Speaking of Amendments

There are 1,400,000 qualified voters in Texas. Less than 10 per cent of this vast army participated in the election of Tuesday, July 16, to pass upon two important constitutional amendments submitted by the 41st legislature.

Texas cities and larger towns returned majorities for the amendments. Rural boxes where elections were held returned majorities against the amendments. Not more than 50,000 ballots have been accounted for to date. Advocates of the amendments insist that they have been adopted by majorities safe but small.

Farmer James E. Ferguson threw the full weight of his influence against the amendments. His newspaper, The Forum, carried the message to "our people" Editorially. Farmer Ferguson, who is a city dweller in an aristocratic suburb of Austin, gave this advice to "our people," speaking of the amendments: "Swat 'em."

West Texas towns and villages for the most part returned adverse majorities. San Antonio voters gave the amendments their biggest boost. Indeed, the Alamo led all the larger cities in the number of ballots recorded and in the majorities returned for the amendments.

Unless the unexpected is shown in the final count of the total vote Gov. Moody will have the naming of six associate justices of the supreme court in the near future and his successor will receive a salary of $10,000 per year.

Fierce Gun Fight Ensues As Squad Attempts to Arrest of Man on Horse.

BY UNITED PRESS
EL PASO, July 20.—Ivan Scotten, 25, a border patrolman was killed today by Mexican liquor smugglers when Scotten and five other patrolmen engaged in a half hour gun battle with smugglers along the Rio Grande.

The battle was described by patrolmen as the fiercest in years. Several hundred shots were fired. The battle started when a squad of American officers attempted to arrest a man crossing the river on a horse, which was carrying liquor. The Americans returned the fire. In a few seconds the Americans were fired upon by other gunmen ambushed on the American side of the river and were entirely surrounded.

Scotten fell. The Mexican horseman was wounded but comrades carried him to the Mexican side of the river after his horse had been shot and killed from under him.

Cotton Mounts On N. Y. Market

Closing Figures Range From 15 to 25 Points Up; Spot Position Moves Up .25 to 19.20.

BY UNITED PRESS
NEW YORK, July 20.—Reports of rains all over the cotton belt and advices indicating that the boll weevil was making serious inroads in the cotton crop in Mississippi valley points in the local cotton exchange today and futures closed with net advances ranging from 15 to 24 points. The spot position moved up .25 to 19.20.

Heavy selling for New Orleans account was offset by renewed Wall Street buying and contracts were again quite scarce. Locals exerted pressure again the market, but this was taken care of by the continuance of commission house buying a large scale.

After the initial spurt, prices were confined to a narrow range by the appearance of some week-end liquidation and realizing, but this condition obtained only for a short time, a late rally bringing in week-end covering on a fair scale.

Bullish sentiment was further stimulated by reports of heavy weevil depredation in southwest Texas and points in the eastern belt. The week-end weather forecast was a little more favorable but bears received little encouragement from this development, in view of the pessimistic tone of the weevil virus.

Besides the locals and New Orleans, sellers included Liverpool, the South and the Southwest. All offerings were well absorbed, however, by the continuation of outside buying.

U. S. Points To Kellogg Pact

Military Activities Are Reported Continuing in Manchurian Trouble Zone.

BY UNITED PRESS
While statesmen in many capitols moved to prevent war military activity on the part of both Russians and Chinese was reported in the Manchurian trouble zone today.

The British and American consuls at Harbin, in the center of northern Manchuria, were understood to have decided to ask Japan to protect all foreigners in the province in event of armed conflict.

A Japanese correspondent at Harbin reported that the Soviet army had entered Manchuria. Many inhabitants were evacuating pogranitchnaya on the northeastern border as the result of yesterday's cannonading between Russian troops and the combined border patrol of Chinese and White Czarists. Harbin was under martial law. Five additional brigades of Chinese troops were ordered to move northward from Mukden, the Manchurian capitol to Manchuria.

Meantime assurances came that both Russia and China welcomed the move of Secretary of State Stimson, concurred in by other world powers, to remind the quarrelling nations that they were adherents to the Kellogg-Briand pact renouncing wars of aggression.

U. S. EXPECTS FAVORABLE REPLY

BY HERBERT LITTLE
United Press Staff Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, July 20.—The United States government, taking the lead as peace-maker between Russia and China, today expected early and favorable replies to its warning that both countries are bound by the Kellogg-Briand peace treaty to renounce war.

Confidence that the Kellogg pact will be successful in this first great test was expressed by officials today, even as they scanned reports that violence was breaking out along the Manchurian frontier.

Secretary of State Stimson, who yesterday announced dispatch of the warnings to both nations, made arrangements to return today from President Hoover's Rapidan, Va., week end camp, presumably to receive replies to his communication. Chinese Minister C. C. Wu will communicate his nation's reaction, and Russia's attitude may be conveyed through French Ambassador Claudel.

Stimson communicated with the Soviet government through foreign Minister Briand, of France, co-author of the Kellogg pact because the United States has no diplomatic relations with Russia.

LONDON, July 20.—Great Britain officially informed the United States government today that she was in complete accord with the efforts of the United States to give friendly advice to China and Russia in relieving the existing tension over the Chinese Eastern railway.

TOKIO, July 20.—The Chinese ambassador to Japan in an interview with newspapermen today emphasized that China desires peace and intends to respect the spirit as well as the letter of the Kellogg anti-war pact.

Seek Bodies Of Three, Drowned

Cloudburst Sweeps Auto From Railroad Underpass.

BY UNITED PRESS
SALIDA, Colo., July 20.—Searchers lined the banks of the Arkansas river here today, endeavoring to locate the bodies of three persons drowned yesterday when their automobile was swept from a highway by a cloudburst.

Charles Fugate, 24, his wife, 19, and their daughter, Edna, 2, of Pawhuska, Okla., were swept away when a torrent poured down the road and into a railroad underpass where a party of seven tourists were seeking shelter from a cloudburst.

Other members of the party Lawrence Fugate, brother of Charles, Francis Hearson, 27, his wife, 18, and daughter Jean I., of Caldwell, Oklahoma suffered severe cuts and bruises. They were brought here for medical treatment.

Lawrence made a futile effort to save his brother and family when the Fugate car was pushed towards the Arkansas river by the flood, but the car had overturned into the river before he could reach the occupants.

Rev. H. W. Wrye Leaving City

Pastor of Eastland Church of Christ to Assume Pastorate in Beaumont.

