PHILIPPINE'S DEFENSE PUT UNDER U. S.

HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 26.—President Roosevelt today ordered the army and navy in the Philippines Commonwealth into the command of the armed forces of the United States for the duration of the emergency.

The order obviously was a new measure directed at Japan, following yesterday's act by the United States and the British Commonwealth of Nations, in the dropping of Japan's assets and virtually declaring economic war on the Asiatic empire.

Mr. Roosevelt's action will place the armed forces of the Philippines virtually on a war footing and will integrate them with the defense forces of the United States. It long has been the plan of American defense strategists to call the Philippine forces into the United States set-up when an emergency developed in the far east, making the Philippines the first Oriental outpost in America's defense line.

Under the order, the organized military forces of the Philippines will be placed under the command of a general officer of the United States army to be designated by Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson. All naval components of the Commonwealth armed forces are placed under the command of the commander of the 16th naval district of the United States Navy.

The military forces of the Commonwealth have been subject to expansion and intensive training since the outset of the crisis in the east more than four years ago. The Philippine armed forces have been under the command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, former chief of the United States army in the Philippines and the American General who maintained close liaison between MacArthur and the Philippine forces.

Complete List Of Texas Newspapers Compiled By WPA

ANTONIO, Tex.—Published the most complete list of Texas newspapers ever compiled, announced today by Mrs. Taylor, state director of the service programs for women.

The list, which gives the dates and location of every newspaper published in Texas between 1813 and 1941, is included in the 293-page book which was published by sponsorship of the San Antonio Museum of History Association. Copies of the book have been placed in 300 of the outstanding libraries and 500 other copies are available for further distribution through the institutions by the director of the San Antonio Museum, who represented the sponsoring agency in arrangement of the volume.

The guide to historical newspapers will emphasize the importance of preserving such daily publications in the comment Mrs. Taylor.

Warendon Man To Fly Chinese Plane

WYANDOT, Tex., July 26.—Paul Warendon has trained numerous Army Pilots, but he has more active service. He is now flying a Chinese plane to San Diego, Calif., for the purpose of being transferred to the Army Air base, after being discharged from a private position at San Diego, Calif. Warendon was discharged from his Army position because of America's withdrawal from China.

Getting Sentry-Mental Over You

Except for trouble with a trip-hammer ticker and snarled nerves, Private Ronald Pollen has no complaints about the life of a soldier without stripes or bars. His was the task of serving as sentry during the visit of Earl Carroll's scanty-panty Vanities show to Camp Haan, Riverside, Calif.

British Studying Clothing Size To Set Up Standard

LONDON—Nearly 200 of London's poorest children are helping to produce clothes which will be a perfect fit for boys and girls all over the world. They stood patiently while experts measured hips, chests, arms, and height to obtain statistics which will enable millions of garments to be made to standard sizes.

When these standards are adopted mothers no longer will ask for a "dress for a girl of 4" or a "shirt for a 10-year-old boy." They will be able to buy a carefully coded size, scientifically calculated.

The British Standards Institute was asked by manufacturers to investigate the possibility of introducing standard sizes for children's clothes. It was found that age was the commonest and also the least satisfactory method of calculating size. American experts had measured 120,000 children in the United States, but the institute wanted to experiment with British boys and girls.

Eastland Girl Is Winner of Medal

HUNT, Tex.—An enthusiastic camper was Mary Katherine Hoffmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hoffmann, who last week returned to her home from Camp Waldemar, a charming camp in the hill country near Kerrville, where she participated in horseback riding, swimming, boating, dramatics, and numerous activities that the camp offered. At the final banquet, a gala affair honoring the campers and four hundred guests, she was awarded a bronze medal for outstanding work during the term, for making the required number of teams, and for holding aloft the ideals of Waldemar.

Revival At Union Being Conducted

What is described as an "old fashioned" revival is in progress at Union, southeast of Eastland a few miles. It began last Friday and is being conducted by Rev. Walter Nowlin of Carbon.

