Jose Is A Citizen Now, A Mighty Proud One

Joe was in a hurry to become a citizen! And last week, after eight years and some not-so-easy obstacles, Jose Rodriguez attained the goal for which he has worked so hard—his United States citizenship.

Jose, an Eastland resident for eight years and a native of Mexico, liked this country so well that he wanted to make it his permanent home.

The spry, 71-year-old Latin American recently retired after eight years with the City of Eastland.

After two years of trouble and interference, he received word that he was to be in Abilene at 9 a.m. on May 21st for the naturalization ceremony.

He was anxious for the event, that he persuaded the man who was to drive him there, to leave at 6 a.m.—"just to make sure we get there on time."

Rodriguez kept the citizenship book during the entire two-year period and more forms, of all the obstacles, many of which were forms, forms and more forms, which were confusing to say the least.

Then to cause further delay, he became seriously ill during the first part of this year and spent nine days in the local hospital.

Looking back over the difficulty he had getting naturalized, Jose grins and lets you know it's worth it to be an American citizen.

He came to Eastland from Shawnee, Okla., in 1954 and has worked for the city since that time.

He says he never plans to return to his native Mexico, which he left in 1910.

Jose, who left most of his relatives behind in Shawnee, lives alone here at 306 E. White St. Asked how he spends his leisure time, he says, "Just sleeping, eating and trying to keep well."

Jose is very grateful to Roy Horn of Eastland who helped him in filling in his citizenship papers and who took him to Abilene twice during the process of getting naturalized.

The first time he went before the commissioner of immigration and qualified himself.

The second time, he went before the Federal District Judge and, with some 50 other persons, publicly pledged his loyalty to Old Glory.

In his less-than-perfect, but improving, English, he gave the oath of allegiance.

Reaching the near quarter century mark, Jose's looks belie his age.

Perhaps being a real, "honest-to-goodness" citizen puts spring in his steps.

Box Downed After 2-Car Collision

Scratch one planter box. A two-car collision in downtown Eastland Friday afternoon resulted in the leveling of one of the Civic League and Garden Club's 16 planter boxes.

The accident happened about 3:45 p.m. at the intersection of West Main and S. Seaman St.

Driver of the vehicles, both local women, apparently were not injured.

Mrs. Hubert Pounds was the driver of a 1957 Chevrolet which was headed south on S. Seaman, and Mrs. Ora Haines was driving a 1954 Chevrolet headed east on W. Main.

Both vehicles received extensive damage with the Haines auto apparently receiving a broken front axle.

Mrs. Arthur Cross was a passenger in the Haines vehicle.

The auto driven by Mrs. Pounds careened onto the south-east curb after the impact, and leveled the brick planter box, sprinkling recently planted petunia plants over the sidewalk.

Patrolman Neal Siebert and Chief Ray Laney investigated.

On Reading The Legals

LEGAL NOTICES in a community newspaper are as much a part of the total news scene as social events, sports, village meetings, school items, meeting announcements, features columns, and editorials.

Many readers overlook "legals" without realizing that these vital although detailed, announcements play an important role in community life.

The Eastland Telegram carries legal notices in standard-size type so that readers can peruse them without a magnifying glass.

Many publications present "legals" in the smallest type available; eyestrain is the reward for those who try to read them.

"Legals" are to read, not ignore. We urge readers to keep a close watch on all legal notices.

Elementary Students Make School Trips

Older first, second, third and fourth grades celebrated the end of school this year by taking special trips.

Twenty-four third and fourth graders recently made a train trip from Ranger to Cisco, which they won by having the greatest attendance in P-TA. Their mothers picked them up in Cisco and brought them back to Eastland Park for a picnic. Their teacher, Miss Eunice Hamilton, accompanied them on the trip.

First and second graders made a trip to Fort Worth's Forest Park Zoo Saturday where they took advantage of amusement rides and enjoyed sack lunches which they carried. Their teachers, Mrs. Oleta Wade, Mrs. L. J. Williamson and Mrs. Gibb Copeland, planned and accompanied them on the trip. Several mothers also made the trip.

