Ethiopia, or the Germans in the Rhineland.

Unless modern civilization is to collapse utterly in the fires of war, there must be some strong, concerted action to remove war's causes and to compel adventurers to keep the peace.

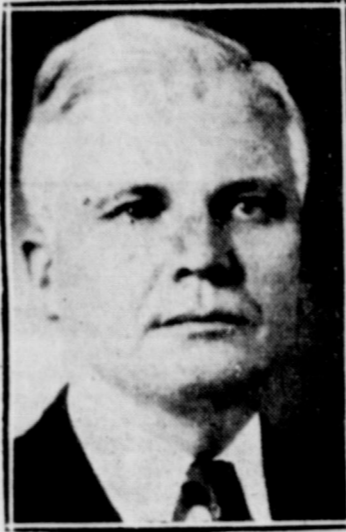

As things stand now, we are spending all our money on fire insurance and letting fire prevention take care of itself.

Petroleum Industry Paid 11 Per Cent Of Taxes Collected

HOUSTON, May 27.—The petroleum industry was instrumental in directing to government treasuries last year more than 11 per cent of all the taxes collected by nearly 200,000 different tax jurisdictions, national, state, and local.

In answer to the charge frequently heard that profits in the oil industry are too high, he pointed out that for three-quarters of a century there never has been either a protracted interruption in the downward trend of petroleum prices or in the upward trend of quality of products.

The average earnings of the oil industry between the years 1921 and 1932 were only 1.2-3 per cent, he said. In its best year during the period the industry earned less than 5 per cent.

"The petroleum industry is not objecting to bearing its fair share of the cost of any generally applied tax program," he said. "It is not complaining of the reasonable and economically administered cost of government. But it is protesting against being made, with its employees and its customers, the goat for 201 varieties of tax levies."

BEHIND THE SCENES
HERE TODAY
 GAIL, winner of the million-dollar contest, is a large costume designer for the city. Her parents are both in the fashion business. She has spent the past few years at the fashionable school for girls—due to her mother's generosity and insistence that she be properly educated. Gail goes to her office and becomes the assistant to MISS CRANSTON, an artist, over-seeing the work of the MADAME LIZETTE'S shop where she is to be employed.

She becomes interested in you or your work there isn't a thing she won't do for you.
 "Oh, I may never meet her again. It isn't likely I'll be joining the social whirl. I'm afraid my work's going to take most of my time."
 "Say, you're not going to make work the whole aim of your existence! I'm going to see to that, right Sunday. How about a little trip Sunday?"
 "I'm sorry I can't accept. I've promised to spend the week-end with some friends on Long Island."
 "That's the only way we'll get acquainted. I've just started to work with Madame Lizette."
 "Oh, Madame Lizette's! Natalie sat forward in her chair. "How ever did you manage to get in there? I hear it's awfully hard even to get an appointment with her to talk about a job! But maybe you had some pull?"
 "No," Gail replied, and then revealed the manner in which she had secured her job. "You see, after all, it was only luck," she went on, "and besides, I don't know what may happen tomorrow. It wouldn't surprise me from what I've seen at Madame's if I should lose my job any moment!"
 "You don't seem to feel very worried about it."
 "That's all right. All I've told you might be published from the house. It's been over so nice of you to stop and talk to me. Come back any time you like."
 Alone again, she summed up the other girl, "A bit nosy, but no a bad sort." Maybe they could go around some together, for undoubtedly Natalie knew the city well. Gail glanced at her traveling clock and saw that it was only half past 10. She would have time to write to Miss Cranston before turning in.
 Opening her handbag, she took out her fountain pen, sat down at the desk, and began to write "There," she exclaimed an hour later as she re-read the letter and folding it, slipped it into the envelope. "That should satisfy the dear old thing!" A wave of colored Gail's cheeks when she thought of Derek. She had never mentioned his name!

