MOORE about... EASTLAND

by Virgil E. Moore

We are about convinced that television is here to stay. We have been operating on the theory that the looking radio was just a fad, but more and more we are beginning to believe otherwise.

Now we have no objection to TV but still believe the boys have a little work to do. The thing that bothers us the most is the everlasting fight between stations and the networks. We are no lover of TV commercials, but we do have a natural American curiosity. What we are getting at is the station's way of cutting off the network ads right in the middle of them and playing soft music while you look at a piece of paste-board with the name of the program on it. Even the commercials are more interesting than watching one picture for three minutes while some lousy music is forced on you.

Our thoughts on TV came to a head the other day when our six year old asked us what our favorite television program was when we were a kid his age.

"There wasn't any TV then son."

You would have thought we had slapped him across the face and told him there wasn't any Santa Clause.

"Are you sure Daddy?"
After assuring him we were sure, he demanded to know what we did all the time.

"We listened to the radio boy! Why nothing TV has can compare to that old lineup they once had on radio. First off we would listen to Fibber McGee and Molly, then here would come Bob Hope, next Bing Crosby and then Amos and Andy. Now son, that was entertainment."

"You just listened and didn't have anything to look at?"

"Son, with that type of entertainment you didn't need anything to look at. With this TV stuff no one bothers about what they say anymore. They entertain you with actions. The funny men fall on their faces, the quiz programs use worried faces and the pretty girls just lean over to pick something up."

We still didn't convince Trippy, but since we were on the subject we thought we would take advantage of the situation to spring a few wonders of the world on the lad.

"You know that when your Daddy was a boy folks didn't make their own ice, don't you son? Every morning a man would bring 50 pounds of ice and put it in the box. Our job was keeping the drippings emptied out. Worried for years with mopping up the kitchen floor before we finally figured out the answer. Put a hose on the drain and ran it through the floor and out in the back yard. Real clever, we thought."

By this time we had completely lost Trippy to some 50 year old movie western they were showing on Channel 9, but we were so engrossed with ourself that we continued to ramble.

"Son, back in those days you could get a sack of candy that you and I both couldn't carry for a dime. And for that same dime you could get the biggest ice cream soda in the world."

About this time Trip comes to life again.

"What's an ice cream soda?" he asks.

"That's what your Uncle Johnny bought for you while we were in Corsicana."

"Boy, those things sure aren't very good, are they?"

With this we gave up the younger generation, put our head back on the couch and watched Will Bill Terry catch his badmen.

representative of the Texas Electric Service Co., according to Eastland County Agent J. M. Cooper.

All retailers of eggs are affected by the new law. Producers are also affected by the law if they claim a grade on their eggs either to consumers or to retailers.

Very few producers in the county now claim a grade on their eggs as most are sold on an ungraded basis.

Both retailers and producers are invited to the meeting that will get under way promptly at 9 o'clock that morning and will last until about 4 p.m. with time out for lunch. The question and answer period on the new law is on the program at 11:30 that morning. A total of 45 minutes is allotted to this topic.

The meeting is only one of many similar ones now being held over the state to familiarize both producers and retailers about the law passed by the state legislature.

Earl Conner Is Named New County Attorney

Earl Conner Jr. this morning took over the duties of Eastland County attorney.

Conner was appointed to fill out the unexpired term of Joe Nuesse by the Eastland County Commissioners Court late Saturday morning.

Nuesse resigned Saturday effective at midnight, and commissioners immediately named Conner to replace him. The job is not a new one for the Eastland attorney. He served eight years previously. Conner will act as district attorney in addition to his work as county attorney.

Nuesse resigned to accept the post of Midland city attorney. His official resignation was expected since he publicly announced earlier that he would resign.

Nuesse has three years remaining on his four year term, but Conner will serve only until the next general election. Then, if he wants to keep the post, he will have to seek election.

In offering his resignation, Nuesse said it was his firm belief that the combined post of county and district attorney is too much for any one man.

He recommended that the county hire an assistant county attorney. "The people and government of Eastland County need to have more legal service. I doubt that one man can do all the work," he declared.

Nuesse said an assistant could help by spending time on working in the justice of the peace courts and the juvenile court. He also recommended that the new county attorney be asked to sit in on commissioners meetings so that he could give any needed legal advice.

State Schedules Rough Fish Kill At Brownsville

A full scale clean-up of trash fish in Port Brown Lake at Brownsville will be made early in January, it has been announced by the Director of Inland Fisheries of the Game and Fish Commission.

A survey completed there during the summer months by crews of the Commission indicated that more than 98 per cent of the fish population is undesirable.

Crews under the direction of L. V. Guerra, Assistant Project Leader, made the investigation through netting and seining collections. Gill nets 125 feet long and 8 feet wide with mesh from 1 to 3 inches square were used.

