

Controls Off Air Travel, Construction

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—All controls came off construction and airplane travel today as the nation entered its third month of peace.

Lifting of WPB's ban on expected to stimulate business source of jobs for the country's rising total of unemployed.

It came as reconversion officials voiced general satisfaction with the progress thus far made while cautioning at the same time that the upsurge of labor strife would delay the back-to-normal process.

From official and unofficial quarters came these forecasts of future trends and actions:

Wages—Labor wants a 30 per cent increase to offset loss of overtime. Official sentiment is growing for federal approval of a rise of perhaps 15 per cent but this plan so far lacks White House blessing.

Prices—Such a wage boost necessarily would increase price levels by 3 or 4 per cent. Mean-time OPA is holding the line, insisting on 1942 retail prices for most goods coming back on the market.

Strikes—Failure to date in settling critical oil and coal emergencies has spurred demands for some peacetime dispute-handling machinery.

Food—Meat rationing probably will continue after November 1, OPA officials believe no improvement seen in sugar soon.

Clothes—Supplies in stores improving, but WPB is investigating the lag in its low-cost garment program. Shoes may go off rationing November 1, if production rises, but so far output has not jumped as expected. Nylons already appearing occasionally in big cities' stores.

Hard goods—Washers, radios and the like arriving in ample quantities. Major auto companies in production or near it, but threatened with strikes. Sales control over refrigerators lifted—find one and you can buy it.

National Housing Divides Payments In Lieu Of Taxes

National Housing Authority began Monday the distribution of more than $5,000 in payments to schools, counties, cities and other political subdivisions in lieu of taxes.

Ken Barnett, area supervisor, make the first payment to the Big Spring Independent School district in the amount of $1,720, less three per cent for October payment. He followed with $533.20 for the county, also subject to the early payment discount.

On eight projects under Barnett's supervision, payments will local school district and county local school district and county total $2,253.20. Since the Ellis Homes project here is outside the corporate limits, the city did not share in the payments.

Federal Projects Housing Authorities are now maintained in Seminole, Andrews and Denver City under immediate management of Curtis Choate, said Barnett. Other projects and managers are: San Angelo, Mrs. Mildred Dennig; Midland, Nell Loran; Sweetwater, LaVada Lanier; Big Spring, Mrs. Margaret Hoelsworth, who is to leave soon.

The Colorado City project currently is inoperative. Of the total 321 units active under Barnett's jurisdiction, 171 are in the Ellis Homes project, which to date has maintained a record of no vacancies.

Synthetic Plant To Resume Operations

BEAUMONT, Oct. 13 (AP)—"Charging up" operations will begin at the Firestone synthetic rubber plant at Port Neches tomorrow morning and production crews have been notified to report for work at the time, H. Koehler, Jr., superintendent of the rubber plant, said tonight.

Full production will not be reached until Monday night and capacity production probably will not be attained this month because the government quota of synthetic rubber is not large enough to require capacity operation, Mr. Koehler said.

WLB Future Role Topic Of White House Confab

Truman Gives No News To Officials As He Invites Them In

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—President Truman today summoned the entire War Labor Board to a conference at the White House on the board's future role in the formation of wage policy and in labor disputes.

Secretary of Labor Schwelienbach and Reconversion Director John W. Snyder also were invited.

The board had planned to send a delegation of six, but the president sent word in advance of the meeting (11 a. m., CST) that he wanted to talk with the full membership. He gave no inkling as to what plans he had for the board, which has been arranged to dissolve about mid-December.

Mr. Truman earlier had said that he wanted to liquidate the WLB as quickly as possible, but the present management-worker unrest may have caused him to change his mind.

The WLB members may be asked to fashion a postwar wage formula similar to its wartime "Little Steel" yardstick. Ross said Secretary of Labor Schwelienbach and Reconversion Director John W. Snyder also were asked to the meeting.

The group summoned to the White House was led by Acting Chairman Lloyd K. Garrison, former University of Wisconsin law dean who succeeded Chairman George W. Taylor. The latter left the government Friday due to what he thought was the imminence of WLB's liquidation, to write a dissertation on the "Little Steel" formula.

Taylor wrote that decision in the "Little Steel" wage case during the war. It later was made to apply to all wartime wages. It limited basic increases to 15 per cent above the rates prevailing Jan. 1, 1941.

Secretary of Labor Schwelienbach is among those believed to favor reviving WLB to process quickly a parcel of reconversion disputes in order to match up all such decisions in a post-war wage pattern.

"I believe that we should not today prejudice to this extent the tax needs of 1947," Vinson laid down two guiding principles in considering tax cuts. The first was that reductions must be limited because of continuing large expenditures which he said will continue "high for many months to come."

Vinson's second point: "The basic objective of tax adjustments at this time is to put us on the high road of peacetime full employment and maximum production. From the taxpayers angle, a large tax is easier to pay with a high income than is a small tax with a low income."

Scout Council To Honor B. Reagan

B. Reagan will be honored by the Boy Scout executive council with a birthday dinner Thursday, Oct. 18 at 7 p. m. in the Settles. He will celebrate his 78th birthday Oct. 20.

Reagan has been in Boy Scout work for 34 years and for 15 years served as an executive board member on the local council, also has been a member of the national executive board from this area. He is one of the few men to receive the Silver Beaver award for outstanding work in scouting in this area.

The program will be given by Rev. Dick O'Brien, Judge James T. Brooks, Shine Phillips, G. W. Debnay, Charles Paxton and music will be presented by the Gully Junipers.

