

that reminds me...

Passion costs too much to bestow it upon every trifle. Therefore, it is said unto you, make it count. . . wholesome . . . and of good value. Because understanding and a dual mind upon the controversies of life . . . can linger on as long as affectionately.

Listening to some political speeches and reading some literature in the campaigns for power in these times that might be bestowed on trifles at a great cost to our interests and welfare. Macanone said, "A politician must not talk and act before he has thought and read. He may be very informed respecting a question and an opponent; all his notions are but a mass of unorganized and unincorporated facts; but speak he must. And if he is a man of ability, of tact, and of intrepidity, he soon finds that, under such circumstances, it is possible to speak successfully.

We who are in the throes of a political runoff campaign are vitally interested in the business good government and who shall represent us more than we are in the voices of opinions, as Whipple says, "A politician weakly and ably in the right is no match for a politician tenaciously and ably in the wrong. You may, by tying an opinion to a politician's tongue, make him the representative of that opinion; and at the close of any battle for principle his name will be found neither among the dead nor among the wounded, but among the missing."

There has been some question as to why certain interests who are against the Hon. Ernest O. Thompson six years ago are now raising the state in his behalf. Ernest O. Thompson has proven worth and that he was the foremost candidate who could convince the most skeptical that he could be elected. He did, and he was again elected. . . Eastland has much to gain by the election of Thompson. . . so the state in general in the eyes as Railroad Commissioner for him.

It is a good thing sometimes to avoid popularity. . . it has its snares and no real benefit. It is such a thing as making it to one's head, thereby defeating every purpose of real service.

Eastland chalked up a record in hot weather Monday morning until late at night around 2 p. m. the wind died. . . but it was hot as the sun. . . A slight falling of raindrops in the late morning gave a few moments of relief. . . but not for long. . . morning didn't give any sign the Arctic ice box door flew open. . . rather more that the door of Hades was left by the little devils who use pitchforks so conveniently. We picked this up. "A traffic man stopped a woman with a child in a traffic jam. He got over and said: "Don't you know what I mean when I hold up my hand?" She answered, "I know, I have been a school teacher for 25 years."

One of the finest sentiments we have ever seen or heard was the instance of the deputy under the veteran sheriff of Fort Worth and this section, when they innocently, without fuss or frills told one of their members to succeed to their beloved. That is truly perfect hard and will react to the great of Tarrant county and its citizenship. A. B. Carter could feel that he could truly revere the memory of the 12 apostles.

In Wesley, founder of Methodism, said, "Tell me how it is that in a room there are three candles but one light, and I will tell you the mode of Divine grace."

TEXAS GROUP GETS PROMISE OF PWA WORK

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The Texas Planning Board, representing dozens of counties and municipalities, presented today to President Roosevelt an appeal that Texas be included in the list of those receiving PWA projects. The group claims that Texas was left off the list because it was reported that no skilled or semi-skilled labor was available. In a resolution requesting modification of existing orders and in a letter from Governor Allred, it was pointed out that there are about 27,000 skilled and semi-skilled workers available. The group left the White House encouraged and with the understanding that Texas would not be left off.

OFFICERS MAKE GOOD SPEED TO CATCH A THIEF

A car was stolen in Mineral Wells at eleven o'clock Monday night and 55 minutes later the car was recovered and the driver was in the Ranger city jail. Patrolmen Pledger and Boyd received a telephone call from the resort city at 11:35 stating that a 1936 Chevrolet had been stolen, that apparently the car thief was their station along the highway in the police car and waited. Within a few minutes a car answering the description sped by and the officers took up the chase. Near the underpass southeast of town near the city limits, they overtook the car and halted it. The car was making 72 miles an hour when it was overtaken, the officers reported. The woman who was driving the car, and who said she was on her way to California, was placed in the city jail, just 20 minutes after the call was received and before morning had been turned over to Mineral Wells officers. The owner of the car, who lived in Louisiana, accompanied the officers and returned it to Mineral Wells. Blanton, Judge Garrett Further Their Campaigns

ANSON, Aug. 11. — Clyde L. Garrett, county judge of Eastland county who led the ticket in the July primary for congressman from the 17th district, addressed to approximately 500 persons here Monday night an appeal for votes in his run-off fight with Congressman Thomas L. Blanton. Judge Garrett, introduced by County Judge Omar Burleson of Jones county, referred to several charges he said Judge Blanton had made against him and made some of his own. "Regarding Blanton's charge that my headquarters in Eastland are owned by the utilities company I want to inform you they are owned by J. E. Lewis, Ham McRae, Walter Gray, Mrs. D. Johnson, Mrs. John D. McRay, Joe Weaver and Dr. Caton." Quoting from a newspaper headline Garrett read "Blanton denies lobbyist dined with him." "Bob Hainey was attorney for the West Texas Utilities company," Garrett declared. "And Blanton said he paid for his lunch in Washington. That made it more evident than ever he was friendly to the utilities and as Hainey is speaking for Blanton now and was a utility lawyer Blanton still must be friendly to them." In regard to the declaration by his opponent that Garrett is afraid to meet him in debate, the Eastland man said "Blanton says if I am elected I will have to debate 435 congressmen. Blanton says only 50 men in congress know what it is all about. That leaves about 385 who will be offended by the statement. I'm sure the 435 are against my opponent when he speaks."