JAPS TO MOVE TO INDO CHINA ON WEEK END

By KURT STEINER
United Press Correspondent
SAIGON, French Indo-China, July 26.—The Japanese military said today that their planes and warships will move into French Indo-China bases over the week end, and the local French press called on the public to remain calm in the face of "extremely grave" developments.

No mention of the Indo-Chinese crisis had been permitted in the press until today.

The Saigon newspapers today announced the imminent Japanese occupation and the conservative newspaper, L'Opinion, said that "again Indo-China is front page news but there is no reason to be particularly satisfied and we would rather be without such prominence because it means that there is danger ahead."

Troops are expected to arrive Wednesday. Informants said that the Japanese air force would be limited in numbers for some time because of the lack of suitable air fields in southern Indo-China.

A small number of warships, possibly four destroyers for the Saigon area and a cruiser and three destroyers for the Camranh Naval Base, are due at any time, a Japanese naval informant said.

Stone Village In East Is Ancient

NORTH SALEM, N. H.—There are indications that Irish monks lived here as early as 800 A. D. Several archeologists believe a "stone village," recently excavated, was built more than 1,000 years ago by Culdee monks who came from Ireland to escape the persecution of Norsemen.

Archeologist William B. Goodwin of Hartford, Conn. is convinced of the Irish origin of the ruins. They consist of a cluster of stone houses, altars and walls built around a central plaza.

Bands of Culdees first appeared on Iceland in 795. They built their stone houses on Papey Island where ruins similar to those of this community still stand.

According to historians, the migration from Ireland to New England shores via Iceland and Greenland is logical since both Irish and Welsh have legends of the discovery of a continent far to the westward.

So far no human skeletons, tools or weapons have been found. There is no clue as to what became of the builders if they were Culdee monks. They may have been wiped out by Indians or sailed back to their native land. Meanwhile, the stone village attracts school classes and archeology students.

Grand Jury Makes Its Final Report

The 91st district court grand jury for the June term completed its work and adjourned Friday. The final report made to Judge Geo. L. Davenport shows that the grand jury was in session a total of 14 days during which time 142 witnesses were examined and 44 indictments returned, 19 of which were felonies and 25 misdemeanors.

The report was signed by H. L. Baskin as foreman.

Trucker Trapped

It took hacksaws, crowbars, firemen, and plenty of advice from curbstone kibitzers to rescue George Arden, trapped in the cab of his truck when it overturned on a Chicago street.

Men More Useful In Defense Work Not To Be Called

General J. Watt Page, State Director of Selective Service, today again urged Texas local boards to make certain that no man is called for direct military training who is more useful to the national defense program in his civilian occupation.

Stressing the need for this careful selection and the necessity for maintaining an adequate reservoir of professional and technical specialists, General Page said: "While the selection of men for service in the armed forces is essential to the national defense, it is equally important that there be no interference with the production of defense supplies and materials. We must feed and clothe the military forces, as well as preserve the morale of the civilian population by protecting public health and general welfare."

"There are hundreds of places where the hand of man is needed to produce arms, munitions, tanks, trucks and airplanes. Vitally important is the fact that from our mines we must produce the minerals from which a mechanical army fashions its weapons. According to a recent survey made by the Office of Production Management, the supply of manpower in the field of engineering, including trained technicians and specialists in mining and metallurgy, is at a 'dangerously low' level."

"We must make a careful and intelligent investigation of every registrant to be sure in each case that a call to military training will not interfere with equally important civilian work for national defense. Local boards must give full weight to the provisions of the Selective Service Regulations dealing with the claims for occupational deferment of 'necessary men' engaged in activities necessary to the national defense, including those necessary to defense production."

Ask Texas Local Boards for 1,221 White Trainees

State Selective Service Headquarters announced the Army's twenty-second call on Texas local boards for 1,221 white trainees to be delivered for induction August 12, 13, 14 and 15.