Any ex-members of Troop One and close friends are invited to attend and are asked to telephone the CC office for reservations as soon as possible. Plates cost $1.50.

Reservations Due For Volmer Dinner

Big Spring men planning to attend the dinner in honor of W. G. Volmer, president of the Texas & Pacific Railway company, Oct. 23 are asked to call the chamber of commerce office and make reservations early.

A turkey dinner has been planned and a definite number needs to be known before plans can be completed. The meal will be served at 7 p. m. in the Settles hotel ballroom.

Used For Bayonet Practice

By DUANNE HENNESSY
TOKYO, Oct. 15 (AP)—The use of live Allied prisoners of war as bayonet practice targets, while Allied officers were forced to look on, has been fully established, General MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

The new record of atrocity was developed by the secret Allied translation and interrogation section of the Allied headquarters which worked through the war interviewing Japanese prisoners and sorting documents seized in battle zones.

One of the worst of the bayonet practice atrocities occurred on Guadalcanal where two Europeans and one Eurasian were used as practice targets while Allied officers were forced to stand in line and watch for six and a half hours while the three were horribly mutilated and tortured by the stabbing, jabbing Nipponese, the announcement said. Enlisted prisoners periodically were paraded past the scene so they could see the death agonies of the three.

The translated diary of a Japanese officer gave full details of the horrible scene.

Similar instances, in which Chinese prisoners were used as targets, were disclosed by the questioning of Superior Private Tokuhashi Nakino, who told ATIS agents after his capture that during basic training in China his company was provided with live Chinese prisoners on which to practice.

Demobilization Of Japan On Schedule

By RUSSELL BRINES
TOKYO, Oct. 15 (AP)—Japan slipped quietly and with mingled feelings into military oblivion today as its demobilization was completed on schedule, and for the first time in history these islands held no combat military force, either in fact or in name.

The fighting force of 7,000,000 soldiers and sailors at home and abroad was reduced to nothing.

With the exit of the defeated, discredited warlords, Japanese political leaders stepped onto the national stage to put into effect a list of democratic principles prescribed by Allied headquarters.

Prince Fumimaro Konoye, one of Emperor Hirohito's close advisors, said in an interview that "his majesty is anxious that revisions be made" in the constitution to bring about the reforms decreed by headquarters.

Konoye, who was boomed as the head of a new political party, added that constitutional revisions under consideration would curb Hirohito's almost unlimited power over his 77,000,000 subjects and give the diet some supervision over expenditures of the imperial household.

Japan's incubator of imperialistic schemes since 1878, the imperial general staff headquarters, was dissolved formally yesterday and the general staff went out of office today, in accord with Potsdam declaration terms.

The once proud and powerful army and navy ministries continued to do business but merely as "ministries for demobilization."

Allied headquarters announced that General MacArthur would broadcast to the United States at 8 a. m. tomorrow (5 p. m. today, Central Standard Time) on "military phases of the occupation."

Only a few thousand men remained in active service as Japanese soldiers and sailors. Their job was to finish turning over equipment to the American occupation force, clearing of minefields and processing of service men returning from overseas.

Nearly 4,000,000 officers and men, including 1,300 navy personnel, have been demobilized in the home islands. A total of 3,800,000 in both services overseas are returning home in dribbles.

British Dock Workers May Return To Jobs Pending Negotiation

LONDON, Oct. 15 (AP)—A high ranking union official said today that Britain's thousands of striking dock workers probably would return to their jobs Thursday and end a three-week walkout that paralyzed and threatened a cut in meager British rations.

All but a few strikers in London voted to resume work pending negotiation of their wage demands.

Jack Donovan, national secretary of the dock section of the Transport and General Workers Union, said their decision probably would be adopted by strikers elsewhere.

The strikers have been demanding a $5 a day wage, compared with the present daily wage of $3.90.

Van Mook Offers To Make Peace With Java Rebels

BATAVIA, Java, Oct. 15 (AP)—Dr. Hubertus Van Mook, lieutenant governor of the Dutch East Indies, acted today to quell uprisings which imperilled one of the richest colonial empires in the world and offered to negotiate a truce with Indonesian rebel leaders.

Aneta, official Dutch news agency, quoted Dr. Van Mook as stating that he was willing to meet with leaders of all groups in Indonesia, including Soekarno, self-styled president of the "Indonesian republic."

(In a dispatch from The Hague, Aneta said that A. W. L. Tjarda Van Starckenborgh Stachouwer had resigned as governor general because he was "unable to be the bearer of the government policy" in the Indies. He arrived in The Hague early last month, after being liberated from a Japanese prison camp.)

(A Reuters dispatch quoting Batavia reports said 50,000 Dutch women and children had been "surrounded by wildly excited Indonesians in the area of Batavia and were completely cut off from Allied forces." The dispatch added that the natives "are said to be inspired by the Japanese.")

(An authoritative source in London said the British government had agreed to "make ships available" to rush Dutch troops from Europe to Java.)

New outbreaks were reported from the interior of Java, as armed rebel bands closed upon this city. Acting to maintain order, British Maj. Gen. D. C. Hawthorn, Allied commander, invoked a death penalty in Batavia for looting, sabotage, the bearing of arms, or refusal to surrender arms.

Indonesian nationalists ordered a general work stoppage in Batavia.

Aneta said Dr. Van Mook told a press conference that Holland would keep a 1942 pledge to give the Indies freedom in internal affairs within the Dutch commonwealth.

