Tennessee Mob Hangs Negro Youth For Assault

Old Age Pensions and Their Need
A measure to authorize the director of the census to collect statistics regarding the need of old age pensions, fathered by Rep. Swing, (R.) of California, will engage the attention of the national lawmakers until the census taking bill has been enacted.

Among the information collected would be the number of men and women in the republic 65 years old and older, who possess an assured income of less than that which ordinarily would be received from $5,000.

On the day that the Swing amendment was introduced Wall Street sheared 5,000,000 lambs and in the shearing the lambs lost a billion dollars in paper profits.

As for the old rams under Wall Street skies they know how to feather their own nests. They will never need old age pensions.

Why Secret Roll Calls?
Why secret roll calls in the Senate on the nomination and confirmation of men who are named for high places in the federal government? Why not open doors? Why closed doors? Why bar newspaper representatives? Why keep the real facts from the American people?

Pres. Hoover has a splendid opportunity to sound a note of warning to the American senators in defense of the freedom of the press and the constitutional rights of the people to be told in the columns of the daily press what is going on at all times in governmental circles in the city of Washington.

Prohibition for Mexico
Pres. Portes Gil is a total abstainer. He believes that Mexicans will become law abiding and thrifty and prosperous when they abandon the use as beverage of hard liquors. He would prohibit the manufacture and sale of hard liquor, including the Mexican distillations of an alcoholic content so great that the kick of a mule is mild in comparison.

He would substitute for all these wines and ales and beer.
Pres. Portes Gil of Mexico would go half the road. Another rebellion will be placed on tap in Mexico. As for Mexicans in Texas, without the necessary papers to protect their citizenship, Secy. of Labor James J. Davis is on their trail. In the language of the man in the street, "He is zonta run 'em out."

As for employers of Mexican labor, Minority Leader John N. Garner has sounded the warning that the Box amendment calling for the application of the quota to the immigration act will be enacted in law by the congress early in the coming month of December.

Class Year Book Attractive Volume
An appropriately beautiful book which has been filled in the office of the Telegram is a 1929 copy of the Maverick, Eastland high school year book.

The volume is dedicated to Miss Ima Ruth Kelley, English instructor. The Maverick contains the class list and class history of the class of '29 and departments are devoted to each class of the school. Seven departments are incorporated in the volume, as listed below: Faculty, School Popularity, Clubs, Athletics, Snap Shots, and Jokes and Amusements.

Copies of the Maverick may be secured at the high school.

Jail Doors Battered Down By Angry Men

Negro Before He Is "Strung Up" Admits Attacking White Woman

ALAMO, Tenn., May 29.—Joe Boxley, 18, negro accused of attacking Mrs. Johnnie James, wife of a Crockett county magistrate, was taken from Alamo jail by a mob today and lynched near here.

The mob had sought possession of the negro youth since late yesterday, when he was lodged in Gibson county jail at Trenton. Only the quick work of Sheriff C. A. Bradshaw saved him from being lynched last night.

Approximately 1,000 men milled about the Gibson county jail last night and demanded the negro be turned over to them. When Sheriff Bradshaw refused and pleaded with them to allow the law to take its course, they battered down the jail door.

On the inside Bradshaw pleaded with the mob not to disgrace their town and county. They finally were quieted early today and Boxley was spirited out of town to Alamo.

The mob followed officers, however, and shortly before daybreak succeeded in entering the jail and removing the negro youth.

He was taken out of town and hanged to a tree.

The negro's body was recovered by officers shortly before noon. It was dangling by the neck from a rope attached to a tree. Officials said no action was planned against the mob.

Boxley confessed to the assault just before the mob obtained possession of him, Sheriff Emerson said here.

Mrs. James was reported in a critical condition today.

Missing Teacher and Girl Pupil Located

AUTIN, Tex., May 29.—After exactly four months' disappearance Jack Freith alias Jack Griffith and Fannie Lee Minter, his 16 year old swimming pupil, have been found at New Bedford, Mass. Sheriff Coley White left for there last night with a requisition for Freith. Miss Minter's parents have asked that she return also.