Garrett was the "undercover" candidate of the Townsend forces from the beginning of the campaign, that the Texas Electric Service company, a subsidiary of Electric Bond and Share, had discharged Sam Newcomb, an Eastland employ, just before the July primary because he was the only one of 60 employes not for Garrett and denial of charges made by Garrett as to Blanton's property tax reductions and ownership of property were included. Blanton said in conclusion: "You took several thousand votes away from me, Clyde, by disseminating falsehoods about me, and you won't dare meet me in debate before the people for me to correct them, but if I can get my record and yours before the people I have no fear of the result in the August 22 primary."

SAN ANTONIO—Keynoting the republican state convention, Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls, appealed to delegates today to "press forward not for spoils of public office, but for the welfare of the whole people." Bullington, temporary chairman and one time candidate for governor, advocated a sales tax as "the only system under which the consumer knows when and where he pays taxes." We could better afford to pay pensions to every person reaching 65, regardless of his need, than to continue to support, as we are doing today, the bureaucratic leeches who are taking the bread from the mouths of the needy aged, he asserted.

AUSTIN—The state convention of the union party met here today as several delegations wired temporary chairman R. S. Mayhall of Austin that their arrival would be delayed. Ghosts Of Vimy Ridge Do Not Seek Our Pity

Those two pylons that rise toward the sky along the green slopes of Vimy Ridge were dedicated by the King of England, and a great crowd stood in silence to hear his eloquent tribute to the heroes whom the pylons commemorate.

Yet this memorial, like all World War memorials, becomes more than a record of great heroism and painful sacrifice, when you think about it a little. It is both exclamation point and question mark; a reminder that human beings on this earth must stand or fall together, all of them, and a repetition of the wistful, unanswerable "Why?" which the great war continues to provoke.

It is a strange and tragic thing, when you stop to ponder it, that this gigantic memorial should rise on a hillside in France to honor the last sacrifice of 60,000 young Canadians.

The very pick of the earth's young manhood, they were, those Canadians. If you close your eyes you can see them—tall, brown as Indians, gay with that peculiar tough and impudent gaiety of the new world, rangy and vital as befits sons of their great Dominion.

Ghosts, now, all of them—gone to join the shadows, along with the fair-haired young Saxons and Bavarians and Brandenburgers whom they fought so desperately for temporary possession of that hill.

And you cannot pass them in review before your mind's eye without thinking how strange it was that a dispute born in the middle of Europe could call all of those young Canadians across the Atlantic to die.

What has a young rancher in Alberta to do with the quarrels of close-packed Europe? What have the endlessly involved problems of overseas imperialism to do with the forests of Quebec, or the streets of Toronto, or the mountains of British Columbia, that they should call 60,000 boys away to die?

To ask those questions is to hear the answer; those things have everything to do with young Canadians—and young Americans, too, for that matter. For the world has somehow grown small, of late, and one man's trouble is all men's concern nowadays. If things go badly on the plains of Manchuria, the Louisiana farmer and the Montreal shop-keeper will ultimately feel the effects. No man lives to himself alone, in this modern world. Injustice and stupidity are the concern of all men everywhere; the fate of mankind is one fate, and none of us can evade his due share.

But even when we have learned that lesson, the Vimy Ridge pylons raise a question. What about those 60,000 boys, as individuals. They were, and now they are not; they answered the loyalty and the bravery that was in them and got killed for it; where are they now—and is it well with them?

For our answer to that, we can only go to our ancient faiths and to the blind and enduring confidence of our own hearts; the confidence which says that the man who gives up his life for a gain not his own has somehow, in spite of all logic, done well for himself.

There was not the usual attendance for Sunday school, which was attributed to the extremely hot weather.

Former Eastland Woman Visiting Here

Mrs. M. A. Kemp, of Shively, California, well known in Eastland as Myrtle House when she lived in this city eight years ago, is, with her daughter Marian, and son, Frank, on a round of visits to Eastland and Olden friends.

She has been entertained in the homes of Mrs. George Parvin, Mrs. Winnie Sue, and Mrs. Johnny Hart.

Upon her return from Olden, in a day or so, Mrs. Kemp and children will spend a week with Mrs. Hart.

Martha Dorcas Class Interesting Lesson

The Martha Dorcas class of the Sunday school of the Methodist church heard an unusually interesting lesson on current subjects, from ninth chapter of Acts, verses one to nine, and seventeen to nineteen, brought by the class teacher, Mrs. C. C. Robey, who opened the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. C. W. Hoffman, out of town for the day.

Hymns ensemble, "Footsteps of Jesus," and "Stand Up For Jesus" were led by Mrs. Roy Stokes, with Mrs. C. J. Germany at piano, and closed prayer by Mrs. E. C. Satterwhite.

The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. W. B. Collie.

Mrs. Robey, in discussion of the lesson topic, "After Conversion, What?" emphasized that Paul's conversion was the turning point in his life and caused him to take up his real life's work.

