

MOORE about... EASTLAND

by Virgil E. Moore

Every once in a while we get to wondering about the ethics of our fellow newspapermen. We "sat" on a news story for three weeks (it was to be released today) without whispering a word. Then we got up Tuesday morning to find the story splashed across the regional paper.

Jumping release dates is the same as stealing, it seems to me. The fact that this story was released by a church organization to us even that much made us even that much mad.

A. M. Larkin of Route 1, Rising Star, was by the other day to renew his subscription to the Telegram, and told us he believed the county has one of the best grain crops in its history. Mr. Larkin has been farming for a long time and should know. We got interested in our conversation with the elderly gentleman and kept him a little longer than we should have. Finally he smiled and said, "I'd sure like to mouth with you a bit longer, but you're gonna make me miss my ride."

Mr. Larkin has been a subscriber for the past 10 years and we certainly appreciate him.

O. L. Stamey, international counselor of Lions International, told Eastland Lions Monday he could make them a long, boring talk, but he wasn't. "I can do the same thing with a short talk," he explained.

Old time politicians about Eastland County will tell you there was a time that a fellow running for office could go around the county with a pencil and scratch pad and find out exactly how many votes he was going to get. Back then, if a man told you he was for you, he was for you. Today things are not quite the same. We moderns find it hard to tell someone we are going to scratch their name, it seems, so we just tell every candidate in the race that he is our man.

Not long ago Earl Conner, the district attorney, and Ben Hamner, the funeral director, got to talking about the troubles law enforcement officers use to have busting up stills. Ben recalled that one of the county's ex-sheriffs got a tip on a good producer and drove out to the place. Like most Moonshine stills, this one was back in the thickets where a man could barely walk. So the sheriff parked his car and crawled in. The moonshiners heard him coming, however, and took off. That didn't keep the sheriff from lugging the still back to his car, however.

The whiskey-makers beat the sheriff back to his car, meanwhile, and put sand in his tank. Naturally the good lawman couldn't get his car to moving, so he hot footed it to the nearest house to call for aid. While he was gone for help, the moonshiners carted off their still.

Latest squabble over at the courthouse concerns office space. For the past few weeks there has been a back and forth movement over the county treasurer's office. The Soil Conservation Unit here is being squeezed into a corner in the ASC office, and is looking for new quarters. We understand a move must be made. Since the treasurer's office is right next door, that was the first place that got looked at.

We could make both sides mad at us pretty easily for even mentioning this situation, but of course hope we don't. There are two "political" angles to look at. The farm vote is important to all, but then so is the C-co vote. Those who favor the move point to the farm vote, and those opposed to the Cisco vote. Farmers are naturally interested in the Soil Conservation unit, and (Continued on Page 2)

Precinct Convention Line-Up Is Revealed

Precinct conventions in Eastland County will be held at the usual hour again this year. The County Democratic Executive Committee has set the time at 2 p.m. on the day of the first primary election, July 26.

Conventions will be held in each of the 25 voting precincts in the county, near the polling place.

Delegates to the County Convention, which will be held the first Saturday after the primary election, August 2, are elected at precinct conventions. Each precinct is entitled to one delegate for each 25 votes in the precinct cast for the Democratic candidate for governor in the last general election. Two copies of the minutes of the precinct convention must be signed by the permanent chairman, who is elected at the precinct convention, attested to by the secretary, and turned over to the County Clerk within three days.

Resolutions on party policy or platforms may also be passed at precinct conventions, and a vote on preference for party nominees can be held. Usually it is decided if delegates to the county convention will vote as a unit or individually, too.

Using the number of votes cast for Price Daniel for Governor in the November, 1956 election, a check shows there could be 175 authorized delegates at the Eastland County Convention. Voting in the last general election was heavier than usual because of interest in the Presidential election.

Here are the county's 25 voting places where precinct conventions will be held with the number of authorized delegates in parentheses:

Courthouse (24), Eastland City Hall (17), Ranger City Hall (21),

Ranger Young School (16), Cisco (10), Cisco City Hall (34), Rising Star (9), Rising Star (4), Pioneer (2), Alameda (1), Kokomo (1), Carbon (5), Gorman (14), Long Branch (1).

