Moore... ABOUT Eastland

By VIRGIL E. MOORE

Enjoy the holidays? We did. Always did consider the fourth of July as one of the best holidays of them all, besides Christmas and Thanksgiving, of course.

Eastland folks apparently were scattered from one end of the nation to the other. We ended up in Corsicana, ourselves. Lots of Eastlanders were in Cisco for the big bathing beauty contest. Understand Dixie Day, Eastland's representative, was more than okay.

Quote of the Day—"I'm tired."
—Virgil Moore.

Collin Cagle and Opal Cross both celebrate their birthday today, the Band Boosters' Birthday calendar reveals.

From the way it looks, Eastland and Ranger are going to get rich out of the "Name the Lake" contest. The way we have it figured, if the chamber of commerce in both cities sell the letters they have received for waste paper after the contest is over they can collect a cool million. That is based, of course, on the price of newsprint.

There really has been a large response to the contest, no kidding.

Understand the Rotarians didn't get around to meeting Monday. What does that do to their perfect record?

Paul Crume, in his Big D column in The Dallas Morning News, tells of the guy who figured out a way to beat the parking ticket rap and still save his nickel. Crume tells of the driver of a panel truck which was parked in front of the Whitmore Hotel. He came out of a nearby doorway, took a paper sack off the unfed parking meter beside the truck, put it in the front seat, smirked knowingly at a passer-by and drove off with his nickel.

We might add that we tried it and ended up with a ticket. Seems Ray Laney is smarter than those Dallas cops.

Freddie Bleck, commander of the Eastland American Legion Post, handed us the following clipping recently. It was taken from the Legion Magazine and serves as a grim reminder that war is not pleasant.

"Defense Department has announced that unidentified U.S. servicemen who lost their lives in the military operations in Korea will be permanently interred in the National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific, at Honolulu, T.H. Bodies have been recovered by the Graves Registration Service, and every known scientific identification technique is applied in each case before final determination is made that the remains cannot be individually identified. It is believed that about 700 bodies may eventually be declared unidentifiable and removed to Hawaii for burial as 'Unknown.' Combat areas in North Korea are as yet closed to field teams of the Graves Registration Service where it is expected that many more bodies will be recovered. Following WW I, remains of 1,647 unidentified dead were buried in eight U.S. Military Cemeteries in Europe. Approximately 8,350 unknown dead of WW II are interred in National and Military cemeteries in Europe, North Africa, Philippines, Hawaii, Alaska and Puerto Rico."

Understand one of our local judges ran into a bit of trouble the other day when a Colored man was brought before him charged with stealing chickens. The man pleaded guilty and was sentenced. The judge asked how it was he managed to lift those chickens right under the window of the owner's house with a dog in the yard.

The prisoner said, "Hit wouldn't be no use, judge, to 'splain dis thing to you all. If you was to try it you like as not would get your hide full of 'shot and get no chickens, nuther. If you want to engage in any rascality, judge, yo' better stick to de bench, wid what yo' am familiar."

See you Thursday.

Seaberry To Head State Bar

SAN ANTONIO (Spl.)—Virgil T. Seaberry Sr. of Eastland was named chairman of the state bar's board as the 72nd annual convention came to an end over the weekend.

Seaberry is a prominent Eastland attorney.

Cecil E. Burney, past president, Corpus Christi; J. Glenn Turner, former president, Dallas and R. L. Kilpatrick, chairman of the unauthorized practices committee the past year, of Cleburne, were selected as Texas representatives in the American Bar Association's house of delegates.

A host of resolutions, including one calling for a statutory amendment to establish uniformity of terms in district courts, were approved.

At present many small counties allow only two days for appeals of decisions, while the larger counties have a 10-day limit.

County Pecan Growers To Appear On Show

Four Eastland County pecan growers, together with the J. M. Cooper, county agricultural agent, have accepted an invitation to appear on the program of the Texas Pecan Growers Association meeting at Fredericksburg on July 13 to discuss "County Pecan Shows and their value."

The first annual Eastland County Pecan Show, held at Cisco last December, attracted wide attention among growers, it was said. The Cisco Chamber of Commerce cooperated in sponsoring the show. It was believed to be the first county pecan show in the state in several years.