Bloody skirmishes were reported from widely separated areas as the insurgent nationalists implemented what they called "a Mohammedan holy war against the Dutch infidels."

Indonesian headquarters ordered seizure of all private property—corporate or individual—throughout Java.

Three Fires Reported In Prevention Week

Two car fires Saturday brought the total of fires during National Fire Prevention Week to three, show fire reports.

On the first day of the observance Sunday, Oct. 7, a gasoline pump burned and on Saturday, the last day of the observance, an automobile caught fire from a leaking carburetor at 6:15 p. m. at Rainbow Inn.

A gasoline transport truck had a close call when one of the tires caught fire after being run flat east of Cossden. The mishap occurred at 11:15 p. m. Saturday.

Four more contributions pushed the high school Bible fund near its minimum goal of $2,000 Monday. The total now stands at $1,965.86, exclusive of church gifts toward a sustaining fund.

Latest contributors are J. B. Pickle $10, Lou Baker $10, Girdner Electric $10, Mary Martha Sunday School class of the Wesley Methodist church, $18.25.

Sentenced Traitor's Poison Attempt Fails

PARIS, Oct. 15 (AP)—Pierre Laval was executed as a traitor to France today after failing to cheat the firing squad by swallowing poison.

The man who collaborated with the Germans as chief of government in old Marshal Petain's Vichy regime died from a coup de grace, fired through his ear, when a volley from the firing squad did not kill him.

Doctors restored the swarthy traitor from effects of poison taken four hours earlier. He was led to the courtyard of the bleak old Fresnes prison and died with a cry of "Vive la France" on his lips.

He was refused a final request to give the order for his own death to the executioners.

Laval refused a proffered blindfold and faced his executioners. These were his last words: "It is not the soldiers' fault. They know not what they do. Vice la France!"

The twelve riflemen fired. Laval fell only to his knees.

An officer rushed up immediately, aimed his revolver into Laval's ear and fired. The coup de grace dispatched Laval at 12:32 p. m. and he fell dead into the dirt of the courtyard.

The man who before the war had thrice been premier of France and a dozen times a member of her cabinets was condemned by the high court of justice last week—the same court which condemned former Marshal Petain and Joseph Barnand, the head of the Vichy militia.

It was not the first time Laval had felt the steel of a bullet. While leading the Vichy government, he was wounded and almost killed by a youthful assassin. Laval testified during the trial of Marshal Petain that the wounds from that attempt still bothered him.

A coffin lay near the spot where Laval had pitched forward in death. The body was placed in it swiftly and loaded into a hearse.

Three official cars bearing the prefect of police, the attorney general and the local police commissioner accompanied the hearse from the gates of the prison.

The little procession went to nearby Thiais cemetery and there Laval's coffin was lowered into the ground, close to the grave of Darnand.

Next to Laval's plot was a grave marked: "Here lies an unknown collaborator."

Grave diggers immediately began covering Laval's coffin with dirt. About 25 spectators watched silently.

The grave was left unmarked. It was believed, however, that his family will be given the right to move the body or place a tombstone over it.

No medical report was released immediately concerning the exact condition of Laval when he was executed. Two men had supported him on his last walk to face the firing squad.

Doctors worked on Laval with a stomach pump for two hours before the decision was made to proceed with the execution.

US To Recognize Austrian State

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—The United States announced today that it is now prepared to recognize the provisional government of Austria.

Austria lost its independence to Nazi Germany in March 1938 and has not had a fully qualified independent government since.

Today's action, disclosed by the state department, emphasizes that this government wants the full authority of the administration of Chancellor Karl Renner at Vienna established over the whole of the little country despite the fact that it is now chopped up into Russian, British, American and French zones of occupation.

Announcement of readiness to recognize the present regime leaves only a few mechanical steps, such as an exchange of ambassadors, to restore relations between Vienna and Washington to a normal diplomatic basis. This evidently will now be carried forward very rapidly.

Only 21 Of Grid Great Have Come Thru Unscathed

By MURRAY ROSE NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—The dwindling list of unbeaten major football teams will get another pruning next Saturday when such undefeated powers as Ohio State and Purdue and Alabama and Tennessee clash in conference competition.

Only 21 of the gridiron great have unmarred records today after several shockers last weekend saw Cornell, Tulane, Southern California, Texas A. & M., Florida and Washington State go down to defeat for the first time.

Princeton defeated Cornell 14-6; Rice beat Tulane 13-7; San Diego Naval, which was beaten several weeks ago by UCLA, walloped Southern California, 33-6; Louisiana State conquered Texas A. & M., 31-12; Vanderbilt blanked Florida 7-0 and Washington subdued Washington State 6-0.

Penn State also suffered its first licking but the Nittany Lions weren't hoping to do anything but hold Navy's score down. The Middies, minus the services of the injured Clyde Scott and Bob Jenkins, looked far from impressive in their 28-0 conquest. Navy's attack bogged down at crucial moments and similar lapses might prove fatal.

Notre Dame threw in 50 players in an effort to hold the score down to 34-0 against Dartmouth and probably will do the same against the classless Pitt Panthers who lost another to Michigan State, 12-7.

Ohio State and Purdue sharpened up for their Big Ten contest by blanking Wisconsin (12-0) and Iowa (40-0) respectively. Minnesota's Gophers, looking ahead to their tilt with Northwestern, nosed out Fort Warren's Broncos, 14-0.