The girl's disappearance was reported first to the police. Little anxiety was felt until it was ascertained that she had not gone to visit a brother.

Exposes "Secret Vote" in Senate

Paul R. Mallon, above, chief of the United Press Bureau at the capitol at Washington, was cited to appear before the Senate rules committee and reveal from what source he obtained a roll call of senators voting in executive session on the nomination of ex-Senator Irving L. Lenroot of Wisconsin as a customs judge. Meanwhile, privilege of the Senate floor was denied Mallon, but Senator La Follette nullified this by barring all correspondents from the floor.

State Briefs

CALDWELL, Tex., May 29.—Heavy rains were blamed today for the suicide of Louis Mais, 49. His body was found Tuesday suspended from the end of a rope. Mais' crop had been choked by weeds which had grown unmoistened for some time due to excessive rains. His field had been washed out by the heavy precipitation. Mais' widow and six children survive.

GROESBECK, Tex., May 29.—Losing both legs when he fell under a slow moving freight train at noon today, Arthur Walker, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Walker of Groesbeck, was not expected to live. The boy had evidently attempted to hop the freight at a brick yard when he fell.

AUSTIN, Tex., May 29.—The Supreme Court today upheld the ordinance of the city of Dallas for health examination of public school pupils. Validity of the ordinance had been attacked by Fred T. Mosely and other citizens.

Class Exercises Are Conducted For Ward Schools

Commencement exercises of the Eastland grammar school were conducted this afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock, in the high school auditorium. Pupils of both West Ward and South Ward schools took part in the program.

Class honors went to Barbara Arnold, valedictorian, and Jane Connelley, salutatorian, in the South Ward; and to Richard White, valedictorian, and Dorothy Day, salutatorian, in the West Ward.

DR. ROBERT HYER DIES IN DALLAS

DALLAS, Tex., May 29.—Dr. Robert Stewart Hyer, 66, president emeritus of Southern Methodist university, died suddenly at his home here this morning. He had been in poor health for two years.

Dr. Hyer came to Dallas in 1920 when Southern Methodist university was established. He had been president of Southwestern university in Georgetown, Texas.

Many Floats Being Arranged For Big Parade

The Thursday Afternoon Club will, enter a handsome decorated float in the Court House dedication parade tomorrow.

The inspiration for the decoration and motif was furnished by Mrs. H. O. Tatum.

The committee is composed of Mrs. J. C. Patterson, chairman with Mmes. Tatum, James Horton, Grady Pipkin, Joseph M. Perkins, B. M. Collier, Harry Sample and G. W. Mullings.

The Music Club of Eastland committee are arranging a very lovely car, to be done in the club colors, green and white.

Personnel of committee, Mrs. Wayne Jones, chairman, with Mmes. Turner Collier, T. J. Haley, and T. J. Pitts.

The Civic League will enter a handsome float, arranged by the committee, Mrs. Swearingen, chairman, with Mmes. Glascock, W. A. Weigand, and W. E. Staller.

The Alpha Delphians are planning an unusual float, with decorations in charge of Mrs. Luther Bean, chairman, and committee, Mmes. Walker Hart, Grady Owen, and May Harrison.

It is understood that the P-T-A's will have floats in the parade.

The Beter Homes committee will enter a home building idea, the inspiration of chairman for the floats, Mrs. J. M. Ferrell, committee, Mmes. Tom Harrell, W. Z. Outward, and J. A. Beard.

Floods Take Toll Of Life And Property

High water in sections of South and East Texas today had taken a toll of at least two lives and flooded thousands of acres of cotton and other crop lands.

No estimate of the crop damage could be learned but it was sure to run in many thousands of dollars. Cattle and poultry also suffered, in some instances being carried away by the swift currents of streams overflowing their banks.

Harry Mike of Lockhart was killed near Temple when his car skidded during a storm. He suffered a broken neck. J. T. Terrell, 84, was drowned near San Marcos while trying to lead his cow out of the path of the high water.

Forty seven men employed at a construction camp near Blanco scrambled to safety when flood waters sweeping down the Blanco river and a tributary creek converged at their camp. All gained the safety of tree tops on an island created by the flood waters and were saved from drowning.