A call has already been issued for 446 negro selectees for induction on August 4th and 28th, Headquarters officials stated.

HUGE TAX BILL WILL ADD THREE BILLIONS TO FEDERAL TAX REVENUE

By James R. Shepley
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, July 26.—The House Ways and Means committee today reported the $3,529,200,000 tax bill and said that while it is the largest in history there is "convincing evidence that this burden will be borne cheerfully."

The revenue which would be raised by the bill, added to present taxes which in fiscal 1941 yielded $7,607,000,000, will enable the government to meet about 60 per cent of the nation's all-out defense expenditures from income, and raise the remaining 40 per cent by borrowing, the committee estimated.

The committee contrasted this with the financing system of the first World War, when, it said, only one-third of expenditures were met by taxation and two-thirds by borrowing.

The bill will go to the house floor for consideration on Tuesday, with a three-day limit on debate which is expected to assure passage by the end of the week. The Republican minority of the committee, while joining in reporting the bill, filed a statement criticizing administration spending.

The Republicans said they had no alternative but to support the measure "to bring revenues and expenditures closer together." But they charged that extravagance in construction of army cantonments has been "so rampant as to constitute a national scandal."

The full committee report stated that "the bill is unprecedented in the amount of revenue it is designed to provide," and that "it lays a substantially increased burden upon the American people."

"But there is convincing evidence that this burden will be borne cheerfully in the light of the overwhelming importance of national defense to the continued freedom and security of the United States," the report said. "It is believed that the risk to life and property from an inadequate preparedness would make even a much heavier burden attractive by comparison."

Crude Production Increases Sharply During Past Week

HOUSTON, July 26.—Because Texas fields returned to a more normal week containing only two shutdowns, after having been shut in for three days the week before, United States crude production increased sharply, to 3,869,300 barrels daily, in the 7-day period ending today, the Oil Weekly Magazine reported.

The new rate was 182,200 barrels above that in the previous week and 22,200 barrels in excess of the indicated daily market demand for domestic crude in July, as estimated by the Federal Bureau of Mines.

A rise in Texas production to 1,431,600 barrels daily, from 1,234,100 barrels the preceding week, was accompanied by smaller increases in several other states.

The production trend showed: Texas 1,431,600 barrels, up 197,500; California 639,500, off 2,400; Oklahoma 415,450, off 6,300; Illinois 332,300, off 11,200; Louisiana 313,900, off 4,400; Kansas 241,950, up 2,900; New Mexico 108,000, up 600; Eastern States 91,100, off 400; Mountain States 107,550, up 1,000; Michigan 39,100, off 300; Indiana 21,100, off 200; Arkansas 72,650, off 350; Mississippi 49,800, up 4,300; Nebraska 5,300, up 50 barrels.

There always was a need for nurses with this experience," she said, "but the more wars there are, the greater the threat to people's equilibrium."

Motorcyclist Hurt In An Accident In Outskirts Of Ranger

John Elmore Vereen of San Diego, Cal., was painfully injured in a motorcycle accident on the outskirts of Ranger when, according to reports of the accident, his motorcycle went off of control.

He was taken to the West Texas Hospital for treatment.

Stevenson Reviews Soldiers At Bowie

AUSTIN, July 26.—Lieut. Gov. Coke R. Stevenson, who likely will become governor within two weeks, was at Camp Bowie today to review troops of the 36th division, composed of Texas National Guardsmen.

The committee added that in drafting the measure it sought to distribute the additional tax burden "as equitably as possible among the several classes of taxpayers."

The report reviewed the fiscal situation that prompted the administration to undertake the tax program, and pointed out that since April 24, when Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., estimated defense expenditures at $39,000,000,000, the estimate has been increased to $50,000,000,000.

The huge tax program will assess payments of nearly $2,500,000,000 on the earnings of individuals and corporations, and affect nearly every citizen through stiff levies on hundreds of goods and services, ranging from pleasure yachts to cigarettes.