Okra (1), Scranton (1), Nimrod (1), Olden (4), Dothan (1), Romney (1), Pleasant Hill (1), Staff (1), Cook (1), Desdemona (3), and Sabanno (1).

Cisco Panthers Blast Blue Sox In Four Innings

Eastland's Blue Sox tried to play the weather and the Cisco Panthers at the same time Tuesday night in a Teenage League game at Firemen's Field and the end result was a 12-2 routing.

The Sox got behind 6-2 at the end of two innings. It was raining by that time, however, and it appeared a sure thing that the game would be called. The Sox played delaying ball and it cost them six more runs. The game was called at the end of four innings and moments later a heavy downpour drenched the field.

The Panthers snapped the locals' undefeated record and taught them they would have to play better ball than they demonstrated Tuesday if they wanted in the pennant race. Earlier this year Albany beat the Panthers, and the Sox beat Albany, but Cisco was too much for Eastland Tuesday night.

The visitors got two runs in the first inning off an error, a walk and a hit. Then the local tied it up in the bottom of the frame with two runs off a double by R. D. Ables and a single by Elijah Govan.

That was all for Eastland, however. Starter Bobby Cartwright was touched for three hits in the second frame and four runs. He was replaced in the third by J. D. Ables, but still was the loser. Ables lasted until the fourth inning, when he gave way to John Garrett.

Thirteen-year-old Dan Callermen, a curfewball artist, was the winning pitcher. He gave up five hits in the four inning tilt, but got some excellent support from his infielders, who had four put outs credited to them against Eastland base runners.

Eastland, Cisco and Albany are now tied for the league lead with two wins and one loss each.

The Cisco Indians play Friday night and tonight the Eastland National Bank Greenbacks test Clyde in Clyde.

Democrat's Rally Set in Eastland

A Democratic Candidate's Rally will be held Friday, June 27, in the Eastland City Park at 8 p.m. Candidates from Eastland County have been invited to attend.

Sponsored by the Eastland County Home Demonstration Council, a sale of homemade ice cream, cakes, pies, sandwiches, and cold drinks will be held at 7 p.m. Entertainment will be provided.

BAPTIST FATHER OF THE YEAR—J. C. Allison, who is well known in Eastland County as any living man, has been named Texas Baptist Father of the Year. Allison, who is presently serving as county tax collector-assessor, is a member of the Bethel Baptist Church in Eastland.

J. C. Allison Is Named Baptist Father of Year

DALLAS — A 76-year-old Eastland tax assessor and former accountant, school teacher and newspaperman who has reared nine children and sent eight of them to college has been named Texas Baptist Father of the Year.

He is Joseph Carroll Allison, tax assessor-collector for Eastland County and a deacon for 32 years who says he has "held every position in the church, but pastor and Woman's Missionary Union president." He is a member of the Bethel Baptist Church in Eastland.

Three of his six sons are Texas Baptist pastors and a daughter is married to another pastor. Six of his children graduated from Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, another graduated from Howard Payne Baptist College in Brownwood and another from Texas Western University in El Paso.

The oldest son trained at a technical school in Los Angeles where he is now a production supervisor for Douglas Aircraft.

Mr. Allison once had five children enrolled in H-SU at one time and that was during the depression," he said.

A committee selected Mr. Allison as father of the year "because of his example of applied Christianity in his home, before students and through his church."

Several other men were nominated by pastors and church organizations for the Texas Baptist honor. Making the final selection was a committee composed of the Rev. D. C. Ham, pastor of the Casa View Baptist Church of Dallas; Jack Harwell, regional civil defense public relations director, Denton; and Kathryn Allen, assistant editor of the "Baptist Standard."

Allison is the second Texas Baptist father to receive the award. A 73-year-old retired school teacher, Ira Irving Isbell of Port Worth, won the first award presented last year.

Allison was born Nov. 24, 1882, the son of a Carbon farmer. One of eight children, he attended a small rural school until he was 18. He then enrolled in Sam Houston Normal Institute, where he earned a permanent teaching certificate in two years.

He studied for two more years at the University of Texas and was named superintendent of schools in Dickens. In 1907, when only 24 years old.