FREE LUNCH WILL NOT BE GIVEN

Contrary to a belief that seems to have been increasing during the past few days that the dedication luncheon at Whiteway park will be a free lunch with barbecue, the announcement is made by the dedication officials that only several barrels of lemonade and ice water will be furnished free.

Boy, 6, Convicted of Murder

A sentence of 15 years in the reformatory was imposed on Carl Newton Mahan, 6-year-old boy, of Paintsville, Ky., after a jury found him guilty of manslaughter. In a quarrel over some scrap iron, the boy killed Cecil Van Hoose, his 8-year-old playmate, by firing a shot gun at him. In the higher court the verdict was set aside.

Albany Ranks First In Golf Association

Golf matches played thus far in the Oil Belt Golf association tournament, give Albany the lead with three wins, and Eastland and Breckenridge rank equally with two wins each. Eastland and Ranger have tied, giving Eastland no lost matches. The tie will be played off at some indefinite date soon.

One point is given each club in the association for winning a match. Nothing is given for losing. However, every individual player in the circuit is given a point for playing and three points for winning.

Point standing of the individual players who rank highest, with nine points each, include Nall, Lowery and Russ of Albany; Jenkins of Mineral Wells; Lyman of Breckenridge, and Badger and Couch of Thurber.

Two trophies will be given at the end of the season, one for the team winning the largest number of matches and one for the individual golfer who scores the greatest number of points during the playing season.

Teams comprising the Oil Belt Golf association are from Ranger, Eastland, Albany, Breckenridge, Thurber and Mineral Wells.

Senior Class Play Shows Comedy Talent

A group of beautiful girls, a sanitarium for the mentally ill, and incarcerated speed maniac, and a hard-boiled speed cop, from the characters around which the plot in "Who Wouldn't Be Crazy?" Eastland school senior class play was presented in the high school auditorium Tuesday night.

High histrionic talent in comedy channels was shown in the play, which was witnessed by a capacity audience.

"Speedy" Marshall, young speed demon, is forced into the sanitarium against his wishes. There he meets the peach of a girl who is visiting one of her sick friends. His incarceration thereafter is a pleasure. The fair maid is kidnapped and "Speedy" flies to her rescue in his airplane accompanied by the flying field by "Hardboiled" McCafferty, a matrocycle policeman who furnished a touch of Irish to the play.

Cast of Characters: Inmate No. 1, Lloyd Hearn, inmate No. 2, Virginia Norton; Pluribus, general utility at the sanitarium, Earl Mayo; Pendie, Miss Meredith's maid, Jane Rotramel; Miss Lavell, head nurse at the sanitarium, Ruth O'Neill; Mr. Higgins, superintendent, George Taggart; Mr. Marshall, or the board of directors, Joe King; Jack alias "Speedy" his son, Raymond Overby; Lois Meredith, a visitor, Josephine Martin; Reggie Mortimer, an admirer of Lois, Karl White; Beatrice, Marjorie, and Janet, friends of Lois, Margaret Armstrong, Louise Graham, and Lucille Brogdon, Evelyn Winslow, a wealthy patient, Evelyn Herr; Edward Gordon, her fiance, Homer Norton; and "Hardboiled" McCafferty, a policeman Woodroe Jack-son.

Dr. and Mrs. Tanner will return from Louisiana the latter part of this week.

VETERANS OF WORLD WAR, CIVIL AND SPANISH WARS EXPECTED

Gold Star Mothers to Be Honor Guests Also at Courthouse Dedication Services.

Flags and bunting are out in the business districts of Eastland, committees for all departments of the dedication program have their work in readiness for tomorrow, floats and all features of the parade are being prepared, and all towns and cities surrounding Eastland announce that they will close their business houses and send their citizenry en masse to the dedication services. Everything is in readiness, on the eve of Memorial Day, for one of the most attractive and worthwhile programs ever conducted in Eastland County.

