Off to the Honeymoon Outfit

Simply tailored, perfectly fitted suit of lightweight tropical worsted in a warm shade of brown makes an ideal going-away costume for the bride. Fresh white tulips—fashionable flowers of the moment—are used on the hat and on the bag.

Officers Flunk On Tests for Drivers

MOBILE, Ala.—Mobile motorists are laughing up their sleeves these days.

Approximately two-thirds of the city police force has flunked the state driver's license examination. These include traffic officers and detectives.

Only those officers made above 80 per cent, which recently was the minimum for the state by the department.

Two Are Injured As Lightning Hits

CARLSBAD, N. M.—Lightning never strikes twice in the same place—at least that is what the Harold Thornberys hope. Lightning struck the corner of the house in which the family was living, blinded Thornberry and his wife and temporarily paralyzed their arms. Their baby, asleep in another room, was unhurt.

BRITAINS DEMONSTRATE THEIR DETERMINATION TO WIN PRESENT WAR

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press Cable Editor

Great Britain has just given the world a remarkable demonstration of democracy.

The people of the great democratic kingdom have voluntarily turned over their liberties to their elected government, permitting it to match the lightning, arbitrary decisions which Hitler's totalitarian state enables him to make.

It is a war-time levelling process. It gives the banker the same status as the laborer; the peeress and the fishwife are equally subject to the state.

George Bernard Shaw observed that Hitler made the fatal mistake of getting the British people frightened, and this is their answer.

The British decision is historic. It changes, temporarily, a system of individual freedom which has existed for centuries.

The word "temporarily" should be stressed. It is a suspension, not a permanent surrender. The influential Manchester Guardian put it succinctly this way:

"We must surrender our liberties to the government of our choice in order that we may resume them."

Churchill and his ministers will be able to rule virtually by decree. The unanimous tone of the press indicates that the people are back of them.

Not that there is still parliament. It has relinquished without a murmur its jealously prerogatives, but retains the power to turn the "dictatorship" out of office as quickly as it voted the extraordinary powers.

History illustrates the strength of such a system. In the days of the Roman republic, it was used in time of crisis, but the period of dictatorship was sharply defined and it was held strictly accountable for its acts. The people reserved their latent power. The decline of the Roman empire was accompanied by a period of unlimited dictatorships and tyranny.

The Briton today has no freedom of choice. He can be put into the army or into any line of work in which the state needs him. His business might be closed down or switched into another form of activity; his personal property, even his home, might be requisitioned by the state. His wealth is subject to the state.

No one shall be allowed to make a penny of profit from the war. Any gain above normal will be confiscated. The banks will be closely controlled. Labor willingly surrenders its hard-won rights.

The drastic bill was, in fact, introduced in commons by Clement R. Attlee, leader of the labor party.

The British public was first made aware of the workings of the new system when the speaker of the house of commons announced that Capt. Archibald Ramsay, a conservative member of the house, had been thrown into prison.

No explanation was offered. Perhaps a clue was contained in the comment of the London Daily Express, which said:

"He who is not with us is against us."

At the same time, Scotland Yard men raided the headquarters of Sir Oswald Moseley's British Union Fascist party and made nine or ten arrests. They examined papers and literature in the offices and questioned all persons within.

Eastland Man To Attend Methodist Church Congress

B. E. McGlamery of Eastland and Rev. Langston of Cisco will go to Oklahoma City next week, where they will be delegates to the jurisdictional congress of the Methodist Church, representing Eastland County. The congress will meet on May 27 with delegates present from the south-central jurisdiction, which embraces the states of Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri, New Mexico, Louisiana and Texas.

The administrative body of the Methodist church is divided into seven jurisdictional congresses, which meet and elect their own bishops and boards.

Judgment Entered In Damage Suit In District Court

Judgment for the plaintiff has been entered in 91st district court by Judge George L. Davenport, based on the verdict of the jury in the case of C. M. Hesson vs. Wichita Falls & Southern Railway. The jury verdict granted the plaintiff damages in the amount of $3750.

Previous to entering the judgment Judge Davenport overruled a motion by the defendant for a judgment and Friday he overruled defendant's motion for a new trial.

The case grew out of an accident that occurred at a grade crossing in Ranger in the summer of 1938, and was tried before a jury in 91st district court.