Between teaching jobs in Dickens and Afton he married an attractive school teacher and both taught until they moved to Eastland in 1911.

He bought an interest in the Eastland County newspaper where he worked for about a year "writing most of the copy, editorials, setting type and running the press."

"The paper didn't make enough to support myself and my partner's family," he said, "so I returned to teaching."

He served as principal and superintendent of the Breckenridge School System for seven years.

"When the oil boom came in 1919," said the silver-haired father, "I went back to our paper. But the Eastland school was short of teachers, so I also taught math until 1926."

Wonderful Year In Agriculture Predicted Here

"Eastland County farmers face a rosy future." That's the good word from County Agricultural Agent J. M. Cooper.

County Rural Fire Defense Plans Made

Eastland County volunteers made initial plans for a Texas Rural Defense Plan set up when they met Thursday afternoon in the courthouse in Eastland.

A 12 man committee headed by Eastland Fire Chief Billy Jackson will direct operations in the county. Others members of the committee are Les Strawn, J. M. Schaefer, M. S. Dry, Judge John

S. Hart, Johnnie Grimes, W. L. Garner, Gordon Smith, Emmett Powell and B. F. Greenwood.

The county was divided in four zones, roughly following the county precinct lines. Fire chiefs in Ranger, Cisco, Gorman and Rising Star will serve as zone chairmen, complete plans.

Members of the county committee will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2 p.m. in the courthouse to Eastland County has been included in the Defense Plan because of the closeness of Wolters Air Force Base in Palo Pinto County.

County Agent J. M. Cooper said that the Defense Plan should also serve to aid the county in another problem. He pointed out that there is more grass and weed tonnage on the ground in the county this year than there has been in a long time. During the summer months, much of that vegetation will become a fire hazard.

An inventory on personnel and equipment in the county will be prepared by the committee.

The two aspects of the plan are to organize the county so that rural fires caused by enemy action can be controlled by resources of manpower and equipment in the county; and to organize the county so that to the target county (in this case Palo Pinto) can be given.

Anyone interested in attending the next meeting of the group is invited to do so.

Group To Attend Highway Meeting

A meeting of the Central Division of U. S. Highway 80 Association will be attended by a group of Eastland citizens this Saturday morning.

They plan on arriving at Hotel Wooten in Abilene in time for a discussion relating to the proposed Interstate Highway 20.

Attending will be members of the highway committee of the chamber of commerce, headed by Hood King.

A business session is set from 10 to 11:30 a.m. to discuss maps, signs, and other means of promoting Highway 80.

Marshall Fornby, chairman of the State Highway Commission, will speak on "Future Plans and Construction Schedule on Interstate 20" following the noon luncheon.

J. C. Roberts, district 8 state highway engineer, will discuss development of Interstate 20 at the meeting.

O. L. Stamey, international counselor of Lions International, told Eastland Lions Monday they should have "a vision to see problems in your individual community."

Stamey, introduced by immediate past District Governor H. R. (Don) Garrett of Eastland, praised the work of Texas Lions. He urged, however, that any projects be started and not finished because of lack of leadership and willingness to work.

He told Lions they had plenty to be proud of, and he praised the fact that the Lions' one motto is "We Serve."

Stamey told of crippled children at the Lions-sponsored Crippled Children's Camp thanking God in on the up-hill climb in Eastland County during the past seven years—when drought was the call of the day—glowed with optimism when interviewed by a reporter Wednesday afternoon.

The county agent, who in past years has gained statewide recognition for his outstanding work, predicts a good peanut crop, a "wonderful" pecan crop, the "best apricot crop" in years, a fine berry crop, and the most grapes the county has produced in a long, long time. On top of that he reports that farmers in the county are completing the biggest small grain harvest since pre-drought days.

If we get a few rains between now and Labor Day we are really going to have a peanut crop," he declared. He estimated that 75 percent of the farmers in the county have already planted their peanuts, and some have plants up an inch and a half tall. We have a "good season" in the ground, Cooper stated, "and it doesn't take a lot of rain to make peanuts."

Friday Is... That Day!

Don't tell anyone, but tomorrow is Friday the 13th. Eastland County citizens have never been ones to worry about such trivial matters, but just in case you might better stay out from under ladders and keep a sharp lookout for black cats!