That something deeper within ourselves than a mere sense of duty, must motivate our life to make it a success.

In the business period Mrs. W. E. Coleman, chairman for hostesses for next class party, requested a committee meeting of all hostesses for past several months in a combined committee meet, of which she will notify them later of time and place.

Present: Mrs. Howard Brock, H. C. Davis, A. A. Edmondson, C. J. Germany, W. B. Harris, Mack O'Neill, J. Atchley, E. C. Satterwhite, Roy Stokes, Jack Dwyer, W. E. Coleman, W. B. Collie, C. C. Robey.

WHEN GOOD FELLOWS GET TOGETHER

It's always fair weather when fair fishermen get together. Vice Pres. John Nance Garner, left, beams a conclusion to the tale of his four-pound catfish that didn't get away while Col. Ernest O. Thompson, center, strokes his chin in doubt. To the right Gov. James V. Alfred respectfully listens while he thinks up one to tell. It all happened on the lawn at the governor's mansion where the vice president and Mrs. Garner spent Tuesday night en route to Dallas to be feled Wednesday at the Texas Centennial.

Burrettes' Game At Fort Worth Is Week's Third Win

The Eastland girl's team, formerly Burrettes, won their third game of the week Saturday night when they took an extra inning thriller from the widely touted Williamson-Dickie team of Fort Worth. This team is leading the league in the Major City Girl's League in Fort Worth.

On the night before the Burrettes had played the Breckenridge Advertisers at Breckenridge and by a last inning splurge pulled the game out of the fire. In this game, going into the last inning trailing by one run, Edith Rosenquest teed off with a single, Coleman filed to short for the first out, Hart fanned for number two and then Blythe, Mitchell and Hale singled to produce three runs before Fry filed out to first for the last out.

Saturday afternoon they braved the hot sun and wind to drive to Fort Worth to play the Williamson-Dickie team on the newly opened softball field at Forrest Park. The long hot drive evidently had its effect on the team for several pitchers, in hot water several times, but by steady pitching and commendable courage she managed to stave off the enemy until the last of the seventh, when the Williamson-Dickies came to bat with the score 6 to 3 against them and made 3 runs without a hit.

With the score tied the game went into extra innings. Blythe opened the eighth with a single and was forced at second by Walsh, she was safe at first. Mitchell singled over first base, Pee Wee popped to the catcher and then Butch Fry, who had already made a single and a triple, lifted one out over the right fielder's head to drive both runners in ahead of her as she circled the bases. Williamson-Dickie almost tied it up in their half when 2 errors, a walk, a hit and a fielder's choice produced two runs.

A return game has been promised the Burrettes team in the near future.

The party will be on a two weeks motor tour visiting different points in Mexico.

Dreaded Disease May Hit Ft. Worth

By United Press FORT WORTH — Dangers of silicosis, the dread lung disease which sent scores of West Virginians miners to their deaths, may lurk in the stone dust of Fort Worth industrial plants.

Dr. Car. A. Nau, director of the State Health Department's new industrial hygiene division, and Gay V. Carroll, chemist, are here to find out.

Samples of dust from stone industry plants and workshops are being collected by Carroll. They will be analyzed in state laboratories to determine if the dust is a health hazard to workers.

Garage Apartments Banned for State University Men

By United Press AUSTIN — Experience has led the University of Texas to frown upon garage apartments for students. A rule against them will be enforced strictly next term. Arno Nowotny, assistant dean of men, expects the rule to lighten this work of keeping morals straight.

"More than 90 per cent of the disciplinary cases that arise out of immorality or improper conduct can be traced directly back to garage apartments," Dean Nowotny said.

Nowotny asked that no landlord rent such an apartment to undergraduate men students unless the students had secured a special written permit from the office of the dean of men.

"A serious minded student who wishes uninterrupted study or more privacy will have no trouble in securing the written permit from the dean's office," Nowotny said. "Past figures show that persons living in such places have a definitely lower scholastic average. This indicated that immature men students need the restraining influence of an approved house or dormitory."

Approximately 5,500 men students attend the university. Of this number more than 1,000 live in dormitories or fraternities; about the same number from Austin families, and the rest live in approved rooming houses and private homes. On the approved list at present are 1,575 rooming houses and private homes.

"There are many types of parents," Dean Nowotny said, "but none of them would approve of their children living in an apartment and sacrificing study for drinking parties and improper moral pursuits."

A Noted Rector Disputes Evolution

By United Press MONTREAL — The theory evolution was denounced as a "conspiracy to rob the world of faith in God" by Rev. Dr. D. Hart-Davies, noted Scottish rector in a lecture here.

Dr. Hart-Davies, who is rector of St. Thomas Episcopal Church in Edinburgh, declared that P. L. Cantropus was only created out of the crown of a skull and bone that might easily have belonged to another creature altogether.

"It is a rotten philosophy, they without any real foundation," he said. "No scientist attempt to demonstrate evolution by actual experiment."

"If there were any truth in the theory the world would be full of creatures, one-fifth man and four-fifths chimpanzee."