Jurors were R. L. Jones, Eastland; J. C. Claiborne, Okra; J. T. Gardner, Nimrod; Joe Boatman, Cisco; W. H. Hays, Cisco; Roy Harbin, Eastland; J. R. Deena, Rising Star; T. C. Corart, Nimrod; Joe T. Meador, Cisco; Roy G. Tugwell, Cisco; Marshall Thomas, Cisco and M. B. Osborne, Cisco.

Rancher and Son Killed In A Plane While On A Hunt

AMARILLO, May 25.—Julian Bivins, prominent rancher of the Panhandle, and his son, Billy, were found dead today in their wrecked airplane near here.

The two were apparently killed yesterday when their plane crashed while they were on a coyote hunt. When they failed to return other airmen took up the search today and soon found their bodies in the wrecked machine.

Man Dies After Mine Accident

Bill Peretti of Mingus, who was critically injured in a mine accident Monday afternoon of this week, died in a Ranger hospital Friday afternoon at 12:30.

No funeral arrangements had been made, but it was believed that services would be conducted at Mingus.

The accident occurred when Peretti was working in an abandoned coal mine and was overcome by gas. He tried to make his way up to the surface, but just before he reached the top he fell back into the pit and the shaft cage, out of control, crushed him.

He was rushed to the West Texas Hospital in Ranger, where he was given little chance of recovery.

Leon Trotsky Has A Narrow Escape From Machine Guns

MEXICO CITY, May 24.—Leon Trotsky former Russian political leader, and his wife, escaped injury today when 20 men machine gunned their bedroom.

Trotsky blamed Russian-directed communists for the attack.

An American guard, Sheldon Harte, was kidnapped by the gang after the attempt on Trotsky's life had failed.

LIMA, Peru, May 24.—Severe earthquakes shook Lima today, damaging several houses and churches. Officials feared casualties might be heavy.

Unhappy Husbands On A 1 to 3 Ratio

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—One out of three husbands is unhappy but only two out of seven wives are unhappy, according to Dr. W. E. Cole, a University of Tennessee sociologist. He based his statistics on recent marital surveys, and added this thought:

"Divorce statistics must not be accepted with finality as an index to happiness because they do not indicate the extent of happiness in families still intact."

Judge Scott Given Banquet In Honor Of Long Service

A banquet honoring Judge D. K. Scott, pioneer lawyer of Cisco and dean of the Eastland County Bar, was held in Eastland Thursday evening, with a number of his former associates present.

Longtime friends and associates of Judge Scott were included on the program.

Judge Scott, honored citizen and distinguished barrister came to Eastland County when a youth and today is recognized as the dean of the Eastland County Bar and one of the county's most ethical practitioners, as well as one of the county's most distinguished citizens.

He arrived in Eastland County in 1875, two years after the county was organized, and located at Mansker Lake, then a thriving trading point. He formed a business connection with J. M. Freeman, who was in the merchandising and freighting business.

From Mansker Lake Judge Scott located in Eastland in 1880 when he accepted the job of deputy sheriff under Col. G. W. Shannon, who preceded Jim Schmick. He was elected county judge in 1888 and served four years, and at the end of his second term entered the law partnership with the late H. P. Brelsford, which partnership existed until Judge Brelsford died, even though Judge Scott moved to Cisco in 1899.

Since that time he has been a resident of Cisco.

Statewide Shutdown Planned For Fields

AUSTIN, May 24.—Chairman Lou Smith of the Texas Railroad Commission and Commissioner Jerry Sadler said today that a 90-day oil order was being drafted, calling for a single state-wide shutdown day and reducing all fields 15 per cent.

The shutdown, it was estimated, would cut down the daily Texas production to within the estimated market demands of the Bureau of Mines.

GERMANS SAY THEIR UNITS REACH CALAIS

French Lay Down Terrific Barrage On Sector Between Arras and Somme to Close Pincers.

French sources said tonight that the French still hold Boulogne and that the situation at Calais was "favorable" despite German claims that they have entered that channel port, which is only 22 miles from England, and from which long-range artillery could fire shells to the English Coast.

Berlin quarters said that mechanized sources were in Calais, with strong re-enforcements only eight miles to the south.

The French laid down a terrific barrage on the 25-mile corridor between Arras and the Somme River, through which the Nazis reached the channel ports, but there still was no definite indication of a major counter-attack.