Tennessee prepared for Alabama by beating Chattanooga 30-0 and Georgia, which may have Charley Trippi throwing against LSU, pasted Kentucky 48-6.

Other unbeaten big elevens included: East-Columbia, which came from behind to defeat Yale 27-13; Pennsylvania, 49-0 winners over North Carolina; Holy Cross, which defeated Villanova Sunday, 26-7; and Temple's Owls who massacred Bucknell 64-0 under the lights Friday night.

Looking Em Over

With ANGUS LECESTER

Odessa football supporters can claim, without much fear of argument, that their own J. W. Thompson is District Three's outstanding back this year.

However, referring to the one-man gang as the top hand in the sport in all West Texas is certain to be critically debated by Pecos as a member of the teams that have had occasion to bump into Pecos this semester.

Bourboned is their privilege to protest delivery of the accolade to the Odessa ace, for there's a wave of destructionavoring in the Pecos secondary who hasn't yet been stopped.

Unsung for the simple reason that he has no high powered press campaign behind him, this young man is nonetheless creating quite a name for himself by letting his deeds speak for themselves.

He is John Medanich, a brother to TCU's famed Frank Medanich, and the things he's done to opposing teams this year shouldn't happen to Ikky Ikato.

Against Kermit last Friday night, the twinkle-toed ace made three touchdowns as his team rolled to a 31-6 triumph.

One of his excursions covered 90 yards, another 60, and another 40. He breaks away at the least unexpected time, for he is given very little blocking to speak of and has to carry most of his eleven's offensive load, himself.

Against Fort Stockton, all Medanich did was get loose three times, twice on runs of 30 yards or more. Another pay-off sprint was called back because of an infraction of the rules.

Southwest Conference Teams Open Family Row; Steers Face Porkers

Breaking even in intersectional strife through an expected gift from the Rice Owls, the Southwest conference swings full speed into its family row this week. Four teams—Rice, Southern Methodist, Texas and Texas A. & M.—play their first conference games.

Texans staged a garrison finish to beat Oklahoma 12-7 last week and thus is the only undefeated eleven left in the conference. The Longhorns finally shook off the injury shackles and showed a fine football team to 45,000 fans at Dallas.

Arkasans, riding high after a victory over Texas Christian, ran into all sorts of trouble at Waco Saturday and thus was tumbled from its perch as the youthful Golden Bears plastered on a 23-13 defeat.

Amarillo Collides With Broncs In Feature Prep Clash Friday

Associated Press Sports Editor Emphasis goes on conference play this week in Texas schoolboy football but none of the games rival a couple of interdistrict battles between four of the state's powers in general interest.

Marshall's Mavericks, traveling an unbeaten trail in East Texas, meet Highland Park's Scotties, big guns of the north, in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas Friday night.

These are the only games matching undefeated, untied teams but conference tilts in three districts have prime sectional interest.

Wichita Falls 'Coyotes, none too impressive last week in beating Graham's four-time losers 19-12, cash with the team they fear above all others in District 2—Electra.

In the Fort Worth district North Side meets Amon Carter-Riverside in a contest due to count heavily in the championship race.

Big gun of the Bulldog machine, pounder with a lot of power. No. 9 is Dunny Goode, a 150-pounder with a lot of power. Goode, who can be identified by the large No. 8 he wears on his jersey, also handed the Sweetwater club a Mickey Finn.

Dunny is given ample co-operation in the Midland secondary by Bobby Drake, Bobby Cole and Bill Hightower. Hightower is the heaviest member of that quartet, carrying 155 pounds.

The Steers emerged from the Tornado tussle in fairly good physical trim and all the regulars are expected to be ready to operate Friday.

So Laval finally has collected the wages of sins. One might wish that his trial hadn't been surrounded by such emotional scenes, but there will be few who believe he wasn't guilty as charged.

I met and interviewed Laval in pre-war days when he was at the height of his power, politically and financially. The first task of a reporter in doing an interview is to size up his man, and my immediate impression was that Laval was a "bad un."

The rebellions in Java and Indo-China, aimed respectively at French and Dutch rule, strike me as symptomatic of a trend which is part of our new era—and that is the transformation of the European nations' empires into commonwealths.

In short, empires as such are on their way out. Britain long ago recognized the signs and out-distanced time by inaugurating the British commonwealth of nations, to which she now is planning to add mighty India. Within this commonwealth the dominions have sovereignty, but are linked together by ties of blood and mutual interest.

My idea that commonwealths are logical successors to the empires is based on the thought that the little countries—like Java, for instance—which are now dependencies, will still need the economic and military support of the "mother" country.

Java is a rich prize. It is a slim island but extends for 622 miles, and into this tight space are packed 45,000,000 people, of whom some 200,000 are Dutch. This tropical country produces rubber,

It's odd, the queer divisions our reactionaries and radicals, as they call each other, or conservatives and liberals, a more accurate term—it's remarkable and number and variety of issues they manage to divide on, choose up sides, and start throwing bricks and insults.

Take the atomic bomb, and whether we should or should not share the secret with the world. In the main, the liberals think we should share it, but quickly, while the conservatives think we shouldn't.

Our afternoon columnist Marquis-Childs, a liberal, can see the end of the world if we don't let Russia in on the secret no later than day after tomorrow; but our morning columnist, the conservative Paul Mallon, who sees Russia as a threatening ogre as many conservatives do, believes we should hug the secret to our breasts.