BY MRS. W. K. JACKSON
Rev. H. W. Wrye will close his pastorate in Eastland Church of Christ with the services of Sunday, July 28, and will then start on a two or three weeks vacation to recuperate from recent illness. In an interview Friday, this pastor, who has established such successful activities in the Church of Christ, he stated:

"I will hold meetings in Tennessee the last week in August and these revival meetings will continue through September. I have accepted the unanimous call to the South Park Church of Christ in Beaumont, Texas, and will assume my pastorate the first of October. This is one of the oldest churches in the Church of Christ faith in South Texas, has a large, progressive membership, including some of the most prominent citizens of the city.

"My stay in Eastland has been very pleasant and I have made host of friends among the people in various walks of life, religious and otherwise. I am leaving with a warm place in my heart for Eastland and the surrounding community. It has been a pleasure to me to edit the Sunday school lesson for the Eastland Telegram for almost two years.

"Demonstration work has been successfully established in the Church of Christ here. The largest demonstration of this kind to be found in the United States is that of this Church.

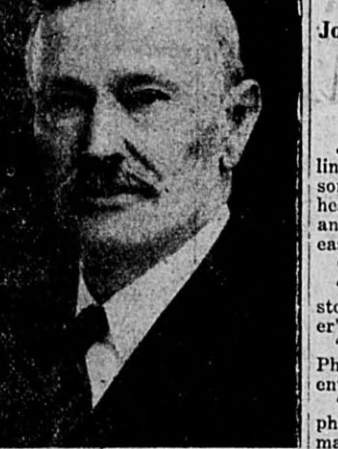

"Great good has been done through these demonstrated Bible lessons, which are being given under the auspices of the women's class in evangelism. I consider this class outstanding in Christian activity.

"I want to thank the people of Eastland for their appreciation of the work established in the Church of Christ."

Rev. Wrye and his wife have endeared themselves to Eastland not only in their own Church circles but in a far-reaching way outside. It is to be deeply regretted that his health is such that it is best for him to establish his future work in a different climate.

That success and happiness attend all his work and ventures is the earnest wish of his friends.

Davidson Faces 198-Year Term

Jury Adds 99-Year Sentence to One Already Returned Against Youth; Will Not Appeal, Is Announced.

BY UNITED PRESS
CORSCICANA, July 20.—Lloyd Davidson, found guilty by a jury in district court here yesterday of the slaying of his father, W. T. Davidson, today faced a prison term of 198 years.

The jury added a 99-year sentence to the one already returned against the youth when he was tried in Groesbeck for the slaying of his step-mother.

The charred bodies of his father and step-mother were found in the embers of their home near Coolidge on May 2. The state alleged that young Davidson clubbed the two to death and then burned their home to destroy the evidence.

Defense attorneys today announced that neither case would be appealed, and that the youth would accept the sentences and go to the penitentiary immediately.

The state sought the death penalty.

Tour of East Is Made From Here

John Parker and Roger Moorhead Visit Historic Scenes and Places in Eastern States.

John Parker, of the Arab Gasoline Corp., and Roger Moorhead, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Moorhead, have returned home after an extensive trip through the eastern states.

They say of their trip: "We covered over 5,000 miles, stopping over in Ohio to visit Roger's grandparents.

"From there we motored on to Philadelphia, where John's parents reside.

"During our stay in Philadelphia and Pennsylvania we saw many historical places. We visited the site of Valley Forge, where Washington's old headquarters were located. We saw the famous Valley Forge historical museum, where is located Washington's original wardrobe, also his tent, and the boat in which he crossed the Delaware river. These things are all carefully preserved and guarded.

"We drove all over the battlefield seeing the emplacements and log cabins which were built about 1750.

Visit Independence Hall "Among other interesting historical objects seen in Philadelphia were the Liberty Bell, Independence Hall, where the Declaration of Independence was signed. The original furniture used is still on exhibit.

"We also saw the Philadelphia navy yards, where hundreds of transports used during the world war have been junked.

"From Philadelphia we motored to Atlantic City, where we spent several hours in a rolling chair on the Boardwalk, observing the many novelty shops which line the walk for miles.

"We took a dip in the ocean in mid-afternoon and found the water much colder than the water in the Texas lakes.

"On our way home we stopped long enough to see the Great Lakes.

"In the Allegheny mountains at one point we were very much surprised to find that we could see seven counties in three different states by using the large telescope at the top of the mountain."

Error Revealed In Jones-Clark Survey, 1859-60

Oklahoma and Texas Legislative Committees Meet in Conference.

BY UNITED PRESS
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., July 20.—Barter of state allegiance of citizens and land made advisable because of hastily thrown boundaries of two frontier states occupied the attention of Oklahoma and Texas legislative committees in conference here today.

The official representatives spent the day considering how the western boundary dispute growing out of an error in an early survey might best be settled on friendly terms and with the best interests of the land owners of this wedge-shaped strip along the eastern Texas Panhandle border at heart.

A recent survey revealed by the U. S. Supreme Court overruled an error in the Jones-Clark survey of 1859-60 in placing the 100th meridian. The new survey shows that 28,500 acres, lying 180 miles from the north bank of the Red river to the northern boundary of the Texas Panhandle belongs to Texas. Since Oklahoma's statehood 22 years ago, residents have paid taxes to the Sooner state and have had part in making of Oklahoma's vivid political history.

Agree Purchase is Best Plan Both states were agreed that the best way to settle the question is for Oklahoma to purchase the land from Texas. Texans were not adverse to the proposition as seasonal windstorms may shift the meager sandy soil from one state to another during the day. However, final action must be taken by legislatures of each state.

Rep. Sam Carmac told the United Press that Oklahoma members hoped to get an agreement whereby Oklahoma could pay $1 to $1.25 an acre for the land plus 3 per cent from the time it was homesteaded. The federal government will be asked to pay part of the purchase price, he said.

Attorney general Edwin Dabney and his assistant, V. P. Crowe, led the Oklahoma delegation of nine members. Attorney General Claud Pollard headed the Texas delegation of 14 members.

CONGRATULATE MAN WHO PLUGGED LOUD SPEAKER WITH GUN

BY UNITED PRESS
BEAUMONT, July 20.—The story of how H. C. Keen, Beaumont lawyer, exasperated by day and night music from a radio receiving set at a lunch stand took his rifle and silenced the offending loud speaker with three well aimed shots, brought an invitation to him from Shreveport today to come there and duplicate his feat.