The French today blasted dikes to flood the area at the eastern end of the Maginot Line, near Switzerland.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain meanwhile was reported to have asked Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy what Italy's intentions were today, and King George broadcast that the empire must stand together to prevent "complete destruction" as a prelude to Germany's domination of the world.

The Germans claimed to have crossed the River Scheldt in Belgium and were fighting in Ghent, as well as taking the French town of Tournai, near Lille.

The Allies fought their way into the outskirts of Amiens.

The Germans claimed to have sunk six loaded British transports in the English channel and the British rounded up possible "fifth column" sympathizers, including Captain Franz von Rintelen, German chief of espionage in the United States during the World War, who has been living in England.

Missouri's Hills Yielding Culture Of 500 Years Ago

FESTUS, Mo.—Remains of a civilization more than 500 years old have been uncovered in the limestone hills near here, according to Robert McCormick Adams, director of a crew of excavators which has been working in this area since January.

Adams said the most important finds to date are several pottery items, chipped stone instruments, bone ornaments and the remains of three thatched-roof houses.

Two spots are being excavated, work alternating between a ledge under a jutting cliff and a village site in open ground.

"The ledge evidently was an often-used stopping place for nomadic hunting parties for thousands of years," Adams said. "We have found traces of a pre-pottery people under 10-ton boulders. How long the boulders have lain there we can only guess."

Adams said the village site centers around a man-made mound, now almost destroyed by cultivation of crops. The three houses found so far, he said, are different. The first was about 25 feet square with a fireplace in the middle. The roof was supported by wood posts four inches square, set in a ditch. A storage bin, containing parched corn, was found near the fireplace, indicating an agricultural people.

Murder Mysteries Are Too Tame For U.O.T. Students

By United Press
 AUSTIN, Texas—University of Texas law students find murder mysteries too tame. They prefer plot crimes, but must do them. They have been known to rob sorority houses, hold up pedestrians on the campus, and once there was a student "murder."
 But it is all staged in the interest of their legal education. The crimes are committed to gain practice in actual gathering of evidence and presentation of it in moot courts where the student "criminals" are tried.
 The crimes are made as realistic as possible.
 In classroom a student will use an epithet toward another and precipitate a fight. There will be a shot and a victim will fall dead or fatally wounded. Other students not participating in the planned crime will be assigned as prosecutors or defense attorneys for trials of the offenders.
 To get the best results, only crime participants know when the crime is to take place or what the offense will be. One such affair was staged so realistically that a first year law student rushed in terror from the class room. He was overtaken some distance away and summoned as an eye witness to the crime. It was only then he learned a blank cartridge had been used and the victim had choked to death.

 In sorority house robberies only the housemother is notified in advance of the crime. Then the student experience testimony for use in the follow.

He "Tied Up Trout" To Catch Whitefish

By United Press
 GREAT FALLS, Mont.—W. A. Hill says the prize alibi during his years as deputy game warden is this one:
 Coming upon a fisherman casting in a stream where trout angling was forbidden but whitefish were legal catch, Hill noticed a number of live trout in the water tied with a string through their gills.
 "Whose trout are these?" he asked the warden.
 "They belong to the state of Montana," the angler replied.
 "Why are they tied?" Hill demanded.
 "Those danged trout were taking my bait so fast I couldn't catch any whitefish, so I just tied 'em up until I got through fishing," the intrepid fisherman explained.

World Gardens To Take On Shape

PASADENA, Cal.—A project for a permanent "World and Gardens" exposition, to be operated somewhat along the same lines as the centuriosold Leipzig Fair in Germany has been launched here.

The idea originally was suggested by President Roosevelt at the time he visited the San Diego Exposition in 1935.

The President outlined his project to Frank Drugan, who organized the successful San Diego Exposition, and who has undertaken to carry out the President's plan. Federal aid has been made available.

Construction of the exposition will be tantamount to the erection and permanent maintenance on an ideal site of an entire model village in which the nations participating can display suitable products of their land, not in glass cases as usual, but in actual use.

"Pasadena's native beauty," Drugan declared, "is ideal as a setting for the world's most magnificent dwelling area. Pasadena's beauty and cultural norm will be the criterion of every phase of the project."

"Practical principles will be pursued to publicize and provide enhancement of values to Pasadena in return for pioneering the project."

"There will be no gate, fence or admission charge to the Homes and Gardens Exposition. Its development and maintenance will be by community co-operation."

Drugan believes the exposition can be made self-supporting.