AS GAIL turned the key in the door of her room the green-eyed girl she had seen in the dining room stepped out into the hall. She glanced up and down the hall and then crossed to Gail. "I've just broken the points of my scissors," she said. "I wonder if I might borrow a pair from you for a moment or two? I'm Natalie Preston," she added, in a carefully modulated voice.
 "Of course you may! Come right in."
 "What is your work?" asked Natalie, taking a cigar from the box Gail offered her.
 "I design dresses."
 "That's interesting! I'm in the advertising line. I write special women's copy for one of the big Fifth Avenue stores. It's not bad, only you don't get around enough—I mean outside the store. And it's real slavery, for we have to work Saturdays, too. I'm trying to get into an agency. You get to know more people that way. Besides I'm fed up writing exclusively about clothes. I loathe them."
 GAIL laughed. "Then I guess you don't think much of my line?"
 "Oh, that's different. You're actually creating—not just raving about creations! Besides, if you're not until they were out that he said, "Did you notice rather unusual looking woman whom I observed as we left the restaurant?"

 "Yes, who is she?" Gail asked.
 "Mrs. Morton, the widow of one America's greatest financiers, is tremendously rich and takes interest in young painters, trying to get a start. Art's her hobby. In fact, it was the sale of a little picture of hers that set my feet on the ladder."
 "How exciting!" said Gail. "But, by Italian troops, she spoke to me in the meeting. Quickly she told me she was Mrs. Morton."
 "Well, you are having some fun. He mobility breaks, for if Mrs. Morton is by the former president's mission, was the Italian forces to prevent the men of Range and were due Wednesday in the caudification of James Horton, chairman. Also, the annual game and tennis contest tension service

FORT WORTH—Greater safety for ambulances is expected to result from new city regulations which become effective in Fort Worth May 27.
 The regulatory ordinance, once rejected by the city council, passed this week only after bitter controversy between ambulance operators and councilmen. The new rules provide that ambulance equipment must be inspected regularly by police; that drivers must have permits; and that sirens must be sounded continuously during emergency runs.
 A speed limit of 30 miles per hour on streets in residential neighborhoods. Violation of this ordinance will subject operators to fines up to $200.
 The ordinance was prompted by the death of 7-year-old Pat Morrow March 27. He was killed when an ambulance struck the automobile in which he was riding.
 Fort Arthur ambulance operators recently volunteered to reduce the speed of their vehicles as a safety precaution. Two companies will put governors on their ambulances to limit the maximum speed to 40 miles an hour. Prior to this offer drivers of both ambulances had been booked for speeding on downtown streets of Port Arthur.

WHALE CHASES FISHER

By United Press
SANTA CRUZ, Cal.—Jack Bagby, net-fishing for sardines, was chased by a 40-foot whale, but escaped. Whales and sardines frequent the bay at the same time as the small fish are one of the principal foods of whales.

BULLETINS FOR BRIDES

Unless this year is very different from other years, grocers' sales of rice will pick up during the next six weeks. Church organists will suffer occupational fatigue. Tin cans will rattle behind dignified automobiles. And a great many young couples, emerging starry-eyed from the middle aisle, will face Life together and find it full of New Problems.

They have so many things to buy, so much shopping to do, so many choices to make. Furniture, silverware, rugs and blankets . . . towels and toasters . . . soap and soup and cereals.

Fortunately for them, they go forth, budget in hand, into a world of standard values, recognized trade-marks, dependable merchandise. Familiar names, advertised names, will pass their lips naturally as they buy. They will read the advertisements more than ever now—selecting, rejecting, buying with a minimum of wasted effort and a definite assurance of value received.

The pages of this paper are full of bulletins for brides, news of the world of goods and services, short cuts to efficient housekeeping. Whether you're a 1936 bride of a 1906 bride, make it a habit to read the advertisements regularly. For the sake of time, economy and convenience, be familiar with standard values when you start out to shop.