Cooper said that the dates for the 1954 show had been set for Dec. 11, 12 and 13 and that the show would again be held in Cisco.

Those to appear on the program with Cooper include H. A. Bible, Cisco; Lee Leiske, Nimrod; B. E. Freeman, Ranger; and C. D. Simmons, Gorman. Simmons, incidentally, had the grand champion entry of nuts in last year's show with his exhibit of Western Schley pecans.

The county agent said a pecan tour is being planned in the county for the last week in August. The 1950 census shows that there are 1,200 acres of paper-shell pecans in the county.

Carbon Class Of 1953 Sets Annual Reunion

CARBON (TNS)—The annual reunion of the 1933 Carbon Senior Class will be held at Eastland Park August 1 from 2 until 10 p.m.

W. C. Jordan of Imperial, Calif., spokesman for the group, said "Last year's reunion turned out very good and we wish to make it even better this time by having it on Sunday, as many could not make it due to their other engagements last year."

Exes who are expected to attend are Abe Hall, Dean Martin, Raymond McMillan, Bess Guy, Arless Pierce, Woodrow Mangum, Darrell Moore, Merlin Haris, Gay Everett, Maxine Fite, Veneta Mitchell, Virgie Jarrett, Pierce Scott, W. C. Jordan, Maynel Gilkey, Lucille Hagler and Edison Speer.

The families and friends of the ex-students are also urged to attend, Jordan said.

Army Opens On Recruiting Station Here

Master Sgt. Morton L. Collier has taken over his duties in Eastland as U. S. Army recruiting officer.

Sgt. Collier, who transfers here from Camp Pook, La., will make his office in the courthouse with the Air Force Recruiting Station which is already open there.

Married, Sgt. Collier has one child. He plans to move his family here later.

PRESS LEADERS—Elected to head the Texas Press Association for its 1954-1955 year, at the Diamond Anniversary Convention of TPA, held recently in Fort Worth, were W. R. Beaumier of the Lubbock Daily News; Russell Bryant of the News-Herald; and Tom Whitehead, Brenham Banner-Press. Beaumier will serve as president, Bryant as vice president, and Whitehead as secretary treasurer. The association selected June 10-11, 1955 as the dates for its 76th Annual Convention, and Galveston as the convention city.

Jaycees Plan Safety Drive With Scotchlite

If you spot a group of men wearing funny hats and manning a blockade on the square in the next week or so, don't get excited. It will just be the newly organized Jaycees getting their Scotchlite safety campaign underway.

Jaycees plan to put a strip of the gleaming red strips on the rear bumper of every automobile in Eastland. And they are not doing it just because the tape is a fad with motorists.

A recent article in the Red-der's Digest explains the Jaycees reason for deciding on the campaign.

"Driving home to Roanoke, Va., along a dark, winding road one rainy night in 1952, George O'Hara witnessed a horrifying accident. A driver who had stopped to change a flat tire was getting his jack from the trunk, and in so doing was obstructing a tail light. Another car plowed into him, pinning him screaming against his own car and crushing both legs.

"Sickened, O'Hara resolved to do something about the appalling slaughter of nighttime accidents, which, he learned, are three times as numerous as those occurring in daytime. Again and again the cause was found to be dim, obscured or burned-out tail lights. He recalled having seen trucks on the road at night with their rear ends outlined in the light-reflecting red tape, Scotchlite. Why not tape the rear bumpers of passenger cars? An inchwide strip of Scotchlite, reflected in approaching headlights could be seen a quarter of a mile away. The tape's rear end would always be protected, parked or in motion.

"O'Hara, vice-president of Roanoke Junior Chamber of Commerce, got the Jaycees to try it out by putting strips of Scotchlite, free of charge, on the rear bumper of every car in town. Since the campaign began, police report a decline of 85 per cent in rear-end collisions in the Roanoke area.

"Tests of Scotchlite at Iowa State College Driving Laboratory indicate the reason. Most night accidents are due to the driver's failure to see an obstacle in time. Reflective tape can be seen more quickly than the average tail light, and becomes visible in time to give 73 extra feet in stopping distance. This is often the precious margin of safety needed.