Having taken their stand, our vocal liberals and conservatives start shooting at the devoted head of anybody on the opposite side who dares to disagree with them. Mr. Childs finds Senator Connally a senile old fustubger because the Texan opposes giving away our two-billion-dollar secret. He mentions the senator's age with damning emphasis, and gleefully cites the ages of a couple of senators who happen to favor protecting the greatest secret of all time.

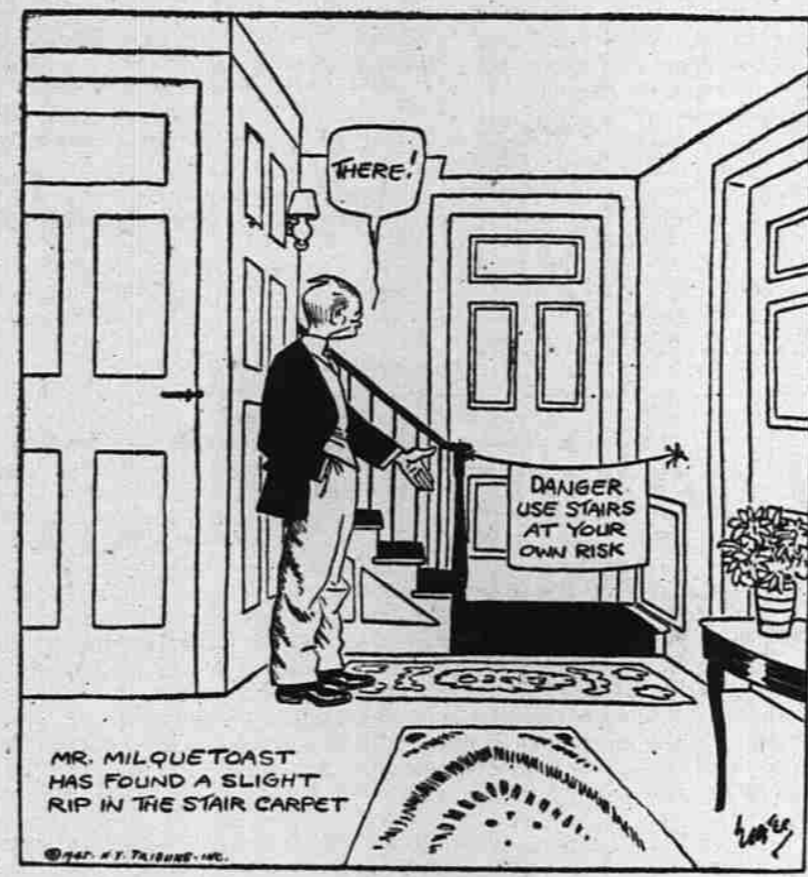

There are valid reasons on both sides of the argument, to keep or not to keep the secret; but neither age nor youth nor political coloration seems to us to be valid, either way.

By a curious twist of reasoning, the conservatives believe that Russia would use the bomb against us immediately if given the secret, while the liberals are quite certain Russia will blow us to splinters if we don't.

What this country needs is plenty of middle-of-the-roads who watch their blood pressure and get plenty of good sound sleep at night.

The Timid Soul

With The AEF: Caught Between Cross Fires In North Africa

WITH AMERICAN FORCES IN JAPAN (AP)—War forces many hard choices, but none harder than that which faced a young American battalion commander in the French Moroccan landing during his first few hours of combat.

No soldier knew what waited for him as he tumbled down the rope ladder into the bobbing, pitching assault boat just before dawn and headed in for Africa's dark and inhospitable coast under a black sky lit only by roving French searchlights ashore, craning into clouds after airplanes that weren't yet there.

The battalion commander was a tall, slim lieutenant colonel with dark eyes and hair cropped close like his men. It was for him the first of many battles with the Third Infantry Division which carried its blue and white striped shoulder patch through Sicily, Italy, France and Germany before war's end.

The battalion had few casualties as it pulled inland away from the shining sand and moved forward under cover. The troops before them were largely Senegalese. They were happy to hand over their guns, for the most part, with wide gold-toothed grins.

But out on Cape Fedala, the French batteries had opened an ambitious duel with American heavily-gunned cruisers.

"Spread out" shouted a lieutenant to the huddling men. "Spread out and dig in!"

Another officer knelt and shouted into his walkie-talkie cogs and rushed right into his speech before the rush for the doors could get started.

"Mr. Speaker," said our mayor, "before calling up district legislation, I shall say to the members of the house that the distinguished chairman of the committee on military affairs of the house and the equally distinguished commissioner from the Philippines desire to address themselves to the house on matters of national importance. I know that ordinarily members are not too interested in the details of strictly local legislation, but since I shall yield to these two gentlemen, perhaps more members might want to stay on the floor at this time."

Now that's congress talk and strictly good form, but he could have said it much simpler, as: "For gosh sakes, gang, don't run out just because it's District day, we got a couple of fine speeches coming."

The members started trooping back to their seats. As a matter of fact, the affairs of district were very momentous that day. All Mr. Randolph had to offer was a resolution regulating the length of small stripes, bass, better known as rockfish, which may be offered for sale.

I don't blame members of congress for not wanting to waste a day on something that doesn't matter much to anybody but a rockfish. But it's their own fault. They could give the government of the District of Columbia back to the District.

Washington— They're All Mayors Of Washington

By JACK STINNETT WASHINGTON — As every schoolboy knows, the District of Columbia is run by congress. Congress is its city council and the chairmen of the house and senate district committees are, after a fashion, its mayors.