Most Eastland business houses, with the exception of drug stores, confectionaries, filling stations, and cafes, will close at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning and remain closed until 4:30 in the afternoon. Their open hours will accommodate visitors with needed articles. Ranger, Cisco, Rising Star, Gorman, and all other cities and towns in the county announce that their business houses will be closed throughout the day.

Tomorrow Eastland county dedicates her magnificent courthouse to the 32 khaki-clad patriots who "went across" to the scenes and travails of the great war, never to come back, and to their buddies who went over in the service and returned to live usefully and serviceably in peace as in war, serving county, state and nation.

Today there is peace in Flanders Field and peace over all the war cemeteries of the world. Peoples grow there today under peaceful skies, and not under smoke barrages as in the war days. No artillery hurls its death of steel over the trenches. No schrapnel bursts, no machine guns spatter their lead. No airplanes drone above the earth seeking things of prey.

But into these things of war 32 of Eastland county's youth went gladly—they were the boys who never came back. And tomorrow the dedication is for them and their buddies who did not return. Their mothers mothers tomorrow will wear badges—badges of the Gold Star Mother. And they shall be badges of sacrifice, bloodshed, nobility, honor, love, and true patriotism.

It is probable that American Legion posts of the county will march separately in the parade, all along its formation. If this plan of march is used, United States flags and colors of each post will be carried by the marching members.

There is the Memorial Day dedication program.

- 9:00—Parade forms at intersection of North Lamar and Moss streets, near Conner apartments, heading westward.
- 10:00—Parade moves.
- 11:00—Inspection of courthouse, Band concert.
- 12:00—Lunch at Whiteway park.
- 1:30—Open house at courthouse and band concerts.
- 2:30—At speakers' stand, southeast corner square, Judge Cyrus B. Frost, presiding.
- Introduction of guests, Judge Frost.
- Welcome address, Arch Spruill.
- Introduction of County Judge, C. L. Garrett, by Cyrus B. Frost.
- Presentation of past and present commissioners' court, Judge Clyde L. Garrett.
- Presentation of courthouse by Ed S. Pritchard.
- Memorial services for those who gave their lives in the World War, conducted by C. E. Yates of Cisco and the Rev. P. T. Stanford of Ranger for the American Legion.
- What Our Courthouse Means to Us, brief addresses by representatives from Ranger, Cisco Eastland, Rising Star, Gorman, Plover, Carbon, Desdemona, and other places.
- Reading, Lexie Dean Robertson Rising Star.
- Address, Rufus F. Scott, Jr., Paris, commander of the American Legion, department of Texas.
- Awarding of prizes. Adjournment.

Crowning efforts and tributes of the entire program is the courthouse itself. Standing as one of the most distinctive and imposing structures of architecture in the southwest, it will be the center of attraction for Eastland county on Memorial Day. Few buildings in the entire Southwest have incorporated its unique type of architecture, departing from the conventional, and yet retained its stable and practical attributes as an office building. The courthouse stands six stories and is illuminated nightly by the floodlight system with which few buildings are equipped.

Ed Gallagher of 'Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean', Is Dead
NEW YORK, May 29.—Ed Gallagher, who made a fortune singing a duet with "Mister Shean," died yesterday in Rivercrest sanitarium, crippled and penniless.

Before Brian Foy wrote the song that made Gallagher and his partner famous, Gallagher was doing vaudeville at an average of $75 a week. The new patter, however, placed the comedians so much in the spotlight that Zeigfeld, the Shuberts and Georgia White fell over one another in enlisting their service.

Band Representing City At Festivity
RANGER, Texas, May 28.—The Ranger band is keeping quite busy in helping to represent this city at important occasions.

On Thursday, the band will be in Eastland for the courthouse celebration. On last Saturday, 35 musicians—led by Bandmaster Maddox—spent the day in Breckenridge, where the Elks convention of Texas was in progress. The band played in the lobby of the Burch hotel and attended the barbecue.

Today there is peace in Flanders Field and peace over all the war cemeteries of the world. Peoples grow there today under peaceful skies, and not under smoke barrages as in the war days. No artillery hurls its death of steel over the trenches. No schrapnel bursts, no machine guns spatter their lead. No airplanes drone above the earth seeking things of prey.