"In the past two years the other

2048 junior chambers of commerce have extended O'Hara's crusade to all 48 states, to Canada, Panama, Mexico, Hawaii and the

County Gets 56 Miles Road In Five Years

During the past five years, 52.56 miles of roads have been built in Eastland county, according to figures of the Highway Department, which were released today. The past five years, the Department reports, represents Texas' greatest period of road construction history.

The breakdown by counties as well as state totals prepared by the department showed that $2,757,795.54 was spent in Eastland county for maintenance of present roads and for its share in the gigantic construction program.

Meanwhile in Austin Governor Shivers cited the impressive figures "as evidence that the state's construction program is giving Texas motorists the best roads that engineering can provide."

The report showed that 14,926.10 miles of roads added to the state highway system over the period covered cost $575,158,577.32, more money spent for construction than in any other comparable period.

Figures also showed that Farm-to-Market roads came in for a lion's share of the total. The roads were named a priority because they give farmers needed routes to markets and access to towns surrounding rural areas, a highway official said.

Shivers, who said he was very proud of the excellent way Texas roads have improved in the last half-decade, listed dollars and cents saved as two prime benefits to Texas motorists.

"State drivers have been able to save countless hours and money through good roads that provide the ultimate in safety and design," he remarked.

He also pledged that he "would do everything in my power" to continue the present rapid pace of road-building and maintenance.

"A road system worthy of its name must provide its motorists with swift, safe routes," he said.

Philippines. In continental United States three million cars have been taped. Other groups have taped 4,500,000 bicycles.

"Police official, across the country are enthusiastic about this lifesaving tape. It will last for years.

"The tape is easy to apply and should be used only on the rear bumper, never on the front (red in front only confuses). Police are emphatic on this point. It should be applied the full length of the bumper, either in a solid strip or in evenly spaced short lengths, from the tip of one wrap-around to the other, so as to indicate the full width of the car. Silly or flippant use of the tape—slogans, designs, names—detracts from the tape's safety function, confuses other motorists.

"Night motoring is hazardous. The driver needs all the safety devices at his command. Reflective tape applied to the 50 million untaped vehicles now on our highways can substantially reduce after-dark accidents. On your car it could save your own life."

Appeals Court Hearing On Dawson Case Begins

CANDIDATE FIGHTS LOWER COURT RULING

The Eleventh District Court of Civil Appeals this morning began hearing C. H. Dawson's appeal of a lower court ruling which would strike his name from the ballot. Dawson is a candidate for Representative of the 76th Congressional District.

Judge Clyde Grissom, M. S. Long, and Cecil Collins will hear the appeal.

Last Thursday, 42nd District Court Judge J. R. Black ordered Dawson's name taken off the ballot. His decision came following a complaint filed by A. H. Powell charging Dawson had failed to file expense accounts with the Democratic Executive Committee of Eastland, Shackelford and Callahan counties. Dawson immediately filed an appeal.

300 Attend Reunion At Thurber 4th

THURBER (TNS) — More than 300 persons, many of them former residents of this once booming city, were in Thurber Sunday for the annual reunion of ex-Thurberians.

Old settlers from as far away as Illinois, Kentucky, Virginia and Oklahoma attended. Oldest settler present was J. Y. Jordan of Eastland, a native of Thurber. The Texas and Pacific Coal and Oil Co. furnished cold drinks and lunch was served to all.

B. O. Morgan was elected president of the group at the business session which followed the luncheon. E. B. Morgan was elected vice president and Mrs. B. O. Morgan secretary - treasurer. All are from Weatherford.

C. H. Spencer of Breckenridge, J. R. Boggs of Eastland and Frank Arrandale and Ole Tullos of Ranger were named on a special committee.