The bill, product of three months of committee work, would provide funds for both ordinary and defense expenditures from the following sources:

|--|--|
| Individual Incomes | $1,152,000,000 |
| Corporation Incomes | $1,322,900,000 |
| Estate and Gifts | $151,900,000 |
| Excises | $902,400,000 |
| Individual incomes levied on married couples | to be computed on the joint earnings of husband and wife in a move designed to provide an additional $300,000,000 in revenues. New surtaxes on individual incomes range from five per cent on the first taxable dollar to 75 per cent on earnings over $3,000,000. |

Corporation earnings, largest single source of government revenues, are subjected to a 10 per cent rise in excess profits taxes for each bracket and will range from 35 to 60 per cent.

In addition, excess profits levies will be computed before payment of normal income taxes rather than by the present method of computation on earnings, less normal taxes. Corporations also will be required to pay surtaxes of five per cent on their first $25,000 earnings, six per cent thereafter.

The bill retains present normal tax rates of four per cent on personal incomes and 24 per cent on corporation earnings. A special defense levy of 10 per cent, the normal tax, imposed last year, is made permanent.

The committee justified computation of individual income taxes on the joint earnings of husband and wife as a means of obtaining "a more equitable distribution of the tax burden." The report said that joint returns would prevent unfair operation of the income tax law with respect to families where all income is received by one spouse, compared with families receiving incomes from both husband and wife and would prevent tax evasion through husband-wife transfers of property.

Five committee members filed a statement opposing the joint return feature, expressing "disagreement and dissent." They were Reps. Frank H. Buck, D., Calif.; Milton H. West, D., Tex.; Knute Hill, D., Wash.; Thomas A. Jenkins, R., O.; and Bertrand W. Gearhart, R., Calif.

Italians Lose 12 of Mosquito Fleet In Malta Attack

LONDON, July 26.—At least 12 of the famous Italian motor torpedo boats were sunk today when a mosquito fleet attacked Valetta Harbor, capital of the Island of Malta, the armed British services said in a joint communique. The E-boat attack was said to have been repulsed and a number of prisoners were taken.

Maltese coastal defenses and Royal Air Force planes beat off the first surface attack made on the British Mediterranean fortress since the start of the war, a joint admiralty, air ministry and war office communique disclosed.

"An attack by E-boats was made on the harbor at Valetta, Malta, early this morning," the joint communique said.

"It was repulsed with heavy losses for the enemy. Full details are not yet available but already it is known that about a dozen of the attacking E-boats were sunk by coast defenses and aircraft of the RAF. A number of prisoners were taken and bodies were recovered."

The Urge To Federate

Federation is in the air these days. The world is gradually realizing that a Europe cut into little chip-on-the-shoulder political subdivisions, a Balkanized Europe in short, was not good for Europe and not good for the world.

The number of such countries was increased by the World War. For instance, the old Austro-Hungarian Empire, political monstrosity though it was, had a certain amount of justification as an economic free trade area. Splitting it into tiny divisions made each of those divisions an economic torso unable to survive.

Hitler had something in his plan for economic unification of Europe. What Europe and the world cannot permit is that this unification be achieved by force and solely for the benefit and aggrandizement of the German Reich. It must be done voluntarily and without sacrificing local free self-government. Hitler is utterly incapable of accomplishing it on any such decent basis.

The world has got to stop believing that political freedom and local self-government necessarily mean economic isolationism. The day is past when the two must necessarily go together. It is possible—it must be possible in the future—for countries to maintain complete internal political independence, and yet give up some previously sacred rights to set up the kind of trade barriers that insure their own stragulation and that of their neighbors.

The United States is taking the lead in some such plan for the small islands of the Caribbean. Most of these islands, chronically poor, depend for such wealth as they have on exports of agricultural products. The war has cut them off from Europe's markets. They are in a desperate plight. Plans are in the making for setting up a customs union between all these islands, the United States, and Britain.