Every so often, there turns up on the calendar a thing called District Day. That means congress puts aside state, national and international matters, and for one day devotes its legislative genius to the affairs of the District of Columbia.

Sad to say, no member of congress gets so absent-minded that he forgets that the folks who live here have no vote. The most important people in the world to a congressman are those who have a vote for him. The next most important are those who have a vote for a friend of his in congress, because sometimes a congressman needs friends in congress to get little things done for those "most important people."

People, however, who don't have a vote for a congressman or even the friend of a congressman don't even rate third most important—they just don't rate at all.

That's why on District days in both chambers you better stay away from the doors the minute roll call is over, or you may be knocked down in the rush of members of congress getting out of there.

That's why the other Monday when the speaker of the house (it was really the speaker pro tem; District affairs never rate Mr. Speaker No. 1) had announced sadly "This is District day," and recognized "the gentleman from est Virginia," Rep. Jennings Randolph got up and coughed apologetically three times.

Now Mr. Randolph is a fine fellow and a friend of mine and our mayor on the house side, but he knows what he's up against.

So that day he hurried his

Texas Today—

Army Navy Battle Over Pacific Bases

By DREW PEARSON WASHINGTON — The war and navy departments are trying to hush it up, but the whole question of U. S. naval bases on formerly Jap controlled Pacific Islands, has developed into a violent hair-pulling contest among different government bureaus. If we administrate Okinawa, Saipan, Truk, etc., the same haphazard way government agencies are fighting over them, we'll be in for real trouble. Already there has been repercussions.

Here is the inside story of the backstage feud. It began last August when the navy quietly moved in to get control of the Pacific Islands. What it wanted was permanent naval governments on the islands, rather than civilian governments under the interior department such as now exist in the Philippines, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

To this end, Vice Admiral R. S. Edwards, one of the navy's top imperialists, drafted a cautious memo listing the mayor island bases the navy proposed operating after the war. This was done without telling the army, which also has a definite stake in the islands, or the interior department, which is charged with running island governments.

Truman Acts Fast The memo was sent to the White House, and much to Admiral Edwards' surprise came back one day later, marked "approved." Below was President Truman's signature. It was initialed also by Truman's naval aide, Rear Admiral James Varnaman, who had helped grease the ways.

The navy was amazed that Truman had made such an important decision effecting vital U. S. policy in the Pacific without consulting the state, war or interior departments. But it was delighted. A few days later, Acting Secretary of the Interior Abe Fortas, knowing nothing about the president's action, dropped over to confer with Assistant Secretary of the Navy Sullivan and a group of admirals, and outlined the interior department's views on how to handle Pacific Islands. He proposed that the navy and the interior department set up a joint committee to study the subject.

Sullivan and the admirals listened politely and with poker faces. They knew that Truman had OK'd their memo making the navy supreme over Pacific Islands, but they never uttered a peep. Fortas left knowing nothing.

Meanwhile, Assistant Secretary of War Jack McCloy had been tipped off regarding the navy's APPROVE RESOLUTION DALLAS, Oct. 15 (AP)—Leaders of the Zionist organization from six states, meeting here yesterday, approved a resolution demanding that Palestine be opened to Jewish immigration. Representatives from Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas, Louisiana and Kansas were present.

empire builders" of the air forces. The latter were especially furious at Truman's actions. For the air boys consider these islands vital to B-29 and long range bombing operations. And if the navy gets control, the army is hamstringing exactly the same way the navy would not let the army planes patrol the waters around Hawaii before Pearl Harbor.

So on Sept. 10, McCloy drafted a one-page memo which his chief, Secretary Stimson, signed and sent to the White House. Stimson pointed out that security is "intermeshed" regarding Pacific Island bases and is a joint problem for both the army and navy.

In conclusion, Stimson said he assumed Truman had approved the navy as an "interim authority" over the islands, not a permanent authority.

Much to the army's surprise, this memo came back from the White House one day later, also marked "approved" and signed Harry S. Truman. It was obvious to them that the new president believed in speed, not consultation.

To put another roadblock in front of the navy, Assistant War Secretary McCloy suggested to his colleagues that the entire question of the islands be thrown in the lap of a department committee. To this end he had a memo mimeographed and started circulating it, when Admiral Edwards heard what was brewing.

Edwards nearly had a fit. His neat footwork with the White House in August was being completely undermined.

More Hair-Pulling Finally, Naval Under Secretary Gates, former New York banker, called Assistant War Secretary McCloy and tried to pick up some of the pieces. He suggested that it would be better if the army and navy worked things out between themselves without consulting the state department. Then they could surprise the other government agencies with an accomplished fact which couldn't be upset.

Simultaneously, Secretary of the Navy Forrestal sent the White House a memo (Sept. 11) asking Truman whether he had approved a "permanent" policy of putting the islands under the navy, as stated in his August memo to the navy, or a mere "interim" policy as stated in Truman's Sept. 10 memo to the army.

Forrestal's memo came back from the White House immediately marked "approved as an interim proposition pending the findings of the state-war-navy departments." Meanwhile, Admiral Edwards shot a quickie radiogram to Fleet Admiral Nimitz, containing a complete blueprint of the navy's post-war Pacific plan. Edwards deliberately made one concession to the civilian agencies by eliminating Okinawa from the islands to be ruled by the navy, on the ground that Okinawa has too large a civilian population (over 100,000) for a naval government.