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the State and its people. As evidence of good faith inquirers must give their names and addresses, but only their initials will be printed. Address inquiries to Will H. Mapes, Austin, Texas.

Q. What is the highest mountain peak in Texas? R. H. B. McGregor.
 A. Guadalupe Peak, Culberson county, altitude 8,500 feet. El Capitan in the same county and a few miles distant, is 8,200 feet high.

Q. When did roadside landscaping begin in Texas, and who has charge of it? T. T. L., Irving.
 A. Roadside beautification as a State highway enterprise was first suggested by Commissioner W. R. Ely, of Abilene, in 1929. The next year the Commission began preserving trees and shrubs along the roadsides. In 1933, Jac L. Gubbles, an expert landscape engineer, was placed in charge of highway beautification to direct the work for the Highway Commission.

Q. When did Spain acquire undisputed possession of Texas? R. P., Luling.
 A. France claimed Texas and all territory west of the Mississippi by right of LaSalle's discovery of the mouth of the Mississippi river in 1683. Spain disputed this, claiming ownership as a part of Mexico. France ceded Spain its claim to all these lands in 1763.

Q. Who composes the Texas Old Age Assistance Commission and when may payment of pensions be expected to begin? T. A. B., Brenham.
 A. A. W. Cunningham, Harlingen; H. T. Kimbro, Lubbock and W. O. Davis, Omaha, with Orville S. Carpenter, Austin, director. Beginning of payments has been definitely announced, but it is that will be July 1.

Exhibit to Tell Story of Pecans
COLLEGE STATION. — One hundred years of pecan development in Texas, leading pecan producing area of the world, will be portrayed in the pecan exhibit being arranged at the Centennial exposition which opens at Dallas June 6. J. F. Rosporough, extension horticulturist at A. & M. College, is actively interested in the arrangements of the exhibit.

During the period from 1836 to 1860 pecans were eaten by Indian tribes which roamed the state. In years of large production, pecans were stored in coal to keep them fresh.

The first intimation that pecans might have commercial value came in 1860 when a few shipments were made in barrels to the eastern states. In 1900 a Texan, E. E. Risen of San Saba, Texas, was the first man who budded a pecan tree. He took buds from trees that bore good nuts and budded them into trees that bore inferior nuts. Since that time pecans have become commercially important in Texas. Millions of pounds of nuts are harvested each year and shipped to other states. Texas is known as the Empire of Pecans.

In the line of jobs offering rapid promotion, to Mexican presidency seems to have given way to the Public Enemy Number One ship.

In Basingstroke, Eng., two mushrooms lifted an 83-pound block, but until some of the species can be imported, America may continue to rely upon the PWA.

ALTHOUGH Jupiter is the giant of the sun's family of planets, it never is seen as brilliantly as Venus, because it is much farther from us. It has a diameter eleven times that of the earth, yet it can be seen in daylight only under extremely favorable conditions, and then only by persons with exceptional eyesight. Venus, however, can be seen clearly in daylight, at times.

MORNING in the garden convinces me that if we'd put more imagination into our vegetable plates they'd appeal to everyone more than they do. When every vegetable tastes just like the next one it's no wonder that vegetables aren't as popular as they might be. And why should they taste alike when they're so different?

Clever seasoning will help. Spinach, Irish potatoes, eggplant and many other bland vegetables gain by the use of mushroom seasoning—mushrooms, mushroom paste or mushroom catsup.

A bit of onion or shallot is used by the French in almost every meat and vegetable dish they cook. Our onion powder makes it possible to get the taste without wasting part of an onion.

Cheese Also Seasons Well
Cheese is another seasoning that does wonders for vegetables—in sauces, grated and sprinkled over the top of the dish or right in the dish.

A fault of vegetable dinners often is that they are served lukewarm. In my kitchen philosophy, chilled dishes must be very cold and hot dishes piping hot. Arrange vegetables on a hot heat-resistant platter and finish their cooking in a slow oven. Then serve them on the same platter and they will be invitingly hot, even for second helpings.