At the time President Roosevelt suggested the project, he had the approval by Congress of a $2,000,000 appropriation to establish a permanent exposition in Southern California as a part of the administration's Good Neighbor policy toward Latin America. The exposition would permit Latin American countries to maintain permanent exhibits here.

A similar appropriation of $2,000,000 has also been granted by Congress for the maintenance of the "House of Pacific Relations" at San Diego as a part of the "Good Neighbor" policy.

They are expected to pay off the loan in about 15 years. After that, the express highway will be turned over to the state.

Along with the Trojan Horse revival, we see they're pulling the old Mahomet play too. It seems the Kaiser, couldn't go to Germany, so Germany's come to him.

De Luxe Road To Have Penny Toll

PITTSBURGH—Pennsylvania's $65,000,000 "dream" highway really will be something motorists dream about but seldom see, according to W. C. Cline, a tunnel engineer who is helping build the 160-mile road, which will run between Pittsburgh and Harrisburg.

But it will cost money for motorists to use it—one cent a mile, to be exact. Trucks will pay four cents a mile for use of the all-weather highway.

However, this is no ordinary highway. For example, there will be no steep hills, sharp curves or a speed limit. It will be 78 feet wide—enough for four 12-foot traffic lanes, each separated by a 10-foot wide strip of earth.

There will be no cross roads. Over or underpasses will carry intersecting traffic. Vehicles entering the new highway first will be admitted to a "warm-up" stretch paralleling the road before they are routed onto the through traffic lanes.

The maximum altitude of the new road will be 1,300 feet, compared with almost 4,000 feet on the Lincoln Highway. Curves are being so constructed that they will hardly be noticeable. The Pennsylvania Turnpike will maintain its own police force on the highway.

The tolls have to be charged to clear up a PWA loan to the state.

Horace, The Turtle Is Now A Mother of 4 Little Turtles

FORT WORTH, Texas—Horace, the turtle, was a dashing rake, a debonair man-about-town, as it were, whose masculine virility was never doubted. But, alas and alack, today the zoo's gay young blade of yesterday hid a crimson face beneath his neatly groomed and green shell.

Horace became a mother. How it happened one can but guess. But a few days ago Horace strutted out from behind his favorite rock for a turn about the plaza as was his daily habit. He held his head high and proudly, and then, before Horace had taken five steps, the zoo gossips began to snigger and guffaw.

The turtle's rigidity did not encompass such tom-foolery, but just to be safe, he looked down at his feet to see if his shoes matched or if his gloves were two of a kind. Then he looked behind him. There, no larger than a two-bit piece, followed four youngsters. Try as he would he couldn't shake them loose.

Horace's mind fell into hopeless confusion. There were no other turtles in the pen. Had someone planted a joke on him? or maybe he wasn't quite normal... but maybe.

Harry Jackson, who is in charge of the reptile exhibit, pieced the rest of the story together. Last fall, he recalled, there had been a female tortoise in his collection, but then the exhibit closed and Jackson took his group of reptiles west.

Meantime snow and rain, hail and sleet cover the reptile pit. Jackson came back this spring minus female turtle.

Now he thinks that perhaps a few eggs, mislaid indiscriminately, survived the elements to hatch this spring. Maybe, he said, and maybe not, but they "sure do look like the disgusted Horace."

No Word Heard from "Old Rip Invincible" Though Inquiries on Horned Frog Still Come In

No word has been received from Coalinga, Calif., where a big horned frog race was to be conducted on Saturday, May 18, as to whether or not "Old Rip Invincible," the Eastland Chamber of Commerce entry, had placed in the All States Handicap.

The Coalinga Horned Frog Derby—apparently they are called toads, and not frogs in California—was divided into 16 sweepstakes with from four to more than a dozen entries in each race.

The Eastland entry was secured by H. J. Tanner, secretary-manager of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce, and was "trained" by Stewart M. Doss. Apparently the "training" process consisted chiefly of painting the frog in bright shades of red, white and blue so he would look real patriotic.

Tanner did not explain how the frog was selected or whether any contest was staged to determine its speed.

"I once told several boys we wanted horned frogs," Tanner explained, "and the word soon got around all over town and small boys in large numbers began bringing in frogs. For weeks boys would stop me on the streets and ask if we still wanted horned frogs. But I soon got wise. I now have a couple of boys I look up whenever I need a horned frog or two and tell them how many I need, and warn them not to tell other boys.