Little Leaguers Open Second Half Action Thursday

Eastland Little Leaguers start their second half of play here tonight with the medics meeting the Bulldogs and the Comets taking on the Lions.

Winner of the first half is still undecided, but the Lions have at least a tie cinched. Monday night the Comets beat the Bulldogs, 16-7, but the Medics-Lions game was called because of rain.

The game was called, but it will have to be played over. If the Lions win the tilt, which will be made up Friday night, it will hand an undisputed first half crown. A medic victory would give the Bulldogs a tie with the Lions.

Going into the bottom half of the final inning Monday night, the Bulldogs led the Comets, 7-6. A 10-run fifth inning won the game for the Comets, however.

Relief pitcher W. Webster was the winner and Moylan was the loser.

their prayers for "Lions who care for crippled children."

"You provide these children, who cannot attend other camps, with an equal opportunity," he declared. "You should see these kids literally take off an arm or leg and when slide into the camp swimming pool. Once they get in that water, they are equal standing with everyone."

The international counselor pointed to Eastland Memorial Hospital as the result of a determined group of men and women. He said similar results could come from work of the local Lions in other fields of endeavor.

Pfc. Kenneth Lee Participates In Army Maneuvers

PORT LEWIS, WASH.—Pfc. Kenneth J. Lee, son of E. H. Lee, 11 1/2, Eastland, returns to Fort Lewis this week after participating in Exercise "Indian River," a giant maneuver testing the Army's new pentomic concept of battle.

The exercise pitted Pfc. Lee and other Infantry Division troops against "aggressor" forces in a 18,000-man battle fought the past two weeks at the Yakima Firgin Center. The Firgin Center spread across 267,000 acres of central Washington north of Yakima.

Pfc. Lee is assigned to the division's 1st Field Artillery Battalion as a Wireman.

Wilmer B. Hunt Will Run For Re-Election

HOUSTON (Spl.) — The importance of the functions and responsibilities of the state's highest court was emphasized Wednesday by District Judge Wilmer B. Hunt. Judge Hunt is a third generation Texas lawyer seeking the Position One post of Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas to be vacated December 31 by St. John Garwood of Houston who is not running for re-election. "The impact of decisions of the Supreme Court of Texas now and in the years ahead are of increasing vital concern to Texans in every walk of life," Judge Hunt said. "It is therefore important that Texas voters weigh carefully the qualifications of those candidates seeking election to this high post," the veteran jurist added. The veteran jurist presides over the 133rd District Court in Houston where he has been re-elected three times since 1948 without opposition. He was first elected a special district judge in 1946 in a special election held by the Harris County Far Association to name a temporary successor to the late Judge Roy Campbell who was ill at the time. In 1947 Judge Hunt was appointed judge of the newly created 133rd District Court by Governor Beauford Jester. Hunt received his BA degree at Georgetown University in Washington and his LLB degree from the University of Texas Law School. He is a member of the State Bar of Texas, the American Bar Association and chairman of the legislative committee of the Judiciary section of the State Bar. He was engaged in the private practice of law for 19 years prior to becoming judge of the 133rd District Court.

when the great spanish explorer
Don Bernardo de Miranda first viewed it during his trip through Central Texas.

What a mysterious muteness the lofty peak presented to Miranda and his followers there on the bleak plains of what is now Llano County. So Spinx-like and mute in appearance in fact that Miranda named it Cerro del Mudo at the beginning only to change later to the more fitting title of Cerro del Almagre or Almagre Hill because of its like ressembl-ance to red hematite (red ochre) found to be distributed profusely over the mountain's elevations.

Just what the Spaniards found there (if anything) is of no concern to us in regard to this article however, as we are mainly interested in what benefits the mountain may hold for John Q.
Public as of today and according to the ever-persisting legends confronting us now we find there is "plenty."

First, legend supports a very rich lost silver mine which it has made known as "The Lost Blanco Mine." The mine's entrance is somewhere on Packsaddle Mountain. Just where, exactly, no one knows, for if they did the mine would not be there for the readers consideration in the first place.