Such an act would be in the interest of "long suffering and unwilling radio listeners," the wire, signed by M. N. Pharis and Julian Covington of Shreveport, said.

The telegram congratulated the attorney on his "heroic act" and declared that a "vote of thanks" should be given him.

"If we had more he-men like you, there would be fewer radios and more sleep," the wire said. "We hereby extend you a cordial invitation to come to Shreveport and duplicate your feat."

The wire addressed to "the lawyer who fired into loud speaker" as the original story, carried exclusively by the United Press, did not contain the lawyer's name. The loud speaker was located just across the street from the lawyer's home at 1460 McFadden avenue. No charges were filed against him.

Wheat Prices Climbing Skyward

Price of wheat jumped to $1.50 per bushel the other day. This is said to have added millions to the American crop and perhaps placed many honest dollars in the pockets of Texas growers who had not disposed of their golden grain when the like in price came.

Canadian growers have been hurt hit.

Unless the crop experts are wrong, the carry-over of the wheat crop of 1929 will be very light. Texans harvested first. They sold at $1 a bushel. Nebraska growers are harvesting. When the peak price came they were sitting pretty. Lucky farm relief board.

President Pro Tem Berkley

Sen. B. F. Berkley just before adjournment was elected president pro tem of the senate by unanimous vote. Sen. Berkley is a physician and surgeon. He has been a member of the upper house six years. Alpine is his home. He is a representative of the El Paso district which stretches from the New Mexican border to the shadows of the Alamo. He is the Lord Chamberlain of the senate.

He is as courtly and as dignified as a field marshal of the vintage of Louis the Grand.

Indeed, the ladies say that he is one of the best groomed, best dressed and most commanding of all the lawmakers in the picture of the 41st. He never misses a roll call. He never appears under some without a rose or a carnation on the lapel of his coat. He will serve until the governor calls the fourth special session. All in all the president pro tem is the pride of the Fort Davis mountain country and all that goes with it.

Two Crops Are Considered By New Farm Board

Texas Cotton and Florida Fruit Are Subjects Thrust in Foreground Before Federal Group.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Texas cotton and Florida fruit crops providing two of the most sensitive problems in the entire agricultural field, were to be considered by the federal farm board today. Statements from Pres. Hoover, and Sen. Connally, Dem., Tex., thrust these products to the foreground.

At the moment Pres. Hoover stated his intention of asking the special session of congress for an emergency appropriation for the relief of Florida fruit growers, representatives of the Florida producers were laying their problem before the farm board.

A few hours earlier Sen. Connally urged the board to formulate its policy with reference to cotton before the beginning of the cotton marketing season. Connally feared the profits from this crop would go into the pockets of speculators at the expense of the farmer before the board could act.

Chairman Alexander Legge would have disposed of the questions with the statement "we are pledged to deliberation," but said later if the cotton and fruit men were organized to conform with the provisions of the farm bill, the board would be in a position to assist them.

The appearance of the two problems apparently has solved the board's dilemma of choosing the commodity to enjoy the benefits of its efforts to foster effective merchandising.

"We believe," Legge said, "the best way to educate the farmer as to the powers of the board, is to handle problems as they come along in extreme difficulties regardless of the commodity."

WARNING FOR MIDDLE AGED

HARRISBURG, Pa.—"Don't go in for this just-as-young-as-I-used-to-be performance," those of middle-age and over are warned by Dr. Theodore B. Appel, head of the state health department.

"The business man who is fat and 40 or at least 40 suddenly develops a logical enthusiasm for tennis, golf and baseball at this outdoor season," he said. "And while such a thing as permitting one's affection for a sport to get the better of one's judgment—then something happens."

"The business of imagining at 40 or 50 years of age that one is just as young as ever is a mighty poor proposition if one deliberately steps out to prove it after a winter's physical lassitude, by way of suddenly over-exercising or indulging violently in outdoor sports.

"Sunshine and exercise are among the cardinal necessities for all. But sudden exertion, or even protracted exertion that is not so sudden can not be indulged in safely by the middle-aged who are not accustomed to it. It is not even good for the college man. This fact is recognized by all trainers who regulate and step-up athletic activities.

"Play golf and other outdoor games if you like them."

WHITE WOLF IS SOUGHT AFTER HERD KILLINGS

By GEORGE E. HELMER United Press Staff Correspondent STANFORD, Mont.—Swift as lightning, cunning as a fox, a bold killer, White Wolf has become the terror of the Little Belt mountains. Ranchers fear him, and, assisted by federal hunters, have constantly sought to remove this big white beast that decreases their herds. But the $700 bounty offered by the stockmen's association for White Wolf's hide remains unclaimed.

The killer wolf has been seen by many. Scores of shots have been fired at him. None has found its mark.

White Wolf is never close enough for a sure shot when he enters the vision of an armed rancher or hunter. But he often appears at close range to unarmed ranchers, as though flaunting his cunning.

Most of his depredations occur during the winter months, when snow makes sight of him difficult. Many hunters have remarked that the killer darts for snow patches when he encounters humans, the snow forming a white background that effectively conceals him.

Travels Alone The wolf has ranged at will for several years, killing cattle, colts and sheep with the ease and skill of a much larger animal. He always travels alone, and his tracks are distinguishable by their size. He is the biggest wolf in the mountains, and the only desperate killer who has managed to elude pursuers and continue his depredations over a long period.

Colts, calves and sheep are not his only prey. He kills full grown cattle with ease. His method of attack consists of swift slashing onslaughts. He hamstringing cattle until they are unable to fight or run. Then, the killing is made comparatively simple.

Total Loss $3,000 The total loss in stock killed in the Little Belt by White Wolf is estimated to be $3,000. C. R. Taylor, Dry Wolf canyon rancher, lost nearly 40 of his cattle to the killer in the past few years. W. I. Hughes, another heavy loser, checks 20 head to White Wolf, while A. J. Goyins declares the white flash killed 10 of his herd. Many other ranchers have lost from one to six animals.

White Wolf was once caught in a trap, but escaped. Since that experience, he has shown uncanny ability to dodge all sort of traps laid for him.

He stayed close to one ranch for an entire month last winter, killing whenever he was short of food. His tracks were seen every day or so, and fleeting glimpses were caught of him, but he never exposed himself to rifle fire.

Periodical and systematic attempts to end his career have failed, and ranchers are looking forward with apprehension to the possibility of another winter when White Wolf will again roam the Little Belt.