Green peppers stuffed with a mixture of rice and cheese, buttered cauliflower and buttered green peas make a fine picture platter. If you want to serve Hollandaise sauce with the cauliflower, get the taste without boat for each person to help himself.

Stuffed Peppers
Six peppers, 3-4 cup rice, 4 cups boiling water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 small onion, 2 tablespoons butter, 1-3 pound cheese, 4 tablespoons milk, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon mustard.

Wash peppers and cut slice from stem end of each pepper. Remove seeds and white membrane. Cover with cold water, bring to the boiling point and boil five minutes. Drain and rub off thin outside covering. Add salt to boiling water and drop well washed rice slowly into water. Boil rapidly for thirty minutes and drain. Pour several quarts of boiling water through rice to separate kernels. Melt butter in a sauce pan, add onion, add milk, cheese which has been cut in small pieces, salt and mustard. Cook and stir over a low flame until smooth. Remove onions and mix cheese with rice. Fill peppers with rice mixture and sprinkle with minced parsley. Place in the center of a heat resistant platter and surround with flowerets of cauliflower which have been cooked in boiling salted water for fifteen minutes and dipped in melted butter. Arrange a border of cooked buttered peas around cauliflower and put platter in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) for thirty minutes. Send to the table on the hot platter.

NEW MANAGER IS NAMED FOR PENNEY STORE

R. S. Searls of Beaumont had assumed duties Wednesday as manager of the Eastland J. C. Penney store.

Searls succeeded George H. Hipp, manager for the store three years, who resigned.

The new manager has been connected with the Beaumont store of the Penney organization for eight years and comes highly recommended to his new post.

Searls stated he was having his household goods moved to Eastland and his family, which consists of his wife and two sons, will come when a house is located.

Hipp's plans for the future were undecided.

Hipp has been active in the Chamber of Commerce. Hipp also was a member of the Lions Club. He came here from Claremore, Okla., three years ago.

Mrs. Hipp has been a member of the Adelpian and other clubs. Experienced in the dry goods business 27 years, Hipp has been with the Penney group for ten years.

200 Cooperatives Being Formed With Resettlement Funds

DALLAS.—Four members of a Texas farm family were taken with pneumonia at the same time recently and one child died because of lack of money to provide a physician and medicine. Fifty-three families in this community are now attempting to organize a health association, with each family scheduled to pay $3 a month. Money to cover this payment for six months in advance will be applied for by them to the Resettlement Administration in the form of a loan for Community and Cooperative services. This will enable them to retain the services of a physician and to make a contract with a druggist to furnish medical supplies at a fixed rate per month.

This is one of 207 cooperatives of various kinds being formed since the Resettlement Administration announced recently that it had a fund of almost half a million dollars for Texas and Oklahoma, for lending to low-income farmers who desired to establish cooperative enterprises, or to join cooperative enterprises already established. One hundred twenty-two applications had been received on May 20 for such associations in Texas and 85 in Oklahoma. Loans can be made only to families now receiving loans from the Resettlement Administration or to other families who are not able to obtain such services in any other manner. However, some of these services may be extended to persons not included in the above mentioned low-income group. For instance, a low-income farmer may purchase a pure-bred sire or farm machinery and agree with neighbors, regardless of their financial status, to let them use the service at a scheduled rate. Most of the groups planning to use these services include both the low-income farmers and others, but the actual loan must be made to one of the low-income group. Applications should be made to the county supervisor or settlement Administrator not directly to the county supervisors for information and they are charged with the duty of making the application and submitting the state office for the 207 applications to May 20 in Texas to cover the 14 following pure-bred sires, cotton chinery, pea and peanut harvesting combines, tillage machinery, baling machinery, feed mills, row plants, blacksmith shops, hateries, shops in cooperative erative health assoc-