Secondly, and within view of Packsaddle Mountain, is a small stream whose bottom is composed of a myriad number of gold nuggets. The stream was found and then lost by two greenhorn prospectors who failed to mark the place with surrounding landmarks.

Third... A group of early miners are said to have concealed their take of gold ore near the mountain in preparation to an imminent Indian attack during which "not a living white-eye was spared."

And last, and as the saying goes, certainly not least, "The Lost Jim Bowie Silver Mine." This one is searched for northwest of Menard, Texas sometimes and then again southwest of Burnet in the County of that name. If and when the Lost Bowie Mine is found again the discoverer will be rich enough to rival "John D. Rockefeller" as the old timer put it.

Now in closing, let me stress to you the importance of historical knowledge. Know what you are going after and how it came to be there in the first place. Carry the proper equipment to assist you in your search and know a little about the Treasure Trove Law and how to stake out a claim. If you desire any further detailed information concerning any lost mines and buried treasures just drop me a line and address your letter or postcard to Atlas Wilson
... in care of The Eastland

Let me tell you what I saved when I drove a new Plymouth...then bought one!

Just like a lot of other people, I was putting off buying a new car... even though we sure needed one. Then I found out what my Plymouth dealer was offering in the way of low prices and really big trades.

Mister, when I saw what I saved I knew there was no use putting off any longer! Got more for my old car than I believed possible. (Plymouth dealers need used cars and can sell all they get!) Got a terrifically low price on the new Plymouth... and choice of models besides... hard-tops, sedans, convertibles, wagons.

And I saved a cool $140 on the ride alone! Plymouth's top-luxury ride, Toronado-Aire Ride, is standard at no extra cost, while you have to pay up to $140 for the top ride of competing "low-price 3" cars.

What's more, I got the car that proved it can save me gasoline, by winning the 1958 Mobilgas Economy Run. A car with Silver Dart Styling that is so far ahead right now it will still be worth more when I trade. With the kind of easy handling that makes every minute of driving a downright thrill! The stamina to stand up without nagging adjustments and big repairs... a car as much better built as it is better looking!

Any wonder I quit waiting? Take my tip... get your Plymouth bargain right now.

Today's best buy...tomorrow's best trade... Plymouth

It's Not Just an Accident—
... that Eastland enjoys a good fire record year after year. Usually it is the fire department or the City Commission, or both, that get the credit and they deserve all the credit they get. But without the co-operation of the individual no town would have a good fire record. Elimination of the common fire hazards such as defective wiring, faulty fuses, greasy rags and mops, weeds and grass, and the worst of all, the careless smoker, among others, is a direct result. Do you have any of these hazards in or near your home?

grains is expected to be completed in the county in another week. Most farmers have completed their grain crop, but a few are still out in the fields. Cooper said he knows of only one farmer in the country who has suffered wind damage. That was at Flatwood.

Pointing to the county's fruit crop, he said that orchards he has inspected look real good. They ripen in about two weeks.

"We had a pretty good fruit crop last year," he recalled, "but this year's crop will be a lot better."

While the county apricot crop is a minor one, it is a much appreciated one. It is seldom that the county really gets a good crop," he recalled, "but this is due to be one of those years, Cooper believes.

"This is the best apricot crop we've had in I don't know when," he explained.

Pecans, one of Cooper's favorite subjects, will make money for growers this year, he says. He reported that more trees have been sprayed in the county this year than in the past, and that fact, plus the county has had a lot of rain, should mean money in the bank.

Baptist associational worker's conference. His pastor, the Rev. James Fleming, says "Mr. Allison is almost a legend around our church and in the Eastland area. I suspect that some of the stories told about him and his sacrificial spirit have become somewhat exaggerated, but the exaggeration itself reveals the high esteem that people have for him."

Does he plan to retire soon? "I wouldn't last a year if I did," he said, "a man who's been as busy as I have must stay busy. If I lose the county job, I'll probably keep books and work with income tax returns."