RADIO UNIT ON POLICE FORCE

PARIS' LATEST

By N. REYNOLDS PACKARD United Press Staff Correspondent PARIS.—Criminal activities over the radio are becoming so serious in France that the world's first radio police force is being organized to combat this new type of swindler. It will concentrate its efforts in stopping illegal speculations on the franc and on Bourse quotations.

Besides looking after the financial interests of the country, the radio police will also lend international cooperation in the apprehension of thieves, murderers and fugitives of justice of all sorts who are wanted by the police of other countries. The transmission of photographs by radio and the fast sending of all necessary details regarding a criminal or a suspect will be concentrated in this department.

The international side of this radio service will be particularly at the disposition of other countries with the result that law-breakers fleeing from France will find that they have already been formally and minutely introduced to the police of other countries. The scope of the radio police, it is pointed out by officials, is unlimited being dependent only on the ever-increasing improvements of radio science.

The members of this new police unit are being recruited from among radio experts. The regular police who are already acquainted with radio technique are being given preference for the new positions.

A number of people who were speculating on the franc or disposing of stocks and bonds illegally have been found to have sending and receiving sets without a license. Much wild play on Bourse has been due to persons lightening in illegitimately on quotations and being able to sell or buy before the public was aware of what was happening.

If such a service had existed during the last few years many criminals would have been detected, it is said by officials. The little Corsican chief of the French police, Jean Chiappe is understood to be giving the new department his fullest support.

WIFE GIVES IN TO AIR CRAZE; FUTURE PILOT

NEW YORK.—Airlines are far safer than automobiles today and are easier to handle because traffic conditions are far better in the air than on the ground, according to Mrs. Ivan R. Gates, wife of the airplane manufacturer. Ten years ago, Mrs. Gates refused her then husband-to-be permission to pilot an airplane or to fly in one.

Today she is taking instruction herself and will be able to handle a ship herself after a few more hours of flying time. "I used to be afraid to go into the air, but the experience I have had traveling from coast to coast in airplanes of the latest type has caused me to forget this fear," she declared. "In fact, riding as a passenger has become so safe that it also has become boring."

Mrs. Gates took her first ride with one of the early stunt pilots in San Francisco. It frightened her. Mrs. Gates was promoting aviation at this time, and had arranged the ride. When she landed, she refused to marry him unless he promised to stay out of airplanes.

Within the last two years she has forgotten the crash idea, and is now taking instruction.

Mrs. Gates, who is widely known in aeronautical circles, has flown hundreds of thousands of miles, visiting all of the 48 states. Probably no woman who is not a licensed pilot has flown as far.

"Traveling in an airplane is best," she said. "I've gotten to a point now, however, where I don't want to go where the pilots want to go—I want to take a trip or two myself."

"Traffic conditions are such that I get less and less pleasure from driving and more and more from flying."

Kaiser's Exile To End Monday As Act Expires

Wilhelm Not Likely to Return to Germany.

By FREDERICK KUH
 United Press Staff Correspondent.
 BERLIN, July 20.—The question as to whether the former Kaiser will return to Germany has arisen again because, on Monday, the Defense of the Republic law will expire and the virtual exile of the Wilhelm monarch will come to an end.

It is considered extremely doubtful, however, if Wilhelm intends to leave Doorn and return to the land over which he once reigned.

Von Hindenburg-Wildau, a Nationalist leader, has informed the United Press that he believes failure to prolong the defense of the republic act would have no practical effect. One of the Reichstag's most heated debates occurred over the government's measure to have the act prolonged. The vote was 263 for and 165 against, but a two-thirds majority was necessary for passage.

The Nationalists battled stubbornly against the prolongation of the law, principally, it was believed because of the so-called "Kaiser Paragraph." The Fascists and communists, as well as members of the economic party, voted against the bill.

The Nationalists fought so hard against the measure, Von Hindenburg-Wildau said, only to defeat the discriminatory legislation against the former ruler, restoring him at least to the privileges of ordinary German citizens and permitting him to live on German soil. Moreover, he added, it will remove the stigma which the law hitherto had fixed to the one-time emperor.

The result of the session was of great interest, especially in view of the fact that the members of the economic party hitherto—either neutral on many questions or else favoring the government, joined the opposition in the fight against the protection of the republic measure. It is understood that the economic party voted largely in revenge because of a government housing measure it has fought.

The storm of the Reichstag session rose to its height when the Socialist minister Severing declared that the government was ready to apply Paragraph 48 of the Constitution in the event that the bill for the law prolongation was not passed. Paragraph 48 vests a temporary dictatorship in the president and the minister of defense, excluding the Reichstag.

This virtually was a signal for the most riotous, most hectic scene witnessed on the floor of the Reichstag in its history, shouting, cat-calling and hissing greeted the minister when he made the threat, although many of the members were unwilling to believe the government would resort to such measures.

AUTO ACCIDENT SERIOUS
 BY UNITED PRESS
 DALLAS, July 20.—Virginia Stoney, 14, and Junita Joyce, 5, remained in serious condition at St. Paul's hospital here today as a result of an auto accident near Irving, Dallas county, late Friday in which five children were injured. The accident occurred when the driver of the car in which the children were riding tried to pass a truck on a bridge. The car

 Mechanic Declares He Feels Like New Since Taking Orgatone

"Two or three weeks no Orgatone actually put an end to my indigestion and made me feel like a new man," said F. B. Blackburn, mechanic for the Gulf Pipe and Welding company and residing at 400 Ave. G, Cisco, Texas, in relating his experience with Orgatone.

"One day after eating," he continued, "I had an awful attack of indigestion and for several days I was a mighty sick man. I felt that I could hardly breathe there would be black streaks before my eyes and spots floating before my eyes. I would get so dizzy I could hardly stand up. My appetite practically nothing and my stomach was so coated that I could not taste it. I was so nervous and restless I could not sleep. I tried doctoring myself, but in the end of the medicine I took I became much worse, and suffered agony, that it just looked like I was ever going to do me good."

He read and read so much about the new Orgatone treatment that I thought I would give it a trial to be frank with you I did not have much faith in it at first, I had been disappointed so often I began to improve right from the first and in a week I felt much better. I kept on taking the medicine and it continued to fix me up and along and I have gotten entirely over my indigestion and can have anything I want and the pains in my back and sides have disappeared entirely. I believe that everybody in our neighborhood is taking Orgatone and praising it for the good it is doing them.

Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a scientific bile treatment and is sold in Eastland exclusively by Tombs and Richardson, who are the laboratory agents.—Ad.

New Compressed Gas For Cooking

Stargas, a compressed natural gas which has just been introduced here, brings the many conveniences of natural gas for all cooking purposes without the necessity of gas mains. Stargas equipment includes two cylinders of Stargas which is piped from outside the house to the kitchen stove where it is burned exactly like natural gas.

In fact Stargas is natural gas, produced by the Lone Star Gas company, which has been purified and compressed in steel cylinders, thus being made portable. In the purification process only the hottest burning factors are retained so Stargas gives an exceptionally high heating, clean, blue sootless flame.

Because Stargas equipment is individual, a continuous supply of gas delivered at constant pressure is assured. This is an advantage over the usual city gas service.

Stargas is not to be confused with gasoline burning pressure equipment for Stargas is real gas made available for convenient use to home makers for a cooking fuel. Gas has always been known as the ideal cooking fuel and Stargas is natural gas improved through purification.

This latest gas service is produced by the Lone Star Gas company and is supplied by the local gas company.

TENTH WRECK VICTIM FOUND

DENVER, Colo., July 20.—Officials of the Rock Island railroad here today announced that all bodies of the dead in the wreck of the crack Colorado express, near Stratton, Colo., Thursday, had been recovered today.

The officials, however, were not certain whether the body of Miss Julia Carlie, 21, of New York, had been found in the wreckage.

Ruth May Be Out For Weeks, Says Huggins

CLEVELAND, O., July 20.—"It may be days, weeks, or months before Babe Ruth is able to get back into the lineup," said Miller Huggins, New York Yankees pilot, in commenting on the Bambino's accident in pulling a muscle in his left leg at Detroit Wednesday.

Babe was hurt during the final game of the Detroit series. Huggins continued his pessimism by recalling that some players who suffered the same sort of injury Ruth is suffering, had to give up active playing because their hurts would not heal.

Huggins, however, denied vigorously that he had said Ruth's baseball career was ended.

"Babe's muscles do not respond to treatment as readily now as when he was a few years younger but it is too early yet to predict the end of his playing career," Huggins said.

Ex-Ranger Hurt As Auto Skids

LAREDO, July 20.—Ex-Ranger Captain Will Ryan, is suffering loss of his death and injuries on his neck as the result of his car skidding into a ditch near Dilley, when he attempted to pass a truck late yesterday.

Captain Ryan is one of the best known men in the Rio Grande valley and is now in the citrus growing industry here. His mother resides at Luling.

sleeping which carried at least nine persons to their deaths has been tilted on its end and will be removed from Spring creek late today.

STRATTON, Colo., July 20.—Mud soaked debris of the wreck of the crack Rock Island Colorado express had yielded its tenth and probably last victim today as a host of investigations got under way to fix the blame for the disaster.

Probing into the far corner of the ill-fated St. Louis-Colorado Springs pullman that plunged into a ravine Tuesday Thursday when a flood weakened bridge gave way, rescuers found the body of Miss Julia Carlie, 21, New York City, bringing the death toll to 10 and clearing up the list of missing.

Third Session Legislature Is Over Saturday

Texas Legislative Body In Session 144 of 201 Days; 2173 Bills Presented; 667 Reach Governor's Desk.

AUSTIN, July 20.—The third special session of the 41st legislature is over. It was adjourned at noon, legislative time, and at 9:15 Central Standard Time. Clocks were turned forward to noon in both the house and senate. Present in the senate were Senators Russak, Neal, Hornsby and Love. Present in the house were Representatives Giles, Williams, Forbes, Davis and Tillotson.

The fiction of remaining in session until today had been carried out save local bills that were introduced after Governor Moody's last message to the legislature. Legally no bill can be offered within three days of adjournment.

When adjournment was taken today the legislature had been in session 144 of the 201 days of the year. This is 24 days longer than the proposed 120 days single session provided for in a constitutional amendment that is to be voted upon in November. If that amendment carries 60 days of a session will be devoted to committee work.

During the sessions this year 2,173 bills were presented and 667 were passed and reached the governor's desk. He has until Aug. 9 to veto bills of the last called session.

HOLD SALES INVALID.

AUSTIN, July 20.—Outright sales of University of Texas lands made since 1895 are invalid, the attorney general's department has ruled. The statute based then did not provide methods for outright sales. There have been few attempted outright sales. Most university land has been leased. Two tracts totaling about 140 acres in Lamar county were the occasion for the ruling.

TO CONVERT 100 PEN CENT CRUDE OIL TO GASOLINE

TULSA, Ok., July 19.—How 100 per cent of a barrel of crude oil can be converted into motor gasoline will be shown at the Sixth International Petroleum exposition here, Oct. 5-12, if plans of Wm. B. Way, exposition manager, are successful.

Unless the company holding American rights to the Gorman hydrogenation process considers the October dates of the oil show too early to demonstrate the process the exposition manager is confident that an exhibit at the petroleum fair will be arranged. The Standard Oil of New Jersey interests hold the American rights to the process.

According to technologists who have studied the process this invention enables man to turn every gallon of crude oil into gasoline and to manufacture quantities of gasoline and other products from lignites, low grade coal or oil shales.

All-District Encampment Begins Monday; to Last Three Days.

Cisco extends a welcome to the boys of the F. F. T. chapters of this district to attend the first all-district encampment at Lake Cisco beginning Monday to last three days. All chapter members, vocational teachers and sponsors of chapters are eligible to attend the encampment which is to be located at the wooded grounds just north of the Williamson Dam viaduct.

In the neighborhood of 200 persons are expected to be present for the three days of the camp. Shelter for the boys and those in charge of the outing will be provided in the form of tents.

A fee of $2 will be charged each boy to take care of the cost of meals and employment of a cook. This fee will be collected by the vocational teacher of the district from which the F. F. T. member comes. Fishing and swimming privileges will be available at a very reduced cost.

A telegram from E. R. Alexander, head of the department of vocational teacher training at A. and M. college, and organizer and sponsor of the F. F. T. A member of the state board for vocational education will also be present.

K. N. Greer, manager of the R. and R. Theatres of Cisco, will be host to the boys at a free vitaphone show at the Palace at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. The name of picture will be "The Time, the Place and the Girl". Registration begins at 9 o'clock Monday morning to continue until 12 noon.