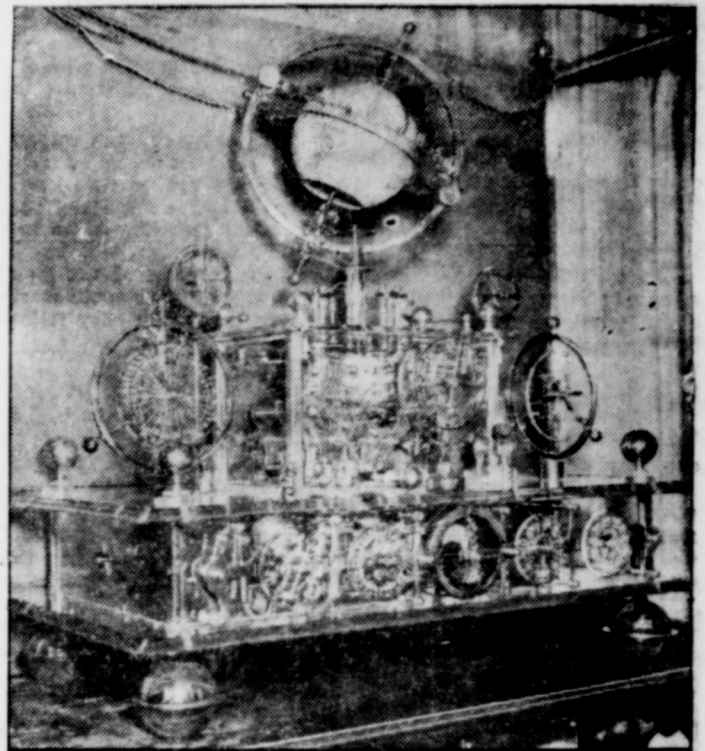

Rising Star Beauty Is Miss Eastland County

CISCO (TNS) — A cute Rising Star teenager holds the title of Miss Eastland County today. She is Carol Deen, who won the honor over five other contestants in county competition.

Miss Deen edged out Ranger's Dorothy Beck and Dixie Day of Eastland for the honor. Miss Beck won second place honors and Miss Day was third.

Neeta Moad of Cisco and Janie Thompson of Gorman were the other two entries.

PROVIDENCE, R. I. — The Shakespeare's Head House—office of this city's first newspaper, the Providence Gazette and Country Journal—is used today to house several civic groups and an art gallery. The building was erected in 1763.

BUT WHAT TIME IS IT?—It could be almost any time at all, if you had this clock, and the knowledge necessary to interpret its indications. Displayed in Paris, France, by inventor F. J. Senac, the instrument is set to give, for 100 years, the following information: Day, date, month and year; occurrence of Easter; phases of the moon, sidereal and mean solar time; predictions of approaching lunar and solar eclipses.

EASTLAND, RANGER SWAMPED WITH NAMES FOR NEW LAKE

The Name the Lake Contest offering $100 cash for the name to be chosen for the new lake of the Eastland County Water Board, currently sponsored as a joint project of the Chambers of Commerce of Eastland and Ranger, has produced a number of surprises, all of which are favorable, Herb Tamer, Eastland manager, said today.

The contest will not end until July 15, but already both Chambers of Commerce have begun to catalog the entries which have been received to date, so that it will reduce the work of the committee of judges when the real task of selecting a name for the lake is undertaken.

Suggestions submitted are showing a lot of originality and certainly a wide variety. It appears that the judges will have anything but a limited field from which to select the name for the new lake.

The suggested names are being separated into several categories. It is found that there are a number of duplications of names submitted, and under the rules of the contest the entry bearing the earliest post mark will be the winner, in case two or more persons submit the same suggested name. The post mark is carefully kept on each entry, and every precaution is being taken to avoid an error in the handling of the entries in the contest.

Among the surprises which have developed in the contest is the wide-spread publicity the contest has received. Entries have come from every section of Texas, from Louisiana, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and one from Fairbanks, Alaska.

When originally considered, it was thought that 500 entries would be a good return on a publicity program, but now both Herbert Tanner of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce and Galloway of the Ranger organization, predict that the entries may approach the 1,500 mark before July 15.

At noon today more than 1,000 letters had been received from over 260 cities and towns. It is noted that some of the letters have two or more suggested names for the lake, although the rules of the contest limit only one suggestion from each person.

It is being found that about 75 per cent of the persons who have submitted names have placed emphasis in their comments on either or both of two factors in connection with the building of the new lake. These are, the unusual cooperation between cities where competition is keen in civic rivalry, in working out a solution to their mutual problem, and the fact that these two cities, Ranger and Eastland have done it at home, without the solicitation of either federal or state funds.