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Allison's children are Carroll Allison, aircraft production supervisor, Downey, Calif.; the Rev. Joe W. Allison, pastor, First Baptist Church, Estelline; Verne Allison, secretary, Eastland; John L. Allison, chemist, El Paso; Edith M. Allison, secretary, Abilene; the Rev. Grady N. Views and News

Summer is here and with it comes a change, in activities, foods and also new problems.
One problem is fatigue. A tired feeling often brings an irritable disposition and cuts down efficiency on the job. It can also increase susceptibility to disease or accidents. If you are feeling more tired than usual, stop and analyze yourself and your working methods. Boredom and frustration, as well as physical factors, will cause that tired feeling. Short rest periods from 10 to 20 minutes will work wonders if you are tired from heavy work. A change of environment or activities will often relieve fatigue caused by boredom or monotony. Efficient, happy homemakers have found that these simple rules will help to fight fatigue and make work more interesting.

First—check your kitchen and household storage—is everything within easy reach? Keep cleaning tools in good repair and located close to the job.

Wear comfortable work clothes and sit as much as possible while you work.

Study your jobs and organize the work in assembly line fashion. Use both hands whenever possible. Don't try to stay with a heavy or difficult job too long—Interperse big jobs with easier ones and rest at intervals.

A quick, easy way to prepare the main dish for a picnic or outdoor meal is to cook on skewers. "Shish-Kabobs" are delicious and different.

There are many possibilities. You may have all vegetables or all meat on the skewer, or alternate. A basic "shish-kabob" is made with boneless meat, cut in 1 1/2 or 2-inch cubes. Beef, lamb, ham, or pork may be used. Allow 1-2 lb. per person. Prepare the meat by brushing with lemon juice and olive oil. Now string the cubes on your skewers. If you like the meat rare, push the cubes closely together. For all-around crispness, separate the chunks on the skewer. Broil over coals. It will take from 10 to 16 minutes. Serve immediately.

It's June again—and the spotlight is on milk and dairy foods. It's almost impossible to have an adequate diet without milk. All dairy products provide some calcium, but it takes more than one serving of some to equal the calcium you get in a cup of fluid milk. So eat some dairy food, and drink milk, too.

Vegetables for "Dunking"
Work more vegetables into the diet during the summer months. For entertaining, add some carrot curls, celery sticks, radish roses, raw cauliflower. Serve a zippy sour cream cheese, or avocado dip for "dunking" the vegetables.

Summertime Stain Removal Problems

Hot, humid weather and summertime activities bring special stain removal problems. For best results, you need to act quickly. First, make certain you know what the stain is; next, classify your fabric, and finally, choose the proper stain remover. Wrong treatment or application can add to the damage. For latest information on stain removal, get a copy of the bulletin, "Removing Stains from Clothing." Copies are available in our office.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

EVIDENCE A trial aims to settle a dispute when the parties fail to do it themselves. For this the court needs facts. Simple? Well, no. For if the parties could agree on the facts, a settlement out of court would be easy. But as a rule each side has its own story, and the trial judge or jury must hear witnesses and view physical evidence to decide what took place. In doing this the court applies the rules of evidence.

It took centuries for the court to work out rules by which a judge can say what is proper or improper evidence. 1. In "hearsay," for example, someone who did not see the event reports what someone told him about it. Courts seldom allow such evidence, except in rare cases such as where the dying words, say, of a murdered person may be vital. For one thing, courts frown upon hearsay because no one in court can cross-examine the eyewitness to find out what actually took place, or to judge whether his story merits belief.

2. Irrelevant testimony will also be barred by the judge. It is testimony which has no bearing on the case, even though it may be true enough.

Suppose in a battery case the jury has to find out whether Jones knocked Smith down or not. The judge would have to rule out any evidence that Jones, say, was rich and Smith poor. Such a fact, even if true, has nothing to do with the "issue." Moreover, such inferences or arouse their prejudice relevances often confuse jury members or arouse their prejudices.

3. Only an expert like a doctor, an appraiser, a chemist, a pharmacist, or an engineer can give opinions as evidence, and he must show his qualifications as an expert before the judge will let him express his views.

Lawyers keep inadmissible evidence out of court by making "objections." When the judge "sustains" an objection, the jury may not hear the evidence. Or if he does, the judge may "instruct" the jury to ignore it. Should the judge "overrule" the objection, the jury may hear the evidence.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

WASHINGTON, D. C.—While the United States has been trying to keep its front lawn mowed and its hedges trimmed, it has let its back yard grow up in grass and thorny brambles.