New Ford Car Scores Again

Repeated victories by the model A Ford in the Buenos Aires—Mar del Plata—Buenos Aires race in Argentina has resulted in a ruling barring it from competing hereafter in its own price class, although it may enter other classes and compete against cars of much higher price, according to N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc. The model A entered one of the higher classes in a recent run and won first place. Numerous reports have been received of victories for the Model A Ford in European competitions. A tornado at Wynne, Ark., according to a Memphis newspaper, hurled a heavy barn and nine tons of hay on top of a closed Ford car belonging to J. H. Taylor, the impact being so great that the car was forced into the ground up to the hubs. The steel body remained uncrushed and after a half day of drifting to get the vehicle out Mr. Taylor put his foot on the starter and drove to town.

V. W. Perry, mail carrier of Oak Grove, Missouri, was caught in high water during the spring floods and forced to abandon his car, a model A Tudor. By evening

Interscholastic League Changes To Be Effected

Raise Junior Age Limit; High School Baseball May Be Installed.

AUSTIN, July 20.—Several changes will be in the new edition of the constitution and rules of the University of Texas interscholastic league, according to Roy Bedichek, chief of the league bureau.

Some of these changes were recommended to the state executive committee by the last state meeting of delegates. They include raising of the age limits for juniors from 14 to 15 years. The new schedule of ages for the three divisions in league contests will therefore be: Sub-juniors, under 10; juniors, 10 to 15; seniors, more than 15 and less than 20.

Another change recommended by the last state meeting requires bi-district eliminations in all four divisions in tennis before contestants may be qualified for the state meet. Definite provision to be included in the debating rules for disqualifying a team, either member of which exceeds the time limits set forth in the rules, and installation of a high school baseball contest on the same general lines now in force for determining regional championships in Class B football are other changes recommended to the state executive committee.

Two charges originating with the state committee to meet urgent demands from school members provide for installation of a new contest for county meets in art memory along the lines now in use in determining county contests in music memory and for installation of regional contests in still life or charcoal, still life in color and clay modeling for qualification to the State meet in these events.

Storey Gives Views In His Announcement

By RAYMOND BROOKS AUSTIN, July 19.—Rep. Cecil Storey of Vernon Friday announced his candidacy for attorney general in the 1930 democratic primaries.

Mr. Storey has been a member of the legislature for eight years and for the past 20 years has been engaged in general law practice in Wilbarger county. He is a graduate of the University of Texas.

Mr. Storey is a native of Freestone county. In his announcement he said: "My services of eight years in the Texas legislature, of which I am now a member, has given me an opportunity to study and to learn the rights and needs of the state for efficient service in the attorney general's office, and I promise to endeavor to protect these rights and to secure these needs if I am elected attorney general. "The departments of government, as set forth in the constitution, should be not only respected, but the division and the power thus delegated therein should be guarded in the most zealous and jealous manner. The duties of attorney general are designated by the constitution and statutes, and, if elected, I will discharge these duties with scrupulous fidelity, economy and efficiency."

Mr. Storey said his law practice and legislative experience have given him contact with many persons, and that "I hold to a confident belief that my friends will speak for me in every precinct of the state."

Department May Be Reorganized

Faculty Committee to Furnish Report Relating to Texas University Athletics

AUSTIN, July 20.—The report of a committee of faculty members relative to a reorganization of the athletic department at the University of Texas will be made to the board of regents in September, it has been learned here.

The committee is already at work in studying the plan of organization in other universities. Dean V. I. Moore, a member of the committee, has recently returned from a tour of Middle Western universities. One plan, which it has been learned is being considered as a result of Dean Moore's findings, is to place all athletics, both men's and women's, under a single director who will have charge of every department.

It is not known whether L. Theo Bellmont who was ousted several months ago as a director will be considered for the new post, if it is created, or not.

Uncle Billy Disch, veteran baseball coach at the university, is looked upon as a likely appointee.

The SHINING TALENT

By ELEANOR EARLY

THIS HAS HAPPENED
MOLLY BURNHAM, collegiate waitress, is trying her wings. The day Molly graduated from college she inherited $10,000. And a few days later her sweetheart, JACK WELLS, left Boston to work in New York.

Molly comes from a little town called Snodgrass in Wisconsin. Her parents were expecting her to return to them, immediately after graduation. They expected to announce Molly's engagement, for she had told them all about Jack.

But Molly, when she receives word of her inheritance, resolves not to return to Snodgrass, but to taste sweet freedom and independence. Her mother writes, advising her to emulate the virtues of her Aunt Minnie, who left Molly the tidy small fortune that makes her feel so free and brave.

But Molly, in the parlance of her crowd, is "fed up" on Snodgrass, and the virtues of Aunt Minnie. They very thought of teas and showers makes her blood run cold, she tells Jack.

And so—discouraged by her sweetheart and her parents—she begins to live her own life, and to seek expression for her scathing wit. She gets work on a newspaper and becomes, very shortly, an especial writer. Her biggest thrill comes when she is assigned to cover a murder trial.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER IX

It was a celebrated trial, to which many out-of-town papers sent their star reporters. One New York paper had three men and a sob sister there. Even the society reporters showed up, which was most unusual, as society reporters are customarily wed to respectability. But then this was a most unusual trial.

The defendant was an artist, a society artist, the paper called him, which meant that he had a very fashionable following. He was a handsome man, and the petted darling of many smart women.

Although Lionel Barrows seemed an esthetic type, he had engaged in a love affair that had, apparently, no esthetic side. The woman was beautiful and infamous. And now she was dead. Barrows was charged with her murder.

There had been a lengthy investigation, during which many men were questioned. For some time Barrows' name had been kept out of it. His aunt was a very wealthy dowager, and socially prominent. And he had friends among the most influential people in the city.

But the district attorney's office, it developed, had its eagle eye all the while on the slim, handsome artist. And one day Barrows without so much as preliminary questioning, was placed summarily under arrest.

"How," asked the city editor the Saturday night, "how would you like, Miss Burnham, to cover a murder trial?"

"Don't kid me," she besought him. "That's cruelty to girls."

"But I mean it," he grinned. "It's Barrows' case—Charlie Ryan's running story, and we're getting a slim along for high light. There's a lot of woman stuff that I'm isn't going to get. It'll be meat for you. All those society dames, ogling their little Boy Blue. And Boy Blue on trial for the meanest murder on record."

"You don't mean..." Molly gasped, breathless.

"Like I mean it," insisted the city editor. "Why not? You can do it, can't you?"