Meanwhile, more and more weight is being placed behind the proposal to lower and gradually eliminate tariff barriers between the United States and Canada, looking toward some day perhaps enlarging the already vast free trade area of the United States. Canada's currency is already closely aligned to that of the United States. Why not a common currency, suggest some. It would not necessarily involve political union.

The World War resulted in breaking up Europe into small, sullen, antagonistic national fragments which succeeded in damming up and ruining the free flow of trade that might have meant prosperity for all.

This war must result in the breaking down of economic barriers by realization that political independence maintained at the expense of economic suicide is a deadly delusion.

Clerks Movies To Tell The History Of "Wonder State"

By United Press
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — Outstanding happenings in Arkansas for the past 400 years have been filmed by a Little Rock postoffice clerk.

Dennis D. Cranford, an amateur photographer in his spare time, decided that unusual occurrences in the "Wonder State" should be recorded on film. So he set to work and spent many long hours planning the photography phase of his enterprise.

Now he proudly displays his masterpiece of Arkansas history to school children of the state, civic bodies, patriotic organizations and any other group that is interested.

Actors Also Cooperate
Striking shots make up the 800-foot film, including bona fide Indians to reflect the color of the first Americans who roamed the forests and green glades of this section, animals at the Little Rock Municipal Zoo to exhibit the type which prowled the Arkansas wilds many years ago, and many other interesting subjects.

Titled "The 4th Caucasian Centennial of Arkansas," the picture depicts Arkansas' growth in agricultural and industrial development as well as the progress made by civilized man.

Some difficulty was encountered in shooting one particular scene. It was the filming of De Soto crossing the Mississippi river at a point between Helena and the mouth of the Arkansas river. A barge of the type used by the Spanish explorer was needed, and other props, including bows and arrows, Indian costumes, horses and hogs, were also in demand.

Actors Also Cooperate
These hindrances were removed by donations of different articles from various firms and individuals. Actors also were cooperative in making the film.

Another highly pictorial section of the film is De Soto's discovery of Hot Springs and his belief that the hot waters were blessed with powers to make life everlasting. And the discovery that the waters contained minerals conducive to good health and a strong, vigorous life.

Then, as a climax, Cranford devoted the last section of the film to short scenes of Arkansas dignitaries. They include Mrs. Geo. W. Donaghey, Mrs. Joseph T. Robinson, Miss Willie K. Hocker, former governor and Mrs. Tom J. Terral, former governor and Mrs. J. M. Futrell, former governor and Mrs. Carl E. Bailey and Gov. Homer M. Adkins.

Theatre Circuit To Celebrate Anniversary

Founder of Interstate Circuit

WHEN KARL HOBLITZELLE ORGANIZED THEATRES IN 1906 MOVIES WERE YOUNG

Interstate Circuit Is Only 10 Years Younger Than the Motion Picture Industry, As First Picture Was in 1896.

The celebration during August Interstate Theatres of the Interstate Circuit's Thirty-fifth Anniversary recalls the rapid progress made by motion pictures.

When Karl Hoblitzelle first organized the Interstate circuit back in 1906 motion pictures were only ten years old. The Interstate theatres in those days played vaudeville and later added a news reel. It was many years before the Interstate included a screen feature in its programs.

One of the amazing things about the motion picture is the short time in which it has developed.

Thomas A. Edison invented the Kinetoscope in 1889. Motion pictures were projected on a screen in 1896. D. W. Griffith demonstrated the scope and power of a new entertainment medium in 1914. Sound was generally adopted in 1928. In 1939—fifty years after Griffith's birth of a Nation, and only thirteen years since sound—the screen has come to artistic maturity.

With technical problems conquered, the creative genius of the studios began to turn out such outstanding productions as "David Copperfield," "It Happened One Night," "Cavalcade," "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer," "Les Miserables," "Anna Karenina," "The Informer," and "The Story of Louis Pasteur."