Fort Brown is described as a long, murky, shallow, silty bottom, ox-bow type lake that no longer has a natural connection with the Rio Grande or other waters. With rough fish predominating, a complete kill and restocking was recommended. The biologists also suggest that adequate fish screens be placed over discharge of pumps from the Rio Grande to prevent re-introduction of rough fish.

According to the report, buffalo in numbers made up 34 per cent of the fish population; fresh water drum, 21.4 per cent and gizzard shad, 17 percent. In weight, flathead catfish made up 22.43 per cent, followed closely by carp with 21.85 per cent by weight. Largemouth bass represented only .48 per cent of the weight.

Records show that the lake has been stocked with more than 35,000 bass during the past three years. Because of the preponderance of rough fish, the bass have not had an opportunity to crop off.

Fort Brown lake is located two miles east of Brownsville and at one time was a part of the resaca system. A 12 inch pump at the Rio Grande provides the inflow into the lake. The lake is owned by the city of Brownsville and is operated as a recreational area.

"The city and state are cooperating on this project," the Director said. "Because of the increased tourist traffic in the Rio Grande Valley, it has been deemed necessary to make the best possible use of this fishing water."

"The renovation program is scheduled to get under way in January," he said.

New Miracle Drug Awakens Energy

Medical researchers have discovered a new "miracle" drug that gives almost all the effects of a "Fountain of Youth."

Known as Marsilid, the drug is described in the October issue of Better Homes & Gardens magazine as "a compound that makes depressed or inhibited people feel more cheerful and energetic."

This "psychic energizer" is the opposite of the now-famous tranquilizer.

The compound, whose chemical name is iproniazid, is used to treat heretofore resistant forms of mental illness. It has proved successful in "getting through" to patients who did not respond to shock, drug, and other treatments.

First introduced as a tuberculosis treatment, the drug was almost discontinued because it was over-stimulative to TB patients. However, doctors began discovering other uses for Marsilid, details of which are now being published in medical journals.

Besides instilling vitality and cheer in the patient, the drug has shown other actions that astonish physicians. According to the magazine, a high percentage of people with stubborn bone infections get well after treatment; rheumatic arthritis patients, though not cured, feel better; emaciated patients gain weight because of a stimulated appetite; patients suffering from mysterious skin ailments show almost miraculous improvement.

It has great psychic stimulation, which awakens energies, lessens fatigue, and drives toward useful activity with less awareness of aches and brooding worries. It is not a germ-killer, yet somehow the drug can reduce fevers and speed healing of wounds. It increases appetite and, at the same time, lowers blood pressure.

Long-term use of the drug has proved safe, to date. To be taken orally in tablet form, Marsilid is a potent stimulant which is available only on medical prescription. According to the magazine, it could be the forerunner of a long-needed class of compounds that may bring a new zest for living to thousands of depressed people.

Christmas Season Is Here Again-

... and with it the Christmas tree which is described by the National Board of Fire Underwriters as the most dangerous tree on earth. Yet no one has ever suggested that we abandon the Christmas tree which has been for centuries the symbol of Yuletide cheer and good will. But they're dangerous. So play it safe. Call this office for a list of simple rules which, if followed, will eliminate most, if not all, of the Christmas tree hazards, and insure you a Merry Christmas.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

Jerome Martin, former city commissioner of Fort Worth, was for many years with the telegraph company. He began as a messenger boy and the incident he recalls most vividly was delivering a telegram addressed to William Jennings Bryan.

The "peerless leader" was visiting in the home of a friend in Fort Worth and the host offered to sign for the message and deliver it to Mr. Bryan but the lad said he would like to hand the wire to Bryan himself. So young Martin entered the library and delivered the telegram to the famous Democratic leader. Bryan ran his hand in his pocket but the boy said, "I don't want a tip; I just wanted to meet you." Bryan asked his name and shook hands.

A little incident, perhaps, but one that Martin has treasured through the years. There never was a man quite like the "Great Commoner," in the Texan's opinion.

He has achieved success who has lived well, laughed often and loved much; who has gained the respect of intelligent men and the love of little children; who has filled his niche and accomplished his task; who has left the world better than he found it, whether by an improved poppy, a perfect poem or a rescued soul; who has never lacked appreciation of earth's beauty or failed to express it; who has looked for the best in others and given the best he had; whose life was an inspiration; whose memory is a benediction—Mrs. A. J. Stanley.

When Sir Walter Scott was a little fellow, he wandered away from home. A search began and the future poet and novelist was found on a mountain-side while a thunder-storm raged. Was he frightened? Hardly. At each flash of lightning, the boy exclaimed, "Bonnie! Bonnie!"