"And it is surprising how often inquiries come about horned frogs," Tanner continued, picking out two letters from the batch of mail on his desk. "Just today I got two inquiries about frogs forwarded from the War Department, which I received the request. I got them I put a few small boxes and mail them. Inquiries are answered and a frog sent along with a letter. Although it has been years since Old Rip was the cornerstone his reputation survives, and people still think of Eastland when thinking of frogs."

Incidentally Coalinga has sent a couple of horned frogs to Eastland when thinking of frogs. Eastland when thinking of frogs. Eastland when thinking of frogs. California entries here have won. Maybe it's the climate of the thing.

Eastland Girl to Graduate May 28

Miss Mildred Lee McGlamery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. McGlamery, will graduate from Weatherford Junior College at exercises to be held Tuesday evening, May 28.

Mr. and Mrs. McGlamery will leave Sunday morning for Weatherford, to attend the baccalaureate services and will remain over for the graduation exercises. From Weatherford they will go to Oklahoma City, where Mr. McGlamery will be a delegate from Eastland County to the jurisdictional congress of the Methodist church.

Loans for Homes in Texas Make New High Record

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—Loans made for the construction of new homes in Texas reached a new high record in April, the Federal Home Loan Bank of Little Rock reported today. The 120 insured savings and loan associations in the State made 454 loans totaling $1,203,530 to Texans last month to assist them in the construction of new dwellings. This was an increase of $90,968 over the volume of lending done in April a year ago, which up-to-date had been the record month. Loans for new home construction made by the associations in April showed a sharp gain of $229,118 over the previous month and brought the total for the four months' period since the first of the year to $3,796,954. Other loans granted last month aggregated $1,319,678 and included 308 loans totaling $598,540 made to assist home seekers in the purchase of houses built in other years.

The increased lending activities were general throughout Texas, the Bank reported, its figures including the loans made by the First Federal Savings and Loan Association in Ranger, by which the local area is served. Officials stressed the wide spread service the associations are rendering to home owners of modest means, and pointed out that since January 1st loans totaling $8,711,395 had been made to 4,406 Texans, which were for an average amount of $1,980, and are payable in small monthly installments about equal to rent. The Bank reported collections to be excellent.

Savings and investment funds continue to flow into the Texas associations, the new funds received in April amounting to $1,632,363, being an increase of $551,607 over April, 1939. Since January 1st, new funds deposited in the associations total $8,939,234, as compared with $6,580,000 in the same four months' period a year ago, establishing a new all time high record. These funds are insured against loss up to $5,000 for each account by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, an instrumentality of the Federal Government.

Many of the associations, officials said, are facing the problem of keeping their funds invested, for while the demand for loans has been excellent, it has not been great enough to employ all of the investment and savings funds which are accumulating. Much additional new home construction and home buying is expected to be done during the summer months, the financing of which the associations are hopeful will absorb at least part of their idle cash.

U. of T. Registration May Set A Record

AUSTIN, Tex.—University of Texas officials are expecting a new all-time high registration for summer school this year of courses in Latin studies and radio to the curriculum lead officials to anticipate a figure crowding the mark. Last summer's was 6,071.

Blackboard Maps Keep Up to Changes

LORAIN, O.—Lorain public school authorities believe they have found the answer to the puzzling program of what to do about classroom maps of Europe when national boundaries change or disappear almost weekly.

Sets of "white blackboard" maps have been installed. Boundaries are colored in washable crayon and then the maps covered with a glassy transparent material to prevent smudging.

So no matter what happens in Europe overnight, the Lorain geography class maps will be up-to-date, teachers say.

CONGRATULATIONS to the GRADUATES of 1940

At this time there must be full measure of pride and happiness in the hearts of the parents of those who have reached the end of their high school days... and again there is the graduate that has carried through the years from the time of little first graders until now they are young men and women, but who must feel a little regret that the walks of life will carry them to many directions away from those whom they have known so well.

Education has and is leading human souls to what is best, and making what is best out of them; these objects are always attainable together and by the same means. The training which makes men and women happiest in themselves also makes them most servicable to others.

The greatest privilege of American youth is to be able to live in a nation that makes and paves the way for all men to achieve the things in life that is most in their hearts and minds without hampering the course of their actions so long as they are above reproach and are worthy while.

We extend to all parents and the graduates our sincerest good wishes for all the happiness in the world for their future welfare and comfort.