The motion picture had hit its stride and was on its way to even higher standards. And the better the pictures, the greater the support from the public. As "The Life of Emile Zola," "The Good Earth," "100 Men and a Girl," "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," "You Can't Take It With You," "Union Pacific," "Young Mr. Lincoln," "Wuthering Heights" and other outstanding pictures have come along, there has been a large audience ready and eager to receive them.

A. & M. Professor To Make Good Will Agricultural Trip

COLLEGE STATION, Tex.—National defense is sending E. J. Kyle to South America as a "good will" envoy for agriculture.

While abroad, on a four-months' tour, Kyle also is expected to accomplish something for the Texas A. & M. College school of agriculture, of which he is dean.

A. & M. has been getting quite a few South American students lately and needs courses which will fit them for conditions in their native lands. From his wide experience, Kyle already has mapped several such courses. He expects to return with enough additional data to complete the job.

Kyle's plans were revealed when the A. & M. board of directors granted him a leave of absence. His trip is sponsored by the Council of National Defense, to which he will make a written report on the agricultural systems of 18 nations. He leaves College Station by

A director of the Farm Credit Administration and trustee in the $1,000,000 Luling Texas Foundation, probably the most important demonstration farm in the United States, Kyle will swap information with the southern nations. The exchange, it is hoped, will benefit farmers generally.

On behalf of the FCA, he will touch on the credit systems of the countries visited. The business of the trip will not be without a comingling of pleasure. During 30 years at A. & M., Kyle has met numerous Latin American students. He expects to greet "at least one former student at every airport" and renew acquaintances.

City Forester Has Created Beauty Has No Fund For Job

QUINCY, Mass.—Before anything in Quincy is thrown away, Andrew Stewart takes a look at it and the result is more than 70 public garden spots throughout the city.

City Forester since 1932, Stewart is granted no special funds for the work, but he and his son make it a point of special pride to beautify the city.

The Stewarts comb the city for what they need in the line of flowers, shrubs and trees. If elm trees are needed, a foraging expedition is started and all wasteland is examined for seedlings for the municipal nursery which itself was made from a dump.

The greenhouses used by the lanky Irishman are portable school houses refitted with glass frames. Residents have helped dress up the city by contributing seedlings, cuttings and plants to the nursery. One woman has donated a pair of fig trees and in his wanderings Stewart found a pair of thorny shoots called Devil's Walking Sticks. They cost $5 in the market but now they are being grown to decorate city parks.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICE

"Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 27.

The Golden Text is: "O praise the Lord, all ye nations. . . For his merciful kindness is great toward us: and the truth of the Lord endureth forever." (Psalms 117:1,2).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible. "And the Lord heard the voice of Elijah; and the soul of the child came into him again, and he revived. . . And the woman said to Elijah, Now by this I know that thou art a man of God, and that the word of the Lord in thy mouth is truth" (1 Kings 17:22,24).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy: "The eternal Truth destroys what mortals seem to have learned from error, and man's real existence as a child of God comes to light. Truth demonstrated is eternal life" (page 288).

Rail Crossing Dog Dies While on Duty

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—A yellow mongrel dog is dead after five years of warning motorists of approaching trains at a crossing.

The dog began his vigil after making friends with the regular watchman. Long before the crossing signal sounded, the animal could hear an approaching train. Immediately the dog would run into the highway and herd motorists and pedestrians back from the tracks.

But the dog was killed by an automobile when it ran into the road to chase another dog.

L. S. U. Sponsoring Freckles and His Friends—By Blosser

By United Press

LOCKPORT, La.—Songs heard as a child from Negro field hands and from her mother and father today form the basis for Miss Louise V. Olivier's French singing programs along the bayou country in the southern part of the state.

Miss Olivier's work is sponsored by the general extension division of Louisiana State University "to preserve the language, culture and traditions of the French-speaking people of Louisiana."

In her trips into the bayou country, Miss Olivier takes both a message and a plea. She tells the people, who rapidly are turning to the English language, that there is much that is worthwhile in the old customs of their part of the country. She also asks them to preserve the things that easily will be forgotten if not put down in writing.