Another of the Old Guard Passes Out

Another of the old guard of Texas Democrats passed out of the picture when J. W. Sullivan slipped his anchor at Denton in the county of Denton. He was a Kentuckian by birth. He was a lawyer by profession. He was one of the successful leaders of the democracy of his section of the state for many years. He was a leader of the North Texas bar. He loved the game of politics as a side line.

He had served as a district elector. He had served as a member of the state executive committee of his party. He had been sent as a delegate to national conventions. He had served as a member of the board of regents of the College of Industrial Arts. He was close to William Gibbs McAdoo and one of the most loyal of the backers of the California statesman in two memorable contests which involved a presidential nomination and the leadership of the democratic party of the state.

LAND BIG FISH ON GULF ISLAND

RANGER, Texas, May 28.—No fish stories were told by a party of Ranger fishermen when they returned from the Gulf Coast. Instead they brought the fish along. Carl Cooper exhibited a string of four beauties that would weigh a total of around 80 pounds and he had the head of a fish that was even larger than any of these. A pole and line was used. The variety caught was red fish. In the group of vacationists were Spad Reynolds and family, P. E. Moore and family and Carl C. Cooper and family. They went to Padre Island, across the bay from Corpus Christi and had a wonderful time. They spent 10 days, including the time required to make the trip.

AN ORDINANCE

An ordinance making it unlawful for any person to deposit or allow to be deposited in any vessel connected with the city sewer system, any garbage, hair, ashes, refuse, rags, cotton, cinders, benzine, gasoline, crankcase oil, etc., and for certain persons to remove the cover from any manhole, grease trap or lamphole, or to molest or otherwise tamper with or damage any sewer main or pipe, etc.; defining those officers who shall have access to said sewer lines and connections and their duties and authorities in connection therewith, and the duty of the public to observe instructions given by such officers, and providing a penalty for violation and declaring an emergency. WHEREAS, a practice has arisen of permitting crankcase oil and other refuse to flow into the city sewer system, and WHEREAS, said practice has caused material damage to said sewer system and disposal plant, and WHEREAS, the city has recently repaired at great expense said disposal plant, installing new equipment therein, and it has become imperative to the health of the citizens as well as said property to enact laws governing said practices according to the terms and provisions of the following ordinance. NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF EASTLAND, TEXAS: SECTION I It shall be unlawful for any person to throw or deposit, or cause to be thrown or deposited, in any vessel or receptacle connected with the public sewer, any garbage, hair, ashes, fruit or vegetables, peelings or refuse, rags, cotton, cinders, benzine, gasoline, crankcase oil or any oils of any description, or any other matter or thing whatever, except feces, urine and the necessary closet paper and liquid house soap, and ordinary kitchen greases, and ordinary kitchen greases. SECTION II It shall also be unlawful for any person except those herein authorized to work with the sewer, to remove the cover from any manhole, grease trap, lamphole, or otherwise to wantonly damage any sewer main or pipe, or drain or fixture connected therewith. SECTION III The superintendent of water works and sewers, sanitary officer, and the city engineer shall at all times have access to all closets, urinals, sinks and other connections with the water works and sewers for the purpose of inspecting same, and if any such connections or fixtures, or parts of same, shall, at any time, be found to be improperly constructed, out of repair or in a condition to unnecessarily waste water, or in an unsanitary condition, it shall be the duty of said officer to notify the owner, occupant, lessee, or agent in charge of such premises, or either of them, of such condition. It shall thereupon become the duty of said owner or lessee to remedy such condition by having the same repaired and made sanitary in accordance with the sanitary plumbing code of the city, within three days from receipt of such notice, and pending such repairs said closet, urinal, or other fixture so out of repair shall be by the superintendent or chief of police closed until such repairs have been made. SECTION IV Any one found guilty of a violation of any of the provisions of this ordinance shall on conviction therefore be fined in any sum not less than Five ($5.00) Dollars nor more than Two Hundred ($200.00) Dollars and each day said ordinance is violated shall constitute a separate offense. SECTION V This ordinance shall be cumulative with all previous ordinances, except insofar as such previous ordinances or sections thereof shall be in direct conflict with this ordinance, and as to such portions, sections or ordinances which shall be in direct conflict, the same are hereby repealed insofar as such conflict exists. SECTION VI Should any section or part of a section of this ordinance be declared to be invalid by any court of competent jurisdiction, such decision or judgment shall not affect the remaining sections or parts of sections, but the remaining portions, parts or sections, shall continue to be in full force and effect. SECTION VII The conditions set forth in the preamble to this ordinance create an emergency to the extent that the rule requiring ordinances to be read at three separate and several meetings of the city commission should be suspended; said rule is hereby suspended, and this ordinance is placed on its third and final reading and finally passed, and the same shall be in full force and exist from its passage and publication as required by the city charter, and it is so ordained. Passed by unanimous vote on May 20, 1929. I, W. C. Marlow, Clerk of the City of Eastland, Texas, hereby certify that the above and foregoing is a true and correct copy of an ordinance passed by the Commissioners of the City of Eastland on the 20th day of May, 1929. W. C. MARLOW, Clerk.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