In some letters unusually strong emphasis is being placed upon the fact that the Eastland County Water District has accomplished a magnificent feat in building a lake and thus establishing an abundant storage place for water to supply present needs and insure future growth and development of the two cities involved.

Unfortunately for some contestants, their entries will have to be cast aside for the rules of the contest point out that no name will be considered if the name of either, or both Eastland and Ranger or any coined word based on the names, or parts of names of the two cities, is incorporated in the suggested name.

Despite the fact that some of the entries are disqualified because they do violate the rule against identifying it with either or both Ranger and Eastland, some of the suggestions are found to be interesting, as well as the comments, accompanying them.

East Ranger has been submitted several times but it incorporates parts of the names of both cities. Another is Lake Texas Ranger. Randal Lake is taking R from Ranger, and land from Eastland. Telanger Lake picks up eight letters from the names of the two cities. Another combination is Ra-Eas. A contestant suggested

Traveling With Children? Here Are Some Helps For Auto Trips

Sensible planning before vacation-time will make traveling with the children easier for Mom and the other adults in the car. Aside from planning the wardrobe, itinerary and frequent stops, here are a few suggestions to keep in mind from the Luggage & Leather Goods Manufacturers:

Use separate luggage. Infants' garments should be packed separately, with immediate needs on top for easy access. Tots enter into the spirit of the vacation when they are allowed to fill their own suitcases — even if Mother finds them packed with unmatched shoes and toys, she can rearrange the selection later. There are inexpensive sets of miniature luggage designed expressly for children which include little train cases, overnight bags and hatboxes; many are decorated with favorite cartoon, fairytale and television characters.

Give older children responsibilities. Allowing a boy or girl to be keeper of the extra key case (should father misplace his) gives the child a feeling of importance. Junior navigators will be thrilled to have custody of the map case with the vacation route marked in heavy crayon for easy following.

Provide extra comforts. Refreshments are best kept in one of the new "feed bag" containers which fasten over the backrest of the seat; food and liquids are kept in an even temperature, never get spread out all over the car. Provide five-and-dime store games, toys and novelties to distribute one at a time when the trip gets boring. Many families use a shoe bag with individual pockets in which they pack games, damp sponges for sticky hands, tissues, treats.

Mrs. Don Doyle and children are in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Doyle for a weeks visit.

Nuptial Vows For Miss Gourley And Mr. Bobby E. Travis of Cisco

The First Baptist church auditorium was the scene for the wedding of Miss Sue Gourley and Bobby Travis of Cisco on Sunday morning, July 4th.

At nine o'clock Mrs. Donald Kinnaird was at the organ for the traditional wedding music.

Miss Lyla Pearl Houston, soloist sang "Because." To the strains of the wedding March, the bride, on the arm of her father, E. W. Gourley, met the minister, Rev. C. Melvin Rathel and the groom at the Altar for the double ring ceremony.

At the conclusion of the prayer, the soloist sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride wore her graduation dress of white chantilly lace which had a bouffant skirt with row on row of white satin bands. The top was a fitted bolero with Eton collar and full length sleeves. It's trim was of satin binding and tiny buttons. Her veil was shoulder length points which fell from a brides chapeau of lace and seed pearls. She carried a blue lace handkerchief, the something borrowed with family sentiment.

Ushers were James Ried, Evan Mitchell and James Blackman.

The couple left for Cisco where his parents held the Bridal breakfast. From there they will go directly to El Paso where they will live. The groom is stationed in Ft. Bliss.

Mrs. Travis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Gourley of Eastland and is a graduate of the Eastland High School. She is a talented young artist and has appeared in many TV and Radio shows in this area. Travis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Travis of Cisco and is a graduate of Cisco High School and north Texas.

Hint for Vacationers: Nicer You Look, More Fun You'll Have

It's as simple as that! So here are a few practical suggestions from one who knows—Katherine Potter, Director of Procter and Gamble's Beauty and Grooming Information Service.

She says that all smart girls, who wouldn't think of going to market without a grocery list, shouldn't think of going on a vacation without a packing list. Then you won't be furious at yourself for forgetting the belt that simply makes an outfit . . . or the white earrings that set off your beautiful new tan.