Nimitz has now OK'd the navy's blueprint and the admirals have again rushed it to the White House, hoping they can get snapp judgment out of Truman, making the navy permanent boss of the Pacific Islands.

Russia Steps In However, what both the army and navy may not know is that the whole question of Pacific naval bases came up at the London Big Five Conference. During private side-talks between Secretary Byrnes and Foreign Minister Bevin, the latter told Byrnes that he was worried over permanent U. S. navy-controlled bases all over the Pacific.

Bevin told Byrnes that the navy's plan looked like a sword pointed at Russia, and that if the islands were to be navy-ruled, it gave the Russians a powerful political excuse for getting island bases in the Atlantic.

It isn't being advertised, but already the Russians have asked for bases at Spitzbergen, Bear Island and Iceland, supposedly for weather observation. However, such bases are near the great circle shortcut to New York and London and could become secret rocket-launching or atom-launching bases. Byrnes agreed to discuss the whole matter carefully with the navy and President Truman upon his return to Washington.

Note: Meanwhile, the interior department, hitherto entrusted with governing U. S. islands and territories, has been kept completely in the dark by the army and navy.

Applicants Fail Tests For Drivers License By Not Knowing Rules

Most of that large percentage of persons making application for automobile operator's licenses who do not meet minimum requirements fail because of an ignorance of the ordinary rules of safe driving, according to C. B. Strain, officer in charge of the Texas Driver's license division here.

The statewide percentage of persons denied driver's licenses ran to 53.8 per cent for the month of August and rejections within this division topped even that for the 30-day period, Strain's records show.

No less than 55.76 per cent of this division's applicants during August were turned down. Of the 364 who requested licenses, no less than 203 failed when the tests were conducted.

Throughout the state, 12,909 of the 23,994 individuals asking permits were informed they were not well enough oriented with driving regulations to gain official sanction as drivers.

Locally, Strain's records show there has been a 25 per cent increase in the demands for operator's licenses as compared to a 40 per cent jump for the state as a whole. He attributes the rush to the wide publicity given safety

Hollywood— "State Fair" Very Pleasant Film

By BOB THOMAS "Stat Fair," a 20th Century-Fox picture with Dana Andrews, Jeanne Crain, Dick Haymes, Vivian Blaine, Charles Winninger and Fay Bainter. Running time: 99 minutes.

HOLLYWOOD — "State Fair" is an important motion picture event. It is the first time that Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein II have written for the screen. Like their "Oklahoma!" and "Carousel," "State Fair" is an unmistakable hit.

The original "State Fair" with Will Rogers, Janet Gaynor and an all-star cast, sticks in the memory as a fine picture. While the new version does not achieve the dramatic values and comedy of its predecessor, it more than compensates in the music department.

The music is wonderful. Several of the tunes are haunting. I find I am even typing this review to the lilt of "It's a Grand Night for Singing." The most memorable song is "It Might As Well Be Spring," which is charmingly sung by Jeanne Crain.

Besides writing the lyrics, Oscar Hammerstein is credited for the screen play, with adaptation by Sonya Levien and Paul Green. It is a fine, workmanlike job without a dull minute. Particularly commendable is the deft manner with which the songs are worked into the narrative. In most musicals, the songs interfere with the plot. But in "State Fair" they bolster the story, and the customer finds himself looking forward to the next tune.

Five Held For Trial In Mass Slayings

NUEVO LAREDO, Mexico, Oct. 15 (AP)—Five persons have been ordered held for trial in the mass slayings of Mexican laborers whose bodies have been recovered from the Rio Grande river.

Authorities here reported yesterday the number of bodies of victims recovered from the river which marks the boundary between Texas and Mexico has reached 48.

The prosecution charges Mexicans were brought into the United States as farm laborers and then slain for their wages when they returned.

Second District Federal Judge Manuel Gomez Lomeli, who ordered the five held for trial, said 18 other persons were released provisionally for lack of sufficient evidence. Others are being held for investigation at Reynosa.

DALLAS TRIMMED, 2-1

DALLAS, Oct. 15 (AP)—The Fort Worth all-stars defeated the Dallas all-stars 2 to 1 in an exhibition baseball game here yesterday. Spurgeon Chandler started on the mound for Fort Worth. Bob Murrer of the Browns was the losing pitcher. Dizzy Dean played six innings for Dallas as first.

The Nation Today—
United Nations Organization To Care For Hunger Ills Of World

By OVID A. MARTIN (Substituting For James Marlow) WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—The United Nations launch an attack at Quebec tomorrow upon one of the world's primary ills—hunger.

Food and farm officials, economists, diplomats and leaders of agricultural organizations from upwards of 40 nations will gather in the historic Canadian city to set up a permanent international organization to lead that attack.

The organization will be known as the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization. It has been abbreviated officially the FAO.

Quarterback Club Organized By Fans Of Local Football

Sixteen football fans made a modest but enthusiastic start for the Quarterback Club Monday at 9 a. m. in the Settles.

Out of the meeting came the suggestion that the game with Midland Bulldogs here Friday be designated as Dal's Night. Plans call for special sideline seats for fathers of the boys with numbers to correspond to the boys.

Highlights of the game were discussed and fans asked questions about particular plays, penalties, training, etc. Coach John Dibrell and Walter Reed, high school principal, were on hand to answer questions and thanked fans for suggestions. In response to questions about penalties, Dibrell said he felt officials called no penalties on either side other than those they actually saw.