Gadgets Can Not Take Place of Mother as Planner

CHICAGO, Ill. — Young homemakers of tomorrow will live in a world of gadgets and convenience that defies today's imagination. But conveniences and gadgets never will take over mother's role as planner, comforter, nursemaid and companion to her family.

That was the essence of the talk by Adelaide Hawley (television's "Betty Crocker") to state and national winners of the 4-H Food Preparation Award Program sponsored by General Mills. The group gathered at the Conrad Hilton hotel in Chicago as a highlight of the 36th annual National 4-H Club Congress.

"In the increasingly complex world of the future which piles world responsibility on top of woman's traditional work," she said, "the 4-H pledge stands out as the key to homemaking success. It points out these really important needs:

"Every quarter grain of knowledge your head can absorb and keep on absorbing all the days of your life; A strong, healthy body to keep you going efficiently through all your activities; Hands trained to obey your brain, and a Heart full of faith to sustain you at times when everything seems to fall apart. You will also need imagination to utilize your knowledge and intelligence to help you reach for what is best in life. A passing grade, the average, 'good enough to get by' is not good enough any more."

Taking "A Glimpse Into The Future," television's "Betty Crocker" told her audience about irradiated foods which have indefinite shelf life, push-button food preparation, solar cooking and household electronic marvels.

"Your kitchen might have a monitor television screen through which you can check on the baby or see who's at the front door. A vacuum cleaner will scurry by itself out of its corner and gobble up dust. You might have a serving cart that creeps in from the kitchen with dessert, then returns to the dishwasher bearing soiled dishes. Your clothes will be washed automatically every time the hamper collects an eight-pound load. And, we might even have dry cleaning stations like those minute car-wash places. Walk into a compartment and dirt is removed ultra-sonically from your clothes—even from you! Room colors can be changed by flipping a button which controls illuminated wall panels. And there will be many, many more such innovations. You for example, may be earning a living or contributing to family income by working for industries which today do not exist."

Sputniks shared the emphasis. They were described as "something we can be grateful for. Not only have they brought the exhilarating, expansive world of the space cadets closer, they have made us all think. Your whole world is going to be influenced by, threatened by and protected by science. It will be up to us to keep ahead of the gadgets and keep up with the economy which produced them."

"But no matter how many gadgets science produces, there never will be hot and cold running nursemaids. Someone will always have to bandage junior's knee and soothe his hurt feelings. Someone will have to plan good-tasting meals 365 days a year, buy the food and put it away in the dispensers so that when a button is pushed, something happens. Someone will still have to hear prayers and remember birthdays, discuss family affairs and finances with dad and play gracious hostess even when the feet hurt and the heart is aching. Someone will have to explain tolerance and brotherhood to little Susie. The somebody who does all these things with love and patience, nine times out of 10 will be you."

OUR NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION

Happy New Year . . . in case I didn't get to wish you one in person. Here's hoping 1958 will be the best, most prosperous year ever for you and your family.

Lots of folks like to take the beginning of the year to make some resolutions for the future and I have one to offer during this first week of 1958. Mr. E. M. Clark, our president, wrote it to explain the policies and objectives we try to follow in furnishing your telephone service and I thought it would make an appropriate New Year's resolution for us to make and dedicate to our customers.

WE DEFINE OUR OBJECTIVES

"OUR OBJECTIVE is to furnish the best possible telephone service at reasonable cost—a cost consistent with financial safety and fair treatment of employees.

"SERVICE ranks above everything else in this policy. And the only good service is one that is continually improving. To furnish this service we need the best people, the best equipment, the best methods, and the best management we can develop.

"REASONABLE COST has been defined as one that produces an ever-growing demand. Our equipment, training, and methods would net us nothing if the cost of service became so high that people would not buy it.

"FINANCIAL SAFETY should not be endangered by setting the price of service too low. In the long run, a price that provides profit large enough to undertake new research and development results in better cheaper service to the public.

"FAIR TREATMENT OF EMPLOYEES means good pay, good working conditions, reasonable job security, and opportunity for advancement based on merit. It is people—employees—who are the most important element in the success of any business.

WE ACCEPT THESE RESPONSIBILITIES

TO THE EMPLOYEES: Provide machines, methods, equipment, direction, leadership, job training, incentives to progress, selection for promotion.

TO THE PUBLIC: More and better service at a reasonable cost. Contributions to public welfare and national defense.

TO THE OWNERS: Run business in a sound, profitable manner.

LOOKING AHEAD

"PROGRESS has long been the keynote of the telephone business. And, if business forecasters are anywhere near correct the next 20 years will bring more growth and development than we have ever seen before.

"THE FUTURE can be faced confidentially with a policy of equal consideration for owners, employees, and the public."

There you have it. We do our best every day to live up to this resolution and we hope you feel we're succeeding in our efforts to give you the best in telephone service.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.