"Oh, I can. I know I can. Mr. Wharton, I'd love to. It's just wonderful of you to let me. It's—oh, it's perfectly glorious."

Wharton grinned amiably. "It's a story like this to give you the breaks," he observed. "But don't put the horks in Barrows, Molly. I don't believe they've done any good on him. Guilty as he is and all that. But he has a good chance of getting off. We don't convict a man in the newspapers, you know."

"Well, lay off Barrows," he admonished.

That night Molly stayed at the office until dawn, reading hundreds of clippings that told of the murder of Bernice Bradford, ex-artist's model, who lived and died in florid splendor in the most exclusive residential section of the city.

Bernice was not a good girl. But she had been a rarely beautiful girlhood photographs, supported by her heart-broken mother, loved that. She had been a slim, the thing, with a crimson mouth, golden hair, and little, twin-hands.

Many men had valued her charms sufficiently to pay bills were many and varied. Bernice had driven an expensive car, kept an expensive maid, had beautiful clothes, and lived in a costly apartment.

The medical examiner said he never seen a woman so perfect in death. Her hair framed her white face like a cloud of glory, and she looked, in death, more like a saint than a sinner.

For all her still and lovely face, Bernice Bradford had died a painful death. She had been

Barrows' lawyers would contend might have been suicide. Neither was prepared to explain the mystery of the wedding gown that lay in Bernice's closet. The state naturally declare that a man anticipating marriage would hardly commit suicide. The case, on the other hand, was met to allege that the girl might have met her death at the hands of an unknown slayer—the man whom she expected to marry. Barrows being married, would be eliminated from that assumption of the case.

A Quick Change on the Beach

In Portland, Ore., the girls have found out how to get in and out of their bathing suits even when no dressing room is available. A top frame of wire, cloth enough to reach the ground, and shoulder straps to hold it up complete the portable dressing room—as demonstrated here by two fair bathers.

Molly went to the reference room (the morgue, they called it, in newspaper parlance) and studied pictures of Bernice and the artist. The girl was lovely in a wild flower sort of way. Tempestuous, with daring eyes, and willful lips, and a mad smile.

Lionel Barrows had a narrow mouth, and a thin face. His forehead was high, and he wore his hair rather long, in the fashion of a poet. He had the wide eyes of a dreamer, and a beautiful Roman nose. It was impossible, Molly thought, to imagine him committing murder.

"After all," she reflected, "you never can tell."

And that night she made many observations in her notebook. A story was shaping itself in her mind. The story of a woman who died for love. In imagination Molly could create the woman. And the man worth dying for would be a man like Jack. She could fashion the characters, she knew. Perhaps the trial of Barrows would furnish the plot.

On Sunday, cleaning out her dressing table drawer, Molly came upon a little verse she had torn from a newspaper the day she was graduated from college. It was some time since she had seen it, and she read it aloud:

"A girl she had her hope and chance,
But Fate was thwarted by a glance,
A look that set her heart afire,
So genius died, for warm desire.

Yet still the phantom visions glow,
Although a world will never know
The Shining Talent that was dead
So soon as that bright soul was wed.

A dull and stodgy wife is she,
And dark the flame that used to be,
But always come to torture her
The dreams of things that never were.

So this is the song of the wife—
Ah, what have I done with my life?"

Later, as she was hurrying to the corner for a jar of cream for coffee, she met a messenger with a special delivery for her. Jack put a special stamp on his Saturday letters, so she might always hear from him on Sundays. There were some boys coming out from the office for Welsh rarebit that night, and Molly thrust the letter in her bag. She would open it later. It was so nice to read Jack's letters leisurely. He wrote the sweetest letters in the world, she thought.

Conversation that evening revolved about the Barrows trial. The crowd congratulated Molly so warmly that she began to feel as if she had already arrived.

"Atta girl," approved Slim Boynton. "You're the best darn newspaper woman in the city, and I'll bet you haven't cut your wisdom teeth yet. Don't go and get married now, Molly, and cramp your style."

Red Flynn elaborated. "Say, we had a kid in the office once—wonderful little kid. What a future that kid might had! And what do you think she did? Went and married a filing clerk! Nobody's heard a peep out of her since."

Molly laughed. "Look, boys!" she cried, and showed them the little torn clipping. "This is my battle cry. My hymn of freedom."

"Well, I'll be darned!" Slim gave a long, amazed whistle. "Who do you suppose wrote that thing? Helen Whats-Her-Name—you know—the girl that married Roger Wells. She was on the old Record. Smart kid, too. She meant

A RESOLUTION

To Hon. Hry Brelsford, Chairman Pro Tem, Eastland County Bar Assn:

We, your committee on resolutions upon the death of our brother, Hon. R. B. Truly, beg leave to report as follows:

Robert Bennett Truly was born in Shelby county, Tex., Feb. 2, 1856. He was a son of Joseph Camp Truly, a noted surgeon, who served during the Civil War as physician to the army of Gen. J. E. B. Stuart, the dashing Confederate soldier.

Brother Truly was educated at the University of Kentucky where his father had also received his degree. At the age of 19 years he came to Eastland county and was the second school teacher in the county and was also the second county and district clerk of Eastland county, serving in that capacity for six years.

On Dec. 23, 1877 he was married to Miss Velpen Johnson, a sister to Dr. Johnson and Tom Johnson, both still of Eastland, and to the pair there survive the following children:

Mrs. D. J. Carethers of Wichita Falls, Mrs. C. E. Lewis of Wichita Falls, Miss Sybil Truly of the Texas Bonded Abstract Co., of Eastland, and Miss Genevieve Truly, with the county clerk's office of Eastland. Two children died in infancy. Five grandchildren survive.

Judge Truly was admitted to the bar in 1882 and for more than 45 years has been an honored member of this learned profession. He has never aspired to public office, but on many occasions he has served as special judge of the district court and has also served as special judge of the appellate court.

Leaving Eastland county, he opened a law office at Ballinger, Tex., where he was for many years a partner with the late Judge John I. Guion, and the firm was recognized for two decades as one of the strongest firms in western Texas and enjoyed a wide practice.

In 1918 he returned to Eastland county where he resided until his death on July 15, 1929.

Judge Truly was a member of the Masonic lodge and revered its tenets and practiced its precepts. For half a century he was a loyal member of the Methodist church, in which faith he died triumphant.