And be sure to list your cosmetics. Most of them are sold everywhere, of course — but why take up fun time, shopping for them? Particularly when you can take them with you. More economical too. Just pour from your big sizes into small plastic bottles. For stockings and underthings, take soap or detergent. And never set forth without your favorite shampoo. A vacation success depends a lot on looking your best, and nothing makes you feel tackier than knowing your hair's not right. Especially when the m a n might turn up, any minute!

A detergent shampoo is a fine choice because it suds well and rinses thoroughly in any kind of water you strike. And leaves your hair glistening and pretty. Keep that attractive shine by covering your hair if the sun's hot. Otherwise, you may come home with a straw thatch that needs corrective treatments.

Miss Potter is a sympathetic soul who knows the temptation of trying to hang onto the "set" you started off with. She suggests wrapping your head in a thick towel to keep out steam from your tub or shower. But she warns, too, against trying to keep the set too long. It's not only dirt and dust that's against you. Perspiration is hard on hair, making it dull and stringy.

Have you considered a new, very short cut? Maybe that's the answer. One that needs a minimum of setting — just a few front curls, and the back worn slightly waved, mainly for shape. Think about it, why don't you? A becoming new hairstyle may be just the thing to add to the sense of adventure that's the best part of any vacation.

LEGAL ADVICE REQUIRES STUDY, EXPERIENCE

When a lawyer saves a client from trouble or financial difficulty, the client knows only that he has been charged for "advice"—a commodity oftentimes too freely given by us all. Often overlooked is the study, work, and time the attorney has spent in order that he be in a position to give advice that can be relied upon.

First, a practicing lawyer must have had six or seven years of academic education. In Texas this means at least three years of college work and three years in a recognized law school. Because the community at large has an interest in the qualifications and conduct of members of the bar, these minimum educational requirements must be met before examination for admission to the bar may be taken.

During the three years of formal legal education, the law student attempts to read, digest, reconceive and understand from 10,000 to 20,000 separate cases, statutes, and monographs. He must draw from these an understanding of basic legal principles, of processes of legal reasoning, of methods of fact and legal investigation, and of court procedures which bring relief to clients.

From the standpoint of court proceedings, the community then expects the work of a lawyer to be a prompt and efficient trial of their causes at a fair cost. From a counselling standpoint, it expects reasonable promptness and efficiency with, above all, the utmost of sound judgment.

In both counselling and litigation, a lawyer must draw upon a wealth of precedent which he has attempted to store in his memory in order to apply one or more principles of law to the fact situation presented by his client. Ordinarily, many legal principles and rules of statute or decision are involved in even the simplest situation. Too, the problems raised by various clients, like fingerprints, are never exactly the same.

After searching his memory, the lawyer will usually check the pertinent rules and precedents. These are found in an ever-increasing volume of stating volume of statutes with which modern legislation seeks to regulate many aspects of our life, and in the decisions of the court, boards and bureaus.

Almost every problem presented to a lawyer requires research in the statutes and law books before a proper answer can be given.

an immediate answer to your problem from your lawyer, unless it is of the most elemental type. Your lawyer should, and you should give him time to, form his opinions from the authoritative statutes and decisions.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

New Plastic Accessories Keep Kitchen And Bath Sparkling

It's difficult to keep the bathroom sparkling clean during hot summer weather when the youngsters all too frequently are running into the house for a drink of water or a quick wash-up.

It's difficult, that is, unless you keep the children out of the bathroom. Just equip your kitchen sink with a handy plastic tumbler holder and soap dish and let the young 'uns stop there to get a drink or wash their face and hands. You'll find it's much easier to keep the kitchen sink presentable than to constantly clean the bathroom.

The plastic tumbler holder and soap dish are amazingly inexpensive and easy to put up. They simply stick to the wall and require no nails, screws, tools, or special glues. Here's how you apply these accessories, which are known as Selfix:

Moisten the adhesive-coated wood insert on the back of the accessory with a few drops of water. Then work the adhesive into a gluey consistency and place the accessory into position on the wall, pressing it firmly for one minute. Let the adhesive "set" for 24 hours and the accessory is ready for use.