Fans were interested in impressing on the team a community interest in its success. Dibrell had the team out for a hard workout Saturday after the Steers bowed to Lamesa, 6-0, and he said that the attitude seemed to be good. In fact, he said, some individuals were talking it up more than ever.

Next meeting of the Quarterback club will be Monday, Oct. 22, at 6 p. m. in the Settles. There is no formal organization and all fans are invited to participate.

Offense Takes Over On Grid, Says Little

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR. NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—Lou Little, Columbia's canny coach, was holding forth on how the offense has taken over football this season—and Lou's Lions didn't do so badly in that respect Saturday.

"That's the way it should be," Little maintained, "the era of solid defense and two and three yard gains is a thing of the past. The fans want offensive football and I think we ought to encourage the offense in every way possible. . . . Of course, it's harder to break in a player who hasn't had much practice," Little admitted. "The assignments are too important. . . . The day is gone when a tackle did nothing but charge and batter his brains out on defense. . . . One of the listeners interrupted: "It doesn't take brains to play tackle, does it, Lou?" . . . "No," stated Lou grimly, "if he had any brains he wouldn't be playing tackle." . . . In case you don't know, Little was about as good a tackle as Penn ever had just before and after World War One.

Knott To Form Fresh Water District

Some 50 land owners of the Knott community met in Knott last Thursday night to lay tentative plans for formation of a Fresh Water District in that area.

E. L. Roman was elected president of a temporary organization which this week is making chemical, biological and quantity tests of the available water supply.

Also named to the committee were A. L. Cityburn, who will serve as secretary-treasurer, J. C. Spalding and W. A. Burchell.

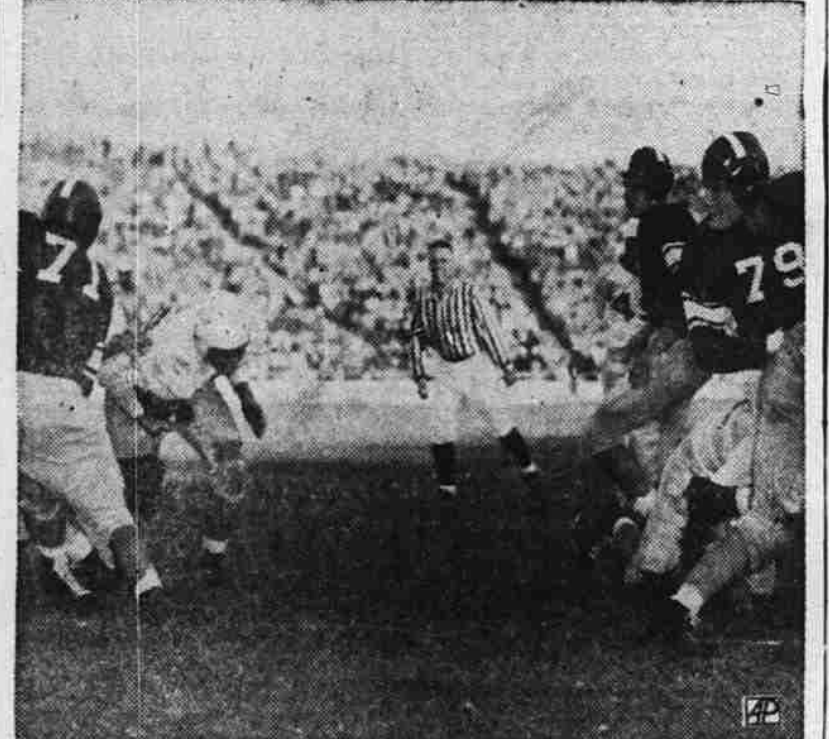

If the tests meet specifications, an elaborate system will be installed to make ample water available to the village of Knott, the community's schools and the farmers of the immediate vicinity, who have not been able to get water unless they hauled it in.

Expected to cost around $25,000, the entire project will be financed by the Farm Security Administration, which in time will be repaid by meter subscriptions and service charges.

The undertaking would mark the first time the FSA has ever financed a community water project within the state.

A permanent organization will be set up as soon as there is need for one.

Attending the session from Big Spring was James L. South, Farm Security Administrator.

ANGELOAN SCORES WINNING TOUCHDOWN—George Graham, University of Texas fullback, as he maddened right guard for the second Texas touchdown in the Longhorns' game with the University of Oklahoma in Dallas Oct. 13. The score brought a 12-7 victory to Texas in the 39th renewal of the intersectional football game between the teams. (AP Wirephoto).

Noted Texans Support Victory Loan Drive

DALLAS, Oct. 13 (AP)—Two noted Texans, Attorney General Tom Clark and Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, were on record today supporting the Victory loan drive Oct. 29 through Dec. 8.

Nimitz, on a visit here yesterday, said Texas bond purchases were of immeasurable help in leading this country to victory.

Clark, in Dallas today, said: "There is nothing I want to help more than the Victory loan. It is such an important phase of our program to bring home America's fighting men and to provide the best of medical care for those men wounded in action."

Suppose YOU hadn't been home for 3 years!

Chances are, the first thing you'd do when you got near a telephone would be to call the folks back home.

That's happening thousands of times every day, as more and more servicemen come back from overseas. Add other thousands of business calls as the country swings back to peacetime production, perhaps even a greater number of personal calls from people going to new jobs and new homes in other cities, and you have a BIG load on long distance lines.

When we've added new circuits and additional equipment, all calls will go through quickly. That will take some time, of course. In the meantime, if your call is delayed, we know you'll understand why.