While we have been looking at the Iron Curtain in Europe and the Bamboo Curtain in the Far East, we practically dropped the curtain on our friends and neighbors to the south in Latin America.

While the United States has been trying to build up dams and levees with dollars against the Soviet expansion in some far reaches of the earth, Soviet influence has seeped in under the foundations in Latin America.

Our South and Central American friends are naturally sensitive towards North America. This natural sensitiveness exists because of the contrast in the standard of living between two areas of this same hemisphere. It can not be said it is because we are a "have" nation and all the nations south of us are "have nots." Latin America does "have," and we need a lot of it.

Latin America is Tremendously

Important to the United States and, of course, the United States is all important to Latin America. Security is not the only common interest which we have, although the defense of both is essential to both.

These few facts should impress upon us the point:

Our trade with Latin America is almost as large as our trade with all of Europe. We import annually $3,700,000,000 from Latin America, and they buy $4,700,000,000 annually from us. That is the figure for 1957. Unlike many other parts of the world almost all of these exports to Latin America are paid for.

They depend upon us to buy 43.2 per cent of their products. The United States sold them, for cash, 48.8 per cent of all their imports in 1957.

We import strategically important metals from South America. They purchase from this County about 35 per cent of our export of automobiles and trucks, one third of our exports of chemicals and electrical machinery, iron and steel mill products, and 17 per cent of all of our exports of foodstuffs.

Investments from this country in Latin America amount to $8.1-2 billion which is about 40 per cent of all our investments abroad.

What about the future?

Today our populations are almost the same, at about 180 million people. But the rate of growth in Latin America is twice as fast as our own. At this rate, by the year 2000 our population will be 250 million people, and Latin America will be over 500 million.

This is nothing new—it is just something we haven't been thinking enough about. Regardless of what we may think of Vice President Nixon's recent experience in Latin America, it has at least reminded us that we should no longer take our neighbors for granted in South America.

Actually, what we need is friendliness and a sympathetic understanding of their problems.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health. HENRY A. NOLLE, M.D., Commissioner

New bread standards go into effect July 1, to assure that you get the kind of bread you pay for.

After that date, if you buy a loaf of cinnamon-raisin bread and it doesn't have raisins in it, the baker is subject to action.

The standards will require all bread and rolls to be properly labeled so as to truthfully reflect their ingredients and nutritious qualities.

Patterned after federal food standards, they will be administered by the State Health Department's Food and Drug Division. A majority of the baking industry fully supports the standards.

Labeling means much more than a colorful wrapping around a loaf of bread. It includes, among other things, the advertising claims made by the baker for his product.

A food is misbranded when its labeling is false or misleading in any particular, if it is offered for sale under the name of another food, or if it is in imitation of another food (unless its label bears in prominent type the word "imitation" and immediately thereafter the name of the food imitated).

Bread is also mislabeled if it purports to be or is represented as a food for which a "standard of identity" has been described and it fails to conform to that standard.

Standards not only protect consumers in the marketplace; they also protect honest manufacturers by assuring fair competition. The consumer may select and serve standardized foods with complete confidence in their composition and integrity.

The law's basic requirements for clean handling, informative labeling and no adulteration gives consumers an insight into the purity, wholesomeness and nutritious quality of the product.

Bread labels must show net weight or numerical count of the product, such as "net weight, one pound," or "one dozen doughnuts," and the name of the product such as "Smith's Enriched Bread," or "Jones' Raisin Bread." While there is no specific requirements as to type size, the standards do provide that the label shall be considered false if the

Miss Harrell, Bride-Elect, Is Honored June 5

Miss Inez Harrell, bride-elect of William Leo Bernard Bourdeau, was honored with a dinner at the White Elephant Restaurant in Eastland Thursday, June 5, at 8:00 p.m. Miss Vivian Simmons was hostess.

The table was centered with an arrangement of pink carnations and silver leaves.

Information is not prominently displayed in such a manner that it can be easily read.

You, as a consumer of bread and rolls, can help make the new standards work by carefully reading the label on the bread you buy.

Don't fail to include a wedding portrait in your plans for this once in a life-time occasion.