These unique new tumbler holders and soap dishes will adhere firmly to any smooth wood, plaster, or the wall surface because of their patented backing. They are designed in a variety of five popular kitchen colors — white, red, yellow, green, and black. Other plastic accessories available with the same adhesive wood insert include one, two, and three-prong hooks, 12 and 18-inch towel bars, three-arm towel holders, toothbrush holders, and toilet tissue holders.

THIS WATER MEANS BUSINESS

Water for swimming, fishing or hunting is fine. But some water is saved to go on dry soils to relieve thirsty crops. It's no time for play when the soil needs water. The water must go on the land—and quick.

Whether the water is pumped from wells, or comes from rains, it is good business to conserve every bucket full that reaches the land. Organic matter in the soil helps to hold the moisture until it is taken up by the roots of crops. Your county agent can suggest crops that will help build up the organic matter in your soil.

It is good business to save money for times when it will be needed. It's not an emergency when you have a bank account.

NAME-

Regnar Lake, which is Ranger spelled backward. R & E Lake has been suggested. Lake Rangeland is another combination of parts of both city names.

A behind-the-scenes look into other letters finds many interesting and unusual suggestions, and comments. Many of them are centered on the theme of close cooperation between the two cities.

Lake Frotherhood is suggested because "the two cities are so closely united in a common interest." Good Neighbor Lake has been submitted, because "both cities have demonstrated a wonderful good neighbor policy." Lake Harmony is another suggestion based on mutual cooperation. Friendship Lake is another on the same theme, as is also, Lake Good Will.

One entry read, "Ranger and Eastland need water; the lake needs a name, I need the $100, and therefore suggest Lake Necessity."

Lake Triumph is a suggested name because "this lake is a triumph—a magnificent triumph of man over nature, over barren and unprofitable acres. A dramatic triumph, too, over Uncle Sam's Lizard, endless and disquieting spending and lending, indeed over man's insecurity."

One entry was not only for the name but added a slogan as well, "Lake Lure—Texas' Best Industrial Watering Hole."

Lake Legend was submitted by reason of "legends of buried treasure, but it is a legend that two cities built the lake without running to the state or federal governments for help."

Lake Enterprise would "recognize the enterprise of the two cities, and their cooperation and self reliance on taking care of their own needs."

Lake Echo, or Twin Echo, has been submitted as Echo means to answer, and the lake is an answer to the needs of both Eastland and Ranger.

Because the need of water is so important to man and his welfare, Lake Kevia is offered as a name for the lake.

The suggestion of Lake Providence was supported by six reasons, which included praise for both Eastland and Ranger in providing for water needs cooperatively and without aid from outside sources.

Three unusual names included Tesoro, being Spanish for treasure; Lake Kevia, meaning Indian ceremonial meeting ground, and Blue Cache, "the blue being for the water of the lake, and cache, a place to bury anxieties, tiredness, and the complexities of life along the restful shores of the lake."

Bootstrap Lake, would "give a name western in character in keeping with the west, and would refer to the expression he pulled himself up by his bootstraps, thus giving recognition to the combined efforts of Eastland and Ranger to solve their own problem for a water supply."

At least the names of three individuals have been submitted as contest entries. Rip Galloway Lake; Boyce House Lake, and Lake Pickerell, in honor of Dave Pickerell, who has been a leader in the work of creating the lake project.

A few of the other suggestions included Lake Oasis, Lake Eden, Indian Head Lake, Twin Treasure Lake, Lake Ponce de Leon; Leon Delight, and Releone Lake. And there are hundreds more.

Both Chamber of Commerce men, Galloway and Tanner, are confident that the committee of judges will have a greater task than anticipated when it comes to selecting the one name to be given to the lake.

PRUNE YOUR HEDGES WITH CHEMICALS

If you are tired of the hard work of cutting your hedges and taking the time to make them look neat, you may have the answer to your problem soon. A commercial chemical preparation to "prune" hedges has been developed.

The July issue of Better Homes & Gardens magazine reports that the chemical includes maleic hydrazide, a growth regulator. So, the chemical actually cuts down growth, which eliminates some of the need for pruning.