NAN CARROLL, private secretary to ATTORNEY JOHN CURTIS MORGAN, is happy in her work and in her prospects for passing the bar examinations in June until she suddenly realizes that she is in love with Morgan. This realization is brought about when WILLIS TODD, an ardent suitor, accuses Nan of leaving Morgan.

Being honorable, Nan despises herself and determines to hand in her resignation the next day. In the morning's mail she finds a blackmail note addressed to Morgan warning him to "lay off the enemies of Grace Cox," former telephone operator of a fashionable country club whom he is defending in a blackmail suit.

In a momentary insinuation it is made about Morgan's wife, IRIS, Nan keeps the letter from Morgan. Because of her brilliant reasoning, Nan is able to bring into court a witness who testifies in the Grace Cox case, bringing MRS. FLEMINGS, the real author of the blackmail notes, to a confession and winning for Morgan another spectacular triumph.

In the courtroom, Nan and Morgan meet HERBERT CRAWFORD, handsome friend of Iris and John Curtis Morgan, and the young lawyer invites Nan and Crawford to his home for a celebration dinner that evening. During the dinner and throughout the evening she is treated with imperial disdain by Crawford and Iris, who are significantly interested in each other. Nan is cut to the quick by this treatment and because she must see the man she loves paying passionate homage to a woman who shows him the barest attention and affection.

While Crawford and Iris are dancing after dinner, a maid appears in the doorway. Behind her stand a policeman and stoutly maintains that he is innocent of the charge of embezzlement, alleging that he was a dupe in the hands of a clever man. She admits, however, that she has had no word from Bland since he left the city 10 days ago, ostensibly on his way to Chicago on business for the firm.

"It was largely due to Bland's failure to communicate with the company since his departure for Chicago that Secretary Crane, who is also assistant general manager of the company, asked the auditor Friday to check the bank balance, and the big shortage was discovered. Crawford was not taken into Crane's confidence when his suspicions of the treasurer were aroused, and a few hours later both warrants were issued."

"Well, I'm glad I won't have to worry about it," Nan reflected, as her fingers flew over the typewriter keys, answering letters which did not require Morgan's personal attention. "Here's my letter of resignation and I'm going to present it, too. I'll be glad to be out of the Crawford mess. I never did trust that man!"

But her heart throbbled heavily with an emotion that was not gladness. In getting out of the Crawford "mess" she was also getting out of everything else that had made life wonderful for three years. She was still too dazed with the shame and grief that had taken possession of her heart when she had discovered that she was in love with her employer to plan what she should do after her week's "notice" had been lived through, somehow.

"I'll leave town, of course—go to Chicago or New York. What does it matter where I go, or what I do, when my heart will be here with him?" as she near as she had come to a decision. But her letter of resignation, coldly final and formal, lay on her desk, waiting for Morgan.

The door opened to admit the man of whom she was always thinking, and the man about whom a whole outraged city was buzzing. "Good morning, Nan," Morgan greeted soberly, "only a little less blithe than usual."