His last words to his bereaved family were "Live in Love and Peace," which had been the guiding principle of his life. Judge Truly had not an enemy on earth and his every act and deed was inspired by motives of the highest and purest. This committee has never heard one single word of censure or criticism on the life or works of R. B. Truly from any human lips.

No greater lawyer has ever practiced at this bar, and no purer Christian man, loving husband, devoted father nor better citizen has ever been laid to rest in our soil, than our dear brother, R. B. Truly.

Your committee recommends that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of each of our district courts and a copy be furnished the wife of Judge Truly and that the virtues of our departed brother be emulated by all man-

1913 Chevrolet Still In Use

SAN ANTONIO, July 20—A Chevrolet with a chassis built in 1913, a full year before the World War began, and a motor that was assembled when our doughboys were encamping back in 1917, is still in daily use at Goliad, Texas.

It is called "Spark Plug" by its proud owner, Hugo Wilks, and of the millions of Chevrolets in use today on both hemispheres, it is perhaps the oldest.

True, the 1929 Chevrolet with its smooth six cylinder motor can out-climb, out-speed and out-haul it. True, too, that "Spark Plug" appears a bit antediluvian when contrasted with the handsome new Fisher bodies of the 1929 Chevrolet. But "Spark Plug" can do plenty of climbing, speeding and hauling on its own account and is beyond question an outstanding example of a long-lived and dependable automobile.

On several occasions Wilks has kind an express the fond hopes that we shall again clasp the hand of Judge Truly, in that blessed land, "where the roses of youth never fade from the cheeks and lips never murmur farewell."

IS GLAD TO SEE HIS PALS

It's pretty hard to be laid up with a broken leg, especially if you are a restless, healthy 15-year old boy, and more especially hard in this frizzly weather. But that's what has happened to Ned Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Jones. Ned "shot the chutes" at Bass lake several days ago and went at the game too hard. When he dragged himself out of the water he tried to stand but found the bones of one leg had pushed clear through the flesh and skin. His two pals, who had been playing around with him in his little striped "Lizzy", came to his aid and took him to a hospital and then broke the news to his parents. Ned was carried home last week and will have to lie on his back for a while. His plaster cast is not as cool this weather as it might be. His fever has been high but he is much better at this writing. Ned's mother said the boy would be glad to see his pals.

Expect Grain Embargo Lift In Short Time

GALVESTON, July 20.—Confidence was expressed by port officials here today that the embargo on grain placed in effect by railroads Thursday midnight would be lifted within a short time.

Twenty-six steamers had been booked last night to transport approximately 1,000,000 bushels of grain between now and the end of month.

A parley between grain men and steamship line officials, as well as brokers and port officials was held last night at which it was voted to urge the city commission to immediately appoint Capt. T. J. Anderson as harbor master so as to facilitate the movement of vessels from pier to pier.

Galveston grain elevators are now working on a 24-hour a day schedule, and will continue thusly until the present congestion is cleared up.

EARLY BRITISH SECRETS YIELD TO EXCAVATION

LONDON—A determined campaign to wrest from long-buried ruins the secrets of early Britain is being waged the length and the breadth of the English countryside.

The summer months are the "digging season" in England and the ghosts of the Celts, Romans and Saxons are trooping to new retreats, driven from their ancient haunts by the pick and shovel assault of the archaeologists.

"Probably never before has such interest been shown in historic and prehistoric Britain," Dr. R. E. M. Wheeler, keeper of the London museum and one of England's foremost archaeologists, told the United Press.

"Archaeological excavation has become one of the recognized sights of out summer countryside. During the next few months, excavators hope to throw new light on many periods of this island's existence.

The modern trend of the excavating methods, Dr. Wheeler pointed out, is indicated by the use of the airplane at the old Roman town of Caistor-by-Norwich. An aerial photograph was taken of the cornfield where the town was known to lie and the Roman streets were revealed in the picture as shaded lines in the ripening corn.

Air Photography Necessity
Working from the photograph, it was possible to locate the Roman temples and baths and the probable site of the forum. The Roman walls and towers also were discovered.

"Air photography may henceforth be regarded as a necessity to the field-archaeologist," Dr. Wheeler said. "In the past, the ruins of this region contributed little to the archaeology of Britain and the Roman remains of the county were almost unknown. Now all that is changed; the air photograph was irresistible."

Near Dunstable in Bedfordshire, the University College Anthropological society is working on a huge mound containing stone age, bronze age and Saxon relics.

The mound was built about 1500 B. C. for the burial of a woman whose skeleton was found with a flint knife at its side. In a higher stratum were found bronze age implements including a bronze urn containing burnt bones.

The mound was used later by the Roman conquerors for the burial of slaughtered prisoners. The skeletons of 50 men were found with indications that they had been slain with their hands fastened behind their backs. The excavators believe the victims may have been the remnant of some defeated Saxon raiding party in the fifth century, A. D.

Two Celtic Villages
Two Celtic villages which flourished at the time of Julius Caesar's invasion are being carefully studied. At Meare, near Glastonbury, the Somerset Archaeological society is excavating a town which was built on piles in a marsh, apparently for security. The town was composed of circular huts, occupied by farmers and hardsmen.

At Lydney on the Severn, another type of natural defence was found. The village was built on hillsops and was protected by earth works.

Hadrian's wall, which marked the limit of Roman dominion, is undergoing continual excavation. Recently large estates traversed by the wall were sold, presumably to persons interested in archaeology. The government has scheduled the wall under the ancient monuments act, thus insuring its preservation.

"Apart from the wall," Dr. Wheeler said, "the most important Roman site now under excavation is that of the legionary fortress at Caerleon, near Newport, in Monmouthshire. Work is already in progress upon the Roman defenses and barrack-blocks in the western corner of the fortress and this work will be supplemented in August by the excavation of the eastern corner of the fortress."

Anterix Found
Among the important discoveries in the fortress was an anterix, or ornamental tile stamped with a cross. It is believed to be the earliest evidence of Christianity in England.

"Many of the excavations on medieval sites are being made at places which are regularly visited by American tourists, Dr. Wheeler pointed out.

At Canterbury the Saxon monastery founded by St. Augustine, the first archbishop, is being explored and it is believed that the remains of the Saxon cloister have been uncovered. If the ruins actually prove to be the cloister, it will be the oldest monastic structure in Europe.

New York checked the Pittsburgh Pirates, at New York, winning 4 to 1, when Carl Hubbel held the leaders to six hits. The Giants made only eight hits but their blows were timely.