Tests of the idea showed that plants sprayed produced less than one shoot for each square foot of top area. Hedges which were not sprayed with the chemical produced up to 40 shoots a square foot, 12 to 15 inches long.

Research indicates that a single spraying of the chemical will retard growth of the hedge for about two months.

Mrs. Paul Chaney and Mrs. Martin Smith, took Mike Smith to the Lions Camp for crippled children where he will spend the next two weeks.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Blackman have had their son, F. N. Robert D. Blackman from the USS Corry for a four days leave from his ship. They were in Dallas for the short time with him. He has been in Cuba an expects to see the Mediterranean in the near future. He has had two and a half years service with the navy.

The Buford Jordans and daughter Jane will have two weeks vacation in cool Colorado; first to Estes Park, then Yellow Stone and to Salt Lake City before returning home.

TEI PERSONALS — D Mrs. Minnie Ewart has just returned from attending the funeral of her niece, Mrs. M. T. Holly and her fourteen month old son at Granberry. The mother and child met a tragic death in the Ozona flood.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bryant, formerly of Eastland and now living in San Antonio, with their son Truett Bryant, were attending business in Eastland on Tuesday. They were en route to Plainview where they will visit with Mrs. C. E. Sheffey.

Dr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Chaney had three children were visiting his parents Dr. and Mrs. Walter E. Chaney for the "Fourth," holiday.

THREE-

shaft in the bottom of which he found the rusted metal of a pick of crude workmanship. Nearby, he had come across a primitive iron pot which could have been used — "would," mind you — in a simple form of smelting. These finds would indicate a mine, rather than many jackloads of silver.

The aged treasure-seeker would not discuss details and he has now gone on to that realm where the treasures are of a nature that rust doth not corrupt nor thieves break in and steal.

Eastland County's third tale of treasure was related by a man who spent a small fortune seeking it. He had been a deputy sheriff and was a successful trader in land, cattle, horses and oil leases in short, a highly practical individual, about the last person you would think of as hunting for buried gold. But no one is immune to the fever once the "gold bug" bites you.

This is the story he spun while we sat on a bench in Burk Burnett Park in Fort Worth:

"During the days of the California gold rush, a band of outlaws held up stage coaches, banks and mining company offices with great success. But California became too 'unhealthy' so they headed east in a lonely section of what is now Eastland County — (there were plenty of lonely sections then for the region was almost unsettled) — they hid many thousands of dollars. The plan was to ride off in two groups in different directions and meet later, return to the spot, dig up the spoil, divide it and scatter for good and all.

But one gang had gone only a short distance when the leader began to be assailed by doubts. Perhaps the other crowd would ride only a short distance, then turn back and dig up the gold. So he decided to make sure that no double-cross was planned. He and his men headed back and when they came over the hill, sure enough there was the other group preparing to dig up the gold.

Immediately, a battle broke out and man after man was killed. One escaped as far as he knew, he was the only survivor. He decided to put plenty of distance between him and the scene; he didn't want to be asked awkward questions by a posse; he had no hankering to hang. He fled to Mexico. There, he became ill and a native took him into his abode hut and ministered to him. The outlaw realized that the end was near and, calling for his paper and pen, he drew a map. This, he gave to his benefactor and soon afterward died.

The Mexican felt there were too many difficulties for him to undertake the search so he sold the map for a small sum and the purchaser went to Eastland County and began the search. But you understand that years had gone by. Prairie fires destroyed trees and floods buried rocks and streams cut out new courses. He hunted until his funds played out. I met him and he told me the story. We became partners and set several men to digging.

The old man had said, time and again, 'If I can just find the wall, I will know where to go from there.' The wall had certain markings which were the clues needed, he declared. And one day, we uncovered a wall with unusual markings. The old man shouted, 'The Wall! The Wall! I have found the wall! and he ran to the top of a hill, his arms upraised. I ran after him and asked, 'What do we do now?' He kept shouting, 'I Have Found The Wall! over and over again. At last, he turned towards me; his eyes were wide and vacant; he had lost his mind."

The narrator stopped. And there, as far as I know, the story was halted. For not long afterward, he died.