A Tribute to Judge John Hick

IN MEMORIAM

JUDGE JOHN E. HICKMAN died suddenly in Austin on April 25, 1962. His death came as a great shock to the members of this Sunday School class and his many friends in Eastland. Few Sunday School teachers will ever be so sincerely missed by so many.

Judge Hickman was a big man—big in every respect. He was large of stature; he had a great mind; he had a big heart, and a spirit big enough to occupy the most magnificent mansion in the Kingdom of Heaven.

His greatness as a jurist was equalled by his greatness as a Sunday School teacher. Wherever he went, Judge Hickman always organized and taught a men's Sunday School class. He organized this class more than thirty years ago, and was its first teacher.

Therefore, BE IT RESOLVED by the 9:49 Bible Class of Eastland that in the death of Judge Hickman this class and the Methodist Church have lost one of their ablest and most outstanding members; that we tender to his widow, Mrs. Lena Hickman, our sympathy.

Spoken Verse Entertains Local Lions
 An elderly Cisco Blacksmith entertained the Eastland Lions Club Tuesday with recitations which stirred reminiscence of another era.

Walter Clements received several poems, most of which poked gentle fun at old age.

Recalling lines that most of the members had forgotten from their youth, he delivered "I Ain't Dead Yet," "The Bridge Builder," "I'm Fine", and closed on a serious note with "Somebody's Mother."

C. H. O'Brien was program chairman for the day, and had Mr. Clements and Stanley Webb, both of Cisco, as his guests.

President Bill Walters announced that he will be absent for the next two weeks due to his vacation and Homer Smith will be president in his absence.

Grads Offered Salary Raise

...the entire spectrum of America business this spring. Preliminary reports from leading universities reveal increases from last year's salary levels averaging $20 to $30 a month, instead of the nominal $10 to $15 indicated by surveys made last fall and winter. Both recruiting activity and salary figures are generally running a little higher in the up also in central and southern areas.

Current offers for bachelors in engineering yield an average of $565 to $580. Majors in math and physical sciences command close to the same pay levels.

Accountants, in shorter supply than ever, may top a median of $500 this year. Business administration grads as a group are averaging around $475, with offers for management and sales trainees, whether from liberal arts or business school, generally ranging from $450 to 500.

Final averages for the class of '62 may turn out even better than present figures, some placement officials feel. They point to the fact that with numerous jobs to choose from this spring, many seniors are delaying acceptance of current east and far west, but noteworthy gains are being chalked off while they shop for better ones, which they may get due to the developing 1962 employment situation.

Although the total number of bachelor degree graduates is larger, eager recruiters must compete against a shrinkage in the number of engineering graduates, increased military demands and the marked trend in recent years for more and more top graduates in liberal arts, business, engineering and the science to remain in school seeking PhD and Master degrees.

With demand farther than ever beyond the available supply, this year's PhD's and Masters in engineering and science are currently offered starting salaries of $750 to $1,000 a month, and some outstanding men are doing even better. For the types of positions open to advanced degree men, salaries have risen as much in some instances as $75 to $100 a month since 1961.

It is the prevailing opinion of placement officials already consulted in the survey, that all engineering and physical science bachelors who want jobs can have them by graduation; that 75 per cent of business and liberal arts job-seekers will be placed by commencement time and the remainder during the summer, with a much larger choice of desirable jobs available than in 1961, which itself turned out to be an excellent placement year.

The spectacular spread in the use of electronic computers in government, business and various institutions is a phenomenon frequently mentioned by placement officials, because of its impact on the demand for college graduates.

A growing segment of the market is for math majors, especially with advance degrees, to "program" or plan the use of computers for specific problems and situations. Another and larger segment of demand is for miscellaneous graduates as well as accountants to be trained to man and direct the processing crews who operate the computers.