Miss Olivier was born on a plantation on Bayou Bourbeaux in Prairie Basse, a French-speaking section of St. Landry parish. "My favorite of all the plantation tenants was a Negro named Frank Key," she said. "I didn't realize it at the time, but today I firmly believe that Frank was my first music instructor—the first to inspire me along the career I now am following."

Some of the first songs she learned to play on her $4.98 mail order violin were the ones her mother had recorded in a "cahier" she kept in her personal armoire. From stories, the old songs and things she remembers from the past, Miss Olivier stages her program in schools in 24 French speaking parishes. Presentation of the programs are becoming a popular feature among the bayou people.

The printing trade offers a money-making opportunity to ambitious young women. Linotypers and proofreaders are needed to fill positions opened by the draft. With our modern equipment you can learn rapidly and the tuition is low. If interested write for free catalog and complete information. Along in 1926, 1927 and even late as 1928, some critics intimated that sound only added confusion to the screen. Motion picture entertainment had attained its peak in silent pictures, they said. The "Talkies" that first appeared seemed to bear out the critics because most of them were more than photographed plays. Actors had to stay within narrow limits marked out by chalk marks on the sound stage. The producers, directors, writers and technicians in the industry said nothing. They were at work trying to retain the old and movement of the silent picture while exploring the added possibilities of sound. The first outdoor feature picture to combine sound and movement effectively was "In Old Arizona." Then followed "All Quiet on the Western Front" and "The Iron Horse." There could be no doubt about it; motion pictures retained their old vitality and scope, enhanced by the addition of sound.

Serving the Community

In 1906 the Interstate Theatres were founded.

It was a creed that every Interstate Theatre should be a Safe, Clean, Attractive and Healthful Place of Amusement in which to present the best Entertainment available. In addition, it was insisted that it provide a proper and wholesome environment for children.

And equally important, it was demanded that all Employees be Good Citizens, sharing in the Civic and Moral responsibilities of the Community. These motives were essential to the design for happiness for both the Community and Interstate personnel.

For 35 years this has been the policy which has guided Interstate Theatres—truly the Amusement Pioneers of the Southwest—in the successful operation of wholesome places of amusement.

So diligently have they lived and practiced these ideals that the citizens of Texas and New Mexico have naturally come to have a feeling of Respect, Warmth and Friendship for these fine theatres.

Interstate Employees, numbering more than 2,000, are proud of their organization and the role they are playing in making you Happy and of being a part of the Communities in which they live.

A Disabled Veteran Has His Little Joke

WILMINGTON, Del.—Police squads and ambulance crews combed the waterfront section of the city in response to an emergency call from a man who said his leg had been shot off. After ransacking stores, rooming houses and back alleys the men found the shooting victim, Patrick O'Shaughnessy, sitting on an upturned barrel with the stump of his leg stuck out in front of him. Sure, and Pat's leg had been shot off during the World War 23 years ago.

London Boy Of 14 To Pay Wage Tax

trying to reckon how much income tax he will have to pay on an $18 a week wage.

There are thousands more boys like him in Britain. They are being employed, and paid high wages in munitions factories.

Boys of 14 and 15 are making $16 to $20 every week. Slightly older lads make $24. Youths of 17 in some areas, are getting more than $32.

Scientist says man is run by electricity. Some wives could give him a good argument.

The same love that makes the whole world go around just makes the young folks park.

Attorney, 98, Practices By United Press
HUNTINGTON, Ind.—Squire George Stults, who was the last mayor of the town of Huntington and the first mayor of the city of Huntington, has a good claim to being the oldest practicing attorney in the country. He is 98. Thirty years ago he was elected a justice of the peace, and has held that office ever since. He reads without glasses, and keeps his docket up to date himself.

August has five holidays and September is starting. That's rubbing it on the kids. All of the people aren't acting.