The two men passed on into Morgan's private office. After a few minutes the buzzer on Nan's desk sounded, where I go, or what I do, when my heart will be here with him?" as she near as she had come to a decision. But her letter of resignation, coldly final and formal, lay on her desk, waiting for Morgan.

"I'd like for you to listen in on this from the first, Nan," Morgan told her. "I've grown to depend a lot on Nan's logic and that sixth sense which all woman claim to have and which she actually possesses," he explained to Crawford.

"That's not news to me," Crawford beamed upon Nan. "Why, if you didn't have Nan, I'd insist on getting two or three other legal lights to help you. Not that we're going to need a battery of talent," he hastened to discount his words.

"But a chap on whom fifty thousand and bail has just been clapped feels like grabbing off all the help he can get."

Nan pulled out a leaf of the desk and seated herself beside

"Jack keeps saying, 'Now tell me everything you know about this business, Bert,' Crawford smiled at Nan. 'And for the life of me, all I can answer is, 'I don't know a damned thing!' I was just as much surprised as you two were when the cops busted up our party last night. I'll leave it to you, Nan—my actions haven't been those of a guilty man, have they? Would I have hung around town, waiting to be arrested? I didn't beat it, did I?—like Roy Bland!"

"Honestly, Jack, I still can't believe it of Roy! Nicest chap you ever knew. Why, I've known him four or five years. First met him down in South America, where I was investigating some mines I was promoting."

"South America?" Morgan interrupted eagerly, and Nan made the first note on the case of the State versus Herbert S. Crawford. "Sure—South America!" Crawford repeated. "Didn't I ever tell you about that silver mine deal down there? I met Roy Bland—let's see, yes, it was in Bogota, capital of Columbia, you know. He'd been in the mountains for months; looked like a tramp. Had lost everything he had in some fool scheme, and I staked him to a trip home."

"After we got back to the states I was bale to put him next to a good thing every now and then, till he'd got quite prosperous again. When I got busy on this packing company merger, I naturally remembered him and sent for him to come on and get in on the ground floor. Good, dependable chap, always a little cracked on the subject of South America, but one of the best friends I ever had. I tell you, Jack, it knocks me cold to find out that Roy Bland double-crossed me and the people who trusted me to protect their interests."

"Probably," Nan put in quietly, "your close association with Bland in the past is one big reason you're suspected, now of being his accomplice."

"Good Lord!" Crawford ejaculated, outraged. "Just because a man is unfortunate enough to have a friend who turns crook—" "Keep your shirt on, Bert," Morgan admonished him quietly. "Nan's right. We've got to look at this thing from the district attorney's standpoint, not yours. And your friendship with Bland, your having brought him into the company, will certainly score against you. Now, Bert, what do you know about this Gladys Payne, Bland's secretary? She evidently has more up her sleeve than came out at the preliminary hearing this morning."

Crawford flushed, then laughed apologetically. "Well, I guess I used to jolly her along pretty freely, before she became engaged to Bland, if she WAS engaged to him—"

Morgan nodded thoughtfully. "And when she couldn't land you, Right? . . . I thought so. I've warned you to be careful, Bert, but you're a confirmed lady-killer. This is a little worse, though, than the breach-of-promise suit I was joking about last night. And Morgan looked so worried that Nan's heart ached for him.

Mr. and Mrs. Looney Married 38 Years

(Cisco Daily News)
Today is the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Looney of Cisco. Mr. Looney, who is constable for Cisco, and his wife were married 38 years ago. During that time they have raised eight children. Mr. Looney, who has been constable here for 21 years, has been a resident of Cisco for 55 years.

"I have taken three bottles of this splendid medicine and I can say positively and candidly that I have never felt better or stronger in many months. I have gained in strength and my stomach trouble have left me as completely as if I had never suffered with them a day in my life."

"My food agrees with me perfectly now and I am not bothered with gas or nervousness in the least. I sleep just fine and if there's any reason to believe I'm not in perfect health I don't know what it is. I want to recommend Orgatone to my friends for it surely has proven a blessing to me."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific bile treatment and is sold in Eastland exclusively by Toombs-Richardson Drug Store who are direct laboratory agents.—Adv.
